Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Graeme and Mildred Shaw spent last week in Vancouver where Graeme participated in the 2000 CARHA World Cup Hockey tournament. There were 133 teams entered in 5 age divisions - 26 teams from Europe, 7 teams from United States and the rest from Canada.

Graeme played with the Edmonton Vintage Silver 70's and won first place in their division.

Harvey Pollock played with the Western Seniors - 70 plus and they placed second. Other players from the Westman area were Ken Munro of Brandon, Les Biccum of Virden and Bill Watson of Neepawa. They played with the Alberta Salty Dogs - 70 plus.

About 1700 people attended the banquet and dance held in the Vancouver Convention Centre on Saturday night. A good time was had by all.

George sez: "The trouble with some women is that they get all excited about nothing - and then they marry him!"

Three 'Rs' of resistance management

Manitoba wheat grower Glen Hooper took a hard look at his weed control strategy after he "came close" to Group 1 herbicide resistant wild oats four years ago.

A brush with herbicide resistance in his flax crop four years ago helped reinforce for Manitoba farmer Glen Hooper the three 'Rs' of good weed management: Rotation, rotation, rotation.

Hooper seeds 1,200 acres of wheat with his brother Gary on the 3,500 acre family farm at Sperling, one hour southwest of Winnipeg. "I came close on 100 acres," says Glen Hooper, recalling a suspicious-looking breakout of wild oats following an application of a herbicide from the Group 1 family of chemistry. "It was a field of flax. We had volunteer barley, but on the wild oats, the chemical did nothing to it. Then we really got concerned. There was resistance in there, or else we would have got it."

Going back over 15 years or more of field records, the Hoopers noticed a heavy reliance on Group 1 chemistry, especially in the "fops" category. As a result, they found themselves faced with an entirely new weed challenge: Group 1 resistant wild oats.

Once the problem had been identified, the solution was clear, says Hooper: "You've got to rotate your chemicals. We didn't rotate."

Today, part of the Hoopers' strict resistance management strategy in their wheat is ASSERT, a herbicide in the Group 2 family which effectively controls both wild oats and Group 1 resistant wild oats. "I used ASSERT in '98 and it did perform for me," says Hooper. "ASSERT is a good product." ASSERT is also part of the Hoopers' future cropping plans. "Definitely," says Glen, "to mix up my groups."

Sound agronomics also help the Hoopers manage resistance. As well as rotating crops, they seed wheat with an air seeder, which helps control early emerging weeds. "It's total coverage. It's not like banding your seed in. We move all the soil, we cut the weeds, and we put the seed in."

The Hoopers do an annual pre-season review of their chemical program with an agronomist. During the year, careful field scouting helps the brothers identify any suspicious misses and take early corrective action. "We watch patches," says Glen. "That's how it starts. If you have a patch of wild oats which you didn't get, and you know you sprayed it, you'd better be looking for something different for next year totally out of the groups that you have been using."

Following their brush with Group 1 resistance, the Hooper brothers have learned that Group 1 resistant wild oats must be treated like an entirely different weed species, even though it looks the same as regular wild oats. With ASSERT, says Glen, they have the peace of mind that they are controlling both.

"Group 1 wild oats resistance is another problem you have to watch your way through, or you'll have a big problem. Resistance is a concern. I don't really have a problem with it yet, and I don't want to."

Don't be fooled. A lab test could show that this innocent-looking wild oat plant poses an entirely new weed challenge: resistance to Group 1 herbicides. As part of their weed management strategy to reduce Group 1 resistance risk, growers such as Glen Hooper rely on ASSERT, a Group 2 herbicide that provides effective control of both wild oats and Group 1 resistant wild oats.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

There were 14 senior bowlers out at Minnedosa Monday, March 13th. Chris Stanick and Walter Scott received the trophies, and Earl Wilkinson picked up the Head Pin (again).

Henry & Lorraine Hales have returned from a weeks visit with daughter Barb & Jim and family at Morris. They had the unexpected pleasure of meeting with former Rapid City young people, Kerry & Larry Dyck of Newdale at a coffee shop in Morris.

Congratulations to Grandparents Jean & Jim Walker and Great Grandma Lily Anderson on the arrival of Kourtney Joy Marie, a baby daughter for Karla and Guy.

Weekend visitors with Maurice and Beryle Miller were Beryle's sister and brother-in-law Eunice & Larry Dyck of Winnipeg.

Little Keely and Leab Bartel from Sinclair visited with their grandparents Hendry & Heather Smith from Thursday to Sunday of the past week.

Chris & Shirley Martin and children are enjoying a visit with Chris' aunt and uncle Kathyrn and John Fleming who live at Sterling, ON.

Congratulations to grandparents Bella & Jack Belcher and Margie & Don Northam on the arrival of Joshua Robert, a son for Susan and Eric Belcher.

Marion Waldon had family home last week. Judy Waldon from Montreal and Janice & Dwight Sykes, Haley and Alyson from St. Thomas, ON. Joining for the weekend Family Reunion at the water slides in Trail West Motel in Brandon were Joyce & Jack Leganchuk and children Krista and Bradley of Winnipeg and Don and Loretta Waldon, Clinton and Bryce, Rapid City.

Rod Underhill and his rink of Art Peters, Shirley Peters and Ila Underhill placed 3rd at the Seniors Bonspiel held Wednesday and Thursday of the past week. Also competing in the bonspiel were Ken Bridgeman's rink and Floyd Campbell's rink, who report having a good time.

Agricultural Report

by Neil Galbraith

Agriculture and Climate Change

There is an interesting one-day workshop on this topic later this week in Portage la Prairie. Topics include:

A background on climate change science, models and impacts;

Climate change policies and agreements;

Impacts on agriculture presented in four areas (Crops & soils, livestock, water and energy/transportation);

Prairie carbon sequestration;

Government options and recommendations;

Industry response to those recommendations;

Group discussions of impacts and adaptations.

The goal of the workshop is to raise awareness of climate change in the agriculture community and to promote the development of adaptation strategies for farming in Manitoba. There is no workshop fee but you need to pre-register. We have registration information at the Ag Office.

Laura Haslen celebrates 80th

Saturday, March 11th, Laura Haslen observed her 80th birthday with a "Come & Go Tea" held in the lounge of the Legion Gardens. The celebration was planned and hosted by daughter Alexe and Dick Jones, Brandon, and son Mel and Betty Cheavens, Yorkton, niece Jan Baryluk and friend Donna Howden both of Brandon. The lounge was nicely decorated for the special occasion. The delicious lunch was topped off by a beautiful birthday cake created by Betty. Laura was privileged in having three sister's-in-law present, namely Jean Haslen, Brandon, Ethel Moroz and daughter Marj Smith, Neepawa and Mary McBurney and daughter Nola of Rivers. The guest book was signed by 86 relatives and friends.

In the evening a turkey supper was enjoyed at the Little Valley Restaurant for 23 family members and friends. Donna Howden asked the blessing, and great granddaughter Kailyn and Taryn entertained by singing for Grandma. Many pictures were taken and grandson Terry was busy with his video camera to record the special day. It was a great party!

Rapid City 4-H News

by Samantha Inglis, Club Reporter

The Rapid City 4-H Beef Club held their 5th meeting of the year in the library basement on March 14, 2000.

Meeting was brought to order with Blaine Harder leading in the club pledge.

Minutes and treasurers reports were given from last meeting.

Chris Kowbel gave a report on the Rivers beef bonspiel which our club had been invited to. Eric Van Meijl gave a report on our club speech night.

Correspondence was gone over and discussed. We will not be applying to do highway clean up this year. There is a seminar for leaders and senior members to be held April 15 at Neepawa if anyone is interested.

We will be making rope halters in April. The members were asked as to how many halters and neck ties they needed so the snaps and rings could be ordered. All record books are to be brought to this meeting and up to date.

A reminder was given that Jamboree was March 17 with a potluck supper following at Bethany. Devin Dmytriw had been interviewed for gold watch. It was suggested to everyone to try and make it to the spring supper. Nathan Bootsman was chosen for the heifer calf scramble at the winter fair. Participants last year were Dustin Underhill for heifer scramble and Wilco Van Meijl for steer scramble. They will show their entries this year.

Anyone wishing to go to District Communications had to have their names in and title of their speech. We have 2 seniors, 1 intermediate, 2 juniors and 1 junior one-person visual going.

Our club uniform was discussed. Everyone to try their t-shirts on for next meeting so new ones can be ordered if needed.

Next meeting will be April 11.

Birthday Greetings

Guess who!

Who could it be,
How could it be possible,
For time to go by so quickly.

Once a little girl so small,
Now all grown up,
A whole quarter of a century old.

Well, it's true on March 19th,
This little one turned 25.
So Happy Birthday!

For those who don't know she's a teacher at ECI Collegiate grades 7&8 to be exact.

Happy Birthday.
Love from the family.x (C9)

In Memoriam

Everett - In loving memory of Glenn, a dear husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather who passed away March 20, 1987.

May the winds of heaven blow gentle,
On a quiet and peaceful spot,
Where the one we love is sleeping,
And will never be forgot
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hands we cannot touch
Still we have so many memories,
Of the one we loved so much

Lovingly remembered by your wife Ellen and all the family. x (C6)

Wisniewski - In loving memory of my son Jonn who passed away March 24, 1999.

Your memory is our keepsake
With which we never part
God has you in His arms
We have you in our hearts

Always loved, never forgotten. Mother and family. x (C6)

Terry - In loving memory of son and brother Lyle John Terry who passed away accidentally March 20, 1965 and his father John Wesley Terry who died April 10, 1976.

Just as you were.
You will always be Treasured forever in our memory

Ever remembered. Mom and Sister Penny and Ron. x (C6)

Obituary

Calvin Leier Challborn

Suddenly, on Saturday, March 4, 2000, Calvin Challborn, a resident of the Manitoba Development Centre, beloved son of Katie Challborn of Erickson, Manitoba, passed away at the age of 41 years.

Funeral service was held at the Aspen Centre at the Manitoba Development Centre on Wednesday, March 8, at 1:30 p.m. with the Reverend Ron Siemens officiating. The service terminated at the Aspen Centre, followed by cremation. Interment of the cremated remains was held at the Hillsdale cemetery, Erickson, Manitoba, on Friday, March 10.

Calvin was born on ... 1958, son of Tena and Katie Challborn of Erickson, Manitoba. He was raised and cared for at his home by his loving parents, at the age of 10 years, he became a resident of the Manitoba Development Centre where he resided until his passing.

Calvin enjoyed listening to music and enjoyed going on camping trips with his fellow residents and the staff of the Manitoba Development Centre.

Predeceased by his father, Henry (Ted) in 1997, he leaves to mourn his passing his mother Katie of Erickson, Manitoba. Also surviving is one brother, Rodney and Elaine of Duncan, B.C.; four sisters, Trudy and Del Dewolfe and Tracey and John Strain, all of Courtney, B.C.; Ivy and Gord Maxsmith of St. Francois Xavier, and Betty Challborn of Erickson, Manitoba; stepbrother Kurt and Trudy of Carvel, Alberta, and 5 nieces and 5 nephews. He will be sadly missed by the staff and residents of the Manitoba Development Centre.

Should friends so desire, memorial donations may be made to the Manitoba Development Centre, c/o Residence Benefit Fund. Box 1190, Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, R1N 3C6.

The Omega Funeral Home in care of the arrangements. (C7)

Obituary

Earle Paulmor Hall

Earle Paulmor Hall, of Brandon, passed away on Thursday, March 9, 2000 after a lengthy illness. Earle was born on June 30, 1927 in Erickson, MB. He was raised in Birnie, MB where his father was a grain buyer. Earle took his high school in Eden and his accountancies in Winnipeg. He went to work for Walter Woods Ltd. before joining the commercial department of the Manitoba Telephone System. In 1962, he was transferred to Portage la Prairie and to Brandon in 1966. Earle retired in 1988 leaving immediately after for an extended vacation in England. He was an active member of St. Anne's Anglican Church in West Kildonan, being a lay reader and vestry man. He was active in the acquiring of the new church building in 1956. He continued his church work in St. Mary's Portage and St. Matthew's Cathedral in Brandon. Earle was an enthusiastic square dancer with the club in Portage and in Brandon. He was a member of the Cameron Highlanders of Canada as well as the Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 3 in Brandon. In 1967, he joined the Brandon Lions Club and during the last 25 years has held all the club ranks, making many friends in Manitoba and Montreal. He leaves to cherish his memory his loving wife of over 53 years, Helen (nee McMillan); son Paulmor (Janice) and grandson Darryl, all of Quesnel, BC; daughter Judith (Brian) Elgert and grandson David Earle, all of Neepawa; brothers Gunnar and family in Rock Creek, BC and Wayne (Margaret) and family of Saskatoon, SK; brother in law Bill (Loreen) McMillan, and a large extended family of aunts, uncles and cousins. Earle was predeceased by his father Gunnar in 1945, six-year-old son William (Billie) in 1956 and brother Dale in 1962. His mother Anna of Erickson left us only last year at the age of 100 years. We wish to thank Dr. McQueen and Dr. Lindsay as well as those wonderful nurses in chronic care at the Assiniboine Centre in Brandon for all the devoted care Earle received. A time of visitation was held at the Brockie Donovan Chapel on Sunday, March 19, 2000. Funeral service was held at St. Matthew's Anglican Cathedral on Monday, March 13, 2000 with the Very Rev. Jim Ngegovan officiating. Active pallbearers were Reg Nylen, Norval Lee, Mervin Hall, Greg Dundale, Cliff McArthur and Larry Zayluy. Honorary pallbearers were the Brandon's Lions Club. Interment followed in the Bethel Cemetery in Erickson, MB. A time of fellowship and refreshments was held at the Erickson Lutheran Church following the graveside service. In lieu of flowers, donations in memory of Earle may be made to the Manitoba Lung Association, 42 McTavish Ave. E., Brandon, MB, R7A 2B2. Arrangements were in care of Brockie Donovan, Brandon. (C7)

The Minnedosa Schools Gymnastics Club presented their annual show to a packed house last week.

The show followed a millennium theme which took the audience from the start of population to biblical times, through egyptian times, the 1950's to 1980's, space exploration and the anticipated armageddon.

In addition to the variety of routines, the Lions Memorial Trophy was presented to Rachel Proven and Amy van Meijl in recognition of their outstanding leadership, participation and gymnastics skills.

The Minnedosa Schools Gymnastics Club involves 133 members from grades 1-12, coached by Jacki Nylen. Assistants for the club are Elaine McNabb, Tracy Kingdon, Colleen Nelson, and Tom Crook.

WAVE hits Minnedosa

Local residents got some hands on with WAVE

By Nancy Chemerika

Representatives of Westman Communications Group were in Minnedosa last week to introduce WAVE high speed internet service and Digital Choice television to the community.

Throughout the eight hour open house, interested community members and prospective customers examined the displays, and benefited from some hands on experience with the internet service, and Digital Choice.

Simply put, WAVE is high speed access to the internet. Instead of a telephone line, WAVE uses coaxial cable to connect your personal computer to the internet. By using coaxial cable and a special high-speed cable modem, WAVE can deliver the internet at greatly improved speed. What used to take minutes to download, now takes just seconds.

"The main advantage of The Wave is the speed," stated Neil Thompson, Director, Marketing and Sales. "It is delivered through a cable modem and it is 100 times quicker."

With WAVE, users are connected to the internet 24 hours a day, seven days a week, which eliminates the dialling up process. Because WAVE is cable connected, the need for a second telephone line is also eliminated.

Kinsmen request playground funds

By Nancy Chemerika

All members of the Council of the Town of Minnedosa attended last Tuesday's regular meeting. At the meeting, Harvey Wedgewood and Terry McLenehan represented the Minnedosa Kinsmen to request funding for playground equipment.

McLenehan explained that the Minnedosa Kinsmen currently are responsible for four playgrounds in town: one at the beach, one in the northeast, one in the northwest, and one in the southwest corner of town. He added that the Club's greatest concern for 2000 involves the playground in the northwest end of town which is in a state of disrepair. McLenehan explained that if the playground is not properly repaired, it will probably have to be removed.

"We would like to see either matching funds or an above matching investment from the Town of Minnedosa in the young people of this community," stated Mr. McLenehan.

The Kinsmen expect that the project will cost in the neighbourhood of $15,000. With that money the area would include a picnic area as well as a play structure. The club currently has $6,000 for the project, raised by working at city bingos.

Mayor Drebit commended the Kinsmen Club on their extensive community work and indicated that Council will consider the request.

Town administration was authorized to contact Ms. Tanis Barrett and MCI students to set up an Internet Web Page for the Town of Minnedosa. A grant in the amount of $500 is to be provided for this purpose.

The Rotation for the Deputy Mayor will be: Councillor Blais, April, May, June, 2000; Everett, July, August, September; Willis, October, November, December; Trott, January, February, March, 2001; Graham, April, May, June, 2001.

In other Council news, the Minnedosa Horticultural Society was given a grant of $100. Council agreed to sponsor the Agriculture and Food regional meeting to be held at Minnedosa Community Conference Centre, April 4, 2000.

Mayor Drebit and Councillor Willis were authorized to attend the Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District annual banquet, April 14th at Basswood.

Mayor Drebit and two high school students were authorized to attend the Youth Entrepreneurs Conference in Brandon, April 13th and 14th, 2000.

Council agreed to purchase inside front page advertising for both the Classic Rock Weekend and Shakin' the Lake programs. Mayor Drebit declared a conflict of interest prior to discussing the issue and left the meeting until it was resolved.

The Town of Minnedosa will remain a member of the local Chamber of Commerce for the year 2000.

Minto and Odanah show surplus in '99

By Nancy Chemerika

Like the Town of Minnedosa, both the R.M.'s of Minto and Odanah recorded surpluses in their general operating fund in 1999.

The R.M. of Odanah recorded an unofficial $28,804.35 surplus. Council passed a resolution authorizing $20,000 of the surplus to be transferred into the 2000 operating fund budget, $5,000 into the replacement reserve, and the remaining balance was transferred into the nominal surplus.

The surplus was partially the result of investment returns, the provincial/municipal tax sharing grant, and miscellaneous revenue. The R.M. spent less than the budgeted amount in the areas of general government services, protective services, transportation services, environmental health services, economic development services, and fiscal services.

The R.M. of Odanah also recorded an unofficial utility operating fund surplus of $16,642.65. The surplus resulted from increased water sales, both residential and bulk, as well as an additional connection.

The R.M. of Minto recorded a 1999 unofficial surplus of $25,347.94. Council passed a resolution authorizing the administrator to transfer $25,000 into the 2000 operating budget and the balance into nominal surplus.

The R.M. of Minto surplus partially resulted from increased sale of goods, returns from investments, miscellaneous revenue and additional funds from Classic Rock.

Woodcock children honour brother's memory

Georgina Johnson, Minnedosa Regional Library, accepted a donation of a Bethany and District History Book from three young book borrowers last week.

Dylan, Heather, and Ian Woodcock, children of Maxine and Ken, made the presentation in memory of their brother David Woodcock, who passed away at age 13 months in 1987.

Individual donations nearing $9,500

By Nancy Chemerika

If the number of donations coming in for the Library Millennium Addition is any indication, the project could become a reality in the very near future.

A Millennium Addition brochure was included with a Homecoming 2000 mail-out, and partially as a result of that mail out, individual donations now total close to $9,500. In addition to local donations, cheques have been coming in from Minnesota, British Columbia, Ontario, Alberta, and Manitoba, from former Minnedosans who have fond memories of their home town.

"The number of individual donations coming in is very gratifying," stated Dean Wareham, Chair of the fundraising committee. "I think the out of area donations are coming in because people believe the enhanced facility will continue to make Minnedosa a viable community for future generations."

The brochure that was sent out gave a brief history of the current library and the plans for the expansion, as well as a contribution form. All donations are tax deductible and can be made in the name of the donator's name or in honour of someone else. A plaque, according to the level of donation, will be engraved commemmorating the contribution.

As a result of the expansion, the current facility will be doubled in size from 2,400 to 4,800 square feet. The facility will feature three new components: a children's centre, an ecology centre, and a local community archives. The additional space will also allow for a reading lounge, an expanded computer centre with internet access, a workroom, an enlarged circulation desk, and additional office space. The main entrance to the facility will be moved from the southside of the building to the west. The total estimated cost of the project is $300,000.

"The addition will give the community greater access to the rest of the world through the enhanced computer centre, and greater programming will be provided," explained Wareham. "The ecology centre will have regional importance with regards to eco-tourism. This addition will benefit all members of the community from 2 to 92."

The fundraising committee is currently awaiting word on a number of grants to help fund the project. In addition to the joint $70,000 contribution of the Town of Minnedosa, R.M. of Minto, and R.M. of Odanah, donations from businesses and organizations now total $8,985.00.

Secrecy takes hold of new government

The bricks and mortar of government accountability are quietly crumbling on the NDP's watch. Provincial Ombudsman Barry Tuckett recently griped about being "swamped" and "bogged down" by piles of complaints from Manitobans who filed information requests under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA).

Hallway access to information is crippling the Ombudsman's office. Tuckett estimates that he already received half as many complaints in the first two months of this year as he had in all of 1999. Should the trend continue, his workload would increase by 300 per cent.

Once the Parthenon of government accountability, Manitoba's access to information laws have been reduced to rubble by years of neglect and government sabotage. When the Filmon government passed amendments in 1997 - taking the information laws back into the dark ages - Gary Doer described it as "the worst legislation in North America."

Costs to the public shot up by fifty percent, tighter restrictions were introduced, and 30-day extensions were granted to slow-responding departments. The enduring legacy of the Byzantine amendments conceals government documents from citizens who have a right to know.

Mr. Tuckett pins part of the blame for the rising number of complaints on feeble bureaucratic excuses like: "gee this is going to embarrass us, or gee I'm not comfortable about releasing that or geez why are we doing this...." But the embarrassment is reserved only for governments and bureaucrats unclear on the concept of open government.

As the Opposition leader, Doer committed that his government would, "...bring in a new bill... very shortly, and we will have legislation that is worthy of the former reputation of Manitoba of being an open, democratic tolerant society."

But after repeated requests by the Manitoba Library Association, the Provincial Council of Women, the Manitoba Association for Rights and Liberty and the Canadian Taxpayers Federation pressing for reforms to the information laws, the new government refuses to act on its pre-election pledge.

Now the government has extended the flawed act to educational bodies, health-care bodies and local governments, worsening the backlog of complaints for the Ombudsman. Why extend to local bodies legislation that has been described as the worst in North America without first making the amendments to which the NDP have committed?

Restrictive information laws have always been a thorn in the side of the opposition, the media and pressure groups that rely on FIPPA to uncover waste and hold governments accountable. In 1997 alone, the NDP and Liberal opposition made 132 requests for access to information under FIPPA.

Government information is public information that should be made available without delay and at the lowest possible cost. After all, Manitobans paid for it once already in taxes.

Modern information technology such as the internet allows immense and inexpensive opportunities for the government to establish and maintain the routine disclosure of information.

The challenge for the NDP during the next session of the legislature, likely in May, will be to introduce wide-sweeping reforms to Manitoba's information laws.

They should expand the scope of the act for the public to gain access to public opinion polls; create the position of an Information and Privacy Commissioner to order disclosure of government information; restore search and preparation fees from $30 per hour to $20 per hour; and introduce a provision to waive fees where requests for records relate to a matter of public interest.

The NDP should make good on its pre-election promise and reform the information laws now before the culture of secrecy takes hold of the new government as it did the old.

— Victor Vrsnik Provincial Director Canadian Taxpayers Federation

Picture of the Week ...

What was last known as Benson's Store in Clanwilliam was demolished last week. According to local memory, the establishment was built by a Mr. Sanderson in the early 1900's as a hotel and livery stable, when Clanwilliam was in its early days.

After the Sandersons, Bob Wright ran a barbershop and pool room, and Charlie Chung operated a restaurant. The Motuz family took over next also running a restaurant, pool room and store. The Wanda and Charlie Benson family last ran the establishment as a store, restaurant and coffee shop before selling it for private residenecy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NDP balance budget despite themselves

Dear Editor:

I am pleased the Doer Government has finally admitted they will balance the budget in 1999/2000 and show a very modest surplus of $4.8 million. It appears Finance Minister Greg Selinger now realizes the sky is not falling and he can balance the budget, something my colleagues and I have been saying since the NDP Government declared last year they would have no choice but to run a deficit.

After reading the Manitoba Government's Third Quarter Report it is clear the Doer Government has done nothing to manage the budget process or reduce expenditures. In fact, it seems the NDP have increased spending more than $100 million since they were sworn into office in early October. It is hard to believe the NDP wasted more than $500,000 on the politically inspired financial review by Deloitte that was only used by the Doer Government to scare Manitobans and the financial community about the state of the province's books. This entire exercise did nothing except hurt the image of Manitoba as a great place to invest and do business.

I am also concerned the NDP has failed to call back the Manitoba Legislature to table a budget that hopefully will include a tax-cutting plan. With significant increases in own source revenues and federal transfers Manitobans deserve to have more of their hard earned money put back in their pockets. I hope this almost unprecedented delay in tabling a budget is a result of Mr. Doer's realization that Manitobans will not support the tax and spend ways of the old NDP. To manage the affairs of Manitoba, a government has to be prepared to make difficult financial decisions in the best interest of Manitobans and the economy.

We have yet to see any of this skill from the new government, but I want to assure you that I will continue to hold the Doer Government accountable to the taxpayers and press them to cut taxes and continue to grow the economy. This is the only way we can protect our vital social services and keep our young people here in Manitoba.

Yours sincerely,
Harold Gilleshammer,
MLA, Minnedosa
Constituency

Heritage Co-op Home Centre donates to Grad 2000/2001

Ron Carr, Heritage Co-op Home Centre, presented a cheque for $1,008 to some of the Minnedosa Collegiate graduating students of 2000 and 2001. The students helped organize the conversion to a retail control system, in which all products at the Home Centre will be rung through a scanner, similar to the food store.

"The students really worked well for us," stated Carr. "We would certainly hire them back."

Credit Union annual meeting well attended

On Monday, March 20, Minnedosa Credit Union held their 53rd Annual Meeting at the Minnedosa Community Conference Centre.

175 people enjoyed a delicious roast beef supper prepared by D&B Catering and served by the staff and directors of the credit union. President Debby Charles chaired the business portion of the meeting.

Debby Charles

Debby announced the board had approved a patronage refund for 1999 in the amount of $100,138. This will paid as a refund of 2.29% of loan interest paid in 1999 and a bonus of 5.43% of deposit interest received in 1999. This will bring the total paid to the membership via refunds and dividends in the past 6 years to over $850,000 with $419,000 of that paid in cash.

It was announced that those receiving a cash payment this year would be paid by cheque that would be distributed at the credit union's Patronage Refund event on June 21. Members can pick up their cheque and enjoy a bowl of chili and a bun. General Manager Don Farr reviewed the financial statements with the members present. Assets grew by 6.6% to end the year at $45,062,042, the highest level ever. Pre-tax profit came in at $406,665.

Farr stated, "The equity position of $3,292,717 represented 7.3% of assets and provides a strong base for the credit union to continue to add new services for its members." After the meeting the crowd was entertained by the Tanners Elementary Grade 4-8 Choir under the direction of Nicole McLenehan. Johanne Ross and Don Jury, both directors, decided not to seek re-election to the board. Debby Charles presented them with plaques as a token of the thanks owed for their three years of service. Debby Charles' term was up and she sought re-election. The Nominating Committee approached Barb Cook and Barry McNabb and both agreed to let their name stand. As there were no nominations from the floor, the three were elected to three-year terms.

In conjunction with the 53rd Annual Meeting, Minnedosa Credit Union honoured employees and directors who reach service milestones.

Receiving 5 year awards were Debby Charles, Don Jury, Johanne Ross and Ray Morgan. 10 Year awards went to Carole Dalrymple and Alayna McTavish. Lori McNabb received her 20-year gift and Biarni Walterson was honoured for his 25 years of employment with the Manitoba Credit Union system.

Woychyshyn received 4-H Gold Watch

By Nancy Chemerika

Chris Woychyshyn, Erickson, was this year's recipient of the Minnedosa 4-H District Agricore Gold Watch.

The watch was presented to Woychyshyn, who attends Grade 12 at Erickson Collegiate, by Neil Miller of Agricore, Minnedosa at the 4-H wind up held recently at Bethany Hall.

The Gold Watch is an annual award presented to an outstanding 4-H member in the Minnedosa Ag. Rep. District. The winning candidate is chosen based on a factors including 4-H experience, what they have gained and done for 4-H, as well as their participation in other community activities such as school, church and volunteer activities. Throughout the interview, the candidate is also judged on their ability to express themselves, as well as their knowledge of current events. The candidates future plans are also taken into account.

Woychyshyn has been a member of the Erickson 4-H Club for nine years, and participated in a number of club activities, has taken on various beef projects, and has held various club offices. In addition to 4-H Chris has achieved several school accomplishments including Gold Honour Rolls, highest academic achievement awards, male athlete of the year, Canadian Math contest medallion winner, as well as other certificates. He has also been involved in the drama club, band, and various sports, grad committee, the french travel club.

Brenda Dowsett, Minnedosa, was the recipient of the Minnedosa 4-H District Gold Watch Runner-Up Award. Neil Galbraith, Minnedosa Ag. Rep., presented Brenda, who attends Grade 12 at Minnedosa Collegiate, with the award.

Brenda has also been involved in 4-H for nine years and has been involved in a variety of projects such as the Manitoba Tanzania Entrepreneurship Training Association. She has held the offices of secretary, treasurer and president.

Besides 4-H, Brenda has achieved school gold medals in academics, athletics and school services, Honour Roll, athletic Wall of Fame winner, school student council treasurer, Minnedosa Credit Union Youth Board of Directors, treasurer and president.

The installation process involves a cable installer wiring in the cable connection. Once the cable modem is in place, a computer technician then installs an internet card within your computer which is then connected to the cable modem.

The cost to get hooked up to the wave is $39.95, plus a one-time installation fee, for cable customers, or $49.95 for non cable customers, plus the one time installation fee.

In 1999 Westman Communications Group constructed a bi-directional fibre optic link between Minnedosa, Neepawa, and Carberry. The project, which cost $1.2 million allows for the delivery of enhanced cable television, high speed internet and data networking services to the communities. The interconnection was built upon the fiber optic link between Brandon and Winnipeg and the fiber optic distribution system in Brandon.

"The service has been running in Brandon for two years, and it is doing extremely well," explained Thompson. "If we're not the highest penetrated market in Canada, we're the second highest. As far as we're aware, Minnedosa, Neepawa, and Carberry and the smallest communities in Canada to receive high speed internet service and Digital Choice."

Westman Communications Group representatives began accepting appointments for residential WAVE and Digital Choice hookups in Minnedosa at the open house. Business hook-ups will be accepted this week. Neepawa will begin getting hooked up this week, and Carberry next week.

Simply Gardening

As two small kids my brother and I really never stole apples and pears from my grandfather's tree. We just borrowed them for the future. I can still remember the snap of those pears when you bit into them. Nothing mealy or soft about them - just an explosion of sweetness in your mouth. The apples (I have no idea which variety they were) were equally good and I do remember having to climb the trees to get the particularly good ones.

My own apple orchard has not been as good as my grandfather's. The deer ate most of the tops off the trees and the rabbits and mice got to the bottoms one difficult year (for them and the trees). Seeing a growh gardener crying over his orchard was not a pretty sight. My orchard now consists of several trees grown quite close to the house but I'm about to expand again.

The first thing I'll do with my trees this month (before the buds start to swell) is to prune them. I'll wait for a sunny day and go out with my pruning saw (don't use a household saw - it will gum up and ruin the saw) to open up the centre of these young trees. I want to force the growth outwards instead of upwards so most of the upward facing branches will be removed. Its difficult to describe good apple pruning in an article - let me suggest you get a good pruning book. My own Landscape Magic has instructions on how to renovate old trees but not how to treat brand new plantings.

One thing I will be doing this month is spraying all my trees with dormant oil and lime-sulphur. I'll spray this mixture (at recommended strengths on the label) so that it gets into all the cracks of the bark and coats every surface of the tree. The oil smothers any overwintering egg masses (like gypsy moth or tent caterpillar) and the lime-sulfur does the same thing to any overwinter fungus spores. This easy step will reduce the amount of insect control work you'll have to do later this spring and summer as well as giving you a healthier tree. Do it on a day that is above freezing so the water in the oil mix will evaporate leaving the oil on the bark. If you do it when the temperatures are freezing, you'll find the water will freeze and the oil will not get to the bark but will stay suspended or flake off the tree. Garden centres carry this product.

The first thing I'll do when the flowers are finished blooming is to coat a few old tennis balls (don't tell Andrea I've stolen her practice balls) with red paint and then horticultural glue. Horticultural glue - like Tanglefoot - does not dry out but remains sticky for up to two years. I'll hang these sticky red balls in the tree - several to the tree. Every flying pest that wants to lay eggs in my tree so their larvae can survive will fly to the apparently-ripe apples first. Stuck fast - they'll die on the sticky trap and their larvae will not eat my apples. On the home scale, I can reduce the pest infestations by upwards of 90% with this trick. The other thing I'll do is wrap masking tape around the trunk of the tree in a 2 to 3 inch band. I'll ensure there's no space under the tape for a bug to crawl by filling it with old paper or cotton batting and then I'll put a band of Tanglefoot onto the tape. This means that no crawling insect or caterpillar can crawl up the trunk to get to my fruit tree. I've often seen several hundred small caterpillars milling around under such a treated tree just as frustrated as all heck. A few foot stomps reduced the population pressure.

If I'm concerned about apple scab - I'd get some lime sulfur spray and use that as the directions on the label indicate. You'll have to spray at pre-blossom and at regular intervals after that but the directions will be clear about when. This year I'm not going to be spraying for scab - I didn't have a major problem with it last year (without spraying) so I'll likely tempt the fates again. I don't mind the odd scabby apple - I understand that this is the price I pay for my refusal to use noxious chemicals in my home garden.

One thing I will be doing this year again is to liberally compost the apple trees. In my research for my book on old gardening techniques, I found that most of the advice on orchard care was quite specific about the need for using lots of composted manure around the trees. Seeing as how modern research is confirming the positive aspects of compost as a disease fighting agent, I'm going to put a ½ inch layer down. The compost will go from the drip line of the tree to half way to the trunk. It will also be applied the same distance from the drip line out away from the trunk. The small feeder roots are congregated in this area and I intend to feed those little fellows. I'll also make sure the tree gets well watered at least once a week.

Does this give you picture perfect apples? Yeah sometimes - but there will be some damage too. There will be some insect damage but the apples won't be covered in pesticides or wax and you will be able to eat them right off the tree without washing them. More importantly, your kids will grow up to share my memories of fresh apples right off the tree.

Congratulations to 3 local fisherman who were winners at the Dauphin Ice Fishing Contest on March 18th. John Braschuk Jr. won a VCR, Paul Braschuk won a 9.9 outboard motor and Karen Manary won a $100.00 gift certificate from Rock Bottom Fishing Hole and a rod & reel for being one of the 1st to catch a fish (12:06). There was over 1900 fishermen and over 300 fish caught.

Lion Ben Ward & Janice have recently returned from Tennessee where they attended the International Lions Meeting. Lion Ben is a Director of the World Organization and has travelled extensively this past year. I believe Acapulco is their next trip.

Best wishes to Henry Wall who was one of 4 Minnedosa Bowlers who competed in Dauphin recently for winner to compete for the Provincial 5 Pin Bowlers Tournament in Winnipeg on April 15th. Henry scored the highest and will compete in Winnipeg. If successful there he will be in the National Competition.

Ron Lee had a 2 week holiday visiting his sister in Tennessee and attending the Spring Training of the Major Baseball Teams in Florida.

Can any Manitobans beat this record? Four Erickson Legion Members, namely, Maurice Godin, Joe Sturgeon, Jim Ferguson and Mervin Foster played 9 holes of golf at Sandy Lake on March 21st.

Get well wishes are extended to Marlon Gunnarson who had surgery in Winnipeg, and to Winnie Burkett at St. Boniface Hospital and Bob Sanderson at Brandon Hospital.

The Erickson Lions Club were busy the last 2 weeks contacting people for their annual donation for the Red Cross.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Peter Ewasiuk who died at Erickson Health Centre on March 19th. The funeral service was conducted from Sacred Heart Church on March 24th.

The Venton Beatty's spent the weekend with Rev. Bergmans at Langenburg, SK.

Sympathy is extended to Katie Challborn and family on the death of Calvin Challborn at Manitoba Development Centre at Portage la Prairie at the age of 41.

Dr. Craig Skoglund, Winnipeg, spent March 18th weekend with mother Selma, brother Elliott.

March 22nd Cribbage winners at the Erickson Legion were: 1st Nellie Woywada, 2nd Jim Butler, 3rd Anne Marie Kingdon. Low score Grace Michalchuk.

This week is school break so many pupils and teachers are off for greener pastures.

The chance of going through life without ever having a personal loss or victim of crime is very small. Your COPPS members have put together a list of items for your consideration to help reduce the risk of becoming involved in an unfortunate incident. COPP's safety TIP this week is:.....Good exterior lighting is very important. Flood lighting is superior and lights should be spaced to illuminate shadows. Fixtures should be high enough to prevent burglars from easily turning them out. Dusk to dawn (motion) lights are the best.

The Cam McInnes family spent the weekend in Winnipeg with Kevin & Shelley Serle and family.

Legion hosts 4-H public speaking

by Apryl Larson, Club Reporter

On the evening of March 14th the Erickson Legion hosted the Erickson 4H Communications Night. The judges for the evening were Pam Ryznar and Jeff Kerr. All members did a excellent job and a good crowd was on hand to listen to the 4H members.

In the Junior division Kailey Kowalick took top honors and Chris Woychyshyn in the Senior. Richard Bramley gave a excellent one person visual demonstration.

The Erickson Legion and Ladies Auxiliary provided division trophies and cash prizes to all members.

The evening ended with a delicious lunch provided by the Legion Ladies Auxiliary.

2nd event winners (LtoR) Donna Vaughan, Sharon Larsen, Terryl Maduke, Leanne Judd.

Erickson 4-H Club Report

by Apryl Larson

The past few months have been real busy for the club, with Sleigh rides, curling parties, speaking, Jamboree and our fund raising whist drive.

With spring break here the Beef Club members will be having another weigh day at the Woychyshyn Farm. Later in April a tour will be arranged of a large feed lot and maybe a touch up demo on grooming skills.

Did you know Chantel Porteous, our 4H member, is on a 4H tour in Tanzania this spring break?

Congratulations are extended to Chris Woychyshyn on winning the Gold Watch Award.

Legion Ladies Auxiliary News - Branch #138

Legion Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 138 held their regular meeting March 14 in the Club Rooms with 23 members present. Pres. Muriel McManus chaired the meeting.

Minutes and Treasurers reports were presented to the membership and were accepted as read.

Thank you cards were received from Irene Sobie for lunch served at Mike's Funeral, also from Sadie Northcott & Dorothea Charette for visits when they were ill. Commonwealth Air Command in Brandon sent thanks for our contribution, it will help defray costs on repairing a Tiger Moth plane in their hangar. Received a receipt for donation and one pass to attend a days performance at the Rolling River Festival of Arts in Rivers in April. Upon inquiring re:visitations to Auxiliary members ill in Brandon hospital, could we have visits made to our members by Brandon sick & visiting committee - they would be pleased to act in that capacity if let know whom and when.

Jennifer Nylen & Carmine McNabb spoke to the meeting on their activities in 4-H. The enjoyment they get from other members, there is no limit to what you can excel in.

An order has been made to Peggy Galoway Committee chairperson for the book "Women of the War Years".

Auxiliary members Evelyn Baisley, Edna Pelts & Bea Andrews attended the Branch meeting at which there was discussion on cleaning & painting of the Club Room walls, ceiling and carpets. Branch presented the Ladies with carnations and a plaque to show their appreciation for help in the past. Painters and cleaners tenders have been accepted with work starting immediately - a motion was passed at our Auxiliary meeting - we make a financial donation to help defray costs.

A motion was made to make a financial donation to the Library to help with their expansion.

Crop Insurance Deadline

The end of March is the deadline to make changes to your Crop Insurance contract. This includes signing up or discontinuing a contract, adding or deleting crops you want insured, changing coverage levels between 50%, 70%, and 80%, choosing unseeded land insurance coverage level, and choosing dollar value coverage you want. Remember you can choose different coverage levels for each crop so you could have higher risk crops at 80% and lower risk crops at 50% or 70%. You also have to be in Crop Insurance to qualify for the recently announced Spring Cash Advance Payment Program. It will be available for the next three years.

PeaCan Meal Plant

A group of producers from Miniota has been working on this idea for some time. They are now able to invite producers to informational meetings about their PeaCan proposal. The demand for feed rations in Western Manitoba will only increase with continued increase in hog and cattle numbers. This is an excellent opportunity to save on some costs of freight and handling charges by selling your peas in a local market. There are two of these meetings this week at Oak River and Strathclair. Contact the Ag Office for details.

Pasture Demo

A herbicide company is looking for a grass pasture with no legumes but has lots of thistles to do a test plot on. They want it in a visible location to be used on tours and will provide herbicide. An untreated strip will be needed. If interested contact the Ag Office.

Minnedosa Legion Branch #138 News

by Cmd. Tom Delgaty

Members who attended the March 13th general meeting were indeed honoured to have as their special guests three smartly uniformed ladies of the Legion Auxilliary: Bea Andrews, Edna Pelts and Evelyn Baisley. The purpose of their attendance was to be presented with a plaque by the Branch in recognition and sincere appreciation for the tremendous help and support given the Branch by the Auxiliary over the long term.

At the outset of the meeting the Sgt.-at-Arms Cmd. Len Robinson under instructions from Cmd. President Mansell escorted the Auxiliary delegation to the front. Following a few well chosen words Cmd. Pres. made the presentation which invoked an appropriate response of acceptance by the Auxiliary guests who were then escorted back to their seats by Cmd. Robinson.

The Auxiliary reiterated their desire to continue to help the Branch in whatever ways possible.

Over the past many years the auxiliary have helped the Branch in many different ways - Saturday night suppers, banquets, other cash donations and work around the club room facilities involving a good deal of physical activity. In general the present cordial relationship between the Branch and the Auxiliary is a very important entity relative to the work and success of the Branch itself.

The accompanying photo was taken by Cmd. Bill Campbell. A photo of re-enactment was also taken of the presentation of the Past President medal to Cmd. L.L. McLeod.

The Auxiliary plaque is inscribed with this inscription: "In appreciation to the Ladies Auxiliary for outstanding contributions to the Legion Branch #138 and the community at large. Year 2000."

Considerable time and discussion took place concerning tenders for washing and painting of the club rooms interior. Decisions were reached upon the recommendations received from the Executive and open discussions by the members present. Special thanks goes to the committee members, Cmd. Alec Abel and others for the time and effort extended in this regard. Work is to commence soon. Cmds. Norm Simms, Carl Bialas, Wayne Hopkins and three Auxiliary members were appointed as a committee to oversee this project.

Cmd. Mansell reported a car load of members will travel to Neepawa on Sunday, March 19th for the Zone convention.

The recent lucky winners for the Library fund raiser dinner were Cmds. Bill Clark, Harry Dowsett, Jim Proven and Don Burgess.

A total of $400.00 was raised and turned in for the "Bowling for Kids".

The Branch authorized a donation for the "Kidney Foundation".

The Deer Lodge Foundation advised that March 21-23 would be the dates for their "open house".

A letter from Dominion Command requested all branches to put pressure on M.P.'s asking the Federal Government to make desecration of flags a criminal offence. It would seem this is a widespread problem not confined to Minnedosa's dam flags.

The subject of Legion property being exempted from Education Tax came up once again. A letter on this subject is to be drafted.

In regards to available space in Legion Gardens the party to be contacted is Cmd. L.L. McLeod.

Cmd. Bill Clarke reported a profit of $350.00 for February bingo. Arrangements are going well for the Legion fun fest celebrations. Cmd. Jim Instance is in charge of Wheel of Fortune tickets. Entertainment and social department is in the hands of Cmd. Wayne Hopkins.

Cmd. Bill Campbell produced a delicately and professionally enlarged photo of our Legion involvement in the "Tournament of Champions 2000." This will be suitably displayed in the clubrooms after the clean up and painting along with other appropriate pictures.

The "Legion Tulip Drive" is progressing well reported Cmd. Delgaty. Sales up to March 11th total 2,420 bulbs which is 56.8% of our objective of 4,260 bulbs. The students of Tanners Crossing Elementary School are assisting in the tulip drive. The Legion is much appreciative of their help and respectfully request the public's support in this endeavour. Orders for Tulip bulbs may also be placed with any Legion member as well as Legion Club Rooms staff. This drive is not only an opportunity to beautify our environment and celebrate the 75th Anniversary of the birth of the Royal Canadian Legion, it also provides an opportunity to assist in raising money for Legion activities in our community as well as helping the Elementary School students to raise money for their project.

April 10-15 are the dates set for the Rolling River Festival of Arts. Mark your calendars. Our young people deserve your support!

At precisely 9:15 p.m. the Legion meeting was adjourned by long time adjourner Cmd. Gordon Ingaldson.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for April 10th. A good attendance is anticipated.

Congratulations and best wishes to the March Birthday honorees at the Drop-In Centre's Birthday Bash. The special guests were Helen Maluk, Helen Derhak, Rose Rogasky, Verna McSymach, Irene Shandala and Paul Stasiuk.

Birthday visitors at the home of Irene Shandala included Mr. and Mrs. John Shandala of Gilbert Plains, Neil Klym and son August, Julie Windsor and son Derek and Bill and Wendy Guthrie. Marg and Leanne Gregorash of Erickson joined the festivities at the Drop-In Centre. Marcie Pollock of Keyes had an overnight visit at Irene's and they went to the Drop-In Saturday night to play cards. Irene encourages everyone to come out to the card games as she says it's lots of fun!

Brian Shandala and Marvin Broney visited Mitch Wozney in Dauphin on March 17th.

Sincere condolences to the family and friends of the late Cecil Andreychuk.

Irene Shandala attended the funeral service for Peter Iwasiuk in Erickson on Friday March 24th.

Phinette Kristalovich, Helen Maluk, Sadie Rystephanuk and Helen Derhak attended the Legion District meeting in Shoal Lake on Monday March 20th.

The Sandy Lake Rec Committee held it's annual Volunteer Appreciation supper and Annual Meeting on March 20th.

Lawrence Osadec has been kind enough to allow me to keep a "Minnedosa Trib News Box" in the store. Items can be written out and dropped off there and I'll pick them up...I usually submit the news Thursday afternoons. Thanks for your input!

"Fast facts about nutrition"

What is healthy eating? Establishing healthy eating habits is all about the food choices you make over time, not just the food choices you make in one day or at one meal. You don't have to give up foods you love for the sake of your health, but you should aim for variety and moderation.

When you think of healthy eating, think F.A.S.T:

F-Food - Food for healthy eating can also be quick and easy to prepare.

A-Active - Active living leads to more energy and a feeling of well being.

S-Save - Save time for family and friends by making time to plan, cook, and enjoy meals together.

T-Taste - Taste and pleasure of food is paramount.

Are you the parent of a fussy eater? If so, it does not necessarily mean that your child is just being stubborn.

Children have more taste buds than adults, so things that taste mild to an adult can taste very strong to a child. Furthermore, children are more keenly aware of the texture of food, which is why they may avoid putting foods that look slimy or rubbery into their mouths. Children are also more sensitive to the temperature of food so, if a child has tried a food that burned his or her mouth once, he or she will be less likely to try it again. Don't give up though. Most children will eventually accept a wider variety of foods as their perception of types of food change or because of repeated introduction.

The dieticians of Canada want to remind you that, although March is National Nutrition Month, healthy eating is something you should do every month of the year!

Rolling River School Division individuals honoured

Kevin McInnes, an 11 year old student at Tanner's Crossing School in Minnedosa, recently received a "Yes, I Can" award at a celebration in Winnipeg on February 24th, sponsored by the Manitoba Council for Exceptional Children.

In spite of his physical challenges, he has had great success with his daily routine; getting to and from the bus, using his scooter, meeting and greeting peers and adults with warmth and cheerfulness, and developing the skills to work and play independently. He always tries to do his best and is a very caring and compassionate individual. His level of confidence and independence has grown and this has improved his whole outlook on life. Kevin has a pleasant disposition and is happy to be involved with his peers and his "special friend" at school, whom he assists in her daily program. Congratulations Kevin!

The "Yes, I Can" awards are presented to exceptional students across Manitoba on an annual basis and recognize achievements gained over a number of years.

The same evening, Joan Garbutt, Jane Alex, and Chanel Duthie, the team of educational assistants from Rapid City School were awarded a "Certificate of Recognition" in honour of their dedication and the excellent work they do with a wide range of students. They each work in a number of classrooms, with small groups, and one-on-one with students. Joan, Jane, and Chanel provide a variety of high interest activities that allow students to gain confidence in the abilities. The ladies were commended on their abilities to approach new situations with a positive attitude and on their initiative to become educated about new approaches or techniques that benefit students. Congratulations on jobs well done.

Minister of Agriculture to visit Birtle

Roseann Wowchuk, the Manitoba Minsiter of Agriculture, will speak at a banquet and dance in Birtle on April 7th.

Hardo Bewer, President of the Russell NDP Constituency Association, said he was delighted by Ms. Wowchuk's decision. "She's a great speaker, and she has promised to take questions from the floor," Bewer said. "She's always interested in meeting other farmers."

Ms. Wowchuk, MLA for Swan River, farms near Cowan, Manitoba.

Brownie Highlights 1999/2000

September saw new faces in the Minnedosa Brownie Unit. Caroline Hall became Brown Owl and was joined by Maureen McKee as Tawny Owl. Caroline's daughters, Sarah and Emma, helped out as Brownies too. Five Brownies returned to enjoy their second year and seven new Brownies joined them.

We have covered most of the program work, "Opening our Windows on People, the Outdoors, and Today and Tomorrow". Older Brownies have extended their knowledge by "Widening Their Windows."

The group attended the Remembrance Day Service and afterwards prepared a healthy snack, completing their "Food Fun" outlook, for which they received a badge.

170 tray favours were made to decorate the Christmas lunch trays at the hospital and care home. These were wreaths made from puzzle pieces, painted and decorated.

On Monday, January 24th, the Minnedosa Brownies visited Manawaka Gallery in Neepawa, having had to cancel the trip the previous week due to bad weather. Mrs. Lane opened the gallery especially for us to see the exhibition of wildlife pictures and gave us a wealth of information about different kinds of art shown at the gallery. The visit was part of the Brownie "Widening Windows" program and can be taken towards earning the "Arts Appreciation" badge.

To the children's delight, we were given a tour of the Dairy Queen by the owners and received ice cream cones free of charge. We gave them and Mrs. Lane a traditional Brownie thank you for their kind attention and generosity.

February was a busy month. We had a sleep over at Tawny Owl's house and did Valentine crafts at the United Church Centre, which is our base. Chinese New Year was celebrated with the children becoming a dragon under the sheets. Birthday Bertha visited to wish four Brownies "Happy Birthday" and we had a cake. We discovered our characters from the Chinese animal years and all learned our future from fortune cookies.

Many Brownies attended the Thinking Day service, after learning about Brownies in other countries and were fed a wonderful meal by the AOTS at the Thinking Day banquet on the following day.

The Brownies enjoy lots of fun and games while learning about safety in the home, first aid, how to wrap and address parcels, do simple repairs, healthy lifestyle, to care for the environment, have learned about their heritage and will be presented with their heritage badges at a Citizenship Ceremony in Brandon in April. On March 13th, the Brownies had a wedding at their meeting. They learned about many different careers possible with all the different services accessed during the planning of a wedding, for example the printer who produces the wedding invitations, the caterer and florist and many more.

We are all looking forward to Brownie Spree, the theme of which is twinning with Uganda, and to our summer camp at Ninette in June.

TCS Topics

The annual gymnastics show took place last Thursday evening and was a great success again this year. Any time you have students from grades one to twelve working together to put on a show in front of a full house, that has to be termed as a success. Mrs. Nylen put a lot of work into organizing the event, together with the other coaches, and a number of students and staff who helped with equipment.

Students in Grades 4-8 can be commended for their performance at the Credit Union annual banquet. Mrs. McLenehan put a lot of work into preparing the students for the event. It is nice to be able to show off the students talents at an event such as this.

Students in Junior High classes have signed up for badminton and are looking forward to practices, which will begin after spring break. We hope that everyone has a terrific spring break and comes back refreshed on April 3rd.

Ken Surovy - Rec Director

All of us know intuitively about the benefits of leisure, recreation and sport participation. It is easy for us to observe our children's gross motor development as they participate in programs like Motorin Munchkins, Tumbling Tots, hockey, baseball, soccer, skateboarding and school sports. As adults, we "feel" the benefits of participation physically as the rewards are somewhat immediate compared to the inner benefits. The focus on the physical often causes us to overlook the inner development and benefits of participation because it is so often subtle. This inner development is best defined as character.

Stephen R. Covey, author of " The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Families", claims that today it is out of vogue to speak in terms of character. He describes character as the inner sense of what's right and wrong based not on laws or rules of conduct but on who we are. Ask yourself how Marty McSorley defines character when we all heard him say " I didn't mean to hurt anyone, I just wanted to fight"!

In society today, it seems that inner values do not matter anymore yet there is no more essential aspect of any person. Covey says that in the modern age, we have come to believe that the only things we need for success are talent, energy and personality however history has taught us that, over the long haul, it is who we are that is more important than who we appear to be.

Covey further states that our current value system is based solely on skill and personality causing our children to find heroes in athletes and musicians. Despite our admiration for these achievers, we shouldn't necessarily look upon them as role models. Locally, we have athletes who have achieved success at the provincial and national level. Should their lives be scrutinized and demands put on them just because they have achieved success at doing something they love? Are these individuals good role models because of their achievements or because they have character as described by Covey.

If we describe character as the inner sense of what is right and wrong based on who we are then I presume that leisure, recreation and sport have a role in developing character as opposed to providing role models for society. It is through our participation in leisure, recreation and sport that we build character. Benefits of participation like trusting your teammates, passing the ball/puck/whatever to the least skilled player, having courage to try new things, fair play, leading when it is your turn, all these things build character.

Covey believes that the key is learning how to look within - to work from the inside out, that private victories precede public victories. He claims that it is as simple as keeping a promise to yourself and others such as exercising everyday, playing/coloring with your children when time permits in our busy lives, trying new activities, making hard choices about who you are and who you want your children to be.

Building character is a primary focus of leisure, recreation and sport. True success and happiness can be experienced if we make character the bedrock of our lives. Take time to participate with your children as you are their role models and most important start building character at home.

Rapid City & District News

by Grace Fearnley

March 20th there were 13 seniors out to bowl at Minnedosa. Sylvia Soldan received the Head Pin and the trophy winners were Gib Phillips and Ethel Westwood.

Eight tables were in play at Monday evenings whist drive held at the Valley View Senior Centre. Prize winners for the ladies were: Lily Anderson and Bernice McTavish, John Fearnley and Lawrence Turton won for the men. Olive Walker and Adele Laferriere received the travelling prize.

The citizens of our town were shocked and deeply saddened by the sudden passing on March 11th of Don Merkley. Don will be sorely missed by many friends, especially the seniors who depended on his assistance. Heartfelt sympathy to wife Betty, children Doris, Brion and Nicole, the grandsons and all relatives in Ontario.

The Rapid City and District Lions Club held an informative meeting at the Centre, Thursday evening re: "A Life Lease project for Rapid City" there was a good attendance. Lions Orest Waloski Bob Thomson and Murray McCollum were present - Ken Hyndman was spokesman.

Wish to convey sincere sympathy to Mary Bayes, her daughters and their families on the sad loss of daughter-in-law May, wife of son and brother Jim McGinn at Calgary.

Weekend visitors with Lawrence & Mary Turton were their daughter Margie Menzies of Winnipeg and grandchildren Nathan and Bianca Ironman from Sioux Valley. Also visiting were their young people from Brandon and Shirley of Rapid City.

Sophia Hyndman returned Saturday from spending several days visiting with her niece Florence Lukey and all the other relatives of Roblin.

Thelma Andersen attended the Rebecca Assembly in Winnipeg this past week and also visited with her daughter Vivian Bolton and family.

Legion Auxiliary president Heather Smith and Nancy Stephenson attended the Auxiliary district meeting held March 20, 2000 at Shoal Lake. It was a worth while meeting and was well attended.

Pat Dixon of Rapid City was one of the two builders to be honored by the Manitoba R-2000 home program at the annual banquet of Construction Association of Rural Manitoba held March 10th in Brandon.

"OP KNOX Enterprises of Rapid City" won the outstanding contribution award. Congratulations Pat.

Vera McKay and her daughter Shirley Rudneski of Virden visited briefly with Mabel Haslen on Tuesday March 21st.

Tuesday, March 21st Russ & Emma Fardoe and Ronael and George Carnegi and Susan of Brandon were early 80th birthday guests of Bernice McTavish.

Ozzie Lauder returned home Sunday, March 19th from a 10 day visit with his son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren at Fort McMurray, AB.

Happy 80th birthday Thursday, March 23rd to Bernice McTavish. (more news next week)

This past week Lizann Garbutt along with her parents Steve and Joan flew to Kelowna, B.C. were Lizann participated in Tomorrows Champions 2000, this figure skating competition is the national championship for juvenile and pre-novice skaters. While in Kelowna the Garbutt's were happy to meet up with some Rapid City fans (Art & Gladys Simpson). The Simpsons were on hand for some practices and for the final event. They were also very happy to meet Stan and Margaret Farrow, of Kelowna. Stan was a former army buddy of Grandpa John Fearnley.

The Natal Community Historical Society are busy with preparations for the Natal History Book of 2000. We have extended the deadline for family histories to April 15. We urge everyone in Natal and area to submit family histories. They can be mailed to Natal Community Historical Society at Box 294, Natal, or given to Cindy Dalke. Remember April 15th deadline for family histories!

Although it was a blustery day on Friday, March 17, a very successful St.Patrick's Coffee Party and Bake Sale, sponsored by the Natal Health Aid, was responded to by a large crowd, who donated to and purchased a good supply of Home Baking. Monetary donations and memberships were received and the door prize was won by Shirley A.Pedersen.

Larissa Tanchak formerly of Natal and now in the Royal Military College in Kingston, will be dancing the Highland Fling in the Spring Gala, April 1st at the Walker Theatre, Winnipeg. See posters for details. Many will remember Larissa when she performed with the Tapp & Jazz group in Natal.

Sunday, March 19, second Sunday in Lent was a very windy day but milder temperatures than earlier in the month.

Theme conversation with the children was illustrated with seeds. Each child received seeds when planted will grow. Children too are like seeds and grow with a purpose for their lives and a reason for living. "In this world, Lord, we each have our place. You, the far-sighted coach have planned it for us. You need us, our brothers (sisters) need us and we need everyone. It isn't the position I hold that is important Lord, But the reality and strength of my presence. What difference whether I am a forward or a back, As long as I am fully what I should be." Each person has their own gifts, so each must play the part well (from message by Rev. Hunter "Where Are The Goal Posts?). The world is in need of many more full time or part time workers to bring about peace on earth, goodwill to men. Be one of God's helpers and receive his blessing.

Sympathies of the District are extended to the Andreychuk families on the loss of Cecil who passed away March 19.

Natal people were well represented at the 14th Annual S.C.S. Spring Turkey supper held Sunday, March 19 in Strathclair Municipal Hall.

Visiting Shirley Bradley on March 18 were Trevor, Danaya Gawryluk and Cole, of Rocanville, SK.

The Natal and area Lion's Club held their major fund raiser on March 17 in the Natal Hall The band Odanah Pass from Basswood entertained with a variety of music. The evening ended with lunch. The Lions have been busy the past couple of years with upgrading the playground, providing an outdoor rink, opening the Drop-In-Centre once a week for youth, and running a Hunter Safety Course. They also have a number of ongoing projects.

Fencing improvements are shocking

by Bill Stilwell

Many farmers associate electric fencing with wires breaking, electrical shorts and fires. That has all changed, according to Manitoba Agriculture's fencing expert.

High-tensile electric fencing technology is revolutionizing the fencing industry. Compared to regular fences, electric fences are cheaper, need less maintenance, last longer and are easier to install, according to Hans Rindlisbacher.

Rindlisbacher, a forage technician with Manitoba Agriculture and Food, outlined many fencing tips during a seminar at Ag Days in Brandon. The seminar was co-sponsored by the Manitoba Habitat Heritage Corporation and the Manitoba Cattle Producers Association.

"High-tensile electric fencing is one of the better things to come along for farmers in a long time," said Rindlisbacher. After learning the correct installation methods, you can save money and hours of labour and repair time, he says.

"There's nothing more satisfying than knowing your livestock is inside your fence where it belongs," he said. This provides peace of mind and a goodnight's sleep without having to worry about your animals ending up on your neighbour's farm, he says.

Rindlisbacher, who has more than 25 years experience in grazing management, provided a long list of fencing tips and advice for producers. "So that you won't have to learn the hard way, here are some of the common mistakes you should avoid when building an electric fence," he said.

"Always buy a big fencer," he says. He suggests using one size bigger than you think you need, so you will have reserve power. Proper grounding is an essential part of an electric fencing system. Use at least three galvanized ground rods, six to eight feet in length.

Never use wire that is too small. Rindlisbacher recommends using 12.5 gauge. "The thicker the wire, the more power it will carry," he said. Poor insulators are another problem with many fencing systems. "Always use insulators, no matter how strong the fencer," he said. "Buy good ones."

Rindlisbacher stressed the need to learn the proper technique for making good connections. Learn how to properly tie-off the wire and always use clamps. Square or figure of eight knots are needed when splicing wire.

Another common mistake is using the gate wire to get power across at gateways. "This is not good enough," said Rindlisbacher. "The gate handle alone makes poor contact." Instead, insulated underground wire should be used.

Too much tension causes strain on corners and end posts, says Rindlisbacher. But, wire should not sag between posts. "You want the fence to be flexible like a rubber band," he added. Don't put the posts too close together so that if something runs into the wire by chance, the posts will not break.

Other common mistakes he identifies include: taking too many shortcuts, failure to train animals in the yard before going to pasture, mixing wire types, poorly placed solar panels and failing to use a voltmetre to test for adequate current.

"Take too many shortcuts and you'll pay for it later," he cautions.

MCI Sign placed on Main Street

A Minnedosa Collegiate sign, designed to communicate with the community about school activities and upcoming events, was erected on the north east end of the main street bridge last week.

The sign, built by Minion Industries of Minnedosa, is 12 feet high with the a 6' by 8', double sided message board. Local Hydro workers erected the sign.

The sign was purchased as a result of a grant from the Town of Minnedosa, as well as donations from a variety of in-school organizations

In Memoriam

Olson - In loving memory of Jonas Olson. Dear Father, Grandfather and Great Grandfather, who passed away on March 25, 1999.

What would we give to clasp your hand.
Your happy face to see.
To hear your voice and see your smile.
That meant so much to us.

Always remembered by Sigrid, Ed, and families. x (C6)

Olson - In loving memory of Dad, Grampa and Great Grampa, Jonas who passed away March 25, 1999.

Those we love remain with us
For love itself lives on,
And cherished memories never fade
Because a loved one is gone.

Lovingly remembered by Leonard, Edna and family. x (C6)

In Loving Memory of Our Mother & Grandmother Beatrice Shirley Anaka who passed away March 27, 1999

A year has passed since we said good-bye
We miss you Mom and still wonder why,
You had to leave us-there was no choice,
What we wouldn't do now to hear your voice.

Not a day goes by we don't think of you
How you cared and loved and pulled us through Everything life would send our way,
You gave us strength to handle each day.

You were the strongest person we will ever know,
And as God said Beatrice, "It's time to go."
You smiled at us, and once again
You did all you could to ease our pain.

We needed a sign that you were all right,
We asked for a sign and you showed us the light,
You even showed us in a gift from a friend
That a mother's love will never end.

This is for you....our Grama and Mother,
Who's place in our hearts can be filled by no other.
This is for you....your pain now set free,
The one we miss....Our Grama Bea.

Mother means a friendly smile
An understanding heart,
A precious bond of Love and Warmth
That time can never part.

You Live In All Of Us
Sadly missed...Forever Loved Diane, Pat, Steven and Lance. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Burkett - In loving memory of Dorland Dale, who passed away April 2, 1995.

What wondrous love is this, O my soul!
To God and to the Lamb I will sing, who is the great I Am.
While millions join the theme, I will sing.
And when from death I'm free, I'll sing on.
And through eternity I'll sing on.
- American folk hymn

Always in our hearts, Viola and the family. (C6)

Memory of Semeniuks and Rebenchuks
Parents, Grandparents, Brothers and Inlaws

Those we love go out of sight but never out of mind.

Always remembered by family. (C6)

Cards of Thanks

I would like to thank Dr. Winistock and all the nursing staff of the 3rd floor Brandon General Hospital for the excellent care I received there following my surgery. Also thank you to Dr. Bright and the nursing staff of Minnedosa District Hospital for getting me on the road to recovery.
Thanks to everyone who came to visit me, sent cards, phoned to inquire about me, for the fruit basket and flowers and also thanks to my chauffer and to anyone else who helped in any way. It is nice to have so many friends when you need them. Lawrence Dalke. x (CD)

Parenteau - The family of the late Margaret Parenteau would like to thank their many friends, neighbors & co-workers for the many cards and calls of sympathy we received. Also a grateful thank you for the donations of food, baking, flowers and manpower which helped our family through our time of loss. Thank you also for the memorial donations sent in our Mother & Grandmother's name. You never truly realize how many wonderful people live in our world until they all pull together to help others get through a trying time. Al & Carol and families, Ken & Karen and families, Jerry & Christa and family. (CD)

Special thank you to Dr. Roche and the nurses for the wonderful care, encouragement and support Joshua & I received while in the hospital. Thanks, Sue Belcher. (CD)

The Erickson 4H Club would like the opportunity to send a special "Thank you" to the following whom have supported our club in the past few months. Businesses and Companies who donated cash and prizes to our 4H Bonspiel. The family and friends who attended our Annual Whist drive. Cliff and Marvin for a great fun day of sleigh rides. Erickson Legion and Ladies Aux. for making our 4H Public Speaking a real success. x (CD)

Obituary

Margaretha (Margaret) Parenteau

Peacefully, in the early morning hours of Sunday, March 12, 2000, at Neepawa Regional Health Centre, Margaret Parenteau, widow of Ben Parenteau, passed away.

She is survived by their three sons, Al (Carol) Parenteau of Rocky Mountain House, Alberta, Ken (Karen) Parenteau of Minnedosa, and Jerry (Christa) Parenteau of Neepawa, eight grandchildren: Dale Parenteau, Angie (Rick) Emmons and Steve (Tracey) Parenteau, of Rocky Mountain House, Wendy (Harry) Cooper of Drayton Valley, Alberta; Allan (Terri) Parenteau of Dryden, Ontario, Audra Parenteau of Minnedosa, Mike (Angie) Parenteau of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Juanita (Michael) Patterson of Winnipeg, and seventeen great-grandchildren. She is also survived by three brothers: Dave, John and Ed Ginter, and five sisters: Mary Bergen, Chris Dyck, Evelyn Pourier, Alvena Paul, Alice Sissons, and sister-in-law Evelyn Ginter and Lillian Welsh.

Margaret was predeceased by her husband Ben in October 1990, brothers Isaac (1989) and Cornelius (1943) Ginter, and two great-grandchildren.

Margaret Ginter was born May 20, 1920 at Rosenfeld, Manitoba. She met Ben in Saskatchewan in 1936 and they were married September 6, 1939 in Rorkton, Manitoba. Their early married life was spent in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, before eventually settling in Manitoba. They lived in Minnedosa until retiring to Neepawa in 1983. Margaret spent many years caring for her family before joining the workforce as an excellent cook. Her children and grandchildren can attest to the fact that it was a skill she never lost. Margaret was a quiet, loving woman, who lived for her family. She was a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother. Margaret was a strong woman, who could not overcome her chest frailty and fractured hip.

A memorial service was held Wednesday, March 15, 2000 at 2:00 p.m. at White's Funeral Home in Neepawa, with Pastor N.G. Strobschein officiating. Her cremated remains were interred at Riverside Cemetery in Neepawa.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to The Society for Manitobans with Disabilities or to the Palliative Care Unit of Neepawa Regional Health Centre.

White's Funeral Home was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Obituary

Cecil Adam Andreychuk
December 25, 1937 - March 19, 2000

It is with great sadness that the family of Cecil Andreychuk, of Newdale, Manitoba, announces his passing on Sunday, March 19, 2000, after a long and courageous battle with cancer. Cecil was 62 years old.

Cecil leaves to mourn his loving wife of 41 years, Olga (Slasyshyn). He leaves four children: Gary of Newdale; Teresa of Winnipeg; Monica Curle and husband Leonard of Minnedosa; and Colleen of Winnipeg. He also leaves behind his beloved grandchildren: Keith and Jennifer - his pride and joy. He is survived by his father, Joe Andreychuk and wife Hazel of Newdale; his sister, Cecilia Rocen and husband George of Esterhazy; and his brother Kashmere and wife Fran of Yorkton. He will also be missed by his sister-in-law, Jennie Ricci and husband Ralph of Vancouver; brother-in-law, Nick Chubocha and wife Lois of Lumby, B.C.; and brother-in-law, Pete Stash and wife Anne of Surrey, B.C. Cecil also leaves behind many nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, cousins, in-laws, neighbours, and friends. A special mention goes to Tom Kelunick (and wife Lil) of Sandy Lake, who was like a brother to Cecil. He also leaves behind his faithful dog, Stanley, who will continue to watch over the farm. Cecil was predeceased by his mother, Cassie, in 1992, and his brother Clayton in 1984.

Cecil was born on December 25, 1937, in the Ozerna district, the eldest son of Joe and Cassie Andreychuk. He received his schooling first at Jackfish School and then at Newdale and Basswood, followed by one year of Agricultural School in Brandon. He met Olga, his life partner, while attending a wedding in Vancouver, and they were married later that year on June 28, 1958. They started their married life together on the family farm at Newdale, where Cecil began farming at a young age. They grew grain and raised Hereford cattle.

Cecil loved the land and the agricultural way of life. He was an active member of his community, giving of his time and energy. He served 20 years as a councillor for the Rural Municipality of Harrison; 5 years as a board member of the Minnedosa District Hospital and Personal Care Home; was on the board of the Harrison House Seniors Home in Newdale; and contributed to many other organizations and causes. He was a charter member of the Erickson Flying Club and the Parkland Knights of Columbus in Minnedosa. He was also a member of the National Farmers Union, the Flying Farmers, and various antique car clubs. Cecil had a passion for collecting antiques, restoring vintage automobiles, and creating a collection of model electric trains. He also loved flying, and had his own plane and airstrip. More than anything, Cecil loved people - he loved his family dearly, and loved to spend time with relatives and friends. Cecil was also very welcoming - more often than not, he would be one of the first people to put out his hand and greet new people.

Cecil's faith in the Roman Catholic Church was very strong, and his faith helped him deal with anything that came his way. He was dedicated to the church community as an active member, and he was the chairman of St. Anthony's Parish Hall for eight years. He and Olga became members of St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church in Minnedosa once St. Anthony's Parish Church closed.

The family would like to thank the doctors and nurses at Minnedosa District Hospital for their care and kindness. Special thanks also to Deacon Conrad for his spiritual support, and to Father Yolando, and to Vivian Bazan for all her help and for bringing communion to the hospital. Thanks also to all those who called and visited, and offered kindness and support to the family.

All who shared in Cecil's life attended a funeral service on Thursday, March 23, at 10:30 a.m. at St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church in Minnedosa with Father Yolando Gamallo and Rev. Deacon Conrad Plante officiating. Pallbearers were: Tommy Kelunick, Marvin Sichewska, Chris Rocen, Brian Andreychuk, Edward Pastershank, and Lloyd Shindruk. Honorary pallbearers were: Ronnie and Irene Birch, Dan and Anne Zatylny, Eddie and Ida Andreychuk, Fred and Margaret Howard, Alex and Mary Ann Sedlowsky, Joe and Cassie Leganchuk, and Bob and Marsa Bielawski. Crossbearer was Todd Rocen. Interment followed in St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Cemetery, Jackfish, with dinner following. Thank you to Lil and the Jackfish ladies for the beautiful dinner.

Rae's Funeral Service of Shoal Lake were in care of the arrangements.

In memory of Cecil, donations may be made to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Obituary

Peter David Ewasiuk

It is with deep sorrow that we announce the sudden death of Peter Ewasiuk on Sunday, March 19, 2000.

Left to mourn his death are: Gertrude Ewasiuk, 3 sons Clarence (Sheila), Calvin (Joanne), Dale and daughter Sandra and six grandchildren: Kelly, Jacob, Micheal, Lucas, Nathan, Joseph.

Peter is survived by one brother Adam, sisters Irene, Margaret and Lorraine of Vancouver, numerous nieces, nephews, uncles, aunts and cousins.

Peter was predeceased by both parents, John Ewasiuk (1974), Lillian Ewasiuk (Todoruk) (1987), sisters Mary Rorrson (1980), Olive Maximitch (1989).

Peter was born in Crawford Park. Although he moved to Vancouver several times, Peter always came back to the home district of Lake Audy which he loved.

Peter was a born farmer and cattle rancher. He took pride in his registered Charlars cattle.

The family wishes to thank Dr. Jackson and nursing staff of Erickson District Hospital and all of the good people who helped with his care. Homecare workers namely, Joyce. Thanks also to Father Malik for his service, Cantor Ernie Malchuk, Sacred Heart Ladies for lunch and Crawford Park Ladies for danties.

Prayers were held on Thursday, March 23 at 7:00 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church, Erickson.

The funeral mass was celebrated at the church on Friday, March 24 at 10:00 a.m. Interment followed at the Parish Cemetery. Sparrow Funeral Service was in care of arrangements.

Friends that wish, memorial donations may be made in Peter's memory to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Diabetes Foundation.

Loved ones go and set they stay
To walk beside us day by day
Unseen, unheard, but always near
So loved, so missed, so very dear

We love you Dad. May you rest in peace. (C7)

UGG DOWN

In one of the more spectacular scenes played out in the recent history of Minnedosa, the United Grain Growers elevator was photographed in its last throws of life on Thursday of last week. Wilson Excavating of Stonewall took care of the unceremonious duty of toppling the structure after separating it into three main pieces.

Crews spent the previous week cutting the elevator annex into two pieces and then heavy equipment was used to tear away at the base of the structure until it eventually toppled over. Sometime today (Monday, April 3rd), the second half of the annex is expected to be demolished in like manner and it then the main part of the elevator, built in 1962, will be brought down by this Wednesday.

All of the material, including tens of thousands of feet of lumber and millions of nails was hauled to the local landfill. The demolition of the UGG elevator was brought about due to the recent construction of the high-throughput Agricore elevator near located near the bypass.

Some local members uneasy about Canadian Alliance

By Nancy Chemerika

Dauphin-Swan River MP Inky Mark says that now is the time for all good men and women to come to the aid of the party. However, some local former Reformers, now Canadian Alliance members, are not as confident about the merging of Reform and like minded Conservative party members.

Mr. Mark indicated that he was very pleased that the Reform membership overwhelmingly endorsed the idea for forming the Canadian Alliance party.

"The Canadian Alliance is about thinking big, and creating a real alternative for the arrogant governing Liberals," stated Mark. "Now that the leadership race for such a promising party has begun, I want to reaffirm my public support for Preston Manning. Manning is the best man at this time, to lead a government. Preston Manning for Prime Minister - that is my slogan during this campaign."

Stockwell Day, Alberta, and Joe Peschisolido, Ontario, will be challenging Mr. Manning for the leadership.

Almost 92% of Reform Party members voted in favor of joining the Canadian Alliance. The Reform Party constitution required a two-thirds majority in order to pass. In Manitoba, nearly 80.9% of members voted to join the new initiative. The idea also passed in every other province and the Territories.

> "... I feel they have already lost their grass roots approach. I would have to think very carefully before voting for the new party,"
> - Carol Taylor, local member

"I think they are making a mistake," stated Carol Taylor, a long time local Reformer. "I think as a new party the Reform have done extremely well since their inception. I believe they had a good thing going, had they been patient."

Taylor added that she will not be as supportive of the Canadian Alliance as she was of the Reform. She noted that what initially drew her to the Reform party was that they were very eager to listen to "the guy on the street"

"Now I feel they have gone more eastern. As an amateur, I feel that they will lose something as the Canadian Alliance. I feel they have already lost their grass roots approach. I would have to think very carefully before voting for the new party," concluded Taylor.

Brion Pollon, Vice President of the Dauphin-Swan River Constituency, also indicated that he was less than pleased with the outcome of the vote.

"I thought it was a good idea to begin with, but I think Reform could have done quite well with a new leader. Obviously the only way Reform would ever form Government would be to become successful in Ontario, but I would have sooner become dominated by Ontario Reformers rather than Ontario Conservatives," stated Pollon.

Pollon concluded by saying that he plans to wait and see if he will renew his membership to the new party and that if Mr. Manning remains leader, he probably will not.

Lorne Erven, a registered Reform member for about eight years, is somewhat more supportive of the merger.

"I was originally against the merger, but I could see the Reform was going out. As time went on I could see the consensus was to switch, and to stick with the old Reform, would mean a splinter group, which would just help the Liberals more. I decided to go with the consensus," concluded Erven.

Valley Royal Travel ownership comes back to Minnedosa

By Nancy Chemerika

As of April 1st, 2000, Valley Royal Travel came back under local ownership after being purchased by Don Jury, Bill Jury, and Harvey Wedgewood.

"We felt there was an opportunity for growing the business," explained Wedgewood, Loans Manager at the Minnedosa Credit Union. "We saw it as a long term business investment that will keep the service in town."

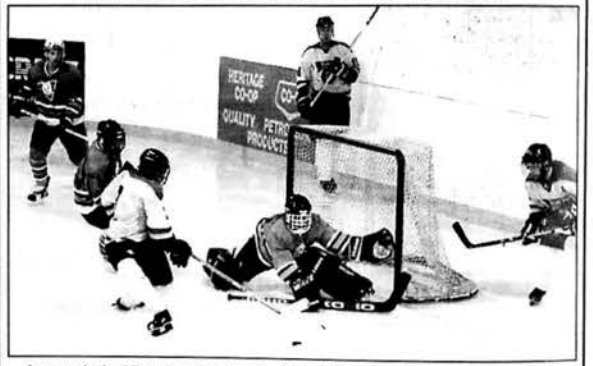
Don Jury, who has been employed at Valley Royal Travel for 12 years under the ownership of Tom and Elaine Scott of Gladstone, will continue to manage the business. Lori Cooper will also remain on staff.

Wedgewood noted that the new owners plan to expand the tour business, as well as continue with current travel services including international and domestic, travel insurance, and passport pictures.

"We realize that Internet travel sales are on the rise but we feel that many people prefer personalized, local service. We realize the popularity of day tours as well, and see an opportunity for growth in that area," concluded Wedgewood.

Valley Royal Travel was last owned locally by Joyce Stevenson. The Scott's purchased the business in 1982.

Bombers move to finals



Last week the Minnedosa Bombers knocked off the Blanshard Bobcats 7-5 to take the five game series, 3 games to 2. The Bombers will now take on the Miniota Night Hawks in a best of 5 series for the North Central Hockey League Championship. The Bombers are also playing in the MAHA Play-off finals against MacGregor, with both series beginning this past weekend.

Minnedosa Canoe/Kayak Club up and running by May

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Canoe/Kayak Club will be up and running for the second year by next month, confirmed Manitoba Paddling President, Denis Van Laeken.

Kim Taylor, daughter of Frank and Carol Taylor, has been rehired as coach for the local club, and will be providing all levels of instruction. Recruiting throughout the schools and community will begin early in May.

Since its inception last year, membership in the Minnedosa Canoe/Kayak Club has been steadily climbing. The club now boasts 26 members including youth and adults.

"The Minnedosa Club is really starting to grow," stated Van Laeken.

The Manitoba Cup, a competition for beginner paddlers, will be held at Minnedosa Lake, July 16th. The one day event is expected to draw about 50 athletes from all over Manitoba.

A training camp for Manitoba paddlers, July 13 to 21, will also be held in Minnedosa.

FOREIGN CONTENT LIMIT INCREASED

One of the budget highlights for investors was the increase of foreign content from 20% to 25% of the book value effective in 2000. In 2001 the limit will increase to 30%. This will give investors of registered products like RRSPs and RRIFs more freedom to invest in international markets.

Technology, sometimes you can't keep up to it! Sometimes you don't want to!!

For instance do you remember the days when you could call a business and not have to answer skill testing questions like what are the last 3 digits of a phone number or what language do you speak just in order to talk to a human. NUMBERS CAN ALSO BE DECEIVING, you think you are calling a local business and you end up talking to someone in Winnipeg or Toronto.

Don't get treated like a number, deal with those who know you as a person!

Can You Afford It?

A home is a special place where you and your family can enjoy the lifestyle you choose. It is also a major investment for most people. Without proper planning and a few precautions, the place of your dreams could turn out to be a costly nightmare.

Home ownership is not for everyone. Taking all the cost into account-down payment and other purchase-related expenses, regular mortgage payments, insurance and maintenance-buying a home is sometimes more expensive than renting.

The money you put into your home, however, is money invested. If you can afford the purchase price and the cost of upkeep, in the long run you should be better off buying than renting.

The accepted rule of thumb is that the purchase price of a home should be no higher than two and a half times your annual income. Similarly, your housing costs (including utilities) should not exceed 30% of your gross monthly income.

For a down payment, you will usually need at least 10-20% of the purchase price (less if certain government incentive programs are in effect). Remember, though, to keep enough extra cash in reserve to cover legal fees, moving expenses, any additional outlays, or furnishings and necessary repairs.

INDEX LINKED RRSP'S

The TSE 100 Index on the close of business on March 29, 2000 was 602.92. For those members that purchased our Index-Linked RRSP's in 1997, if you were to have locked in the rate at that time, the yield would have been 9.94%. For those of you that purchased in 1998, the yield would be 5.86%.

SPRING INTO MAKING THE RIGHT CHOICE FOR A NEW HOME

Most major purchases require planning in order to obtain the best value per dollar. The purchase of a new home may be the largest investment you make in your lifetime.

Some factors to consider when purchasing your new home are:

: value
: location
: price range
: physical requirements

Think about these items before you begin looking. Ask yourself questions such as:

Location: what areas do we prefer? Should we spend some time driving around neighborhoods first to determine which ones are right for us? Is the area appreciating or depreciating in value?

Price range: what price range can we afford?

Requirements: what do we require in our new home? How many bedrooms? a garage? Are we buying a home to meet today's needs or our needs in 3 to 5 years?

Tradeoffs: what trade-offs are we willing to make? If we have to make a choice, which is more important _ the location or the features of the home?

Resale: will the property be readily saleable if you are required to move?

Energy efficiency: is the house energy efficient?

Repairs: are there likely to be any repairs required in the near future (such as electrical, plumbing, or roofing repairs). Does the home appear well built and structurally sound?

Property tax: is the property tax situation stable, or are tax increases likely to cause financial problems?

Drainage problems: are there likely to be drainage problems in the spring?

As you can see, there are many things to consider before you actually set foot in any home. A knowledgeable real estate agent can be of real assistance in helping you answer these and many more questions. To find a good realtor, ask your friends for referrals etc. Select one that you trust and who will listen to your needs and understand your priorities that meet your price range and needs.

The 'New Age' is upon us

It was a passing comment made during a recent segment of ROBtv, as interviewer Michael Vaughn spoke of the 'new age economy' innovations that were sweeping the world of commerce.

"Internet usage is doubling every 100 days".

That statistic does nothing less than boggle one's mind, bringing on an attack of anxiety coupled with the beginnings of a severe headache.

In March of 1996, The Tribune struggled to find three internet users that we could hook up with to test our new Tribune online edition. That struggle created more than a little worry on my part, as to whether I had jumped the gun a little. Maybe there really weren't enough people out there in cyberspace to justify the expense we had incurred to produce the online edition and make it fly.

My concerns were shortly abated and within a few months we had in excess of a hundred online subscribers. Our out-front foray into the new-age economy has continued with great success ever since.

The immediate access to information on a world-wide scale has taken that very online world by storm, resulting in the above statement being not only fully fathomable, but almost a given. "Internet usage doubles every 100 days".

The storm of increased usage has, in recent months, created quite a stir in the discount online investment world. In the past, you entrusted your RRSP funds to a mutual fund manager and walked away, secure in the knowledge that your return would certainly out-perform current interest rates at the local bank. In almost all cases, you were right. That sense of security has now, with the latest frenzy for online securities trading, gone by the wayside. Thousands of internet users now turn inward, and have taken it upon themselves, to make the decisions that will determine their portfolios worth and their future retirement incomes.

Online trading centers like the Royal Bank's NetAction, T.D. Waterhouse and Canada ETrade have been swamped with new accounts, with the result being that their operations were almost crippled. Because of the unanticipated volumes, some U.S. and at least one Canadian online brokerage house are facing class-action lawsuits, due to faulty execution of orders or delays, that allowed investor's profits to slip away.

In the past couple of months, changes have come forth from regulators that will, and have already begun to loosen that bottleneck, and all online trading firms are undergoing vast expansions of personnel and equipment to meet the rising tide of demand.

Within the next couple of weeks, the newest online securities trading site will open its cyber-doors - Digital Gem. That company is set to unveil eNorthern, the newest Canadian based online trading site. Without having an operational site, they have already signed up in excess of 4000 trading accounts.

Creating the most stir in the markets are the internet related stocks which, if carefully researched and chosen, can deliver portfolio expansions of 100 to 1000% in a matter of hours or a few days.

As a result, the newest catch phrases sweeping the investor world are 'old economy' and 'new economy' stocks, where 'old economy' depicts such companies as GM or Ford, Coca Cola or U.S. Steel, and 'new economy' depicts such formidable names as Egghead, Yahoo and Itemus.

Sixty per cent of all people living in North America now have access to the internet.

The 'New Age', the 'New World', the 'New Economy' - they are all upon us, and as Michael Vaughn so expertly says, "That's the bottom line."

Picture of the Week ...

With all the talk of disappearing elevators this week, we thought we would show you what the rail yards looked like back in the early1950's. The Ogilvie Elevator No. 128 took first spot west of Main Street with the Bawlf holding the second spot and the Co-op Elevator holding the third spot. Notice the name 'Minnedosa' painted on the east roof of the station and the planked platform extending outward toward Main Street from the station.

Yes, we're back!

Mr. and Mrs. Editor have returned from their southern haunts with fresh green grass still stuck to the faces of their six irons, ready to face another hot summer in Manitoba. Didn't realize we were gone? Well that's okay. We missed the old valley and often found ourselves quelling our anxieties by turning on the old laptop and checking in with Minnedosatribune.com in search for a snippet of hometown news. We didn't realize how much we missed family, friends and the old home town. Good to be back.

To our friends in Newdale.

You deserve an explanation and in light of that statement, let me offer up Excuse No. 117 on our famed old Trib excuse list. "It was a computer glitch/gremlin/Y2K bug bite!" There, we hope that explains everything. In case it doesn't, we'll dig a little deeper and offer this. Last week, the entire Newdale column turned the venerable name of the old town into 'Natal". How on earth does that happen, no less than about half a dozen times - and to boot, not get caught and fixed. Firstly, we used Spellchecker on the computer which doesn't recognize proper names. Instead, it offers up what it considers to be the closest thing and in this case it was 'Natal". That is forgiveable - but we still should have caught the pesky little error - and we didn't and for that, we owe our good readers and friends in Newdale an apology. It won't happen again. Spellchecker is toast. Newdale is back. Proofreading will take even more of a priority and those duties will be more widely shared rather than being the entire burden of one overworked person. We won't guarantee future perfection for that would take most of the fun out of reading the 'old rag', but we will pay closer attention to Newdale in future issues - you can be assured of that!

P.S.: The last time I got in this much trouble, I had referred to Erickson as a town and Rapid City as a village. I am still suffering from the wrath of Mayor Timer for that one!

Crisis brewing on north Main.

If that teamsters strike in the northern U.S. doesn't come to an end soon, Blazer's will be forced to drop Twinkies from its world famous breakfast menu.

Goin' down!

The old UGG elevator is about to come toppling down. Crews are busy working away at the foundations and probably by Wednesday at the latest, the last standing piece of the venerable old landmark will meet its maker. Should be a good show. Growing up in the early 60's in a house situated where Skogland's shop is now, I remember watching day-by-day as that elevator was being built. It seems a little funny that something that one remembers being built could actually be obsolete and ready to be torn down. As I said to Jim Kingdon the other day - and he agreed - if you remember something being built, it shouldn't qualify as an antique!

Price of gas?

I don't know what everyone is so concerned about. I put five bucks worth in the tank the other day and it didn't cost me a penny more than it did ten years ago.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Remebrances from Chiapas, Mexico

Dear Editor

I have seen, a few times, Internet sites from Minnedosa. Today, I spent some time reading several. I found them interesting, including such stories as the spillway break in 1948, the collegiate recycling project, the Castle, and the regional weather report.

In the 1952-53 school year, I was Grade 8 teacher at the old North School. My class was one of the best in my 38-year career in Manitoba, Ontario, Alberta, and Missouri. I have often wondered where my former students are now and what line of work in which they have been. Are any of them, their children, or grandchildren still in Minnedosa? I have seen none since 1956. While I was there, Jim Chipperfield was mayor and Effie Macdonald was postmistress. Also, the waterworks system was installed just before I left. Mary Macdonald was a teaching colleague. She gave me a tour of the new collegiate during my visit there in 1962. I remember Minnedosa as being the divisional point on the C.P.R. A number of my students were children of railway employees.

The last time that I was in Minnedosa, in 1971, my family and I visited for a few hours Mr. and Mrs. Leo Campbell, with whom I had lived during my school year there. We spent the night at the campground at Minnedosa Lake, the last night of a summer of tenting across Canada and the U.S.A.

My railway association continued in recent years. I was tour guide for schools visiting The Age of Steam Railroad Museum, in Dallas, TX. On our family webpage, <http://www.innvista.com>, I have a railroad section. There are several other sections, all of which we hope that you will visit.

We have a few others about ready to be uploaded.

I send greetings from Chiapas, Mexico, to anyone in Minnedosa who remembers me or has heard of me as a former teacher there.

Sincerely,
Duane Duff

Simply Gardening

One of the most beautiful shade plants in my garden is the Jack-in-the-pulpit. I love its huge leaves for their garden appeal and the flower simply makes me smile every time I see it. I mean, how can you take a plant with a purplish, striped flower that folds over on itself like a monk's cowl seriously? Well, there's a bunch of gardeners who take this Arisaema family of plants quite seriously and I can tell you about them because I'm quite happy to be a member of this small band of merry Jack-lovers. I'm telling you about the Arisaema plant family because they're coming out of the closet; they're hitting the plant mail-order catalogues and becoming fashionable. If you decide to be fashionable, here's how to grow these beauties without killing them.

There's about 150 species of Arisaema in the world, mainly concentrated in tropical and temperate Asia from Arabia over to Japan and Malaysia. Eastern North America has its representative in the Jack-in-the-pulpit (A. triphyllum). The name Arisaema comes from Aris which is Greek for Arum (another plant) and haima or blood. This name combination refers either to a close kin relationship (related to Arum) or the purplish flecks on the flower (blood like the Arum).

Our native A. triphyllum is one of the hardiest of the family. Grow it in the shade, give it good moisture during the spring and it will thrive for you. Some folks think you have to grow this plant in a bog or standing water but the reality is that if you do – you'll likely see it rot during the winter months. I've seen them in our woods in damp areas but the most successful plants are always on little hillocks in damp areas or growing in areas that dry out in late summer and fall.

The more tender varieties are just as easily grown if you take a bit of care with them. I've started a dozen varieties from seed (available from specialist seed catalogues) and you can too if you follow these simple rules. Use sterilized potting soil or artificial soil mix in a small 4 inch flowerpot and sow the seed on the surface. Cover the seed with chick grit or sterilized sand (you can use soil but the grit works better) so the seed is ¼ inch deep. Water only with warm water and keep the pot in a warm space. Light is not necessary for germination but warmth is critical. Once the seeds start to germinate, move into the sunniest spot you have and start feeding weekly with regular houseplant food. Keep the pot damp, water thoroughly until the water pours out the bottom and then leave it alone until it is just dry to the touch. Repeat this soak and almost-dry routine all summer. Leave the seedlings in the pot all summer; do not transplant nor disturb them.

In the late summer or fall, all the leaves of these tender varieties will begin to die and you'll wonder what you've done wrong. Relax. The plants are going dormant and the tubers need to rest. When the tops die, stop watering! Do not water this plant at all – even a little bit – just let the soil dry right out. You won't hurt the tuber, it's down there resting away in its dry home. Damp soil can, and will, rot the tuber. A little known fact is that the larger the tuber, the easier it is to rot with damp soils. The recommended place to store these dry tubers is the crisper of the refrigerator. Cool and dry is the condition thai keeps them best from year to year. I usually grow my small seedlings for two years in the pot as they only grow to the size of a small pea the first year and a cherry-sized tuber the second. In the fall of the second year, I dig the tubers out of the pot (they'll all be at the bottom) and store them in a paper bag in the crisper to keep them cool and dry.

Now, having said all that, hardy tubers or those that are marginal in your garden area can simply be given a covering of mulch and allowed to overwinter right in the garden. I don't dig up my native A. triphyllum at all. The closest thing I can compare these to is gladiola. If you overwinter them exactly the same as glads you'll have good success.

Most Arisaema love a good woodland soil – rich with organic matter and leaf mould and if you give them this, they'll thrive for you. Shade is also a requisite for success. You can also grow the tender varieties in a deep clay pot for the summer – use a good potting soil and feed weekly – and then when they start going dormant in the fall, dig them up and store cool and dry until the following spring. These pots can either be grown on a patio or they can be plunged into the soil to the rim and allowed to become part of the shady garden. I have a growing collection of potted tender Japanese and Asian varieties that grace my summer shade garden. These are show stoppers when visitors come calling and the clay pots add a certain fashionable air to the summer garden. (I need all the help I can get to be fashionable.)

I love exotic-looking plants that are easy to grow and Arisaema fit that description nicely. Try a few this summer. To find some, go to your favourite Internet search engine and type Arisaema in the search box. You'll be pleasantly surprised at what you find.

BDC make presentation at Chamber Luncheon

By Nancy Chemerika

At least one federal program is a well kept secret. When Scot Speiser, Branch Manager of the Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC), asked members of the Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce if they had heard of the federal financial institution, only two members put up their hands. When asked if they knew of anyone who utilized the facility, nary a hand went into the air.

The BDC provides financial assistance, based on the strength of the businesses financial statements, versus security.

Mr. Speiser made a presentation on the BDC, formerly known as the Federal Business Development Bank, at the Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce Luncheon meeting last week. Throughout the hour long presentation, Speiser provided background information on the program, as well as explaining what types of business projects the BDC has tailored their myriad of programs to.

Currently the BDC has $5.1 billion committed in financing, and over $1.5 billion in authorized loans. Rather than being in competition with other banks and credit unions, Speiser explained that the BDC partners with other financial institutions in a way that is beneficial for both parties, and the client.

The target markets of the BDC are knowledge based industries, exporters, and manufacturers, however the institution will consider almost any business plan that is deemed to have merit.

Mr. Speiser noted numerous benefits to clients of the BDC, such as term debt only, full term and high percentage financing. The BDC is aggressive in the real estate market, including rural, and the BDC provides flexible repayment options, which are often tailored to the businesses cash flow. Another attractive benefit of being financed through the BDC is that loans are not on a demand basis. As long as all payments are met, there is no renewal process.

The BDC provides financial assistance, based on the strength of the businesses financial statements, versus security. When a client is being considered, the BDC considers whether or not they have a proven track record, exceptional growth potential, whether or not the business has an established history of profit and cash flow, and strong management team committed to business.

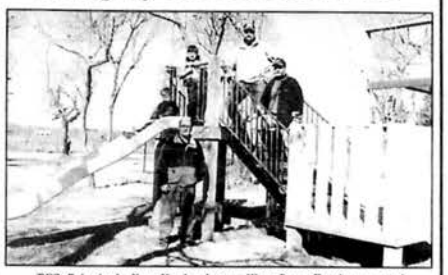
New play structure for TCS



TCS Principal, Ken Hoglund, two West-Bran Employees, and two children in front of the new Grades 4-6 Play structure.

As grades 4-6 students return to Tanner's Crossing Elementary from Spring Break today (Monday), a new play structure will be waiting for them.

The wood, plastic and metal structure includes two slides, climbing structures, a glide rail and barrel roller. The entire project, which also included two new swing sets, cost in the neighbourhood of $12,000.

The project was funded through donations from Big Brothers and Sisters of Minnedosa ($3,500 over two years), the local Manitoba Hydro Employees ($2,000 over two years), and school magazine sales.

West-Bran of Brandon, fabricated and installed the play structure.

Canoe/Kayak Club up & running...

The National Qualifiers/Prairie Divisionals will be held at Minnedosa Lake July 22 and 23 for Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan. Athletes who place in the top four of their category will earn the right to compete at the Canadian Championships in Halifax, August 16 to 19. The competition is for athletes at the Midget level and up. Separate events are also being added for Atom level paddlers, which will include a number of Minnedosa athletes. Approximately 200 athletes will be competing in the two day event.

"The Town of Minnedosa will definitely see some benefit," stated Mr. Van Laeken. "Everyone will stay in town and the surrounding area during the two days, and basically the Manitoba team will be staying in Minnedosa from July 13th."

Van Laeken noted that the beauty of Minnedosa lake is drawing a number of paddling events.

"It's a world class course. Basically the best course west of Montreal," he added.

Currently the Manitoba Paddling Association is in the final bidding stages to host the 2002 National Championships at Minnedosa Lake. The Masters Championships will also be held at the same time, during the four day event. The event will draw 1,500 athletes, coaches, etc to Minnedosa.

"There will be a lot of social activities surrounding the 2002 Nationals which will be held in Minnedosa. As many of the athletes as possible will be staying in the community, before moving out to the surrounding area."

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

It's the end of March and it doesn't look like March will be going out as a lion. This short news is being written on Tuesday as I have to be in Winnipeg for a Doctor appointment on March 29th.

Sincere Sympathy is extended to Elsie & Art Butler and family on the death of Elsie's sister Kay Prescott of Foxwarren.

Maurice and Astrid Godin attended the funeral of their son in laws father, William Lucy in Winnipeg on March 24th.

Welcome back fiome Lorne & Leona Mackedenski. They spent the winter in our old stomping grounds, "Magic Valley Park", Weslaco, TX, and enjoyed it greatly.

While writing this Lance & Islay Shellborn, Orville Gusdals and Henry & Betty Wikdahls are heading home as well from Magic Valley Park. It has been reported that this winter has been one of the warmest for many, many years.

Mrs. Anne Koroscil accompanied Dr. Ajai & Indee Khandelwal to Saskatoon for the March 25th weekend, where she visited son & daughter in law David & Joan and family.

Barney & Anne Berkowski had their daughter Gerry Phillips of Vancouver visiting them for 5 days recently.

Lawrence & Edna Sjoberg had brother Donald & Trudy Sjoberg, Winnipeg as weekend guests on March 25th. Pastor Donald also conducted the Lutheran Church Service at Glenboro.

Erickson Lutheran Church members bid Jack & Pam Stacey farewell after their March 26th Church Service. They have sold their property east of Onanole and will now reside in Brandon.

Lloyd & Ivy Carter accompanied Rick Everett of Minnedosa to Winnipeg, where they visited daughter Sheila and granddaughters Robyn and Taylor.

COPP's safety tip this week is:.....When absent from your property, consider the use of timers to provide lighting and noise (radio). Door alarms and buzzers on windows can also assist. Motion detector alarms are also worth consideration.

Curling is over for the season. The youth group of Erickson Lutheran Church sponsored a Fun Bonspiel on Sunday, March 27th with all 4 sheets of ice filled. A supper at the church followed and prizes were given.

The Nylen families were kept posted about Larry Zatylny's ski-doo holiday in the mountains around Revelstoke, B.C. Larry joined a group of other enthusiastic participants from Sandy Lake, Elphinstone, etc.

Word has been received of the death of Jim Stewart on March 24th at Vancouver. Sympathy is extended to his wife the former Inez Boyko. Jim will be remembered as a warden of R.M.N. Park.

If you haven't submitted your histories as yet for the new History Book, I urge you to do so. The History Committee would be very disappointed if your story is not told. There's still time!

Welcome home Arizona Snowbird Fay Gusdal.

Viola Burkett flew to B.C. during school break & visited Shellborn & Burkett families and friends.

Basswood News

by Zelda Firby

Deepest sympathy of the district is extended to Olga Andreychuk & family & relatives in the recent passing of Cecil Andreychuk.

Marion Ogibowski returned home Tuesday from Calgary were she spent time with Terry & Dawn McMillian and boys.

Word has been received of the death of Lloyd Lee on March 24th in Winnipeg. Lloyd along with his parents & brothers & sister were former residents of Basswood. Sympathy is extended to the family.

A number from the district attended the Royal Manitoba Winter Fair in Brandon last week.

Students and Teachers enjoyed the Spring Break last week.

Alexis, Allison & Kelly Murray from Alexander spent the Spring Break with their aunt & uncle Cindy Murray & Doug Proven.

Stan & Zelda Firby returned home Thursday, March 23 from Strathmore & Calgary, AB were we visited J.J. & Marla Brewster and Ron & Margaret Sweet. Enroute to AB we attended the Brier in Saskatoon, SK.

Get well wishes to Jean MacDonald who had surgery.

Funeral Director
Braendle-Bruce Funeral Service

What To Do When Death Occurs Out-of-Town.

If you're ever involved in arranging for a funeral for someone who dies out of town, you should contact a local funeral director who will make the arrangements with a funeral director in the area where the death occurred. Our membership in professional organizations gives us contact with many highly qualified funeral service people across North America and in other countries. We'll take the necessary steps to have the deceased brought home. We will confer with you at long distance or with other family members locally to plan the funeral. It is important to remember to call your home town funeral director FIRST. This will avoid duplication of effort and fees.

If you wish further details on out-of-town arrangements, please contact us. Your questions and comments on this and other topics are welcome.

Sandy Lake News

by Deb Maluk

Under the "better late than never" category, Aloha and welcome home to Peter & Olga Prosken who spent an enjoyable month in Hawaii.

Welcome home to Tom & Lil Kelunick who recently returned from a few days in Las Vegas.

Harold Prosken & Robert Mandzuk arrived last week to spend time with Olga & Peter Prosken, Mary Mandzuk, Harry Lewandoski and other family and friends. Harold returned to Winnipeg after a week long holiday, and Robert will remain for a few more weeks.

Bernie & Jean Roth of Victoria, Kansas, and Marika MacDonald of Las Vegas spent a few days visiting with Peter & Anne Soltys and John Millenchuk.

Pearl Polson visited with Rose Lewandoski and John Millenchuk.

Congratulations to Chris & Diane Sichewski and family on the arrival of their quadruplets in early March. Mother and babies are all doing well. Oh - I suppose I should clarify - the quadruplets were born to one of their cows - Jim told, it's quite a rare event - well done everyone!

Citizens on patrol held their March meeting on the 29th. They are looking for more volunteers to assist with this crime fighting program, which has resulted in a marked decrease in break and enters since it's inception. Watch your mail box for an up coming COPPs information flyer.

Congratulations to Louis Maluk who was selected to participate in the Trans-Canada Trail Relay 2000. This is the longest Relay in the world, and it is being held to mark the official opening of the Trans-Canada Trail. The Trail touches the Arctic, Pacific and Atlantic oceans, and the relay began when a bottle of water was drawn from each ocean. There will be around 5000 people carrying the water across Canada either on foot, by bicycle, in wheelchairs, on rollerblades, on cross-country skis, on snowmobiles or on horse back. The relay will end when the water is poured into the Trans-Canada Trail fountain. It is an extra special honor for Louis, as he and his brothers spent many special hours walking and exploring our own little piece of the trail between home and Beaufort Lake with Dido Eugene. Louis won't be alone when he cycles his section of the trail!

Onanole News

by H. Hodges & Leona Kucher

The sympathy of the district is extended to the family and friends of the late Peter Ewasiuk. Peter was born in the Lake Audy district, where his parents John and Lily Ewasiuk were pioneers.

Harriet Hodges spent the weekend at Birtle with Harry and Ann Hodges and boys.

Romona Hodges of Strathclair spent the weekend with her mother, Phylis Hodges.

The card party at the Crawford Park Hall on Tuesday, March 21st, was well attended. Prize winners were Mens high - Earl Hodges, Mens low - Rudy Usick, Ladies high - Harriet Hodges, Ladies low - Ida Andreychuk. The prizes and lunch were donated by Ida Andreychuk, Diane Bachewich and Harriet Hodges.

Elaine Butler and Harriet Hodges attended the Legion Ladies district 2 rally held in Shoal Lake on Monday. They were accompanied by Bertha Syslak of Clanwilliam, and Katherine Pollon and Jackie Skipper of Erickson.

Sympathy is extended to the Basaraba families on the passing of Mike Basaraba on March 23 at the Sandy Lake Nursing Home. Mike had farmed the family farm East of Onanole for many years.

Shirley Bialas and Sandra Gunn attended a finance course in Calgary AB. While there, they both had a chance to visit with relatives; Shirley with her son Clinton; and Sandra with her brother-in-law and sister, Vic and Deb Hlushak and boys.

Amanda, Melissa, and Sherry Kucher of Brandon, and Shannon Gunn of Onanole, spent spring break with their Grandparents, Frank and Leona Kucher.

Onanole United Church hosted a mid-lenten service at Erickson Lutheran Church on March 30. The theme was Dance the Jubilee and the offering is going to the Mission and Service Fund designated for Mozambique flood victims.

Onanole Curling Club Windup

A fun time was had by all when the Onanole Curling Club held it's winter curling windup. The evening got underway with a delicious pot luck supper. Topped off with chicken from Barnaby's Grille. Following supper, Cathy & Leanne entertained everyone with a variety of enjoyable games. Marg Carey presented a plaque to president Cathy Carter in appreciation for her hard work and dedication to the club. We had many junior curlers this season, and it was a pleasure to see them in attendance.

The club had a very successful season with three nights of regular curling, Ladies Bonspiel, Mixed Bonspiel, as well as a Junior Spiel.

We invite anyone interested to come out next season and join us for some fun & relaxation.

Rolling River Festival of the Arts Adjudicators

Piano/Keyboard Electronic Organ

Sara Jane Schmidt's training includes the Performer's A.R.C.T., a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Winnipeg, Bachelor of Religious studies from Mennonite Brethren Bible College, both with a music major, and a Master of Music degree in piano performance from Brandon University. Her teaching activities are distributed between Concord College, the Division of Preparatory Studies at the University of Manitoba School of Music and her private studio, where she teaches piano, music theory and piano pedagogy. Sara Jane is an active recitalist and co-coordinator of the Manitoba Piano Club. She has been guest artist with the Mennonite Community Orchestra performing Liszt's Concerto in E-flat Major.

Woodwind Instrument Band

Jim Mackay has been an active band director for the past thirty-three years. As Director of Bands for twenty-four years at Silver Heights Collegiate, bands under his direction received countless awards of excellence at local, national and international music festivals. The Silver Heights Symphonic bands and Jazz Ensembles participated in festivals in the United States, England, Scotland, Wales, Germany, Switzerland, Australia and the prestigious World Music Festival in Kerkrade, Holland. Jim has served as President of the Manitoba Band Directors' Association on three different occasions. He continues to serve as a guest clinician, guest artist and guest conductor for schools and school divisions. Jim is active as an adjudicator at numerous music festivals throughout Canada and the United States. Jim has been recognized locally, nationally and internationally for contributions to music and school band education. Most noteably are the Paul Harris Award of Professional Excellence as presented by Rotary International and Sudler Award of Distinction as presented by the International John Phillip Sousa Foundation.

String Instrument

Marion Williams is a native of Winnipeg, having studied violin with Frank Simons, Eugene Kowalski, and Harold Vogt. She has studied Suzuki pedagogy at the University of Wisconsin in Stevens' Point, as well as Chicago, Calgary, and Edmonton. Marion was a string instructor for the Winnipeg School Division's Elementary String Program for many years and initiated the violin program at Balmoral Hall. She joined the University of Manitoba School of Music's Suzuki faculty in 1978 and in addition to teaching for the University of Manitoba's Preparatory Studies Department, she also coaches sectionals for the Winnipeg Youth Orchestras' Junior and Intermediate levels. Marion is a registered affiliate teacher of the Royal Conservatory of Music. As a guest clinician, she has conducted workshops not only within Winnipeg, but also throughout Manitoba, and Western Canada.

Dance

Brenda Brand received ten years of training in ballet, modern and jazz dance at the schools of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet and Contemporary Dancers, with teachers including Fred Matthews, Gary Masters, Rachel Browne, Jacques Lemay, Faye Thomson, Viola Robertson, and Larry Hayden. She has taught creative dance, modern and jazz technique to children ages three to twelve for the past ten years through the Portage and District Arts Council, the Portage Gymnastics Club, and central Manitoba figure skating groups, as well as choreographing level 2 and 3 floor exercise routines in gymnastics. Brenda has been involved extensively in promoting dance at the studio, school and recreational levels as founding member of The Provincial Committee on Dance and Dance Manitoba. Since 1978 she has been involved with the National Dance Committee of the Canadian Association for Physical Education, Health, Recreation and Dance in various capacities including Chair, Treasurer, Dance Page Editor, Dance Program Chair, and Manitoba representative.

Speech Arts

Sara Pasiciel graduated from Illinois College in Southern Illinois with a degree in English and education, at which time she also studied oral interpretation and drama. She went on for a Master of Arts in Communication at Northwestern University in Evanston, IL, with an emphasis on Public Address. She has since taught Oral Communication and Language Arts in public schools in the U.S. and Canada, and for the past 18 years has been teaching communications and drama at Providence College, Otterburne, MB. In addition to extensive experience as an inspirational/motivational speaker, Mrs. Pasiciel has also conducted speech and drama workshops. She has written and directed a variety of dramatic productions for the Otterburne campus and for cross-Canada tours, and is a published playwright.

Visual Arts

Ken Lulewich graduated with BFA and BA degrees from University of Manitoba and has received numerous grants from the Manitoba Arts Council for the Arts. After exhibiting his paintings and sculptures in numerous solo and group shows in Winnipeg, he traveled to Australia and New Zealand in 1994, where he toured for 5 months, teaching mixed media art workshops, giving illustrated lectures on his work and that of other Canadian artists and performing in fringe theatre festivals. He has taught numerous art classes to adults and children, and has worked as an adjudicator, curator and art administrator. Ken is a Past Chair of Canadian Artists Representation Manitoba (CARFAC). His studio is located at 500A-62 Albert Street in Winnipeg. He is currently studying film production in workshops at the Winnipeg Film Group.

Choral

Solo Vocal

Jennifer Clarke Skromeda is a professional singer with experience in many musical genres. She has recently released her second album, a collection of traditional Celtic songs titled "Wild Mountain Thyme" which was recorded live by CBC Manitoba. In addition to her folk music, Jennifer has performed in 23 Manitoba Opera productions, has sung with the Winnipeg Singers and with the University of Manitoba Singers. Jennifer has conducted various children, youth and adult choirs for nearly 20 years, has taught singing privately and has had her own preschool music program, "Music on the Move" since 1987. She received her vocal training through the Royal Conservatory of Music and studied choral music and conducting at the University of Manitoba School of Music with Professor Henry Engbrecht. She is a skilled communicator and has an easy and encouraging way with both young and mature singers. She has adjudicated in both Manitoba and Ontario festivals. Jennifer has served on the board of the Manitoba Choral Association.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

Thought: The computer is a great invention. There are just as many mistakes as ever, but they are nobody's fault.

Eileen Bradley and Addie Peter visited Dora Bradley in Brandon on Thursday, March 23. They also visited with Mavis Neilsen at her Grandma's.

Lorne and Janet Bradley arrived home Thursday, March 23 after a two and a half month holiday in Palm Springs.

John Waddell attended the graduation of his granddaughter, Melanie Waddell, in Lethbridge, March 18, then drove back with son Harry and Ruth to Humboldt, SK, then on home in his own car.

Robin Young was home to visit with parents Bob and Willine, March 25.

In speaking to the youth at Sunday service, Rev. Hunter, with help from Bruce Cochburn and Ryan Tolton, used the symbol of dominoes, when lined up in standing order, and how our acts of love affect others and spread from one to another to bring peace and love to all people.

Lent 3 theme message was "A Passionate Journey" using Scriptures from John's Gospel, Cleansing the Temple and the Cana Wedding story, in dialogue form between Jesus, Mary, Martha and Lazarus, which showed Jesus as a very compassionate, human person which is the theme for the Lenten Season.

"May we be like the passionate Jesus and make a difference in the life of one person today and everyday". (R.Hunter)

Sincere sympathy of the District and area is extended to Jean Watson and family and relatives of Don Watson who passed away on Tuesday, March 28. He will be greatly missed by the Seniors Clubs as a regular participant during many years since retirement.

Visiting Olive Waddell during part of the mid term school break March 27 to April 1 was Margie Waddell and children Kristine, Kerry and Kaytlin of St. Adolphe, who also spent time with Brian and Gail Tolton, Terry and Ruth Wareham, & Keith & Janet Martin.

The Newdale Community Historical Society are busy with preparations for the Newdale History Book of 2000. We have extended the deadline for family histories to April 15. We urge everyone in Newdale and area to submit family histories. They can be mailed to Newdale Community Historical Society at Box 294, Newdale, or given to Cindy Dalke. Remember April 15th deadline for family histories!

Due to Computer Spell Check, "Natal" instead of Newdale appears through the Newdale News last week. Apologies to all of its concerned readers.

Newdale/Raven's Glen Women's Institute

Members of Newdale Raven's Glen W.I. met at 1:30 at Harrison House March 22. Meeting opened by reading The Mary Stewart Collect in unison & the thought sent by Audry Waddell. It was an article written by a student on the cause of the world's problems in today's society. We've added so many new things but neglect the little important things in life.

Roll call was answered by 9 members telling of an interesting place in Manitoba. Minutes and Treasurers report were read and accepted.

Correspondence consisted of W.I. packet and note from Sidley W.I. in England and thank you from Don & Jean Watson.

Friendship sent 1 birthday, 2 get well, and 2 sympathy cards. Education Report. March is Kidney month. Kidney disease is becoming more prevalent. We should have an albumin test when getting blood tests.

Business - Book mart collection March 20-26. There are 20 boxes now. Kindney Foundation March 14-28 collection at Parkway Insurance. Good will collection May 1-6, posters will be put up. Millennium Celebrations July 22 & 23. W.I. Health Aid & Horticulture Societies are responsible for Sunday noon lunch. Phyllis Tolton, Irene Creber & Xisra Lamb will be our representatives on this committee. We'd like to have a float in the parade.

A donation will be made to Pennies for Friendship. We have 136 cook books left & don't plan to order more. The committee to plan the Celebration of Life service for the Regional Convention has met and members offered to take parts.

Our April 26 meeting program is on Our Immune System. Dr. St. John will speak to us at 2:10 p.m. and everyone is welcome. We'll go to the Tea House for lunch.

Closing - The most wasted of all our days are those in which we have not laughed.

We viewed a video on Manitoba As a Place to Live which is often shown to prospective buyers overseas.

Lunch was enjoyed, provided by Irene Creber & Audrey Waddell & we enjoyed a time of fellowship.

Rapid City & District News

by Grace Fearnley

Rinks skipped by Ken Bridgeman, Floyd Campbell and Rod Underhill took part in the Rivers Seniors mixed bonspiel last week. Ken's rink of Jim Taylor, Arnold Bridgeman and Doreen Baten placed in the money.

Kin Bridgeman travelled to Canon Falls (near Minneapolis) Minnesota to attend a weekend horse show.

Eric and Lisa Stewart of Brandon are spending a few days with their Grandma Adele Laferriere.

Henry and Lorraine Hales have recently welcomed two little great granddaughters, a little girl Monica Lee for Teresa and Paul, and a baby girl Alexandria Maria for Dan and Angie. Congratulation to grandparents Barb and Jim Kooting of Morris, MB.

Weekend visitors with Mabel Haslen were daughters Orma Porter, Brandan and Mae Davidson of Glenboro, Wayne and Shelly Davidson also of Glenboro had Monday noon dinner with Grandma, and took their mother home to Glenboro.

Ivy Cornish entertained son Ernest and Bernadette Cornish of Prince George, B.C. granddaughters Leilani and Kendall McCutcheon, Brandon and sister Eva Shelvey, also of Brandon during the past weekend.

15 Seniors were out to bowl at Minnedosa Monday, March 27th. Jean Lewis and Lawrence Turton received the trophies and Earl Wilkinson the Head Pin.

Betty Ann Bertrand and Verlie Joyce accompanied sister Lindee and Norman Smith to Calgary where they spent a week visiting with brother Bill and Linda Ringland, and sister Melody and Steve Goodwin.

On Sunday Betty and Bill entertained daughter Tammy and Brett Mandryk and children Patrick and Sawyer of Shilo and daughter Dawn and Steve Bennett, Jayson and Matthew from Erickson.

The annual church Irish Stew supper was held Friday, March 24th in the lower hall of the United Church. A fairly good crowd enjoyed an excellent meal. A fine program followed supper. Rev. Boyd Drake was the genial Master of Ceremonies and Shirley Martin the pianist. The entertainers were Erin Esplin a piano solo, Sandy Gloor an organ solo, Norma Christie a vocal solo, Violin selections by Jacquie Esplin, Sharon Wolstenholme, and Beth English. The choir sang several numbers including a medley of Irish favourites. A good evening!

A warm welcome home to Dot Greer who arrived home Monday from a few days spent at Minnedosa & District Hospital.

Ann and Hugh Wright celebrated their March birthdays in fine style this year. Their birthdays are the 18th and 25th and two gatherings were held in their honour. Daughter Betty Pringle in Brandon, and daughter Jean and Harry Kuzie had most of the family at their home in Headingly. Three pipers gave them a rousing welcome. Glen Campbell and family of Swan River, Bill and Betty Campbell of Minnedosa, Don King and family of Winnipeg, Betty Pringle and family, Brandon were in attendance. March 25 (Hugh's Day) Bill and Betty from Minnedosa arrived at their farm home with a lovely birthday cake. Congratulations.

The Chamber of Commerce held their annual Pot Luck supper meeting Tuesday evening, March 28, at the Valleyview Senior Centre. Plans were discussed regarding the June street sale, Fair-day and Canada Day.

Rapid City Figure Skaters who competed at Stoney Mountain, Friday, March 24th were: Krystal Bayes, Angela Harvey, Rebecca Borley, Teresa Hiebert. Krystal placed 1st in her flight. As a team the girls came 3rd in "Team Maneuvers". Congratulations!

Jim and Shelley Meskin and Grandma Doris Esplin went to Stoney Mountain to watch the girls skate. Jim's parents also enjoyed the skating, and time was spent in Winnipeg.

80th Birthday - Bernice McTavish was honoured on the occasion of her 80th birthday with a "Come and Go" Tea held Saturday, March 25th at the Valleyview Senior Centre. The pleasant event was hosted by Bernice's son Roy and Sandy McTavish and their family and by daughter Judy and Larry Downey of Portage La Prairie (and family). A capacity crowd of well wishers attended and enjoyed a lovely afternoon of fellowship. The tea tables were centred with pink carnations, the grandchildren kept the tea-cups filled and guests well cared for. Bernice was the recipient of a number of special greetings from dignitaries, including Prime Minister Jean Chretien. Family pictures of by-gone days were also on display. In the evening a lovely cold plate supper for family relatives and friends was held at the Centre. Son-in-law Larry Downey asked the blessing. Bernice was very fortunate in having her sisters Alma McDonald, Blanche Ritchie, Jean and brother-in-law George McLean all of Minnedosa present, also numerous other relatives. Congratulations Bernice.

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Sandy, Rob & Gary Brotherston of Brandon visited with Sandy's mother and father. Gay & Wes Peters on Saturday, March 11th. On Sunday, Barb, Dave, Laura & Martin Hicks of Boissevain visited with them.

Marg & Bill Grahlman from Ontario, and Marg's Dad, Roy Espey from Rivers, visited at the Coffee Shop Friday morning, March 17. Everyone enjoyed renewing aquaintances.

Sunday, March 19, the Youth class of the Sunday School, which consisted of 4, prepared a pancake brunch. Quite a number enjoyed the tasty pancakes and sausages after church. Nice work class.

The Tri-Town Atoms hockey team won the A-side of a tournament at Shoal Lake on Saturday, March 18th.

Brandon & Wyatt Shaw spent the weekend of March 17-19 with their grandparents, Mildred and Graeme Shaw. Their parents, Ross & Michele Shaw, were in Arborg, M.B., where daughter, Kassandra, was playing hockey in a provincial tournament.

George sez: "I haven't spoken to my wife for 6 months (it's not that we have had an argument) I just don't like to interrupt her!"

The Tri-Town boys Novice Team (9&under) went all the way in their play-offs. The first round they defeated Shoal Lake, they then played Russell winning and finally Virden. The first game against Virden was played at Rivers. The score was 7-2 for Tri-Town and the final game at Virden, the score was 4-0.

Team members from Cardale are Ryan Shaw, Tyson Peters, Collum Melvin and Evelyn Thompson. Congratulations boys and girls!

Audrey and Don Peters visited at Roblin with daughter Norma & Dale Ready and little granddaughter Paige on Saturday, March 25th. While there, they celebrated Paige's 15th birthday and a belated birthday for Audrey.

Cardale Old Timer's hockey team played in a tournament at Rivers on the weekend of March 24th-26th. They lost to Glenella, won over Tempo and then lost in the "B" side final to Ag-Pro.

George sez: "My mind not only wanders - it sometimes leaves completely"!

APRIL IS CANCER MONTH

Whereas: One in three Canadians will develop cancer in his/her lifetime and one in four Canadians will die of cancer.

Whereas: The Canadian Cancer Society's mission is to eradicate cancer and enhance the quality of life of those living with cancer in our communities.

Whereas: The Canadian Cancer Society achieves its goals through • research
• information services
• one to one peer support for cancer patients and their families
• advocacy for healthy public policy

Whereas: Volunteers support these efforts and funds raised in communities across Canada

Now therefore I, Terry Drebit, do hereby proclaim the month of April, 2000 as

CANCER MONTH

Agriculture Report

by Neil Galbraith Ag. Rep.

Management Plus Booklet

Management Plus is the Crop Insurance yield information that compares different varieties' yields by municipality and by crop insurance risk area. Each year it comes out as a booklet in March. Many producers look forward to this information as they use it to help make final variety selection decisions. The booklets came a few weeks ago as an insert in the Manitoba Cooperator. Unfortunately, Crop Insurance did not provide any extra copies for our office to hand out to producers who do not receive the Cooperator. I have one booklet at the office. So, if you would like to see how certain varieties performed in 1999 and for a few years before that, see us at the Ag office and we'll photocopy the pages for you.

The booklet also contains lots of other very good information. There are agriculture climate maps on last spring frosts, first fall frosts, heat units, growing degree days, precipitation, frost free days, etc. There is rotation yield information on how crops yield when planted after other crops. For example, one table shows average wheat yield when planted on wheat stubble is 33 bu/acre while after barley it is 34 bu/acre, after canola 35 bu/acre, after peas 36 bu/ac after flax it is 38 bu/acre. There is a lot of very good information in this booklet. If you received one, take the time to look at it. If you didn't receive one, see us at the Ag office.

The 1999 Aida forms are now available at the Ag office. If you received any unseeded acre payment in 1999, you have to complete a 1999 Aida form. It will be easier to do these forms now before seeding than in the summer.

Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Program (CMAP)

This is the recently announced 100 million that is being paid to gain producers to help them adjust to the elimination of transportation subsidies during low grain prices. The payment will be a percentage of an eligible producer's average qualifying sales during 1994-1998. There will be an initial payment in April with a final payment in July. To be eligible you must have been an active farmer who produced eligible grain crops in 1999, have filed a farm income tax in Manitoba; and have at least one year of qualifying sales of eligible crops between 1994 and 1999.

If you have a 1999 crop insurance contract with qualifying crops or received a Manitoba Farm Disaster Assistance Payment (MFDAP) for unseeded land you satisfy the eligibility requirements (active farmer of eligible crops and file farm income tax in Manitoba). Being in NISA from 1994 to 1998 with qualifying sales will satisfy the last requirement. No application will be required. A preprinted summary and payment will be sent to you. The payment will be based on the greater of 1998 qualifying sales or the 1994 to 1998 average qualifying sales.

If one or more years of NISA information is missing from 1994 to 1997, the initial CMAP payment will be calculated on 1998 NISA information. The payment and preprinted summary will be sent to the producer. The producer can leave it like this if he feels his 1998 qualifying sales are greater than his 1994-1998 average, or he can submit the missing years' qualifying sales to enhance his CMAP payment.

If you did not have a 1999 crop insurance contract with qualifying crops and did not receive a MFDAP payment but did have 1998 NISA with qualifying sales, a preprinted summary will be mailed to you. If you agree with it, you sign and return it and a payment will be sent to you. As before, if you have 1994 - 1997 information that would enhance your payment, you submit this with the preprinted summary.

If you did not have NISA in 1998, you will have to apply for the CMAP program. In this case is doesn't matter if you had a 1999 crop insurance contract or MFDAP payment or NISA information from 1994-1997, you need to submit the appropriate tax information.

If you did not farm prior to 1999, you have to apply and submit your 1999 tax information. MFDAP payments for unseeded land can be included as income.

In Memoriam

Melcosky - In loving memory of Paul Melcosky. Dear husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather who passed away on April 4, 1998.

It has been two years since you left this land,
Forever remembered, sadly missed.
One day we will meet again to hold your hand.

Lovingly remembered by your wife Mary and family. x (C6)

It pays to advertise in the Tribune Classifieds

In Memoriam

Bill Budiwski - In loving memory of a dear husband, father, and Gido who passed away April 2, 1998.

The gift of life, however dear,
Must sometimes pass away...
Yet your love and memories remain...
Eternal gifts that stay.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Nellie, children and grandchildren. x (C6)

Ullberg - In loving memory of Yvonne, who passed away April 2, 1988.

Memories are like threads of gold,
They never tarnish or grow old.
Just as you were, you will always be,
Loved and cherished in our memory.

Loved and remembered forever, husband Ernie and family. x (C6)

Burkett - In loving memory of Dorland Dale, who passed away April 2, 1995.

What wondrous love is this, O my soul!
To God and to the Lamb I will sing, who is the great I Am.
While millions join the theme, I will sing.
And when from death I'm free, I'll sing on.
And through eternity I'll sing on.
- American folk hymn

Always in our hearts, Viola and the family. x (C6)

McManus - In loving memory of our twin sons and brothers, Dickie January 6, 1952 and Donald April 4, 1995.
Always loved and remembered by Mom, Dad, Gladys, Gordon, Raymond & Sharon. x (C6)

Bachewich - In loving memory of Harry, husband, father, grandfather & great grandfather, who passed away April 6, 1995.

Gone are the days we used to share,
But in our hearts you are always there.
The gates of memory never close,
We miss you more than anyone knows.

Remembered and sadly missed by wife Caroline and family. x (C6)

Carlson - In loving memory of husband, father and grandfather, Benny who passed away April 5, 1988.

You can only have one father
Loving, kind and true,
No one else in the world
Will care as much for you.
So while you have your father
Treasure him with care,
You'll never realize
How much you miss him
Until he's no longer there.

Sadly missed and ever remembered and loved by his wife Gladys, daughters and their families. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Burnett - In loving memory of our parents and grandparents. Earl who passed away April 1, 1980 and Margaret August 7, 1995.

There will always be a heartache,
And often a silent tear,
But, always precious memories,
Of the days when you were here.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout our lives,
Until we meet again.

Lovingly remembered by Marion, Ruth, Shirley and families. x (C6)

Bachewich - In loving memory of Harry, Husband, Father, Grandfather, Great Grandfather, who passed away April 6, 1995.

Gone are the days we used to share,
But in our heart, you are always there.
The gates of memory never close,
We miss you more, then anyone knows.

Remembered and sadly missed, Wife Caroline and family. x (C6)

Cards of Thanks

Thank you to Dr. Bright and Nursing staff of Minnedosa Hospital for the care I received while in hospital. Doris Waddell. x (CD)

I would like to thank each and everyone who gave me such good care and words of encouragement during and after my operation. Dr. Khandelwal, Dr Das, Dr. Bright, Nurses, Support Staff, Kitchen Staff, Lab & XRay, Evelyn and the Home Care girls. You are all special, we are so fortunate to have such gifted and qualified people in our hospital. Thank you to those who sent flowers, gifts, cards, phone calls and inquiries. May God bless you all. Obituary

It is with great saddness that we announce the passing of our beloved Mother, Grandmother and G.G., Anna Hagglund on March 23, 2000 at Golden West Centennial Lodge at age 98 years.

Mom was born on August 16, 1901 in Jamtland, Sweden. She came to Canada in 1906 with her family and settled in the Inwood district. On December 26, 1925 she married Hjalmar Hagglund. In the early years of their marriage, they lived in Saskatchewan where their three children were born. In 1936, they moved to Clanwilliam, MB where they lived until retirement in 1963. At this time, they moved to Winnipeg where Mom has since resided. After Dad's death, Mom moved to Kiwanis Courts and for the past five years she has lived at Golden West.

Mom was very involved in the Clanwilliam community, being active in the church as a Sunday School teacher and member of the Women's Auxiliary. She also belonged to the Women's Institute and was a 4H leader for many years. Mom was such a loving and caring person who was always there for her family. She especially enjoyed the large family gatherings for special occasions.

Mom was predeceased by her beloved husband Hjalmar in 1973; her son Howard in 1998, her parents and all her sisters and brothers. Left to cherish her memory, are her daughters, Jean Brooks (Bill), Shirley MacKay (Neil) and daughter-in-law Margaret Hagglund; her grandchildren, Barbara Hagglund (Al), Gerry Hagglund (Michelle), Brian Hagglund (Jana), David Brooks, Gwen Birse (Peter), Donna Polychuk (Marty), Gord MacKay (Clare) and Sandra Rauhaus (Jason). Her great-grandchildren, who loved their G.G. were her pride and joys, Scott and Brooke Birse, Kyle and Kevin Polychuk, Daniel Hagglund and Krista Hagglund.

Our heartfelt thanks to all the staff at Golden West Centennial Lodge for their loving care and compassion given to Mom over the past five years.

A celebration of Mom's life was held on Monday, March 27, at 3:00 p.m. at Chapel Lawn Funeral Home, 4000 Portage Ave. Pallbearers were her eight grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Golden West Centennial Lodge, 811 School Road, Winnipeg, MB. Arrangements entrusted to Chapel Lawn Funeral Home Cemetery and Crematorium. (C7)

Obituary

Donald Thomas Watson

On March 28, 2000, Donald Thomas Watson of Newdale, passed away at the Minnedosa Health Centre, at the age of 85 years.

He will be deeply missed by his loving wife Jean; 2 sons: Garry (Louise) of Dugald, Dale (Roberta) of Strathclair, and 4 grandchildren: Cheryl, Chris, Lana and Dane; 2 sisters: Margaret Beatty of Winnipeg and Olive McMurachy of Brandon. Don was predeceased by his son Denny, brothers: Lloyd, Harry and Allan and sister Olga Kerney. He was born in Napinka, Manitoba, on June 29, 1914, to Arthur and Faith (Davey). As a young man Don worked on various farms in the area and travelled to the Peace River district in Alberta to help his brother, Allan, homestead. Don returned to Manitoba and was employed by the CPR on the B and B and then took the job as pumpman where he was stationed in the valley north of Newdale. In 1945, he married Jean Fleming of Crandall. Garry was born the following year and Dale a few years later. In 1954, he moved his family to the town of Newdale where he purchased and ran the pool room and barber shop in the evenings and worked for Manitoba Hydro during the day. When Don retired from Manitoba Hydro, he decided to convert the poolroom and barber-shop into a carpenter's haven. Many people in the area will remember Don for his handiwork and the many extensive renovations he undertook. He also was very talented in making lawn furniture and toys and would tackle any project big or small. He was an avid sportsman enjoying baseball, hockey, curling, golfing, fishing, hunting and camping. Don and Jean spent many evenings square dancing, attending gambarees throughout the area. Don loved to see the countryside and they would drive many miles together looking for wildlife and just enjoying the scenery. His greatest joys were being with his family and friends, playing cards, fishing, golfing, and gardening. He was a wonderful man with a kind heart and a keen sense of humour.

In respect of Don's wishes, cremation has taken place. A memorial service was held on Saturday, April 1, 2000, at 3:00 p.m. from the Newdale United Church with Rev. Tom Delgaty officiating. A private interment took place in the Crandall Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers donations may be made to the charity of your choice. Arrangements entrusted to Rae's Funeral Service of Shoal Lake. (C7)

Obituary

Mike Basaraba
1916 - 2000

Passed away peacefully on Thursday, March 23 at the Sandy Lake Nursing Home at the age of 83 years.

Mike was born to Andrew and Anastasia Basaraba on the 31 October 1916. He was predeceased by his brothers, Metro, Bill, Peter, John, and sisters, Cassie, Mary, and Maggie. He is survived by his brothers, Nick of England, Fred of Prince George, Henry of Breezy Point and sisters, Annie English of Brandon, Betty Abrey of Red Deer and Olive Wiley of Winnipeg as well as several nieces and nephews all of whom he enjoyed visiting with. His memories of the past and his quick and alert mind were displayed in all his conversations. Mike lived east of Onanole (Riding Mountain National Park) where he farmed the family homestead. He also lived in Laurier where he married Marilyn Simpson. The last couple of years, Mike enjoyed living at the Sandy Lake Nursing Home where the staff was able to improve his quality of life.

Despite many tough times, Mike will be remembered by all whom he came in touch with, as a kind and gentle soul, who never complained. He enjoyed the outdoors and the company of friends and family.

The family would like to express their appreciation to the staff at the Sandy Lake Nursing Home for making Mike's last years comfortable.

RCMP investigate vandalism at Ukrainian Catholic Church

Although disheartened by the vandalism at their place of worship, the above members of the Holy Ascension Ukrainian Catholic Church, worked together to clean up the mess. At right, Constables Kitsch and Judd, examined the paint splatters on the front door and the 666 on the steps.

By Nancy Chemerika

The Holy Ascension Ukrainian Catholic Church was vandalized last week in the late night or early morning hours of March 28th or 29th.

Green latex paint was splattered on the front door and south side of the church, as well as on the front steps where a large 666 was painted. Pieces of the four year old vinyl siding were also broken off in some places.

Paul Fedorkie, vice president of the Holy Ascension Church was phoned by a neighbour who saw the damage, early Wednesday morning. Mr. Fedorkie phoned the Minnedosa Community RCMP Detachment after informing parish priest, Rev. Fr. Michael Tkachuk, of the vandalism.

"No one knows why it had to happen. It is a Church," stated Mr. Fedorkie. "It is bad for all of us. We didn't do anything wrong. It is a terrible thing."

Constables Kitsch and Judd attended the scene and canvassed the nearby area on foot to determine if any of the neighbours saw or heard anything. The matter is still under investigation. Anyone with any information can call 867-2916, or Crimestoppers at 1-800-782-8477.

Gilleshammer pleased Murray has entered PC race

By Nancy Chemerika

Local MLA Harold Gilleshammer is supportive of Stuart Murray's decision to seek the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party of Manitoba.

While not stating at this time that Murray would have his personal support, Gilleshammer did say "I think it's exciting that the Party is attracting people like Stuart Murray. I am pleased that a man of Mr. Murray's calibre has come out to seek the leadership of the Party."

Gilleshammer, the former Minister of Finance, noted that although he was flattered to be asked by members of the Party to seek the leadership, he ultimately decided not to enter the race.

"My wife, Diana, and I examined the possibility. Eventually I decided I would not run," concluded Gilleshammer.

Mr. Murray, together with his wife Ashleigh and daughters Sarah and Hayley, made the announcement in Brandon and Winnipeg last Thursday. Murray, 45, is the President and CEO of Domo Gas.

"Why do I want to be leader? Very simply, I have a young family - a wonderful and dynamic wife and two growing, intelligent and talented teenage daughters. I want for my family what I want for all Manitobans. I want this to be a place we are proud to call home," said Murray.

Murray added that he feels that Manitoba cannot afford more than one term of NDP government, noting that it only took Howard Pawley six years to bring Manitoba to the brink of financial ruin. He went on to outline three general objectives that will direct his campaign:

- ensure the PC Party stays in touch with its members and voters, and works to attract new supporters;
- deliver an effective and aggressive opposition to the governing NDP; and
- lead a Progressive Conservative team to victory in the next election.

Murray also announced that he will be launching a provincial tour to listen to members' ideas for party revitalization and rebuilding party policy. The results of the consultations will be highlighted later in the campaign.

Darren Praznik, former Minister of Health and Highways and Transportation, has also confirmed that he too will be seeking the Party leadership at the November convention.

Golf course expansion committee unveils back nine plans

Members of the Minnedosa Golf Club Expansion Committee along with course architect David Grant of Winnipeg have spent a considerable amount of time over the past two weeks putting the finishing touches to what, one day, may be the new back nine for the Minnedosa course.

David Grant, speaking from his office in Winnipeg, stated that the plan, as shown to the right, is only a preliminary layout, that is subject to Board approval and may well be subject to some modifications before construction begins.

The plan will allow for a three tee system that will involve 6439 yards for the 18 holes from the back tees or 6178 total yards from the middle or white tees. Included in the plan is the lengthening of the current 9th hole by about 20 yards as well as possibly developing some present low areas on the back nine into ponds.

Fundraising Committee chairman Frank Taylor has his work cut out for him, as it will be his committee's responsibility to raise $300,000 in order for the construction to proceed. "I'm sure the community will support the project", stated Taylor. "This is for the good of the whole area and is sure to draw golfers from all over to our town."

The preliminary plan allows for the following additional holes:

#10	420 yds	Par 4
#11	328 yds	Par 4
#12	168 yds	Par 3
#13	515 yds	Par 5
#14	212 yds	Par 3
#15	533 yds	Par 5
#16	403 yds	Par 4
#17	385 yds	Par 4
#18	415 yds	Par 4

RCMP investigate vandalism at Ukrainian Catholic Church

MINNEDOSA GOLF COURSE EXPANSION
FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN

Recently, the Town of Minnedosa purchased the land required for the expansion of our golf course from 9 to 18 holes.

This major commitment to our golf course and our community was welcomed news for all of us.

A golf course offering a full 18 holes will add value to our community and strengthen our economic development. It will provide local residents with increased recreation opportunities and, we believe, act as an attraction to bring more people to our town.

However, this legacy project cannot go forward without your help. We have launched a fundraising drive, appropriately titled "Drive the Green", with a target of $300,000. Raising this amount will allow us to proceed with construction and feel comfortable that we have a manageable debt load.

This is an ambitious project, but I believe it is a very realistic one and one which we believe will provide a lasting benefit to our community.

Our Committee has identified two ways in which people can contribute: Charitable Donations and Builder Loans. Information found elsewhere on this page provides details on our program.

It is our hope you will find some way to participate. Minnedosa has been built by people like you - people who take pride in their community and want to be part of it.

Should you have any questions about this project, please do not hesitate to contact either myself or any other member of the Fundraising Committee.

Frank Taylor
Fundraising Chair

P.S. In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For every $100 contributed prior to July 9th, 2000 (through either Charitable Donation or Builder Loan), you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course.

Background

- The Minnedosa Golf Club undertook a Feasibility Study during the summer of 1998 on expanding our course from its current nine holes to 18 holes.
- The results of this Feasibility Study were made public on August 18, 1998.
- The results of this plebiscite were made public on October 26th - 89% of members were in favour.
- With this strnng level of support, the Minnedosa Golf Course Executive feels confident in proceeding with our local fundraising drive.
- The Feasibilty Study set a target of $300,000 contributed at the local level.

The Campaign

- This Drive The Green campaign will allow members and community supporters to show their support regarding this expansion project.
- The success of this Drive The Green campaign is critical to providing the Executive with the confidence to proceed with construction.
- This is all the information you should require to make your contribution to the future of our golf course and the future of our community.
- All Funds raised towards the Minnedosa Golf Course Expansion will be put into a trust account and moneys will be used solely for that purpose.

The Expansion

- The expansion will be constructed on 80 acres of land immediately south of the existing nine holes. This land is rolling hills and is certain to offer excellent golf terrain.
- Minnedosa Golf Club has retained the services of Golf Course Designer Dave Grant of Grant Golf.
- The deign developed by Mr. Grant allows the existing nine holes to remain open throughout construction of the new nine holes.
- The design has each nine (new and old) starting and ending at the Clubhouse.
- Detailed drawings of the layout can be viewed at the Clubhouse.

Two Ways to Contribute

Charitable Donations

- All Charitable Donations made towards the Golf Course Expansion will receive a Charitable Tax Receipt from the Town of Minnedosa for the full value of the donations made throughout a calendar year.
- As a donor, you will be rewarded with 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons. You will receive one 2-for-1 coupon for every $100 dollars you donate. As an example, based on the contribution level categories established by the club, the following donors would receive the following 2-for-1 Green Fee coupons:
  - ☐ Eagle Donor ($1,000.00) - 10 2-for-1 coupons
  - ☐ Birdie Donor ($500.00) - 5 2-for-1 coupons
  - ☐ Par Donor ($100.00)- 1 2-for-1 coupon
- In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For each $100.00 donation made prior to July 9, 2000 you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course. Following the above categories, Eagle Donors would receive 10 ballots, Birdie Donors would receive 5 and Par Donors would receive 1.

Builder Loans

- The minimum contribution for a Builder Loan is $1,000.00. The Loan will remain, interest free, with the club for a period of ten years.
- After 10 years, Redemption of Loans will be done at a level of 20% of the value of the Loan per year for a period of 5 years.
- In the event of the death of one or all of the Loan Holders, Loan can be paid out to the estate, transferred or revert to the club as a Memorial Donation.
- Those providing Builder Loans will receive 1 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupon for each $100 dollars contributed as a Loan. For example, if Person A gave the Club a Loan of $1,000.00, they would receive 10 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons. If Person B gave the Club a Loan of $1,500.00, they would receive 15 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons.
- In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For each $100.00 Loan made prior to July 9, 2000 you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course. Following the above example, Person A would receive 10 ballots, while Person B would receive 15.

Dry as a bone and looking north

While we in Manitoba, and in fact much of the prairie provinces, are most appreciative of the recent consequences of the present climate change that we all know is taking place, other parts of our continent are beginning to suffer from those same consequences.

Southern Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas that were once fertile plains are fast becoming marginal growing areas at best. Those fringe areas adjacent to the corn belt that were once considered marginal lands are now turning into desert. Climate patterns have changed, and most marked are the past three to five years as has been evidenced here by the mild winters.

In Arizona, and particularly around Phoenix, where I spent the past two months, a three day drizzle producing less than a half inch of rain was declared a downpour by their standards, and was in fact the first significant precipitation they had experienced since September. The desert is suffering through a major drought. There were few blooms to be seen in the great Sonoran Desert this year.

The Colorado River which, over the past several million years, has produced such a raging torrent that it has carved no less than the Grand Canyon, is reduced to less of a trickle than the Little Saskatchewan River as it exits California and enters Mexico near Yuma, Arizona. For much of the year, the Colorado River bed is a bone-dry stony wash at the Mexican border, with all of its powerful resources being bled off as man-made acquifers transfer its waters to feed cities like Los Angeles and Phoenix.

In the greater Phoenix area, a developer can purchase acres of land for housing projects and golf courses, but before a single nail is set to wood, water rights must be negotiated and purchased from city and state authorities. Much debate now rages in communal cities like Mesa and in fact, putting the handcuffs on future development took up center stage in the recent mayoral elections.

Water is fast becoming the most exclusive and potentially expensive commodity in the southwestern and southcentral United States. If the current weather patterns hold for an extended period of time, then we in Canada will soon be seeing the monster at our door.

Across Canada, provincial governments wrestle with the problems of writing legislation that will deal with future pressures to export our water to the south. In the coming months and years we will hear more and more of the debate, and eventually it will occupy far more of our time than did the Quebe separatist movements of the past three decades.

And this is not a new question that we must address. During the California Gold Rush of the 1840's, the Hudson Bay Company, then almost exclusively operating out of the Hudson's Bay, actually worked out a plan to tow ice bergs to the shores of California to supply the rush of population to that area with water. Such plans were set aside after some careful considerations, but are once again being discussed openly.

What isn't being discussed openly is just what steps the most powerful nation on earth will take to insure its population continues to grow and prosper with as much water as it may require.

While we discuss legislation to control future dispensation of our water supplies, somewhere, in some corporate or government offices south of the border, you can bet your house that other discussions are taking place, maps of western Canada are being unfolded and not-too-distant action plans are beginning to be formulated that may well one day see our rivers heading south.

The question is, when that time comes, will we be able to do anything about it.

Picture of the Week ...

The UGG elevator said its final goodbye last week.

New tennant!
Another tennant was added to minnedosa.com this past week. Scott and Kathleen Martin of the Gateway Motel signed on for the service and Scott's mother in England was its very first visitor. The site features information on rooms, bookings and lists local community attractions and events. Good luck to the Martin's at the Gateway on their new, and what we expect will be an excellent adventure in cyberspace.

UGG gone!
Picking the early morning hours to do their work, the destruction crew were busy last week as they dug into the final stages of the old UGG elevator and brought the behemoth down. The main part of the elevator took a few seconds to make up its mind as to which direction it would pick to fall, but in the end, the crew got its way and the elevator took its predictable path to its final end. In all probability, the old Agricore (Pool) elevator will follow, with its destruction happening perhaps as early as this fall. The final decision has yet to be made.

Fundraising begun.
With the distribution of a (green) brochure, the fundraising campaign for the golf course expansion project entitled "Drive the Green" has begun. Check out Page 3 of this edition for details on the ways that you, your family or your business can contribute to the cause and make Minnedosa a better place to live. The very huggable Frank Taylor will direct the fundraising ship and we are confident he will do his very best. His years of experience at filling the Fun Fest Packed Auto will no doubt bode him well in his new volunteer duties.

Congratulations ...
Special congratulations go out to our favorite sportsman, Barry Dowsett for his recent award by the Minnedosa Recreation Commission. We can think of no other individual who is more deserving of the recognition, and as was stated in the award speech at the Sportsmen's Dinner held on Saturday evening, this award now raises the bar on future awards. Perhaps the bar has been raised about as far as it can go on this one. Congrats also to the Rec Commission on an excellent selection.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The federal government continues to hesitate over the changes it might bring to the grain handling and transportation system. The window for making constructive changes is closing. The problem arises because Transport Minister David Collenette is determined to remove the Canadian Wheat Board from transportation and relegate it to taking possession of grain in the ship. Western cabinet ministers Goodale and Axworthy are blocking this extreme action. Collenette is urged on by the Transport Canada bureaucracy, long renowned for its love affair with the railways, and by a handful of extremist farm groups funded by the industry.

The railways want to remove the Board from transportation since the Board can use its dominant position to force competition between the railways. The Wheat Board showed it was willing to hold the railways accountable when it won its level of service complaint against the railways after they discriminated against grain movement in the winter of '96/'97.

The grain companies are anxious to diminish the Board's powers since it will leave them the gains from blending at port. This represents about 30 million dollars a year, money that currently is returned to farmers through the pool accounts.

The grain companies and railways must act in the best interests of their shareholders. The Wheat Board alone is charged with acting in the best interests of farmers. Through the elected Directors of the new Canadian Wheat Board, farmers can have some control over the direction of the system. The Western Canadian Wheat Growers, and some other commodity groups, would turn that control completely over to the railways and grain companies.

The federal government must act to implement the changes proposed by the SARM, WRAP, and KAP. These changes have the support of a broad spectrum of farmers, and will create a level playing field where freight rates are lower, shippers benefit from greater competition, viable short lines are possible and farmers can explore options and innovations.

Transport Minister Collenette must act to introduce these changes. If he does not, farmers will go through another year paying excessively high freight rates and will see their options diminish further.

Sincerely,
Ron Gleim
Saskatchewan Chair

Dowsett recognized at Sports Dinner

At the 3rd Annual Sports Dinner, Barry Dowsett was honoured by the recognition of his peers and community when he was presented with the Outstanding Dedication to Sport and Recreation Award.

The award is presented annually at the banquet to an individual who has enriched the life of the community through their outstanding dedication to sport and recreation development. Nominations are judged on the basis of contributions to the enhancement of sport and recreation development and delivery; demonstration of outstanding leadership; continuous volunteerism and personal involvement in the community; impact and lasting contributions to the community; visual image of role modelling for the community. Past recipients of the award were Glennis Scott in 1998, and Jon Lewis in 1999.

Barry Dowsett not only meets the award criteria to the utmost, but has also raised the bar. Born and raised in Minnedosa, Barry has been involved in a variety of sports since his early years. As an organizer, he was instrumental in the development of youth rugby in Minnedosa; the Minnedosa Fitness Centre of which he holds the vice president's seat; the Minnedosa Triathlon and the Annual Senior men's Soccer Match Cup in memory of Jason Nylen. Barry has managed the MCI Chancellors Rugby Team, and has also managed a men's hockey team.

Over the years, Barry has coached a number of sports at a variety of levels; has been an avid soccer player for a number of years; has been a stellar defenceman in hockey, and took up rugby, a sport with few 35 year old rookies, in 1998 with the Brandon Barbarians. Barry has also participated in numerous triathlons, locally and provincially. Additionally, he ran the Twin Cities Marathon in Minneapolis, and the prestigious Boston Marathon.

On more than one occasion, Barry has received the Rolling River Teacher's Association Award for dedication to community involvement. In 1999, he was awarded the President's Trophy for Excellent Contribution to the Sport of Rugby by the Brandon Barbarians. In 1998, he was named the Barbarians Rookie of the Year. In team sports, Barry won a bronze medal for Provincial Soccer in 1998; gold in 1997 and 1996; and silver in 1995. He was coach for the highschool rugby team when they were named Provincial Division II Champions, and the Pee Wee Girls Hockey Team in 1995 when they won Provincial Gold.

Barry is employed by the Department of Highways, and together with his wife Barb, resides in Minnedosa.

Town budget reflects 1.5% increase

By Nancy Chemerika

Council for the Town of Minnedosa passed a resolution to adopt the 2000 financial plan and the five year capital expenditure plan at the regular meeting last Tuesday evening. The resolution followed a brief public meeting at which no concerned citizens were in attendance.

The 2000 financial plan reflects an increase of 1.5% for general municipal, local improvement and reserve transfer levies. The tax increase will mean an additional $15.12 on a house with an assessment of $70,000.

In total, the 2000 budgeted revenue and expenditures have increased $251,371.30. According to Town administration, the majority of the increase was the result of transfers from reserves for capital purposes, rather than extra taxation.

The amount budgeted for general government services, which includes such costs as legislative, Chief Administrative Officer and staff, office, legal, taxation, elections, etc, grants, etc, was increased for 2000 to $388,000. In 1999, $372,421.59 was spent in the area of general government services. Within this category the town has budgeted $28,500 in grants, compared to the $22,317.78 that was spent in 1999. Additionally, the budgeted amount for government sundry expenses decreased to $27,000; $55,497.09 was spent in 1999. Last years budget included monies for the special projects fund (additional VLT revenues designated for community projects), Pan Am Games and Classic Rock Weekend Social Activities.

The protective services budget increased from $352,336.86 spent in 1999 to $376,160 in 2000. The increase partially resulted from additional funds put into the Emergency Measures Organization, 911, and policing. An additional $16,000 was budgeted for policing this year as a result in a cross Canada increase in the required contracted amount from municipalities, which is based on the number of members in each area.

The transportation services budget was set at $246,000, which was up from the $228,630.74 spent in 1999. Rising fuel costs were a factor in the increase.

The environmental health services budget was increased to $99,500 from the $96,204.82 spent last year. Included in the budget is garbage and waste collection, and the landfill site operation.

The public health and welfare services budget was set at $65,000.

A total of $45,100 was budgeted for economic development services, although $63,358.91 was spent in 1999. The majority of the decrease resulted in the regional development budget which was reduced to $18,000 from $52,605.49 spent in 1999. Last year's regional development budget included funding for an economic development officer.

Water flowing over Minnedosa fish ladder

The Minnedosa spillway fish ladder is now running, although Manitoba Fisheries spokesperson, Martin Erickson indicated that the ladder was built with average to above average spring runoffs in mind. As luck would have it, this year, runoff is average to below average.

Despite runoff level, Martin feels that the flows are sufficient enough to attract some fish to the ladder this spring. Reports have been received that record numbers of fish are already using the ladder at Rapid City.

Martin indicated that the spawning is triggered by water temperature. At this time, the ice cap remaining on Minnedosa lake keeps the water temperatures colder than that which would attract fish. Until the ice cap is melted, Martin does not expect to see many fish using the ladder. Normally ice is off the lake by the first of May, but this year it could be off sooner than normal.

A trap was being set into the lake end of the fishway this past week and local members of the Little River Game and Fish Association will be monitoring the fish for both species and numbers once they start to accumulate.

According to Town Superintendent Allan Jamieson, there is currently 13 inches of water flowing over the Minnedosa spillway, 224 cubic feet per second, or 84,000 gallons per minute.

The main run off from Riding Mountain National Park normally occurs in early May. That run off from the park may have come and gone already, noted Pat Rousseau, Aquatics and Wildlife Management Co-ordinator, RMNP.

"There is essentially no water in the snow. Unless we get another big snow fall, or a really heavy spring rain, there will be no more run off," explained Rousseau.

Park employees have been monitoring snow levels in the bush at 12 stations in the Clear Lake basin area. As of March 14th, there was 1 centimeter of water equivalent snow in the bush at only four stations. On March 16th, 1999 there was 6.6 centimeters of water equivalent snow in the bush area.

"This is very unusual," stated Rousseau, who has been on staff with RMNP for 18 years. "The normal snow months are February and March, and there was very little this year. We have been burning grass in the Little Saskatchewan River area since the end of February."

In 1999 Clear Lake was recorded at 6.15.266 meters above sea level. In 2000, the Lake was 6.15.333 meters above sea level. Break up historically occurs around April 25th or early May.

Despite the lack of spring moisture, Rousseau noted that the Park is currently not concerned about fire risk.

"We need one or two good rains to get things back to normal. There is still lots of water in the ground because of the wet summer last year. There was some drying before freeze up, so what run off did occur sunk into the top 10 centimeters. The springs and creeks are still flowing good."

Town Council to purchase plaque for Normandy Project

Town Council has unanimously expressed their support for the proposed Juno Beach Centre, otherwise called The Canada Normandy Project. The Juno Beach Centre will be a historical record of Canadian achievements, military as well as social and cultural, and placed in the context of what Canada was like during the war years contrasted with Contemporary Canada.

Over 1,000,000 Canadians, including many from Minnedosa and surrounding districts, took up arms for Canada from 1939 to 1945. Over 40,000 lost their lives during the struggle against world domination by Hitler and the Nazi's.

Juno Beach was the site where Canadian forces landed in Normandy on June 6, 1944 and is located near the french town of Bernieres-sur-mer. What is proposed is the construction of a 10,000 sq. meter building containing exhibits commemorating those lives lost and the beginning of the end of the Second World War. Special features to be included in the centre will be a theatre, gift shop, refreshment centre, museum and a rooftop terrace overlooking the English Channel.

The Centre will use film, touch screen computer terminals, audio recordings and photographs as well as authentic newsreel footage to tell the story of Canadians on D-Day as well as include the Air War, the Battle of the Atlantic, the Italian Campaign and other significant events. The Centre is scheduled to open on June 6 of 2000.

Currently a fundraising campaign is being conducted across the country to raise funds for the proposed $1.5 million project. To that end, plaques commemorating the efforts are being sold and at the regular meeting of council last week, a motion by Councillor Murray Graham was passed whereby the Town of Minnedosa will purchase one such plaque that will bear an inscribed commemoration from the Town of Minnedosa to the local participants that will be on permanent display in the centre.

Individual, organization or group donations are being accepted and more information can be gathered at the website www.junobeach.org/ . Thus far, the list of donors on the website include Parks Canada, the Millennium Bureau of Canada as well as several Canadian corporations, individuals and branches of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Mayor pleased with budget outcome

By Nancy Chemerika

Mayor Drebit is pleased with the outcome of the 2000 financial plan for the Town of Minnedosa.

"In 10 years, this is one of the better budgets I have been involved with," stated Mayor Terry Drebit. "There are a number of new initiatives to be proud of. Council and the administration should be commended for developing a budget that reflects the needs of the community."

Mayor Drebit is most pleased with the development of a community loans program through partnership with the Minnedosa Royal Bank, and the Province of Manitoba.

The intention of the Community Loans Program is to benefit small to medium sized business with costs associated with start up or expansion. For every dollar contributed by the Town of Minnedosa, the Province contributes two up to a maximum of $75,000. The loans will be administered through a special board of the Economic Development Board of the Community Development Corporation, which will also arrange for repayment options.

"The Community Loans Program is something we have wanted to be involved with for a long time. We are trying to help those individuals or businesses who may not qualify for financial assistance from other lending institutions," noted Drebit.

> "Council and the administration should be commended for developing a budget that reflects the needs of the community..." Mayor Drebit

Mayor Drebit explained that the new formula for the Town of Minnedosa will be tourism plus recreation equals economic development.

"Instead of chasing the big smoke stacks, we hope to stimulate economic development by building on what we already have, and enhancing the positives. I feel that we have the most beautiful town in Western Canada. We have received positive exposure from events like the Pan American Games, the Canada Summer Games, and Classic Rock. We need to build on that exposure and let the world know what Minnedosa has to offer."

The Mayor added that he felt positive about the Town forming a partnership with Frontier Employment Services project, which provides supported employment for individuals with cognitive or physical disabilities. Additionally, Council added to the Tourism budget for further community promotion and signage.

"Overall, I feel that the outlook for 2000 is positive. Although we are in the midst of an agriculture crisis, Minnedosa does have the advantage of recreation and tourism that others don't. I feel that we will be able to ride out the storm and position ourselves for the good times ahead," concluded Mayor Drebit.

Budget reflects 1.5% increase...

Also within the economic development services budget, tourism funding was increased to $12,000, from the budgeted amount of $7,000 last year. The town is planning for more promotional activities and signage this year.

The Recreational Services budget was set at $129,447.93 for 2000. In 1999 $133,395 was spent. Within the recreational services budget, more funding was allocated for local parks and playgrounds.

Budgeted revenue and expenditure for the utility operating fund was increased to $586,376.52 in 2000 from $534,449.72 in 1999. The increased expenditures include funding for the replacement of water lines.

The capital expenditure budget for 2000 has been set for $524,730. The budget includes $107,000 for the golf course property; $10,000 for computer work stations for the town office; $5,000 for the community centre; $42,730 for the library expansion; $100,000 for a recycling shed; $50,000 for projects and property development; $100,000 for a new garbage truck to replace the 1989 GM truck currently in use; $50,000 for water and sewer renewal; and $60,000 for the completion of the water and sewer extensions to the beach and campground. Of the capital expenditure projects, funding for the recycling shed, and the water and sewer extensions to the beach and campground would be borne by borrowing. Funding for the remainder of the projects would be borne by reserves.

In 2000, the total debenture requirement will be $333,232.80. If no extra projects are taken on within the years, the requirement in 2001 will be $283,610.00, which will be a reduction of $49,622.82 from 2000.

"The Town's position is fairly good. There was a moderate tax increase," stated CAO Gail Graves. "We are in a position where we are able to do projects funded by reserves rather than taxation."

Library report shows small drop in circulation

The 1999 Minnedosa Regional Library is in its final stages of preparation. According to this year's figures, total library circulation decreased somewhat from 47,486 in 1998 to 46,874 in 1999, although the figures were up from 1997 when total circulation was 46,600.

Although total adult circulation increased, juvenile circulation decreased by 745. Circulation of other language materials also decreased although periodical usage increased somewhat. The Minnedosa Regional Library currently has 19,012 pieces of print material in stock.

Memberships to the Minnedosa Regional Library increased overall in 1999 to 3,150 from 3,114 in 1998, and 2,993 in 1997.

During 1999, the Minnedosa Regional Library was the site of another successful summer reading program. Following the theme of "It's a Whale of a Tale!", the program attracted 166 young readers, who read a total of 3,601 books. In addition to the reading program, the Library also hosted two activity days a week for the children.

The coordinator for the summer reading program, Charlene Everett, volunteered a total of 200 hours at the Library, and in return received a $500 Youth Serves bursary towards her university education, for each 100 hours of service.

Although circulation was down somewhat in 1999, Georgina Johnson, Minnedosa Regional Library, was not overly concerned. Library usage is still high, and she noted that it is no longer just seen as a place to borrow books for pleasure, patrons are increasingly using the facility to fulfil various informational needs.

"There are still many people who use the library for pleasure, but there are more and more people who see the library as a place to come to for information," explained Johnson. "People realize that they can now be connected to the world. Interest in new age medicine and herbals has greatly increased over the past few years, and requests for health information via the internet is steadily on the rise. There is such a variety of requests that we fulfil. Anything from genealogical research, to health matters, poetry, to the Japanese alphabet."

For every request made, library staff sits down at the computer, and search through a provincial data base for related titles. They then follow the step by step process of finding the material and borrowing it for the patron. Prior to internet access, requests were sealed in an envelope and sent on to Brandon. Johnson noted that requests for interlibrary loans and reference material has increased greatly in the past few years.

We got it! Snow and wind on April 5th. The road through R.M.N.Park was closed due to the heavy snow. Today (6th) the sun is shining profusely so that should make the snow disappear.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of Bob Sanderson, whose death occurred in Brandon Hospital on March 29th. Bob was 84 years of age and had spent his last few months at Sandy Lake Care Home. Funeral Service was held at Erickson Lutheran on April 1st.

Thank you to friends and relatives for all the birthday wishes I received on April 1st. Everyone was greatly appreciated. I'm glad I didn't have to pay for all the long distance calls.

Condolences are extended to the Milt Kennedy family on Milt's death last week. His funeral service was held at Dauphin United Church on March 5th. Milt was District Supervisor for Hydro for the Erickson District and after his retirement moved to Onanole.

Jeff and Imeke Kerr enjoyed a two week holiday at IXTAPA, Mexico recently.

COPP's safety tip this week is.....Vehicles are stolen or broke into daily. You can assist by locking your vehicle at all times. Never leave keys in your vehicle and keep attractive items out of sight.

Congratulations to Wilma Jacobson and Abe Braun who were married in Brandon about 3 weeks ago.

The Erickson Women's Institute sponsored a Spring Mosaic Fashion Show at the Erickson Crossroads last week. The twelve local models were as grand as the ladies who attended the academy awards.

Winnie Marcino had her daughter Terri from Poland visiting her last week.

Cathy Furwick attended a Bridal Shower for a relative in Winnipeg last week.

Peter Slobodian, Bill Pietts, Kay Kopeechuk and Len & Vi Zywina who wintered in Weslaco, TX all arrived home safe and sound last week.

Erickson Women's Institute had Catherine Peterson's sister Sandra Rex of Holland, MB, speak to them on the topic of Volunteerism, at their April 5th meeting.

Ev Cooley, Activity Director of Erickson Health Centre and the Auxiliary members are preparing for their annual volunteer appreciation tea.

Ray Christie who has been a patient in Brandon Hospital is to be moved back to Erickson. Kindest regards Mr. Christie.

Our April 5th cribbage winners at Erickson Legion were: 1st Marg Gregorash; 2nd Anne Marie Kingdon; 3rd Patsy Gregorash. Low score honors this week go to Grace Michalchuk.

Jean Chow spent quite a lot of time with her mother who is seriously ill at Virden.

Selma Skoglund is presently in Winnipeg with son Dr. Craig who also is seriously ill.

April is the month for the Annual Cancer Drive. Plans are being made by the local W.I. to canvas our area for this cause. Someone will be calling on you for your donation within the next 3 weeks. Thank you for your support of this worthy cause.

Word has been received of Harold Stitt's Ministerial Appointment to Marquette Regional Health Board for another 3 year term. Congratulations Harold.

Canada's National Parks at a turning point?

by Rick Searle

Our national parks are in peril of becoming phantom parks. A phantom is something apparent to the sense but with no substantial existence; it exists in appearance only. The national parks continue to look beautiful while being bled of wildness which is their defining characteristic. Throughout the system of 39 national parks, species and ecosystems are succumbing to human-caused stresses within, around and well-beyond park boundaries. The growth in development to accommodate everincreasing demands for recreation and tourism; adjacent land-use such as farming, logging and mining; global pressures such as acid rain, climate change and long-range transportation of pollutants--all add up to a "death by a thousand cuts."

In 1998, the federal government responded to this crisis by creating the Panel on Ecological Integrity, consisting of 11 social and natural scientists, to come up with a plan for saving the parks. After more than a year of intensive research and consultation, the Panel publicly presented its report to Hon. Sheila Copps, Minister of Canadian Heritage in Ottawa recently. Although the hefty report contained more than a hundred detailed and complex recommendations, the Minister boldly announced her intention to begin implementing all of them as quickly as possible.

What do the recommendations call for? Nothing less than profound change. "We must learn how to be responsible for our parks and for the broader landscape that surrounds them," stated the Panel. For Parks Canada, it means making the maintenance of ecological integrity "job one" for all of its staff. This will require an organizational transformation from "a culture of business and recreation" to "a culture of conservation" grounded in an ecologic ethic that respects and honours the inherent worth of nature.

However, the job of caring for the national parks is too big for Parks Canada alone. "Maintenance and restoration of ecological integrity can only be achieved when park staff, visitors, neighbours and Canadians at large understand and appreciate and take action toward protection and sustainable practices," states the Panel. "Individuals, corporations, communities, organizations and governments must recognize that each has its own special responsibility to protect Canada's wild places."

Why should we take up this responsibility? Reversing the deterioration of our parks is a matter of national pride and honour. We have ranked them as the third most important icon of national identity after the flag and the anthem. In other words, we see them as representing something fundamental to our sense of who we are as Canadians. Perhaps the first commissioner of parks, J.B. Harkin, said it best more than 65 years ago when he described the national parks as "holy places" where "wonder, reverence and the feeling that one is nearer the mystery of things" was inspired. Thus a matter of pride also becomes a matter of spirit. As the Panel made all too clear:

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Patti and Ritchie Peters, Chris and Simon Melvin, Sue and Al Armstrong, Andrea and Rae Fortune with all their families spent two days of the mid-term break camping at Kilman Resort cottages at the Lake of the Prairies. Chad Peters invited Ian Fortune to go with them. They reported having a wonderful time.

"Welcome home to the Snowbirds!" - Bea and Larry Shaw, Jean and Arnold Fortune, and Ethel and Barrie Armstrong, who have all returned from Texas.

Lois and Allan Hyndman enjoyed a few days of mid-term break at Yorkton.

Graeme and Mildred Shaw spent a few days (in the last week of March) in Victoria, BC, were Graeme participated in a hockey tournament with the Victoria Traditionals 70+ team. While there, they enjoyed visits with Graeme's uncle and two cousins.

Kevin Haggarty attended a Pee Wee hockey skills camp at Shilo from Friday to Sunday, March 24 - 26.

Sheri Crighton and daughters Shanyce and Micaela from Winnipeg spent from Thursday to Sunday with Myrtle Crighton in Hamiota. While they were here, we were able to take in the Winter Fair in Brandon. The girls enjoyed watching the horses, birds of prey and the wonder dogs. They also really enjoyed the petting zoo.

We also went to Minnedosa where we toured the "Castle Bed & Breakfast". It is quite an interesting place, with many rooms, great views of Minnedosa and underground tunnels. The new owners Mr. & Mrs. Darrell Graham design stained glass windows, garden stones, sun catchers, etc. which Sheri is interested in.

George sez: "The last fight was my fault. My wife asked "What's on T.V." and I said "Dust"!

RCMP Question & Answer

1) What is the fine for not wearing a seatbelt?

The fine for failing to wear a seatbelt in Manitoba is currently $74.00. Many people, however, do not know that the driver of a motor vehicle can also be held responsible for any passengers under the age of 18 years who fail to wear their seatbelts. The fine for allowing a passenger under 18 years of age to ride without a seatbelt is $74.00, as well. So what should you do if your friends or children refuse to wear their seatbelts when you are the driver? I would suggest that, unless you want to be held accountable, you ask them to get out of the vehicle.

2) Can someone drive a motorized wheelchair on the road?

A wheelchair falls under the definition of "motorized mobility aid" in the Highway Traffic Act. According to the HTA, a motorized mobility aid is a device which is manufactured for the operation by a physically handicapped person, and which has a maximum speed capability of no more than 15 kilometres per hour. A person travelling on a motorized mobility aid is classified as a pedestrian, and should use sidewalks where ever possible. However, if a sidewalk is not available, a person on a motorized mobility aid, may travel facing traffic on the left hand side of the road. If using a motorized mobility aid, make yourself visible, and give the right of way to walking pedestrians.

3) What is the fine for fishing without a license?

The current fine for fishing without a license is $147.00, if you are a resident of Canada. Non-residents of Canada are fined $294.00 for fishing without a license.

Canada's National Parks...

"Should national parks become degraded to the point of being indistinguishable from the developed landscapes around them, parks will lose their significance to Canadians. These changes would threaten the very spirit of Canada."

Beyond their importance to our national pride, identity and spirit, the national parks are a concrete expression of the deep and humble recognition that nature is much more than a storehouse of resources waiting to be exploited to satisfy human wants and desires. "All species and systems of nature deserve respect regardless of their usefulness to humanity." argues the Panel. "To ensure the survival of the wildlife and wild places that Canadians cherish, we must require that our institutions that have potential to affect nature show a basic respect for nature, natural processes, and a genuine commitment to coexist with all living things."

Hence, there are profound moral, ethical and spiritual reasons why Canadians should heed the Panel's call for greater responsibility. Beginning immediately, all of us need to become informed about the crisis confronting our national parks and about the recommendations of the Panel. Then we will be in a much better position to hold the government and Parks Canada accountable for the changes they are called upon to make, and to make the necessary changes in our own affairs. Our national parks represent a sacred trust with Creation. Let us not break it.

Outdoor Living with 4-H

by Brenda Dowsett

William Kingdon and Carl Bartel are participating in the 4-H project called Outdoor Living. The boys choose this project because they enjoy learning about the outdoors and with this project they also get to work outdoors. The two boys meet on a regular basis with their parents who are also the project leaders.

So far the boys have kept very busy. They have made both animal tracks and leaf plaques out of plaster. They made first aid kits and learned how to use the articles if necessary. Along with making useful kits the boys have made multi-purpose rain ponchos. The boys found that learning to tie a variety of knots was challenging.

Carl and William are having a great time and are looking forward to their outdoor trip where they get to put their new compass skills to work. Congratulations to the boys for working hard and having fun in the great outdoors.

Paul Martin puts Provinces over the oil barrel... No Questions Asked

Ottawa and the provinces had a small skirmish last week and we're not talking about health care. Finance Minister Paul Martin mused to the national press that he would be willing to cut the federal excise tax (currently at 10 cents per litre) if the provinces would join him and cut their provincial fuel taxes.

Not a single provincial finance minister responded in any affirmative or encouraging manner. Manitoba Highways Minister Steve Ashton pleaded poverty. "We don't have the oil revenues that Alberta has." Meanwhile, the province did not hesitate to go on a hiring frenzy in the past three months and award over 350 new bureaucratic jobs.

But by far the most ludicrous response came from Ontario Premier Mike Harris (where fuel taxes run at 14.7 cents a litre, higher than the national average), who managed to flatly turn down Martin's offer. And then in the same breath, Mr. Harris launched an unprompted tirade about potential price gouging by "big oil."

(Note to provincial Tory bagmen in Ontario: stroke oil companies off your spring solicitation list).

It was a stroke of masterful politics on the part of Mr. Martin. His offer to simply discuss the potential of cutting gas taxes if the provinces bought on, the moon was full, and the Sun was in the sign of Orion, blah, blah, blah ... positioned him as the good guy.

With their refusal to book plane tickets to come to Ottawa to even discuss the issue, the provinces came off looking like tax greedy despots with no sympathy for beleaguered and enraged motorists.

To top it all off, Mr. Martin also noted the provinces collect the lion's share of taxes at the pumps (except for Alberta), which only served to reinforce the "greedy" perception which quickly set in.

In the 24 to 36 hours that this story had legs, some key questions were never asked by opposition MPs or provincial finance ministers. Even the Ottawa press corps - which is usually more skeptical and attuned to political jostling - seemed to look at the issue with rose-coloured glasses.

Here's what should have been asked.

Q: Why does Paul Martin need a coordinated federal-provincial strategy to cut gas taxes? He didn't ask their permission before he cut income taxes in the recent budget. And he didn't check with them a few years back when the federal excise tax was hiked from 8.5 cents to 10 cents a litre.

Q: Speaking of the excise tax, the 1.5 cent increase was a measure to aid in the reduction of the deficit. With memories of the deficit (remember when?) disappearing faster than HRDC can lose a billion dollars, why is the excise tax at 10 cents a litre?

Q: Back to the provinces, will Mr. Martin wait for all ten to get on board before acting? Or will he revisit this issue if one or more provinces change their tune? Will he negotiate gas tax cuts for provinces that wish to cut their provincial fuel tax? This bilateral approach was used to hike tobacco taxes in several provinces, surely it can be employed to cut gas taxes.

Q: Why are the feds allowed to get away with ripping off Canadian motorists? Ottawa collects almost $5 billion a year in excise taxes from the pumps yet returns only 6% of this money to the provinces for road construction. And why didn't any provincial officials raise Cain about the GST collected on the total pump price? It's a tax on a purchase but also a tax on a tax.

Paul Martin put the provinces over the proverbial barrel. Their pathetic response made it look as though he was shooting fish in a barrel as well.

Meanwhile, taxes still account for 43% of the pump price even when gas is selling for 70 cents a litre. It's highway robbery!

- Victor Vrsnik and Walter Robinson

Let's Talk Taxes is a weekly commentary provided to media outlets by the Manitoba Division of the Canadian Taxpayers Federation (CTF).

Liberals short change Manitoba farmers

Dauphin-Swan River Canadian Alliance MP Inky Mark says farmers in Western Manitoba have again "got the short end of the stick"- to coin a phrase. Mark was reacting to the recent Liberal Government decision not to cover certain losses, incurred by Manitoba producers in the 1999 spring flood.

"This is another slap in the face to Manitoba farmers. They were assured during the Prime Minister's task force on the four Western provinces, that they would be taken seriously. Liberal Chairman John Harvard even recognized Western Canadians have been brushed off in the past, and promised changes. Obviously, nothing has changed," Mark stated.

The Manitoba Government received a letter from Art Eggleton, the minister responsible for emergency preparedness, to state that losses like weed control, loss of applied fertilizer, and forage restoration would not be covered.

"This just amplifies the animosity between Western and Eastern Canada. Why are ice storms in Ontario and Quebec treated differently under disaster assistance rules? How many task forces are needed for this government to get it right?" Mark added.

Mark says he's disappointed the recommendations from the task force entitled " A View from the West: Toward a Stronger National Agenda", have already gone South. He adds, Eggleton will be appearing before the Standing Committee on Agriculture on May 2nd, and he will certainly be on the defensive.

TCS Topics

Staff and students are back at the grind and on the home stretch now. These last three months seem to go the fastest with festival, track, band, and all the other year end activities that take place here at TCS. Over the break the folks from Westbran of Brandon installed a new playground structure which has been put to the test already and seems to be quite popular. Cal, Bruce, Martha, Hazel and Patrick have done a great job of cleaning the school over the break and we would ask students to keep taking their shoes off at the door to help keep the school clean.

The TCS school bands will be performing at the Rivers Festival at Rivers on the afternoon of Tuesday April 11 and the choirs will be performing on Thursday with the boys' choir and the 4-8 choir in the morning and the 2/3 choir in the afternoon.

The TCS Parent Advisory Council meeting will be held this week. The topics for this meeting Special Needs funding and awards and rewards that are handed out in the school.

The local Royal Purple / Elks club and their members presented students in grades 4, 5 and 8 with prizes from their essay and poster contest that promote the campaign against drinking and driving. The TADD group from MCI also held a poster contest and the top prize went to Bobby Paziuk from grade 8.

There will be no school this Friday as it is a Professional Development day for staff. The staff will spend the morning working with the divisional staff in the area of Technology and the afternoon will be spent evaluating this years' school plan and finalizing next years' plan.

Green thumbs and sturdy backs

Many people garden because it is a relaxing and satisfying activity. Well guess what? This pastime can also be great for your physical fitness! With all the raking, digging, pushing and pulling involved in gardening, this activity works a variety of muscles while strengthening bones.

The Canadian Physiotherapy Association and its almost 10,000 members want to share some helpful hits with gardeners during National Physiotherapy Week, which runs April 9 to 15, 2000.

Gardeners have a tendency to overwork themselves in their garden and end up nursing a sore back at the end of their hard day of work. Aches and pains often result from poor positioning of the body, poor gardening techniques and overuse of specific muscle groups. It has been discovered that the most common gardening injury occurs at the lumbar spine. This lower region of the back bears the brunt of prolonged and repetitive forward bending and lifting.

Here are some friendly tips to ensure that your gardening is great for both your body and soul:

Begin your gardening with a nice light warm-up. Start with some easy raking or go for a five-minute walk to raise your heart rate and warm up your muscles. Follow this with stretching of all the major muscle groups in order to minimize muscular aches and pains and help prevent injury. Extra time should be devoted to stretching the muscles of your back, neck, hands and fingers. Ask your physiotherapist to show you some stretches that will be beneficial while gardening.

Be aware of your posture and body mechanics to help minimize the strain on your body. When sweeping, mulching, or even potting, move your feet instead of twisting at the spine. If it is not possible to avoid twisting, tighten your stomach muscles in order to protect your back. When lifting or unloading, use your legs rather than your back to move those heavy pots and bags of fertilizer. Bend your knees, keep your back straight and hold the object as close as possible to your body in order to prevent any unnecessary strain on your back.

Use ergonomically-correct tools. Give your back, legs and knees a break from stooping and kneeling. Buy tools with long handles to help with the weeding (e.g. the Gold Digger). Build a potting bench that is at a height that will prevent unnecessary bending. Sit on the ground in order to trowel without bending over or when kneeling use padding for the knees to avoid putting excessive and prolonged pressure on them. Wear gardening gloves to protect your hands from getting cuts, ripped nails and cracks caused by dryness.

Pace yourself. Gardeners tend to do too much in too short a period of time. It is important to take intermittent breaks accompanied by gentle stretching of the muscles and ligaments in your back in order to decrease the risk of injuring them. Again, ask your physiotherapist to explain and demonstrate some appropriate stretches that you can carry out. Repetitive use of a specific muscle or muscle group can cause injury. By varying your gardening activities you will allow for different muscles to be worked, thus decreasing the chances of straining muscles that are frequently used. Combine pruning with spreading compost and hoeing in order to minimize the aches and pains you might otherwise feel in the muscles of your upper arms.

Be smart in the sun. Time flies when you're having fun and before you know it you may be as red as a lobster. Wear a large brimmed hat and use sunscreen to protect yourself from being sunburned. Be sure to replenish yourself with water and work in the shade as much as possible to prevent dehydration and sun stroke.

Eye on MCI

by Brenda Dowsett & Derek Horner

Students at MCI have returned back to school after a wonderful springbreak. Exam week took place from April 3 - April 7. Students worked hard to be successful in their midterm exams.

Junior and senior badminton and rugby are well underway, while track and fastball are just around the corner. Students involved in these sports are going to have a very busy spring.

Grads at MCI have been getting prepared for prom and safegrad. They have a fundraiser at the Co-op service station on Saturday, April 15th, please come out and help support the grads of 2000.

Grade 11 students returned this week from co-op education. All had many great experiences, and would like to thank all businesses that helped make this program a success.

Parent/Teacher interviews are on April 13th in the evening and during the day on April 14th.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

Gentle Persuasion: Take time to walk in the country; spend some time alone to think; Sometimes step back from doing and talking, and let somebody else have a chance.

Elaine and Allison Fisher of Dauphin were visitors of Blanche English, Sunday, March 26.

Irene Marks of Newdale was pulpit supply on the Fourth Sunday of Lent. Thoughts were based on Old Testament Scripture of the wilderness journey of Moses to the Promised Land. A bronze snake is lifted up and any who looked upon it were healed of poisonous bites. The New Testament tells that God has brought us to life, from death and has given us good works to do. The greatest and most powerful reading from the Gospel of John is the great invitation of life...."God so loved the world that He gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life". All those attending remained for lunch and fellowship hour. Hostesses were Phyllis Tolton and Shirley Pederson.

April birthday song was sung for Chris Tolton, Eric Lamb and Hilda Davies.

Several from Newdale attended the Brandon Winter Fair last week. From reports were favourites on the 16-6 horses team, pig scramble, super dogs race, calf scramble, barrel racing and the food. A good fair all around.

Graham & Shirley Switzer arrived home Monday, April 3rd after a 5 month holiday in Texas and area.

Visiting their Aunt Jean Irwin on April 2nd were Grace, Kyle and Karwin McLean from Strathclair.

Ivy Ray returned home April 3rd, having spent two and a half months in Victoria and Surrey, BC.

Newdale Lion's Club is accepting donations from the Newdale Community to assist the Derek and Kim Patterson family. Their six month old son, Jamie requires immediate heart surgery in Toronto. Donations will be used to offset costs not covered by Medicare. All funds collected will be forwarded directly to the family. Please leave donations before April 20, 2000 at the Newdale Co-op store.

Twenty members and visitors of the Newdale Horticultural Society met at Harrison House on April 4th at 7 p.m. to hear Mary Dreidger of Patmore Nursery speak on Container Gardening. Mary planted a planter to show the use of different plants one can use. She also explained the user do's and don'ts of planting. Mary had ready hanging baskets along with other articles on display and explained about each one. Everyone enjoyed Mary's presentation. After a question period and lunch and more questions, everyone went home with new ideas on container planting. Lois Hyndman arranged for the speaker and much appreciation to her, to the lunch committee and to those attending. This is sponsored by the Newdale Horticultural Society.

The ninth whist party of the season was held in the Newdale Drop-in-centre on March 24th. There were three tables of cards. Prize winners were: Ladies high - Ida Bradley; Ladies 2nd - Eileen Bradley; Travelling - Shirley Pederson; Mens High - Leonard Bradley; Men's 2nd - Reinie Keinas; Travelling - Reinie Keinas. Lunch and a social time concluded the evening.

Newdale 4-H Club

(Club Reporter - Leanne Baker)

The Newdale 4-H Club had a meeting on April 3rd at 7:30 p.m. in the Newdale United Church. The pledge was recited and twelve members answered the Roll Call. The minutes of the Feb. 7th meeting and the Treasurer's report were given by Nicole Tolton. Codie Baker gave a speech and presentation of "A Horse Bridle", Ericka Robinson spoke on (PPG-Prince Phillips Games) "Pony Vaulting" and Leanne Baker's speech was entitled "Dogs".

Our Club will be doing Highway Clean-up on May 13th (raindate May 27th). We will also serve the men's Curling Club Supper on April 5th. Achievement will be on April 15th at the Newdale Hall. Doors will open at 3:30 p.m. Come out and see our projects!

Newdale Happy Gang

Eleven seniors answered the RollCall at Harrison House on a cool, windy evening of April 5th. Olive Waddell Pres. welcomed everyone which was followed by a reading on "April" by Doreen Kienas. Minutes and Treas. report given by Ida Bradley. Olive reported on the Seniors meeting in Brandon April 13. There's to be an Essay Contest on "Why Canada is worth saving" for all ages. A safety driving course is to be held in Minnedosa. Plans were discussed for a Happy Gang Float for the Newdale Parade on July 22nd. Our wind-up for the season will be May 10th. Whist was played for the rest of the evening. Winners: Ladies - Doreen Kienas; Gents - Boyd Waddell. A delicious lunch prepared by Doreen Kienas and Olive Waddell was enjoyed over a time of visiting.

Frontier changes locations

Frontier Trading Store and Frontier Employment Services has changed location from the Meyers Norris Penny building to the former location of Tanner's General Store at the north end of main street.

The Trading Store has expanded from carrying just used sporting goods to include previously used books, movies, CDs, gently used clothing, miscellaneous articles, and crafts created by participants in the employment services program. The store will accept consignment of clothing, CDs and movies, and welcomes donations of any kind.

The store provides a retail training outlet for participants of the Frontier Employment Services program. The program provides supported employment for cognitively or physically disabled individuals, in addition to job coaching, mentoring and training. There are currently eight participants in the program who are employed throughout the community.

Odd Fellow & Rebekah News

Marion Brugger hosted the February meeting of the Wandah Ladies Club where all enjoyed games of cards and a delicious lunch.

The March 2nd meeting of Deborah Rebekah Lodge ended in the celebration of two members birthdays; Zella Twigge's 80th & Ivy Cornish's 90th. Both held their own special cakes with candles and Ivy was joined by her son Dorne & wife Lorraine, B.C., sister Eva Shelvey, Brandon, & nephew Ernest Shelvey and his wife Bertha of Rivers.

The Annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba & Rebekah Assembly of Manitoba were held at The International Inn, Winnipeg, March 12-16. The week consisted of Theta Rho Girls Clubs performing on Sunday evening, Rebekah Degree, Introduction of Dignitaries, Memorial Service and two days of business. Members of Deborah Rebekah Lodge conducted the memorial service in a very dignified manner. Welcomed to the sessions were Arthur Craig, Deputy Sovereign Grand Master from Washington and Hazel Moore, Vice President of the International Association Rebekah Assemblies, New Brunswick as our special guests. Other dignitaries were from Saskatchewan, Alberta, North Dakota, Minnesota and New Jersey. We are very proud to have two from District #14 in office, namely Joyce Simms, Naomi #6 Brandon, Assembly President and Hazel Andrew, Crescent #24, Souris as Warden of the Rebekah Assembly. Two appointed officers are Laverne Christianson, Brandon, Marshall and Bernice Dmytriw, Rapid City, Inside Guardian of the Rebekah Assembly of Manitoba. Attending the sessions from Deborah #9 were, Thelma Andersen, Chaplain, Vivian Sharpe, representative, Audrey Ashton, D.D.P. Helen Blake, Barbara & Llyall Wilson, Lloyd Shelvey & Steve Wilson. Our District Deputy President for the year 2000-2001 is Ella Courtice, Naomi #6, Brandon.

The March meeting of the Wandah Ladies Club was held Thursday, March 30 at the home of Ferne Horner. After a game of cards, we packed up our lunch and spent the remainder of the afternoon with Agnes Baker and enjoyed our lunch visiting with her.

Canton Manitoba #2 and Ladies Auxiliary met in Odd Fellows Corner Sunday, March 26. The ladies have been asked to perform an item for the Annual Rally at Clear Lake in June. Plans were made for the Annual meeting which is to be held April 8 in Devils Lake, North Dakota. A basket of fruit was taken to Don McNabb when he was a patient in the hospital. All enjoyed pot luck supper before returning home.

The dangers of tongue piercing

April is dental health month and an ideal time to remind you that if you put any type of foreign object in your mouth, you're in danger of causing some serious damage to your teeth and gums.

While it may be a new form of expression, piercing the tongue, cheek and lips can have painful, damaging and even fatal consequences.

Piercing tissues of the mouth and oral cavity with rings, small metal barbells or other objects can cause permanent damage to different parts of the mouth. Objects close to the teeth and checks can cause fractures to the teeth and can damage both the teeth and check tissues. Piercing the tongue can result in permanent numbness, loss of taste or movement if a nerve is accidentally pierced. Because the tongue has many veins, persistent bleeding or an immovable clot in this region could produce a life-threatening clog in a vessel. Lips can remain inflamed and enlarged, and permanent secretion of fluid (i.e. drooling) can result from damage to the salivary gland ducts.

Before having your tongue, cheek or lips pierced consider the effects. It is not only dangerous to your teeth and gums, but it can also cause changes in your eating habits and subsequently, affect your overall health.

HOCKEY NEWS

Minnedosa Bombers Major Atom

With the spring like weather we have been having it's time for hockey season to come to an end, and so the hockey reports go the way of the snow.

Feb. 28 we played host to Elkhorn for what turned out to be our final playoff game. It was an excellent game. Elkhorn came out strong and posted a 5-2 victory to oust us from the playoffs.

Goals scored by Kevin Dexter, Brandi Pollon, Michael Coutts 2A, Rick Cooper 1A.

The following weekend we were off to provincials in Lundar. We have a new player added to our roster and her name is Jamie Patterson. Jamie is new to Minnedosa and will be playing with the team next year as well. We also had Brook Bayes accompany us to Provincials and appreciated his talents. Matt Wahoski and Kyle Moffat shared the goal tending duties and did a fine job. On Friday morning March 3rd we headed into round robin play against Portage la Prairie. The kids played fantastic and we took our first win of the tournament. Thomas Birch 2G; Brenden Brown 2G; Shane Jury 3G, 1A; Rob Wozney 1G, 2A; Cody Pollon 2A; John Braschuk 1A; Jamie Patterson 2A; Andrew Richards 1A.

Saturday morning our 2nd game in the round robin was against Cross Lake. It was another great game with our team taking the victory 3-1. Rick Cooper 1G; Thomas Birch 1G; Brook Bayes 1G.

We were ranked 3rd after round robin play narrowly missing 2nd. This put us up against Ste. Anne later on Saturday. We had another fantastic game but Ste. Anne took the victory with a 4-2 score. Thomas Birch 1G; Shane Jury 1G; Brook Bayes 1A.

All the kids played excellent hockey in the provincials and should certainly be commended for their effort.

Our final game of the season was in WayWayseecappo. We had a bit of a change for the kids and our goal tender for the evening was Andrew Richards. Good job for your first time between the pipes. We posted a win of 9-5. Minnedosa goals were: Matt Wahoski 1G; Thomas Birch 3G; Rob Wozney 1G; Brenden Brown 2G; and Shane Jury 2G. Our coaches and managers are certainly proud of their players this year not only in their skill improvement but also in their sportsmanship. See you next season.

Driving course for seniors to be offered in Minnedosa

Many older adults find that their driving skills change as they age, as have the traffic patterns and the rules of the road. This does not mean they should hang up their keys and go the route of "Driving Miss Daisy." The 55 Alive Mature Driving Program developed by the Canada Safety Council helps older adults update their skills and learn how to compensate for age related factors. Creative Retirement Manitoba coordinates the program in Manitoba, with instructors throughout the province. Minnedosa and District Services to Seniors is hosting a course in early May.

Older adults typically drive fewer kilometers than their younger counterparts, and when this is factored into their accident rate, they match the accident rate of 18-24 year olds. However, the type of accident is very different. Older drivers are over represented in violations for failure to obey traffic signs and signals, failure to yield the right of way, improper turns (particularly left turns) and illegal passing. Ironically studies also indicate elderly people fail to recognize age-related declines in driving ability. They overestimate their own driving skills and underestimate the dangers of driving.

Many accidents by mature drivers take place at night-time or dusk, when the eyes are adjusting to dim light. Ninety percent of all driving decisions are based on what you see. As we age, our eyes let in less light and take longer to adjust to the dark-three times longer at age 70 than 25. We may also have problems differentiating some colours. Cataracts can also hamper the older driver's eye sight, as does reduced peripheral vision. Drivers over 65 years of age have to be one-third to one-quarter closer to read road signs than 25 year old drivers (American Medical Association).

The 55 Alive Mature Driving course helps seniors refresh their driving skills. It shows how age related factors affect driving and how to compensate for them. The 7 1/2 hour course is held in the classroom and does not include any tests that affect their driver's license. It is an interactive course, giving participants an opportunity to share their experiences and concerns.

In Memoriam

Horner - In loving memory of our daughter and sister Wendy Horner who passed away suddenly on April 14, 1999. We love you Wendy and miss you so much. Rest in Peace. Mother & Ken, Judy & Jim, Wayne, Doreen & family. x (C6)

Scott - In loving memory of a dear father, George, who passed away April 8, 1982.

I do not need a special day
To bring you to my mind
The days I do not think of you
Are very hard to find
I am thankful for the time we shared Memories hold you near Though absent, you will always be Loved, missed, and very dear.

Lovingly remembered by son, Barry. x (C6)

Obituary

Donald Ernest Merkley

Donald Ernest Merkley was born September 12, 1929 in Dundas County, Iroquois Ontario and passed away on March 16, 2000 at his home in Rapid City. Don is survived by his loving wife Betty, daughter Doris and friend Phillip of Clanwilliam, son Brian and wife Laura of Medicine Hat, Alberta and daughter Nicole of Rapid City. Grandchildren: Billy Jack, Ashley, Quinnten, Shannon, Taryn and Robert. Don's brother Fred of St. Catharine's, Ontario, brother Lee and wife Florence of Luneberg, Ontario and sister Isabel and husband Ken of Napanee, Ontario and many aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

Don was predeceased by his father John, his mother Nellie (last November at 99 years), brother George and daughter Cindy Lee.

Don began working when he was 14. At 15 he was working on the Great Lakes between Thunder Bay and Quebec, prior to joining the Merchant Marines he worked for Ontario Hydro where he sustained a very serious injury and was hospitalized for a lengthy period.

Don came west to work as a harvester and then at the Brandon Woollen Mills where he met and later married Irene Betty McCort of Brandon on June 27, 1953. Apart from one year in the east, Don and Betty have lived in the Brandon and Rapid City area for 47 years. Don spent 17 years at Smith Lumber, Brandon and 33 years Bee-Keeping.

Funeral service for Don was held Tuesday, March 21, 2000 at 2:00 p.m. at the Rapid City United Church with Rev. Boyd Drake officiating. Interment followed at Rapid City Cemetery. If friends so desire, Memorial donations may be made to the Canadian Diabetes Association. Sparrow Funeral Service of Minnedosa was in care of arrangements.

Skateboard Association asks Town for assistance

By Nancy Chemerika

Mark Thompson and Jason Treloar, representing the Minnedosa Skateboard Association, attended last Tuesday's Council meeting to request assistance in their goal of developing a local skateboard park.

Initially the Minnedosa Skateboard Association, which has about 30 members, hoped to develop a park on the CPR property located at the site of the former Alfalfa Mills. The Association's request that CPR lease the land to the Town of Minnedosa for use by the local skateboard enthusiasts, was recently denied.

The MSA's new proposal involved establishing a permanant skatepark in the northeast end of town at the Kinsmen Park site. If approved, the site could potentially host a 60' by 100' concrete slab, in addition to providing a safe, convenient, and accessible location. The delegation noted that the existing lighting at the site would allow skaters to use the facility until the early evening hours.

The MSA has received a quote from Prairie Concrete of $7,200 for cement and materials to build the slab. With using volunteer labour, additional fundraising and grants, the MSA estimated that preparation, labour, and finishing would cost approximately $2,000.

The MSA requested that the Town allow them to use an approximate 60'by 100' area in the existing Kinsmen park, and contribute funds for the slab totalling $7,200.

After some discussion, Council agreed to table the matter pending further information and consultation with the involved parties.

Planning Scheme Amendment

Mayor Drebit and two members of Council were authorized to attend the Yellowhead Highway Association Annual Conference in Winnipeg, May 25 to 27. Mayor Drebit is also a director of the Yellowhead Highway Association.

The Minnedosa Parks and Recreation Board submitted a repayment plan of $400 per year over the next 10 years to Council for the well installed at the cabin area.

By-law 2421 being a by-law to close a portion of 1st SE, was given first reading by Council. By-law 2419, being a by-law to amend the Minnedosa District Planning Scheme was also given first reading. The by-law involves rezoning two lots in the north east corner of town from RA (suburban), to R2 (residential). Approval for subdivision of this property was given last year.

Council supported a motion brought forth by Councillor Trott to support the Minnedosa Kinsmen in their proposal to rebuild a playground in the northwest corner of town. Council agreed to match funds contributed by the Kinsmen to the project to a maximum of $6,000.

Council will be contacting the local RCMP to provide the Town with a definitive statement regarding by-law enforcement.

Library report...

"In 1999 our patrons challenged our abilities with 2028 reference questions. During the year we had 192 interloan requests from other libraries and we borrowed 229 titles," stated Mrs. Johnson.

Johnson added that the planned 2,400 square foot addition to the existing library is expected to greatly increase the requests for information from the community, and the ease with which they will be resolved. In addition to an ecology centre, archives, and enhanced children's area, the expanded facility will also include an expanded technology centre. The technology centre is expected to house five computers with internet access, versus the one currently in use.

"All aspects of the addition are expected to increase traffic in the facility. It will be an exciting time for the Minnedosa Regional Library," concluded Johnson.

Work on the Millennium Addition is expected to begin this summer and conclude during the fall or winter of 2000.

22 year old male stabbed at Erickson

At about 2:30 a.m., on April 7th, members of the Yellowhead RCMP Detachment were called to investigate an incident in Erickson, Manitoba, where a 22 year old male subject was stabbed with a knife.

At the present time, a 22 year old male is in custody and investigation is continuing.

AG SECTION

Minnedosa Agricore elevator has busy opening month

After more than a year of construction, the newest addition to the growing Agricore fleet of newage elevators located in Minnedosa has completed its first month of operation and elevator manager Craig Holmes is more than pleased with both the performance of the facility and the handle.

"During our first month of operation", stated Holmes, "we put over 14,000 gross tonnes through the facility. That includes Canola, wheat and barley." It was the area covered, though, that seemed to really impress the employees of the new facility, as grain has been hauled in from areas as far away as St. Rose to the north and Harte, located south of Brookdale.

Cleanor operator Owen Bryce keeps a close eye on the operations from a computer terminal that monitors every facet of the operation underway.

Since opening, 65 rail cars have passed through the operation with operators expecting another 25 to be put through this past Friday.

The facility employs two cleaner operators, a grain manager, elevator manager, producer services representative and an assistant elevator manager as well as receptionist. As the handle increases, additional employees may be added to the staff.

One of the most efficient elevators thus far opened, the cleaning facility is the most impressive with no less than seven separate grain cleaning systems in place.

Owen Bryce is one of the cleaner operators and indicated that the throughput in the cleaners will max out at about 3,000 bushels per hour once the facility is running at its optimum speed. The cleaning tolerance in the new facility is less than a tenth of one per cent making the final product ready to be loaded directly onto ships at the other end with no further handling of the grain.

"This allows added incentive in the form of an income increase to the producers", stated Bryce. "Before, rail cars had to be shunted around at the far end of the line in order to put the grain through the cleaning facilities at the docks. Now, that step is eliminated and that allows for reduced costs to the shippers and added incentives to the producers and elevators."

One new innovation in particular is the efficiency of the fusarium cleaner which allows the unwanted particles to be separated from the grain before shipping. "This allows us to give the producer a better grade than we were able to previously. That is another bonus with using this facility," stated Bryce.

In all, the facility beats the old and antiquated elevator system hands down with operators now controlling every facet of the operation from computer terminals.

Has the new elevator technology reached its full potential? Owen Bryce, who recently transferred to the Minnedosa elevator from Strathclair, believes that it must be close. "I don't know what else can be done to make the system more efficient", he states. "It sure beats the old elevators in every way I can think of. It will take us six hours to fill the 25 cars we expect in Friday. Before, it was one car per hour at best".

The railways like the system as well and have gone to great lengths to see that the new high-throughput elevators are served with the greatest amount of cars in the quickest possible time. Unfortunately for the older and slower elevators, the pressure is on in what can only best be described as a losing battle against the new faster and more efficient technologies.

This could not be more aptly demonstrated as this past week, Minnedosa witnessed the destruction of the UGG elevator, one that had graced the skyline for almost forty years. How long will it be before photographs will be the only reminder of those heady days when six or eight elevators were strung along the rail lines of every prairie town.

Website Empowers Tech-Savvy Growers

Vancouver, BC - Statcom Limited gives oat and canola farmers free access to vital market information, designed to improve their profitability.

The two websites - www.oatgrower.com and www.growcanola.com - offer Canadian growers valuable, timely information on prices, production and trade data; weather and agronomic data; market analysis; news affecting crops - even marketing advice.

These new websites are unique because of their focus on delivering information-rich current data about oat and canola markets in particular. These are services that two of Canada'a leading grain companies believe will be valued by the producers they serve.

"Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and AgPro Grain are committed to providing Canadian producers with access to marketing services that help them build their business success," says Steve Schuetz, Senior Merchandiser at the Pool. "Initiatives like Statcom's new oat and canola grower sites provide Canadian producers with instant digital access to the latest market information, which means they are better positioned to improve the profitability of their operations."

Agricore's marketing manager Randy Cook says putting marketing information and prices on Statcom's sites makes good sense. "We know that more and more growers are turning to the Statcom sites for current statistics and agronomic information. We hope they'll follow the link of Agricore's site and contact us to arrange for marketing contracts."

According to Statcom president Randy Strychar, access to better information, combined with expert analysis, significantly narrows the information gap between large grain companies and the average Canadian farmer.

"We collect information from hundreds of global sources that impact Canadian growers and make it easily available. Our websites are commodity-specific-www.oatgrower.com is dedicated to oat growers and www.growcanola.com is dedicated to canola growers. Each gives growers a clear, concise and professional analysis of all the factors that affect their crops, which substantially evens the playing field between large companies and individual farmers."

Canadian farmers are quickly adapting to the Internet and taking full advantage of its applications. A fall 1999 Angus Reid study found that one in three Canadian farmers regularly uses the Internet.

Farmers with Internet access can log onto Statcom's websites at any time to check the latest market news. After checking the local weather forecast and soil conditions, they can also find marketing advice on a variety of factors that affect their crops, plus price information and analysis that helps them make informed decisions.

"What I like about oatgrower.com is the fact that it's all oat-related information and it's all on one website," says Will Groeneveld, President of the Prairie Oat Growers Association. "You can get information such as daily oat commentaries, future prices and actual cash prices at local mills and elevators. I would definitely recommend that oat growers visit this website."

Statcom (www.statcom-online.com) is the world's largest provider of oat and canola information. With contact and data gathered from around the globe, Statcom brings information to clients quickly, concisely and in a user-friendly format.

Agricore (www.agricore.com) provides fully integrated marketing and handling services through its prairie-wide network of elevators plus a full range of agronomic inputs, supplies and services through agro-centres across western Canada.

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool (www.swp.com) is Canada's largest publicly traded agribusiness co-operative, with annual sales worldwide of close to $3.6 billion. The company's Class B shares are listed on the TSE under the stock symbol SWP.B.

Farmers earning some 'green' by going green

An innovative tax credit program that rewards conservation practices is providing popular with Manitoba farmers and RMs alike. And if the program's success is any indication, it may serve as a model for the next generation of publicly funded environmental initiatives.

Designed to provide tangible incentives for conservation-minded producers, the Environmental Tax Credit Program rewards farmers who are actively practising environmentally friendly stewardship on their land. The reward comes in the form of a $1 per acre reduction on municipal land tax bills.

"Most landowners see taxes as a high priority issue," said Jeff Thiele, soil conservationist with the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA). "This program taps into the desire for tax relief, while promoting a strong conservation ethic."

The pilot project's goal is to preserve soil and water quality, and to maintain existing native habitat. Eligible land cover for the $1 per acre credit includes cropped land with more than 40 per cent crop residue after seeding, tame forage land, native grassland, wetlands, and riparian areas with tree or grass cover within 100 metres of a waterway.

Available in the RMs of Mountain North and Strathcona, the program recognizes and rewards 'ecological services' - the non-traded public goods produced on private land - provided by landowners. Examples of ecological services include practices that preserve native habitat, soil and water quality, and aquifer recharge areas for future generations.

In 1999, the program's first year, 61,000 acres qualified for the credit, representing an impressive 28 per cent of the total privately-owned land base of the two RMs. This year the numbers have swelled, with more than 88,000 acres, or 40 per cent of the land base, expected to be eligible for the credit. The pilot project is expected to run for three years, with a target of 50 per cent of the land base in each RM being protected by the third year. Each RM consists of about 110,000 acres of privately owned land.

The program is the first of its kind to recognize and reward good stewardship of private land, says Thiele. "No system has been developed in this province, or in Canada, to establish the value of ecological services which benefit society as a whole," explained Thiele. "Without some form of compensation for these services, producers will be tempted to make these resources 'pay their own way.' That can mean adopting practices that compromise wildlife habitat, flood control measures, or long-term soil and water quality."

In addition to numerous environmental dividends, Thiele said participating RMs can also expect to see reduced maintenance costs through the life of the program.

Are Soil Conservation Practises Changing?

by Dennis Hauk, District Soil Conservationist, PFRA

Why don't we hear as much about soil conservation as we did 10 to 15 years ago? Are farmers doing a better job of conserving their soil, or are short-term economic issues taking precedence?

Both answers may be true to some extent. However, two important points should be noted. The first is that soil degradation is still a concern. The second is that many producers are being forced to change how they look at soil conservation.

Fifteen years ago, PFRA initiated the first of several soil conservation programs in Saskatchewan. With the co-operation of the provincial government and numerous local farm groups, financial and technical assistance was provided to help producers implement soil conservation practices on their farms. Eligible practices included seeding forages on highly erodible land, planting field shelterbelts and in-crop wind barriers, and reducing tillage. There was a large uptake in these programs, especially when wind erosion became a serious problem during some of the drought years of the late 1980s.

In the early 1990s, when the funding for these programs dried up, significant advances in air seeder technology allowed farmers to implement low disturbance direct seeding on their own. This ultimate form of reduced tillage has been the most significant development in soil conservation over the past 10 years.

Nevertheless, while we have seen a reduction in soil degradation, it still remains a serious concern today. That's because not nearly all land is direct seeded, especially in areas where fallow acreage is still high. Also, with the increased use of pulse and oilseed crops, there is less production of crop residue that protects the soil from erosion. Finally, there remain significant areas that are extrememly susceptible to erosion, such as waterways and knolls.

Further reductions in soil degradation are possible, but new solutions may be required. It could be argued that some of the practices promoted in the 1980s are no longer practical for today's producer. Today's producer manages more acres, and yet has less time and money. Dismal grain prices have forced most to seek off-farm employment for a significant part of the year.

For these producers, acceptable soil conservation practices must not involve a significant investment of time or money. This requirement could exclude annual crop barriers, grassed waterways, manure application on knolls, seeding saline patches to salt tolerant forages, and possibly even field shelterbelts.

There are currently two widely accepted soil conservation practices for producers; direct seeding annual crops, and seeding entire fields to perennial forages. The rate of direct seeding will continue to grow because it is a time saver that actually allows farmers to manage more acres.

We can also expect an increase in the establishment of perennial forages on land that is environmentally or economically marginal for growing annual crops. Environmentally marginal land includes land susceptible to erosion, salinity, drought, or frost. Increasingly, producers will deal with geographically specific problems such as field gullies, saline patches, and eroded knolls by seeding the entire field to forage. Farmers in the brown soil zone who feel that continuous cropping with direct seeding is not feasible due to insufficient moisture, will also increasingly seed the farm to perennial forage.

Ironically, while farmers continue to manage ever larger fields, precision farming technology is providing more detailed information on the differences within individual fields. Acceptable precision farming practices in the future will also require minimal investment in time and money. Variable rate application of inputs that are part of existing seeding and spraying operations may be acceptable, but additional field operations to treat different parts of the field separately will not be widely accepted due to extra time and cost.

At this point, researchers feel we are a long way from applying variable rate inputs like seed and fertilizer, because much of the response to inputs varies from year-to-year depending on the weather. In other words, we need to be able to predict growing season weather before we can effectively vary crop inputs.

It is unfortunate that we seem to have lost a significant number of feasible soil conservation practices. While direct seeding is a power tool, it may not be enough. A good example is the concern with pulse crops that produce very little residue cover for the soil.

It's time for some new ideas.

that good conservation practices reduce soil erosion and flooding problems. Spinoffs from that can reduce road and crossing repair costs, and result in fewer problems with silt build-up in ditches, to provide just a couple of examples."

Funding for the project has been provided by PFRA through the National Soil and Water Conservation Program. Ducks Unlimited Canada, the Northwest Soil Management Association, and the RMs of Mountain North and Strathcona.

Opportunities to expand the program to other RMs and Conservation Districts are also being explored, said Thiele.

"Several other RMs have expressed interest in what we're doing, and are looking into implementing something similar in a year or two."

The program is being evaluated on an ongoing basis to assess savings to the RMs, as well as land use changes, and landowner and public perception. The possibility of delivering other conservation programs through the municipal tax system is also being examined.

Beating Conventional Tillage with a Club

Join the club. That's what a Manitoba environmental group is telling producers interested in converting from traditional farming practices to zero-till.

The Manitoba Zero Tillage Research Association (MZTRA) began the Farm Family Reduced Tillage Club as a way to get producers thinking about their soil management practices. Through the program, MZTRA informs farmers about the advantages of reduced or zero tillage, while getting them to share ideas and experiences with other producers in their community.

Farm family clubs have been set up throughout the province, with groups consisting of traditional and no-till producers. Most clubs have between 10 and 15 members, who decided the group's direction and what they hope to accomplish in their area.

"The clubs are an opportunity for producers to get together and talk about real production issues," said Raelene Ostrom, an extension specialist at MZTRA. "Producers appreciate hearing about what other farmers are doing, and not being told what to do or have industry dealers try and sell them something. These farmers talk about what works and what doesn't work for them. The clubs work because producers hold the opinions of their peers in such high regard."

The first club began in January, 2000 in Mather, southeast of Brandon. Since then, clubs have been popping up everywhere with the membership swelling to 50 farmers. Ostrom describes these clubs as the 'coffee row' in any rural town - an informal and relaxed atmosphere. Most meetings take place at a member's farm and end when the group decides it's time to head back to work.

"For these guys, farming is more of a production system with many interesting factors that come into play, especially when it comes to reduced tillage," Ostrom said. "Most farmers don't think about the different situations that can come up until they happen, which can inevitably affect their end result. By taking part in these clubs and talking about the situations with other farmers ahead of time, they're better prepared to deal with them."

Through this program, initially funded by the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA) through the Canada Agri-Infrastructure Program (CAIP), Ostrom hopes to alleviate any misconceptions farmers have about reduced-till. Zero tillage goes by a number of names, including min-till or minimum tillage, low-seed disturbance, and conservation tillage. In the end, Ostrom said techniques may change slightly with the terminology, but the concept and results remain the same.

Adapting to new technology and the cost of new equipment are other concerns 'old school' farmers have about changing their practices. Most producers and their fathers worked the land a certain way their entire lives, many with a good amount of success. Changing gears now may not make a lot of sense.

"They'll need different seeding equipment, and because of the new computerized systems, many guys will be unsure how to use it," Ostrom said.

This uncertainty can breed hesitation. However, farmers who are successfully using zero-till help overcome this hurdle by discussing its pros and cons at club meetings. As well, club members are taken out to different fields in their district where various tillage practices are used. This way producers can physically see the differences and decide if no-till is good for them and their land.

One farmer who has made the change from conservation to zero-till is Dan Hacault. Hacault, an active member of the Swan Lake family tillage club, along with related groups, has been using zero-till since 1996. After doing research and talking with other farmers about the benefits of zero tillage, the Swan Lake farmer converted his land first to reduced tillage, and then completely over to zero.

"I'm seeding about 1,300 acres of my own land and I do another 2,500 acres of custom seeding besides that," Hacault said, "Zero-till saves labor and fuel costs. We were able to cut back on our machinery investment, while covering a lot more acres."

When the club first began in his area, Hacault said there were very few no-till farmers. Now, just two years later, the club boasts 12 no-tillers with more expected soon. Hacault added, the most beneficial aspect of the club is the networking of ideas and experiences. With such a small district, having someone who is dealing with the same issues as he does helps solve problems quicker.

"What we do when we get together is talk about zero-till, try to disseminate the information and share the things we've learned," Hacault said. "Because we are so close together, the problems I have on my farm are likely going to be the same as the next guy two-to-three miles away and we can solve them together."

Background on Land Management: A New Approach

Staff at DU Canada's Brandon Field Office (BFO) are working to ensure that strong relationships are maintained well into the future with southwest Manitoba producers. Producers have advised DU Canada that they need more on-farm technical support in the establishment of conservation practices that assist in improving overall production, management, and income.

In response, the BFO has initiated a communications strategy designed to improve service delivery and information flow to southwest Manitoba farmers, landowners, and municipalities. Through the strategy, DU Canada is positioning itself as a "Partner in Land Management" to southwest Manitoba producers. This concept recognizes that individual producers are really "land managers," because they have dominion over the parcels they farm. While affected significantly by public policy, global markets, financial trends, and the actions of their neighbours, it is their decisions alone that ultimately determine how their land is used over time.

Land can be managed for many uses - for dryland crops or irrigation; for pasture or feedlot; for wetlands, water quality, or watershed management; for forest products; or for wildlife. And many of these uses are complementary.

Successful land managers will look at the type of land they have, and review its opportunities and limitations before developing a long-term land use plan to achieve their family's quality of life goals. These goals will primarily be financial, although other goals may relate to water supply security, improved soil quality, or esthetics. The Manitoba Farm Planner, developed by Keystone Agricultural Producers, is viewed as an excellent resource in developing a long-term land use plan.

Staff at DU Canada's Brandon Field Office are responsible for program delivery within 48 rural municipalities in southwest Manitoba. Key Program Areas are focused within 14 municipalities north and south of Brandon and served by satellite offices in Minnedosa and Killarney. Program offerings relate to wetland restoration, preservation and management of native grassland, agriculture-conservation land exchanges, conservation easements, research, comprehensive conservation district cooperation, winter wheat promotion, forage option assistance, and an innovative municipal tax credit pilot project.

The Value of Winter Wheat

By Debbie Hysop

Winter wheat acres have increased substantially in Manitoba as producers realize the many benefits of including the crop in their rotation. Winter wheat offers good potential for profit while providing producers with a means of managing risk, a key factor on today's farm. It's also a land management option promoted recently in several winter wheat production seminars held recently throughout agri-Manitoba.

The seminars provided producers with information on topics ranging from agronomics to marketing to land management. They were sponsored by Winter Cereals Canada, Ducks Unlimited Canada, and Manitoba Agriculture and Food, with Manitoba Ag. Reps. providing initial program direction and workshop logistics in nine communities.

Growing winter wheat can be profitable.

Manitoba Agriculture and Food economist Keith Kyle pointed to the crop's yield advantage - up to 30% higher than spring wheat. Even with the price differential compared to spring wheat, he said it's a good alternative. "Down the road, markets will be increasing for winter wheat. And I think it's going to go up in price,' he said, pointing to growing international markets for winter wheat.

Its milling and cooking qualities are suited to the production of flat breads, crackers, oriental noodles, and pizza dough, all growing markets.

Another reason for his optimism is the continuing growth of a strong domestic feed market, due in part to the crop's potential to limit the impact of diseases like fusarium as well as insect damage.

Killarney farmer Kevin Archibald has grown three crops of winter wheat, and is enthusiastic about the domestic feed market potential. "Our hog feeding industry is really taking off here," he said. "We're soon going to be a feed deficit area. One of the challenges has been to grow fusarium free feed grains, and winter wheat holds that promise. If we can grow the bushels per acre, and without fusarium, it should be the feed of choice for hog producers."

In fact, last year, Archibald said he hauled his winter wheat directly from the combine to market, and it all went for hog feed. "That was very good money for us," he added.

Growing winter wheat also spreads out the workload for producers. Seeding a crop in the fall means less land to seed in the spring, which can offer producers the chance to seed more high return cash crops earlier, for optimum yields. It takes some of the pressure off during the traditional harvest time, too.

There's also the potential for lower input costs for the crop at a time when every producer is trying to lower costs.

It doesn't require spraying a wild oat or wild millet herbicide, for example, because it generally just outgrows those weeds in the spring. Resistance to Group 1 herbicides is fast becoming a problem in some areas of the province, and if a producer can grow a crop and not spray it, that's another year the weeds aren't exposed to herbicide.

On the land management front, winter wheat can be a tool in ensuring long term soil health and erosion control. And it benefits wildlife. Seeding into standing stubble provides undisturbed nesting areas in the spring ; the ducks are finished nesting by the time the field is harvested in August, said DU's Kelly Bell. That's another factor that makes the crop a good fit on the Archibald farm. "We do have a goal here of providing a home for wildlife and farming together," said Archibald. "Winter wheat lends itself to that tremendously. I can't remember how many times I've been spraying winter wheat with a boom and seeing duck nests in the field miles from water. If we'd been seeding those fields, those nests would have been ruined."

Your Partner in Land Management

Our world is changing fast, and agriculture is changing with it. Managing your land from year to year is a tremendous challenge. We're helping producers turn this challenge into real and sustained opportunity.

We're DU Canada, your partner in land management. We offer on-farm technical assistance and support in Southwest Manitoba related to:

- managing wetlands and watersheds
- promoting forages and winter crops
- promoting grassland/pasture management
- conserving and managing native grasslands
- exchanging agriculture/conservation land uses
- partnering in research (zero-till research farm)
- landowner partnerships (22 ag organizations)
- negotiating conservation easements
- securing quality wildlife habitat

Ag. Rep. District to receive 6 weather stations

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Ag. Rep. District has benefited from the provinces plan to install almost 400 weather stations across the province over the next three years.

This spring, one automated weather station will be installed in each of the Rural Municipalities of Odanah, Minto, Clanwilliam, Harrison, Saskatchewan, and Park.

Using a variety of sensors and gauges, the weather stations will gather intensive information on weather conditions such as rainfall, temperature, humidity, and soil moisture content. The wireless communications technology will instantly transmit this data back to the Agrometeorological Centre of Excellence (ACE) in Carman, where it will be fed through computer models. Information at the individual weather stations will be updated every 15 minutes, 24 hours a day.

In the case of agriculture application, the information will be used to predict disease risk, pest development, and crop yields in individual growing areas. The intention is that farmers will be able to use pesticides and fertilizers more wisely, avoiding applications when the potential for pest and disease problems is low, and taking action at the optimum time when yield and quality are at risk.

"The information will make it easier to farm better," stated Neil Galbraith, Agriculture Representative. "It will help farmers make better agronomic decisions in the future."

The information will be made available by fax or Internet. For customized field analysis, farmers can pay a subscription fee to receive data from individual weather stations installed on their property.

The local Manitoba Agriculture and Food office is currently in the process of approaching local industry or individual producers to assist with the cost of installing the six stations. Minnedosa Soil Management Association has agreed to pay for one station.

To access information from the weather stations, a yearly subscription of $1,250 must be paid, in addition to a one time fee of $1,550 for the computer software, technical assistance and a password. For an additional fee, disease and insect risk maps can be developed, as well as growing degree maps, that can be accessed daily. There is also an extra cost associated with accessing information on wind speed, wind direction, soil moisture, soil temperature and solar radiation.

The Carman ACE grew out of a provincial pilot project with the potato industry, involving 45 weather stations in vegetable growing areas. In addition to the 400 weather stations to be installed across Manitoba in the next three years, a total of 1,550 stations will be installed across Western Canada, all operated from the Carman Centre.

Ag. Rep. Neil Galbraith examines one of the new weather stations.

Critical components under Disaster Financial Assistance for farmers rejected

Province Asks Federal Cabinet To Review Decision

Agriculture and Food Minister Rosann Wowchuk and Highways and Government Services Minister Steve Ashton, minister responsible for the Manitoba Emergency Management Organization (MEMO), expressed their profound disappointment with a decision by Art Eggleton, federal minister of national defence and minister responsible for emergency preparedness, to refuse to cover certain losses, including weed control, loss of applied fertilizer and forage restoration, incurred by Western Manitoba farmers as a result of the 1999 spring flood.

"For several months, there have been signs from Ottawa that the federal government would provide relief to flooded producers," said Wowchuk. "This decision to refuse coverage for these flood-related costs shows once again that Manitoba farmers have been led astray toward an uncertain future by the federal government."

In a letter dated March 29, Eggleton indicated that weed control, loss of applied fertilizer and forage restoration are not eligible under the Disaster Financial Assistance Arrangements (DFAA). Coverage was denied on the basis that these arrangements do not apply to insurable losses or to costs recoverable in whole or in part under other government programs. These outstanding flood-related expenses are not insurable and, to date, have not been addressed under other federal government programs.

However, in a March 10 news release, Lloyd Axworthy, minister of foreign affairs, indicated that "in the case of the 1999 floods, the Government of Canada has once again agreed to provide assistance to the province of Manitoba in accordance with DFAA guidelines. The Government of Canada is very pleased that through various programs, including DFAA, substantial help for farmers will be provided as they prepare

Seeding Date

I know you hear me talk about this every spring but bear with me. In my opinion there is no cheaper or important management practice producers can do that will contribute as much to yield and profit as early seeding can. I will admit right away there are years that mid season or late seeding can equal or maybe even outyield early seeding. But I will suggest it is becoming less today than 10 or 20 years ago. In fact, I feel early seeding is more profitable 8 or 9 out of 10 years. Those are as good odds as you can get in farming! Why do I say this? Years of Manitoba Crop Insurance yield data shows that wheat, oats, barley and peas will all have their drops much (8%) by the first week of May. The other three drop only marginally (2-3%) between those two weeks. However, by the second week of May the yields are already 6-13% less for those four crops. By the last week of May they are 16-29% less. And by the first week of June they are 26-52% less. Oats is the 52% one and quite a few farmers seed their oats near last. No wonder long term average yields to the third week of May. Yield is down 17% by the first week of June. Flax's highest yield is similar the first and second week of May. Yield is down 15% by the fourth week of May and 24% by the first week of June. Again, flax is often sown late.

Besides all those numbers, there are crop pests that have developed in the 1990's that are worse in later seeded crops. Early seeding is a recommended practice for decreasing the severity of wheat midge, leaf rust and barley yellow dwarf. Wheat midge comes in mid July. Leaf rust moves up from USA in July. Barley yellow dwarf relies on aphids to move the disease up from USA in July. In all three cases advanced wheat is less affected than later sown wheat. Early seeding is also recommended for fusarium control as well. But this is not as cut and dried. Humid, hot conditions are needed for fusarium infection. This can happen in June or July. But historical weather records show that it is more likely to have a fusarium infection in July. So early seeding has better odds for avoiding fusarium than later seeding. A good example is that winter wheat gets fusarium infection far less often than spring wheat. Another reason to seed early is the possibility of fall frosts. This one is self explanatory for yield and grade reasons. This is especially important in this area due to the shorter season.

I won't dwell on last year. It was a one in one hundred and fifty years occurrence for moisture. Everyone realizes in hindsight that April seeding was better than June seeding. But let's look at the May 28, 1998 frost. It didn't affect cereal or flax yields and it only affected a small percentage of canola yields. Very few canola fields had to be resown. When I look at the 1990's I think there was only one year where early seeding didn't pay off. Please don't wait to seed based on 20-30 years ago experiences. It's a different production environment now with different challenges and different management is needed.

Spring Cash Advance Program

The application forms are now available at local elevators. You are not able to apply at the Ag office. You must be enrolled in crop insurance and have a Canadian Wheat Board identification number. The amount per acre you are eligible for depends on your crop insurance coverage (in yield) multiplied by the following prices: wheat $1.77/bu; durum $1.91/bu; barley $0.87/bu; canola $2.56/bu; flax $2.49/bu; oats $0.62/bu; and rye $0.84/bu. For example a 20 bu/ac coverage for wheat would equal $35.40/acre. If you are seeding 200 acres of wheat you would be eligible for $7,080 interest free cash advance. Wheat, durum and barley are done on one form and applied through the CWB. Canola, flax, oats and rye are done on a different form and applied for through the Canadian Canola Growers Assoc.

Livestock producers growing only feed grain but not selling any are still eligible but must be in Crop Insurance and have a CWB ID number. An elevator agent can get an ID number from the CWB for you.

You have until January 1 to repay the spring cash advance or transfer it to a fall cash advance upon verification of the amount harvested and in storage.

to plant their crops this spring."

"Minister Axworthy's earlier comments provided encouragement to the farmers of Manitoba," noted Ashton. "However, Eggleton's decision to refuse to cover these costs is contradictory to Mr. Axworthy's comments in his news release and previous statements in the media. The decision is clearly in contrast to the spirit of the Disaster Financial Assistance Arrangements."

"Eggleton does not seem to appreciate the situation of farm families in Western Manitoba as a result of the spring flood," said Wowchuk. "Lost input costs, as well as weed control, resulted in significant costs for many producers.

The federal government should recognize this and provide coverage for these expenses under the Disaster Financial Assistance Arrangements."

On behalf of their Manitoba cabinet colleagues, Wowchuk and Ashton are requesting that the federal cabinet review Eggleton's decision and provide an interpretation of the DFAA guidelines that restores coverage for lost input costs.

The ministers also called on the federal Liberal caucus to help press the case with their cabinet colleagues and meet the commitment made by Axworthy in his March 10 news release.

Co-op to build $3 M Food Store

By Nancy Chemerika

At their recent annual meeting, the Heritage Co-op Board announced that plans are underway for a $2,987,486 project which will change the face of Minnedosa's main street.

The proposal involves the replacement of the existing Heritage Co-op Food Store with an entirely new 18,710 square foot facility on the existing parking lot, east of the existing Food Store. The store will face main street, with customer parking to be established where the existing store is located, and to the north of the new facility.

The new Food Store will feature the addition of a deli and bakery section, to be headed up by Gwen LeBoutillier, as well as allowing for an expanded selection of grocery, meat, a comparable selection of hardware, and a small cafe.

The building will also have a 3,275 square foot mezzanine which will allow for the relocation of the Administration Department.

"It will be an exciting store with a lot of the newest, and greatest trends, only seen now in the southern United States," explained Barry McPhail, General Manager of Heritage Co-op. "You will see a lot of products that right now, you would only see in the Brandon market. We want to keep Minnedosa dollars in Minnedosa."

According to McPhail, the decision was made to rebuild after it was determined that the cost to expand was only slightly less than building brand new.

"The new food store project will be an exciting project not only for the Co-op members and staff, but for all of the people of the area," stated Mr. McPhail.

'Trustees concerned about NDP plan to scrap Bill 72

By Nancy Chemerika

Local school trustees are concerned about the government's plans to repeal Bill 72, an amendment to the Public Schools Act by the previous Tory government in 1996, and replace it with new legislation.

A meeting, which included staff and trustees of Rolling River School Division, and representatives of local municipalities, held in Minnedosa last Thursday evening, was intended to share information and create awareness about the proposed changes.

The current collective bargaining process, under the Public Schools Act, limits pay scales arbitrators can award teachers by forcing them to consider a school boards ability to pay the increased costs associated with a new collective agreement. It also makes work place issues like class size and teacher assessment off limits to arbitrators.

The Manitoba Teacher's Society, the union representing the province's public school teachers, has proposed a number of changes to Bill 72 to the NDP government. MTS is suggesting that teachers be allowed to bargain under the current Labour Relations Act with special provisions for teacher's different than those for other unions bargaining under the Act. When negotiations reach an impasse, MTS asks that arbitration be the only means of dispute resolution, and all limitations on the scope of what the arbitrator can rule on will be removed.

Co-op to build $3 M Food Store

By Nancy Chemerika

At their recent annual meeting, the Heritage Co-op Board announced that plans are underway for a $2,987,486 project which will change the face of Minnedosa's main street.

The proposal involves the replacement of the existing Heritage Co-op Food Store with an entirely new 18,710 square foot facility on the existing parking lot, east of the existing Food Store. The store will face main street, with customer parking to be established where the existing store is located, and to the north of the new facility.

The new Food Store will feature the addition of a deli and bakery section, to be headed up by Gwen LeBoutillier, as well as allowing for an expanded selection of grocery, meat, a comparable selection of hardware, and a small cafe.

The building will also have a 3,275 square foot mezzanine which will allow for the relocation of the Administration Department.

"It will be an exciting store with a lot of the newest, and greatest trends, only seen now in the southern United States," explained Barry McPhail, General Manager of Heritage Co-op. "You will see a lot of products that right now, you would only see in the Brandon market. We want to keep Minnedosa dollars in Minnedosa."

According to McPhail, the decision was made to rebuild after it was determined that the cost to expand was only slightly less than building brand new.

"The new food store project will be an exciting project not only for the Co-op members and staff, but for all of the people of the area," stated Mr. McPhail.

'Trustees concerned about NDP plan to scrap Bill 72

By Nancy Chemerika

Local school trustees are concerned about the government's plans to repeal Bill 72, an amendment to the Public Schools Act by the previous Tory government in 1996, and replace it with new legislation.

A meeting, which included staff and trustees of Rolling River School Division, and representatives of local municipalities, held in Minnedosa last Thursday evening, was intended to share information and create awareness about the proposed changes.

The current collective bargaining process, under the Public Schools Act, limits pay scales arbitrators can award teachers by forcing them to consider a school boards ability to pay the increased costs associated with a new collective agreement. It also makes work place issues like class size and teacher assessment off limits to arbitrators.

The Manitoba Teacher's Society, the union representing the province's public school teachers, has proposed a number of changes to Bill 72 to the NDP government. MTS is suggesting that teachers be allowed to bargain under the current Labour Relations Act with special provisions for teacher's different than those for other unions bargaining under the Act. When negotiations reach an impasse, MTS asks that arbitration be the only means of dispute resolution, and all limitations on the scope of what the arbitrator can rule on will be removed.

"This move is a vote of confidence for the whole area, and it is our sincere hope that this move will be the catalyst needed to encourage other businesses to enter the Minnedosa market place, or have existing businesses upgrade or expand."

Land purchase and zoning for the project is currently in place, and Town approval has been received. Architect drawings are in progress and should be finalized by mid-May. Tenders for equipment for the new facility have been received and awarded, and construction tenders are expected to be in by June 10th. Construction is expected to begin soon after, and be finalized in four or five months, with the opening of the new facility hopefully to occur prior to Christmas, 2000. While the new store is under construction the existing facility will remain in use, and be demolished after completion.

"The Board always wants to be the best in town, and to continue to, we have to be proactive - our members deserve it," concluded McPhail.

Tour of local industry well received

The Tour of Agricore

By Nancy Chemerika

The Town of Minnedosa hosted a tour of local industry last week which included Agricore, Morris Industries, and the Mohawk ethanol plant.

Representatives of the Council of the Town of Minnedosa, Administration, Council of the R.M. of Minto, R.M. of Odanah, the Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce, Stan Struthers, MLA Dauphin-Swan River, and Al Peto, Intergovernmental Affairs, took part in the tour.

According to Mayor Drebit, the purpose of the tour was to examine local industry more closely.

"Rather than just chasing the big smoke stacks, we felt it was time to gain a better understanding of what we have to offer locally," explained Mayor Drebit. "In order to understand and appreciate what we have to offer, we have to see its operation first hand."

Drebit feels that the tour helped to strengthen the common bond between the Town of Minnedosa and its neighbouring municipalities, because the facilities toured benefit all residents.

"I think the tour showed us that it is time we took a good look at a regional approach to economic development," stated Drebit. " In the short term, I would like to see us start a regional landfill site, a feed lot, and seriously look at the amalgamation of the municipalities. Not only is there strength in numbers, there is greater efficiency. It is time for us to look at our region as one big municipality. It is simply not cost effective anymore for small municipal corporations to operate individually."

Reeve Marion Sharpe, R.M. of Odanah, felt that the tour was an excellent idea.

"I had never toured the facilities before, and it was good to see local people employed in local industry," stated Sharpe. " I saw members of my own municipality, the R.M. of Minto and the Town of Minnedosa gainfully employed and benefiting from the industries."

Councillor Burnside, R.M. of Minto, felt that the tour was worthwhile and informative.

$10,000 stolen in Hall B & E

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Community Conference Centre was the scene of a break, enter and theft, on April 9th, with thieves making off with approximately $10,000.

A male young offender, 17 years, was charged with 1 count of break and enter over $5,000; mischief under $5,000; 1 breach of undertaking; 3 counts of breach of probation; and 1 count of possession of a controlled substance. The youth was remanded into custody until Thursday, April 13th. An adult female, and another male young offender were released under promise to appear, and have not yet been charged.

At about 10:00 p.m. Sunday evening, Minnedosa Community RCMP, assisted by the Brandon City Po'ice, apprehended the suspects on the Trans Canada Highway, near Brandon. The three suspects were in possession of a substantial amount of cash and cheques that were taken from the scene of the crime. The stolen funds included the proceeds of the Sports Dinner, held the previous evening. Entrance was gained to the hall breaking the window in the door on the west side of the hall.

Dan Johnson, Minnedosa District Rec. Commission Chairman, stated that he was extremely disappointed by the theft.

"I was totally shocked that something like this could happen at absolutely the wrong time," said Johnson. "We now have new cash handling procedures in place. There is no more than a float in place in the hall at all times, and we are looking into purchasing a safe."

Johnson concluded by saying that not all of the Sports Dinner proceeds were recovered. A number of cheques were thrown away, and some of the cash was also missing.

Drive The Green

MINNEDOSA GOLF COURSE EXPANSION
FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN

Recently, the Town of Minnedosa purchased the land required for the expansion of our golf course from 9 to 18 holes.

This major commitment to our golf course and our community was welcomed news for all of us.

A golf course offering a full 18 holes will add value to our community and strengthen our economic development. It will provide local residents with increased recreation opportunities and, we believe, act as an attraction to bring more people to our town.

However, this legacy project cannot go forward without your help. We have launched a fundraising drive, appropriately titled "Drive the Green", with a target of $300,000. Raising this amount will allow us to proceed with construction and feel comfortable that we have a manageable debt load.

This is an ambitious project, but I believe it is a very realistic one and one which we believe will provide a lasting benefit to our community.

Our Committee has identified two ways in which people can contribute: Charitable Donations and Builder Loans. Information found elsewhere on this page provides details on our program.

It is our hope you will find some way to participate. Minnedosa has been built by people like you - people who take pride in their community and want to be part of it.

Should you have any questions about this project, please do not hesitate to contact either myself or any other member of the Fundraising Committee.

Frank Taylor
Fundraising Chair

P.S. In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For every $100 contributed prior to July 9th, 2000 (through either Charitable Donation or Builder Loan), you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course.

Background

- The Minnedosa Golf Club undertook a Feasibility Study during the summer of 1998 on expanding our course from its current nine holes to 18 holes.
- The results of this Feasibility Study were made public on August 18, 1998.
- The results of this plebiscite were made public on October 26th - 89% of members were in favour.
- With this strong level of support, the Minnedosa Golf Course Executive feels confident in proceeding with our local fundraising drive.
- The Feasibility Study set a target of $300,000 contributed at the local level.

The Campaign

- This Drive The Green campaign will allow members and community supporters to show their support regarding this expansion project.
- The success of this Drive The Green campaign is critical to providing the Executive with the confidence to proceed with construction.
- This is all the information you should require to make your contribution to the future of our golf course and the future of our community.
- All Funds raised towards the Minnedosa Golf Course Expansion will be put into a trust account and moneys will be used solely for that purpose.

The Expansion

- The expansion will be constructed on 80 acres of land immediately south of the existing nine holes. This land is rolling hills and is certain to offer excellent golf terrain.
- Minnedosa Golf Club has retained the services of Golf Course Designer Dave Grant of Grant Golf.
- The deign developed by Mr. Grant allows the existing nine holes to remain open throughout construction of the new nine holes.
- The design has each nine (new and old) starting and ending at the Clubhouse.
- Detailed drawings of the layout can be viewed at the Clubhouse.

Two Ways to Contribute

Charitable Donations

- All Charitable Donations made towards the Golf Course Expansion will receive a Charitable Tax Receipt from the Town of Minnedosa for the full value of the donations made throughout a calendar year.
- As a donor, you will be rewarded with 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons. You will receive one 2-for-1 coupon for every $100 dollars you donate. As an example, based on the contribution level categories established by the club, the following donors would receive the following 2-for-1 Green Fee coupons:
  - ☐ Eagle Donor ($1,000.00) - 10 2-for-1 coupons
  - ☐ Birdie Donor ($500.00) - 5 2-for-1 coupons
  - ☐ Par Donor ($100.00)- 1 2-for-1 coupon
- In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For each $100.00 donation made prior to July 9, 2000 you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course. Following the above categories, Eagle Donors would receive 10 ballots, Birdie Donors would receive 5 and Par Donors would receive 1.

Builder Loans

- The minimum contribution for a Builder Loan is $1,000.00. The Loan will remain, interest free, with the club for a period of ten years.
- After 10 years, Redemption of Loans will be done at a level of 20% of the value of the Loan per year for a period of 5 years.
- In the event of the death of one or all of the Loan Holders, Loan can be paid out to the estate, transferred or revert to the club as a Memorial Donation.
- Those providing Builder Loans will receive 1 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupon for each $100 dollars contributed as a Loan. For example, if Person A gave the Club a Loan of $1,000.00, they would receive 10 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons. If Person B gave the Club a Loan of $1,500.00, they would receive 15 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupons.
- In addition, we are having an Early Bird Raffle. For each $100.00 Loan made prior to July 9, 2000 you will receive a ballot for a chance to win 1 of 5 One Year Single Adult Memberships for the first full year of play on our 18 hole course. Following the above example, Person A would receive 10 ballots, while Person B would receive 15.

A chilling impact on public debate

Let's face it. Since Spiro T. Agnew and Richard 'Tricky Dick' Nixon were both forced to resign from political office in the early 1970's, the credibility of every politician has not only continued to be suspect, but has been openly questioned with the politician, himself, open to ridicule by every talk-show host and political cartoonist world-wide. Last week, political cartoonists were once again forced to dig out the old photos of President Clinton sporting a 12 inch nose, indicative of his most recent foray into the world of 'retouched truths'.

But the situation in British Columbia courts has put a new light on everything political and threatens to turn the tables on politicians who once thought the ability to stretch the truth was one of the more important qualifications of seeking higher office.

One voter has taken exception to the 1996 NDP election in that province, and the fact that an important part of their re-election was their claim to have balanced the previous two provincial budgets. Once gaining another term of office, the truth soon came to the fore, the cat was out of the bag and the entire matter was soon before the courts - where it rests to this day.

Not that there isn't precedent. Recently, in another B.C. case, the mayorial race in the Town of McBride was overturned when it was found the elected Mayor had given false information about his opponent to the voters.

Back to the big one. This one, if successful, will cause the current NDP government to collapse, and it has the attention of every political aspirant in North America.

As quoted in a recent article in the Globe and Mail, David Lunny, the lawyer who is pressing the case, stated, "Fasten your seat belts. There's never been a case like it. This is totally unprecedented in the annals of the law, taking on a government for the wholesale deception of the electorate."

The B.C. Court of Appeal has already ruled that there is an arguable case, stating that misfradulent dealing with the public is in accord with maintaining the integrity of the electoral process. However, you can imagine how distraught are politicans across the country, and across the continent at this recent turn of events.

In an era where mistruths, stretched truths and downright lies have become the status-quo in the political arena, this B.C. case is slowly building shockwaves that may not settle down for many years to come.

If the President of the United States can lie under oath and not suffer the same consequences that any of his constituents would, under like circumstances, and then act in the manner in which he has with relative impunity, then Thomas Jefferson was just wasting ink and paper when he penned the U.S. constitution.

What is really amusing about this whole British Columbia affair, however, is the reaction by one NDP party official as he complained openly in the Globe and Mail article, stating: "We should be free to get on with the business of the people of B.C. We have a new administration, a new premier, and we are trying to move forward to fight new battles."

"This is just one more attempt to refight the 1996 election", and added that a victory by Mr. Stockell (the voter who brought the suit) would have a "chilling impact" on public debate.

Is he saying that the truth would have a chilling impact on public debate?

You know, he is probably right. I'm not sure voters could handle it either.

Reading pays off for Douglas Elementary

By Nancy Chemerika

Reading paid off in a big way for the students and staff of Douglas Elementary, allowing them to win a $5,000 prize in a national contest which ranked them second in Canada.

The Read to Succeed contest, sponsored by Kidsworld Magazine and Nabisco, ran during I love to Read Month in February. At Douglas, students and staff turned the contest into a friendly rivalry. The 154 K-8 students won the challenge by reading 11,192 books during the month, compared to the 19 staff who read 1,100. As a result of their loss, the staff had to suffer a punishment of "Pie in the Eye".

"They were reading everywhere, at recess, at noon-hour, I couldn't get them out of the library," stated Eva Cameron, Librarian. "It was absolutely wonderful.

The $5,000 prize will be used to purchase software and print materials for the library.

"Our library is a smaller one with 8,000 to 9,000 items in it. This prize will allow us to increase our material unbelievably. When staff, students and parents work together, it is amazing what can happen," concluded Cameron.

Sooner the better ...
Enough is enough! Let's get Chretien out of Isreal and the Middle East as soon as possible before he starts World War III. He just gave the Sea of Galilee to the Isrealites by simply stating, "It's the only lake they got." Gheeeeeezzzzz. Maybe its time the Libs borrowed a page out of the old Tory book. Remember that one? Wasn't it entitled, "Night of the long knives"?

Infamous quote.
If it's true what they say that money talks, the only word I ever heard mine say was "Goodbye".

Welcome back!
The Snowbirds are slowly drifting back to the area after a warm winter in southern climes. Ran into Ken Harris the other day who, no doubt, has arrived back with a pocket full of projects. A flurry of grant applications to various provincial departments should soon show us whether our community has retained any of its former status with the new government. One feather in the NDP cap is the fact that they have recently made the decision to stick with Rural Forum. The annual rural fest will take place in Brandon beginning on April 27th. Minnedosa will once again have a booth at the forum.

Over and out!
The recent carnage taking place at the Calgary Saddledome came as a surprise. Not that they fired the coach, for that is standard procedure these days, but that they fired G.M. Al Coates who had been with the team when they arrived from Atlanta. Also cleaned out were the two in charge of 'player development', making it four heads rolling down the Macleod Trail.

And the winner is...

Rec. Director, Ken Surovy, presented 8 year old Nigel Harris, of Neepawa, with a framed Gretzky jersey that he won after buying a $5.00 ticket.

"I can't believe I won it," stated Nigel of the autographed, framed jersey valued at about $1,500. At the time of the photo, the young collector made it clear that his latest treasured possession was not for sale at this time.

The raffle tickets were sold as a fundraiser for the recently held Sports Dinner.

Recreational boating has changed in recent years due to the proliferation of personal watercraft, more powerful vessels, competing forms of waterway activity and technological improvements to vessels such as high tech navigational aides and safety equipment. Minnedosa Lake has been impacted by some of these changes and Council was asked to respond to keep the integrity of the lake intact and to ensure that boaters and other users were safe. Concerns locally reflect the global changes in recreational boating which the Canadian Coast Guard's Office of Boating Safety is attempting to address through modernization of regulations.

Three years ago, the Canadian Coast Guard's Office of Boating Safety began looking at regulations to ensure boaters are safe on Canadian lakes and waterways. After much consultation new and amended boating safety regulations were announced last January. Following is a summary of the competency licensing regulations;

- On September 15, 1999 YOUTH born after April 1, 1983 will require a "Pleasure Craft Operators Card" on board to operate a power driven boat.
- On September 15, 2002 ANY person operating a power driven boat under 13 feet will require a "Pleasure craft Operators card".
- On September 15, 2009 ANY person operating a power driven boat will require a "Pleasure craft Operators Card".

There are no grandfather clauses provided for in obtaining your Pleasure Craft Operators Card. Individuals can challenge the exam if they are familiar with the rules and regulations and/or have studied on their own for a reduced fee.

A key component to implementing the new regulations is enforcement. Conservation officers and the RCMP have given boaters time to digest the new regulations and obtain the required licensing over the last year. Now that information has been dispersed enforcement is sure to become a priority.

Don't get caught without the "Card". Watch for the Spring 2000 Fun Guide in the mail at the end of next week which announces details about a Pleasure Craft Operator Card Course to be held in May or call the Recreation Office today to register early.

Safe boating is everyone's responsibility.

Minto budget shows 2.06% decrease

By Nancy Chemerika

Council for the Rural Municipality of Minto gave final reading to the 2000 financial plan last week, after no concerned citizens attended a public meeting. According to the 2000 budget, residents of the R.M. of Minto will see a 2.06% decrease in municipal taxes.

"Council worked very hard this year trying to keep the budget down because of the current farm crisis," explained CAO Susan Hoglund. "Funds were taken from last year's surplus and reserves to offset the budget."

Budgeted expenditure and revenue for 2000 totalled $488,880.20. A total of $451,812.99 was spent by the R.M. of Minto in 1999 which resulted in a $25,347 surplus.

On the expenditure side, Minto budgeted a total of $112,325.00 for general government services which includes staff, office building, legal, elections, grants, etc. Last year, $105,760 was spent in the area of general government services.

A total of $71,220 was budgeted for protective services; $66,194.05 was spent in 1999. The budgeted amount for Classic Rock Weekend policing increased somewhat, with the 2000 budget being set at $55,000. The budget includes policing for both Classic Rock Weekend and the Skake'n the Lake event, scheduled for July long weekend.

The budget for environmental health services was set at $22,000, with $10,000 being set aside for the municipal well, $2,000 for the usage fee of the Town of Minnedosa landfill site, and $10,000 for the Bethany landfill site.

The transportation services was reduced to $209,720.00 from the 1999 budget which was $214,050.00. In 1999, $185,956.49 was actually spent.

The public health and welfare budget was set at $8,000. The environmental development services budget was set at $6,154.00, which includes start up costs for the newly developed Tanner's Crossing Planning District. A total of $8,645.12 was budgeted for economic development services, which although down from the 1999 budget of $8,871.90, is up from the $6,384.71 actually spent last year.

The budget for recreation and cultural services was reduced to $15,684.35, from the 1999 budget and actual of $28,359.35. Last year's budget included the R.M. of Minto's contribution of $12,700 to the Minnedosa Regional Library Millennium Addition project.

The fiscal services budget was set at $5,000.

Trustees concerned...

Colleen Jury, Chair of the RRSD Board of Trustees, explained that the primary concern is the economic impact the changes could have on municipalities.

"I think that if this legislation comes into being, there could be major financial implications for taxpayers within our school division," stated Mrs. Jury. "We won't have any leverage. If we have to pay, we have to pay, and the only place that we are going to be able to get the money will be the taxpayer."

Marion Sharpe, Reeve of the R.M. of Odanah, attended the meeting which she felt was worthwhile as a way to get the information circulating.

"I am very concerned about the financial implications of the changes to the Act. We will have to be the ones to collect all that land tax, which we will then turn over to the school division," stated Sharpe.

On Friday, the R.M. of Odanah passed a resolution supporting the Manitoba Association of School Trustees (MAST) in their position that the decision on the legislation be delayed to allow for more inclusive consultation. Clayton Murray, Reeve of the R.M. of Saskatchewan, also noted that he would like to see his Council pass a resolution supporting MAST as soon as possible.

Trustee Wally Yanchycki, a former teacher, principal, and currently a Councillor for the Town of Erickson, stated what the important issue is the students in the classroom. "That is what we are all about whether we are trustees, councillors, or whoever. What we want is what is best for the kids in the classroom. The moment we have anything that will stand in the way of providing the best in education, then I feel we have to speak up."

Yanchycki continued, "I don't think that the government is looking far enough into the implications of this. The concern is that if any alterations are made to what is in place now, it will cost extra money. School divisions cannot go into a deficit, so it will be passed onto the municipalities. It will have endless ramifications."

Local MLA Harold Gilleshammer feels that the government is intending to keep their election promise to turn back the clock on Bill 72.

"I think the government made this decision by listening very carefully to teachers, and my concern is that school boards, MAST, and municipal councils have not had the ear of the Minister of Education to present the other side of the case," stated Mr. Gilleshammer.

Mr. Gilleshammer concluded by saying that the municipalities should take the concerns raised to the Premier and the Minister of Education, and attend committee hearings after second hearing.

R.M. of Odanah finalizes budget

By Nancy Chemerika

The R.M. of Odanah gave final reading to the 2000 financial plan which will see a tax reduction of 2.62% for ratepayers. According to CAO Susan Hoglund the reduction was the result of a general paring down by Council as a result of the farm crisis, and a $20,000 transfer from surplus.

The budgeted revenue and expenditure for 2000 was set at $459,675.84.

The total government services budget was set at $114,371.00, compared to the $105,918.14 actually spent in 1999. Within government services, $7,000 more was budgeted for legislative expenses (indemnity, meetings, mileage), $2,000 more was budgeted for Clerk and Staff (wages, benefits, meetings, mileage); the taxation budget was reduced by $300.

The protective services budget was set at $16,200 compared to $15,600 in 1999. A total of $225,900 was budgeted for transportation services for 2000, compared to $206,900 in 1999, $199,359.45 of which was actually spent. The increase partially resulted from an increase in the road maintenance budget, an extra $7,500 which was budgeted for culverts.

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

It's been another busy week with meetings, teas, spring cleaning, and running here and there, so not much news has been gathered.

We welcome Dave & Leona Smith and Emil and Elvera Shellborn home after a safe trip from their winter haunts in Arizona. Now it's only Margaret Halvarson that we'll be looking for one of these days.

The Hall & Paulsen relatives received the sad news of Lorne (Bud) Hall's death at Kelowna Hospital on April 7th. Bud was the son of the late Anna Hall. His brother Earl passed away a month ago in Brandon. Wayne who lives in Saskatoon is the only surviving son. Elgin Hall conducted the funeral service for Bud at Rock Creek, BC.

Peggy Chan, of Brandon had a very informative presentation on Environmental Pollution at Erickson Crossroads on April 9th.

Visiting their Aunt Jennie Rumak last Saturday, were Jackie Walker and two children of Brandon and Liana Rice of Duchess, AB.

Canada was very proud to have both Men and Women Curling Teams win the World Curling Competition in Scotland last weekend. Both teams represented British Columbia so it was a double treat for that province. (This news is especially for you Carl in Australia).

Harvey & Carole Pengally have returned from a holiday in France where they visited their son Ryan who is bi-lingual, and acted as their tour guide and made it far easier for communicating.

Eight members of Erickson Women's Institute attended the Spring Convention of South West "A" Region at Virden on April 12th. Arlene Waddell, has been President, and Gale Johnson, Treasurer for a two year term for this region. Anne Paulsen is now on the Regional Board.

Funeral Service for Mr. Joe Fiarchuk was conducted at St.Jude's Church on April 12th. Mr. Fiarchuk was a resident of Erickson before moving into Sandy Lake Care Home. Sympathy is extended to his wife and family.

Sympathy also is extended to Deacon Conrad Plante and family on the death of his father Honore Plante at St. Lazare recently.

Welcome to Erickson Ethel Shewchuk. We hope you will enjoy your new home in Peter Abel Place.

Winnie Burkett and Mabel Hillstrand are back at Parkland Home after receiving medical attention in Winnipeg and Brandon.

Weekly Cribbage Winners at the Legion were: 1st - Joe Sturgeon, 2nd - Grace Michalchuk, 3rd - Anne Marie Kingdon, Low score - Harriet Hodges.

Our thoughts and prayers are with Anne Berkowski who is again a patient in Erickson Hospital. Her daughter Gerri from Vancouver was back again to spend a few days.

The History Book Committee will be holding their monthly meeting this week and would appreciate your attendance and help in working on this project. Again, reminder, we are looking for more histories. You are an important part of our community.

This is Holy Week. Churches will be filled with worshippers celebrating the good news "Christ Is Risen". The Annual Sunrise Service will be held at Bethel Church followed by an Easter Breakfast. Check your church bulletins for times of worship so you don't miss any of the beautiful services. Happy Easter to all.

Last week was Volunteer Appreciation Week. When the W.I. were welcomed to Virden on Wednesday by their Mayor, he paid tribute to the volunteers in Manitoba which number in the thousands. Erickson provides many of these volunteers and I personally wish to thank everyone who gives so freely of their time and talents that makes Erickson the great place it is to live.

Erickson District Health Centre hosted the Volunteer Appreciation tea on Monday, April 10th. The Hospital Auxiliary provided the Angel Food Cake/strawberries/whipped cream to approx. 75 guests.

The tea started with the presentation of M.R.H.A. volunteer pins by Linda Earl and Ev Cooley.

Representation from various volunteer groups were: Knights of Colombus, Retreads, Legion, Grade 6 Junior Volunteers, W.I., Hospital Auxiliary, Handi Van drivers, Girl Guides of Canada, St. Judes, Church groups, Manicurists, High Country Band, U.C.T., Pet therapy individuals, 1-1 volunteers.

Jessie Domanski was at the registration table and drew for door prizes. The winners were Ivy Carter, Samantha Hodges, Kyla Huntinghawk, Arlene Waddell & Grace Rose.

A bouquet to all the volunteers who go the extra mile for activities, 1-1 visits, handi van trips, and help in many ways for the residents.

Certificates were also presented to Bonnie Sprott's Grade VI Pupils who visit the Care Home every second week and do volunteer work with the residents. One certificate was from the Manitoba Teachers Society and another from the Premier's office.

Beatrice Warrington accompanied Patsy Kowalick and children to Regina on the weekend to visit Ron and Darlene Slobodian and family.

Remember April is Cancer month be prepared to give your donation to the Cancer Drive.

ECI holds career symposium

By Nancy Chemerika

Students of Erickson Collegiate got a glimpse of the working world last week as they took part in a mini career symposium, organized by the Erickson Parent Advisory Council and parent volunteers.

ECI students from grades 7-12, as well as grades 7 and 8 students from Onanole and Sandy Lake Schools, attended the symposium which included such employment fields as agriculture, mechanical trades, health care nursing and support staff, tourism, computer technology, construction trades, law enforcement, landscape, and education, among others.

2000 marks the third symposium held at Erickson Collegiate. The employment fields represented at the symposium are chosen after the students are surveyed. The majority of presenters were local.

According to Alma Braschuk, one of the organizers, the purpose of the symposium is to expose students to careers and trades within the local area.

"It could be an incentive for some of the students to stay in the area," stated Mrs. Braschuk. "More and more we are losing our young people to the bright lights."

"If it wasn't for the symposium, students would not gain the exposure to the variety of career options unless they were in the Grade 11 or 12 Career Preparation Program, and then only to one or two careers," stated ECI Principal, Matt Rapsky. "We are trying to provide the exposure so they can make a learned decision when the time comes. The Parent Council and volunteers should be commended for their efforts, because without their help, we wouldn't be able to do it," concluded Rapsky.

Odanah finalizes budget...

The environmental health services budget was set at $2,450, which includes $250 for the municipal well at Moore Park, and $2,200 for the Minnedosa landfill site.

The public health and welfare budget, which includes cemeteries and cairns, and municipal assistance, was increased from $6,000 last year to $6,500 for 2000. In 1999, $1,562.50 was actually spent.

The environmental development services budget was set at $10,234.00, which includes start up fees for the Tanner's Crossing Planning District. A total of $13,891.75 was budgeted for economic development services, and $17,997.55 was budgeted for recreation and cultural services. The fiscal services budget was set at $23,936.80.

The budget for the utility operating fund was increased to $84,536.80 compared to $67,436.80 in 1999. Last year, $72,092.40 was actually spent on the utility operating fund.

$100 Million for Manitoba Farmers

Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Program (CMAP)

PROGRAM INFORMATION

The Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Program (CMAP) is the one-time, $100 million decoupled payment being made to Manitoba producers of grains, oilseed and special crops. CMAP was developed to assist producers during the adjustment from the elimination of transportation subsidies and during a period of low prices.

Eligibility is based on these conditions:
- You were actively farming in 1999
- Produced and sold crops such as grain, oilseed, and special crops between 1994 and 1999
- Were responsible for making the daily decisions for your farm in 1999
- Filed a Manitoba income tax return for your 1999 farming operation

Initial Payments Issued
Initial payments for CMAP were released to farmers who participated in NISA in 1998 and had an MCIC contract in 1999.

A worksheet and a declaration form was mailed to farmers with NISA information, but who did not have an MCIC contract in 1999.

Applications Available
If you have not participated in NISA, or are a new farmer in 1999, you will not have received an initial payment or a worksheet. However, you may still be eligible for this program. Please contact your local Agricultural Representative or Crop Insurance Office for a CMAP application form.

Are Your Money Matters in Order?

Financial planning is part of your future security program. But if you were to die tomorrow, would your family know what to do? You may already have taken care of most of the important elements, but here is a general checklist for your reference.

1. INSURANCE: is the beneficiary up-to-date? Are premiums paid?
2. ARE BANKBOOK, mortgage papers, pension and other important documents all together? Does your family know where they are?
3. IS YOUR WILL current and available?
4. DO YOU HAVE A LIST of names, addresses and phone numbers on insurance agencies, accountants and lawyers?

These are many details you may require. Call us for information on a pre-planned funeral or drop by.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

A Summer Prayer: "I am like a garden, Lord, a garden filled with weeds - Gently with your loving hands - plant in me the seeds Of love and joy and kindness; of faith and hope and trust; Pull out the weeds of self-ishness, and those of pride and lust. With your Spirit, water me till I have life anew, And all who see the well-worked ground, will themselves turn to you." Fifth Sunday of Lent's theme was "Scattering Seeds of Hope". When a seed is put into the ground, it produces a beautiful and abundant plant. The seed must die before it can grow, so too, we must die from our old ways. The seed of hope needs to be scattered all around, in our homes, workplaces, communities, in our country and world. We need to plant those qualities of the Spirit that we might bear a rich har-vest - the harvest of love and joy, peace and patience, kindness and goodness, gentleness and self control and as Rev. Hunter told the children, the spirit of God's love and caring for us all and all people.

Visiting Dorothy Ray from April 6 to April 9th was her daughter Linda Henderson from Winnipeg.

On Monday, April 10, the Mosaic Fashions held their Spring show in the Commu-nity Hall. There were thirty-three attending and twelve models demonstrated Spring and Pastel shades of clothing. Visitors from Erickson, Minnedosa and Strathclair joined with Newdale in a time of lunch and refreshments. Irene Creber and Lil Farrend hosted.

Congratulations to Blanche English on her 91st birthday, April 9th. Her family Doreen and Bill from Calgary and Shirley and Malcolm from Minnedosa and their fami-lies arranged a birthday cel-ebration at Harrrison House.

Word was received from Jean Irwin that her daugh-ter Beverly (Irwin) and Bob Sadler suffered a two-day frustrating time when their hydro was off due to a cy-clone in Townsville, Austra-lia.

Sixteen active participants from Newdale were repre-sented in the "Calamity Jane" Drama, held in the Strathclair Theatre April 10-15, 2000. There was a full house nightly and sev-eral were disappointed to be unable to purchase tickets. However, many from Newdale commented on skilled acting and a very en-joyable show. A big bou-quet to the Club for their many volunteer hours.

Terry Grimes arrived from England on April 11th after spending the past four months with his wife and family during their harvest.

Rick Hamner from Para-dise, California, has spent three weeks with Terry and Ruth Wareham and is help-ing with the upcoming sale.

The Newdale Lion's Club held a Hunter's Safety Course in March and April in the Newdale United Church Lower Hall. Twenty people participated in the course. Nineteen completed the course. Wendell Wight was Instruc-tor with Gord Kaytor assist-ing.

The 10th Whist Party of the season was held in the Newdale Drop-in-centre on April 7th with three tables of cards. Winners were: Men high - Niel Davies. Men 2nd - Rennie Keenan. Men travelling - Gordon Waddell. Ladies high - Phyllis Tolton. Ladies 2nd - Edith Waddell. Ladies travelling - Edith Waddell. Lunch and a social time concluded the evening.

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Wes and Gay Peters re-turned home on Thursday, April 6th after spending a week at Boissevain visiting with daughter Barb and Dave Hicks and family.

Cardale U.C.W. had their April meeting on Friday, April 7th with eleven mem-bers present. Jean Fortune, Bev Shaw and Ethel Armstrong conducted a meaningful worship for the Easter season. We made plans to make "tray favours" for Father's Day for Hamiota Hospital. Af-ter the business was com-pleted, Fran Radcliffe showed us the lovely quilt tops she has made, which we will be completing in the fall. We then enjoyed lunch, tea and visiting.

A safe boating course was held in Cardale Arena on April 4th and 5th with 25 persons attending.

A number of Cardale folks attended and enjoyed the program put on by the Kentones at Kenton on Sat-urday evening April 8th.

George sez: "Two long time golfers were standing at the 3rd tee, overlooking the river. One golfer looked to the other and said, "Look at those idiots fish-ing in the rain"!

Eye on MCI

by Jill Reid

This last week at MCI can be defined in one word - HECTIC. Students were busy finishing assignments and studying for and writ-ing mid-term exams, while teachers were consumed with marking and calculat-ing. Fortunately, this busy time has come to an end.

On Tuesday, April 11th MCI and Erickson Senior Band performed in Rivers for the Rolling River Festi-val of the Arts. In other band news, MCI student Charlie Jury made the Pro-vincial Intermediate Honour Band for grade 9/10 students which will take place in Winnipeg May 4-6. Congratulations Charlie!

MCI T.A.D.D. has ar-ranged for a motivational media presentation on Wednesday, April 12th. This year's presentation is titled CRASH and is sure to be well received by the students of MCI.

Student Council has been very busy organizing ac-tivities and fund raising for the remainder of this school year. Up coming events in-clude:

- Door to door chocolate bar sales (to offset the cost of next year's student fees) April 17-20.
- Pie in the Face, MCI April 20
- Student Talent Show, MCI May 3
- Student Council and Wall of Fame Nominations. May 8-12
- Student Council and Wall of Fame Voting May 16.

With all these events planned, along with the completion of courses and graduation, the hectic pace at MCI doesn't seem to be letting up. We've got less than three months before the end of June, let's enjoy!!

Moore Park News

by Carmin Grasby

Thursday, April 6th granddaughter Christina came home with Mel & I to spend a few days visiting Aaron & Teresa came out Sunday, April 9th to visit and take Christina home Sat-urday, April 8th. Mel's nephew Robert Gray of Winnipeg came for a visit.

Well, how is this for spring weather? The plants in the flower beds don't know whether to grow or go back where they came from.

Don't forget the bingo in the Moore Park Hall. Look in coming events for date & time. Please plan to at-tend as it's a good evening for visiting along with your coffee and muffins.

Erickson Auxiliary News

by Elaine Butler

The monthly meeting was held in the legion hall at 7:30 p.m. on April 4th, 2000. There were 12 mem-bers present. Thank you notes were received for do-nations to the Benefit Fund of the Development Centre at Portage la Prairie, St. Boniface Hospital and the Alzheimer Society.

The Royal Canadian Le-gion Athletic Camp sent us brochures for their upcom-ing camp in the year 2000. It is noted that 1,086 ath-letes attended camp in 2000. The Erickson Ladies Auxiliary sponsored one girl from Onanole last year. There were 404 others from rural Manitoba as well as others from Winnipeg, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, United States, England, and Mexico. The year 2000 marks the 50th year of this internationally acclaimed Royal Canadian Legion Athletic Camp at the Inter-national Peace Gardens. We would be happy to sponsor any child from our area to any of the following camps:

Basketball, equestrian, football wilderness, gym-nastics judo, sailing plus, soccer, track, track ad-vanced and volleyball.

Harriet Hodges gave a re-port on the District #2 meet-ing that was held recently in Shoal Lake.

We were reminded that the Poppy Campaign has been extended to June 15th. Our target is that members of the branch as well as the auxil-iary would each order 15 bulbs. We hope that com-munity members will also help us in this campaign to celebrate the 75th anniver-sary of the Legion. To or-der tulips at 10 bulbs for $6.00 or 100 bulbs for $55.00 contact Elaine But-ler at 848-2151.

We will be ordering two "Women Of The War Years" books as well as making a donation to aid in the cost of publishing this book.

Plans were made for the upcoming Mother's Day Tea to be held on May 13th.

It was decided that we would sell hot dogs at the upcoming bingo games.

Following our meeting we joined our branch for com-radeship and lunch.

THINKING OF BECOMING A TEACHER?

In Manitoba, nearly 50 per cent of all teachers are eligible to retire in the next eight years. More than 3,500 teachers are now retiring. In Ontario, 12,000 teachers are now retiring yearly.

Your prospects of becoming a teacher upon graduation are excellent and your prospects for a rewarding career have never been better!

ENROL NOW! It takes five years of post-secondary education to become a teacher. (Two years, if you already have a degree.)

As a BU student, you can take advantage of:
- Personal attention/small class sizes and a friendly campus
- Eligibility for licensing anywhere in North America
- International student teaching opportunities
- Comprehensive coursework, which prepares students to teach:
  - Early Years (Kindergarten to Grade 4)
  - Middle Year (Grades 5 to 8)
  - Senior Years (Grades 9 to 12)

We have recruiters from other provinces, the United Kingdom and Mexico visiting our faculty and hiring our students. Call us now and find out more.

Legion Branch #138 News

by Cmd. Tom Delgaty

Two delegations to our regular meeting on April 10, 2000 consitituted a real highlight.

At the outset acting Sgt-at-arms Cmd. Cliff McManus escorted two representatives of the Legion Auxiliary Pres. Muriel McManus and Treas. Edna Pelts to the front and presented them to Cmd. Pres. W. Mansell. The ladies then presented a cheque to the President in the amount of $4,000.00 to help defray costs of painting and cleaning the clubrooms. Cmd. Treas. Keith Wishart was then summoned and the cheque was handed to him.

This represents a temendous financial boost to the Branch. In response to expressions of thanks from Pres. Mansell, Mrs. Pelts commended the Branch for the work that has been done. She expressed the hope that now that the clubroom has been so attractively fixed up, it will be "kept that way". On behalf of the auxiliary she pledged their continued assistance and support relative to the well being of the facility.

At the conclusion of the presentation a sincere vote of thanks was expressed by those present. The facility has certainly taken an attractive new look! A real face lifting!

The second delegation consisted of two representatives of the Minnedosa 4-H Multi-Purpose Club, Lindsay Lewis and her brother Brent who were accompanied to the meeting by their mother Heather.

Brent spoke in positive terms relative to the benefits of 4-H to himself and young people in general. He enjoys the carpentry project. "4-H is fun", he said, "we meet lots of people".

Lindsay stressed the importance of learning, improving and communication skills as a real plus for 4-H membership such as in public speaking. This aspect was certainly in evidence as both she and Brent made their presentation. Both spoke very well, seemed quite at ease and appeared interested and confident in what they had to say. They presented themselves neatly dressed, a feature of 4-H longstanding in public speaking.

The 4-H delegation was appropriately thanked by Pres. Mansell and acknowledged by those present.

The business of the meeting began at 8:16 p.m. with the minutes of the March 13th meeting and recent executive meeting.

The kitchen is to get it's facelift on April 16th. Carpets will also be laid. Cmd. Bob Mummery has volunteered to refurbish the Gen. Hugh Dyer portrait and memorabilia - a piece of work which will be much appreciated.

Application forms are now in hand for the Legion 75th anniversary celebration pins. "Wheel of Fortune" tickets are now available; members were urged to pick up a book (or books) and sell some.

August 13th is the date set for the color party competition banquet and parade at the Peace Gardens.

Regarding youth attending the Legion summer camp at the Peace Gardens the total cost per person is $300.00 of which the Branch has been contributing $100.00 per individual and the Auxiliary $100.00 which leaves $100.00 to be paid by each of three participants. This financial help is available once the applicant has been formally accepted.

A letter was received stating that nurses and maintenance people were urgently needed to compliment the necessary staff bodies required for the camp operation, (ie, RN's and nurses aids - as well as maintenance people).

Cmd. Wayne Hopkins in his club rooms report stated that painting has been completed. The washrooms, floors, entrance and dance floor will be done this weekend. Regrets expressed for any inconvenience. The meat draw has improved somewhat.

Cmd. Bill Clark reported a $380.00 bingo profit for March.

Good to see the "snowbirds" back! Cmds. Ernie Delmage, Mac Davidson, Haywood Hopkins, Harry Harland and anyone else I've missed!

The March bonspiel was quite successful, reported Cmd. Shorty $148.00 profit.

All the suites in the Legion Gardens are now occupied.

Cmd. Delgaty reported the Legion Tulip drive going full speed ahead. The public is very generous and eager to support this endeavor. Sales to date sit at 4750 bulbs, almost 500 above our objective of 4260. The drive deadline has been extended to June. Meanwhile, it's full steam ahead! Orders may be placed at the Club Rooms or by contacting any Legion member or phoning Tom at 867-3406. We're over the top now - Let's go away over & show the rest of Canada we can do it!

Our Legion "berets are off" to the students of the Tanner's Crossing School and Principal Mr. Ken Hoglund for the tremendous help they have given us. The kids sold $559.00 worth of tulip bulbs - 940! Excellent work! They are super salespersons! "Polite, energetic, enthusiastic" - These are some of the comments made by subscribers. Again, many thanks. A cheque for $100.00 and letter of appreciation will be mailed shortly.

Cmd. Harry Harland shared information concerning "M.O.S." Magazine - a very worthwhile publication. Mrs. Gilleshammer is to be contacted in this regard.

The meeting was adjourned at 9 p.m. sharp (21:00 hrs if my arithmetic is right) by none other than Mr. Adjourner himself - Cmd. Gordon Ingoldson!

See ya'old Mates - Monday, May 8th @ 8:00 p.m.

Rolling River School Division Board News

Rolling River School Division held their board meeting April 6, 2000. Present: C.Anderson, J.Meadows, G.Stewart, L.McFarlane, D.Krahn, R.Madill, C.Jury, L.Jackson, B.Nowell, W.Yanchycki, D.Nye. Division Administration present: N.Whitley - Superintendent, J.Hardy - Assistant Superintendent, D.LaCoste - Secretary-Treasurer, L.Dobrecn - Maintenance Supervisor. The following are the resolutions subject to approval.

That the minutes of the Regular Board Meeting of March 23, 2000 be adopted as circulated.

That Rolling River School Division approve Grade 7 to Senior 4 participation in the Manitoba Paddling Association Learn to Kayak program.

That the Board accept the appointment for the 2000/01 school year of Karen Klassen for Senior High Science Teacher at Elton Collegiate.

That the Board accept the resignation of Tim Oman as Computer Technician in the Division effective April 28, 2000 and thank him for his service with the School Division.

That the Board accept the resignation of Lynn Cory and thank her for her many years of service to the students in our School Division.

That the Board go into Committee of the Whole Board and go In Camera to hear a portion of the Superintendent's Report.

That the Senior Administration report be received as presented and discussed.

Other Business: 1. Victor Waddell and Ray Frey representing the Prairie Mountain Natural Gas Co-operative attended the meeting to provide the Board with information on their Co-operative. They outlined the costs for customers to hook up the gas line which in the case of schools would be $5,000 per school providing it is done before July 1st. 2. Myles Kopytko, District Manager for the Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District gave the Board an overview of the District, activities that they are involved in and programs that they would like to partner in with schools in the Division. Mr. Kopytko was informed that the schools could get involved in projects of their choice, however, the schools should seek Board approval once they are able to provide details on the project they have selected. 3. The Board reviewed correspondence received from the MAST office regarding the Collective Bargaining process and the possible changes being proposed by the Government. In view of the significant impact these changes might have on the Division and the local taxpayers, it was decided to call a public meeting on the issue. The meeting was held at Tanner's Crossing School with personal invitations being extended to the municipalities in the Division and the schools parent advisory councils.

Getting a Jump on Life

by Brenda Dowsett

4-H offers many different projects but one of the most helpful projects is Getting a Jump on Life. Jami Boyd is currently participating in this project and is finding it very useful. In this project she has learned skills such as how to successfully find jobs, and even how to find places to live. Learning how to manage her money is what Jami liked best about the project. This project aims at giving you a head start at your future, by helping you to learn skills that you would normally have to learn by trial and error. This way Jami will possibly save herself time and money. Many other people have taken this project over the years, and are still using the information they gathered from their participation. Hopefully Jami will find the things she learned useful now and in the future. Congratulations to Jami on doing well on her project. We are all looking forward to seeing your display at achievement.

TCS Topics

TCS bands put on an excellent performance at the Rolling River Festival in Rivers on April 11. Adjudicator Jim McKay from Winnipeg was impressed with how well prepared the bands were and especially with how well behaved and attentive they were. Two TCS band students won trophies for their solo performances at the festival. Stephanie Jury won the solo woodwind trophy for her flute solo and Stephanie Leitner won the brass solo trophy for her trumpet solo. Congratulations to all the band students who participated and to Mrs. Dowsett for all her hard work and dedication.

The choirs also performed very well at the festival. Look for more details about their performance next week.

Track is starting this week and badminton continues until the end of the month. Our Junior High badminton tournament will take place on April 29 at both schools and at the local arena.

While students had the day off last Friday the staff at TCS spent the day learning more about the ever-changing world of Technology.

The afternoon was spent on school plans. We spent the first part of the afternoon reviewing our goals from this year and the later part of the afternoon was spent finalizing our goals for next year. It was great day and a good time for the staff to work together as a team.

Local members attend 84th Sessions of the Loyal Orange Lodge

Roy Ellingson, Grand Master of Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Manitoba & North Western Ontario, along with Rea Hendry & Bessie Dillabough of Minnedosa; Marion Wilson of Russell; Kathy Falloon of Foxwarren; Marie Bartram & Ann Lee of Birtle attended the 84th sessions of the Loyal Orange Lodge and the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association in Winnipeg recently.

The divine service was conducted by Mr. Douglas Warman, the recipient of our university of Winnipeg Bursary for Theology Studies.

We were very pleased to have Most Worshipful Brother Dave Griffin from Toronto, the Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Canada, as our special guest at the sessions. Most Worshipful Sister Kathy Falloon represented the Most Worshipful Grand Mistress of Canada, Sister Helen Wamboldt.

At the banquet hosted by both the L.O.B.A. and the L.O.L. of Manitoba & North Western Ontario, three cheques were presented. Grand Mistress Sister Marlene McCurry presented a cheque for $2090.00 to Leslie Russell for Manitobans with Learning Disabilities Foundation. Grand Master Brother Roy Ellingson presented a cheque for $2411.00 to Karen Gregor for the Children's Hospital Music Therapy Program. Grand Master of the Grand Black Chapter of Manitoba & North Western Ontario Sir Knight Brother Jack Cox also presented a cheque for $1100.00 to Karen Gregor for the Children's Music Therapy Program. These monies were raised by members of the Orange family in our province.

Sister Ellen Everett of Minnedosa was made an Honorary Member of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba for her many years of dedicated work for the Association.

The Election of Officers found Rea Hendry as Deputy Grand Mistress, Bessie Dillabough as Deputy Lecturer, Marie Bartram as First Grand Auditor and Ann Lee as second Grand Auditor.

Our new Grand Mistress Sister Irene McClay of Neepawa has chosen the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Manitoba as her Special Project this year.

It was an enjoyable and productive Session and renewing old friendships was great!

Grand Master Brother Roy Ellingson presents a cheque for $2,411 to Karen Gregor

Pasturing Too Early Means Money Lost

By Debbie Hysop

Putting the cattle out too soon can result in serious and costly damage to pasture health and productivity, with real financial losses to the producer, according to several individuals who know.

Randy Pawich generally waits until mid-June to graze his cattle on native pasture. The Cartwright area producer has observed the real benefits of starting to graze at the right time. "We rotate in different pastures, and found that in some areas where the land wasn't as good, the cattle were producing better because of the time they were were put out. It led us to take a better look at timing the grazing properly," said Pawich. He's also convinced that grazing pastures too early in the spring is "dramatically detrimental" in dollar terms, figuring they lose at least 25% of their productivity.

A good understanding of plant growth is essential to understanding the optimum time to put cattle onto pasture. "Though it can look like spring and feel like spring, producers shouldn't be fooled into thinking it's time to turn their cattle out. The cost of opening the gate early will go far beyond this year," said Gerry Oliver, manager of the Mixed Grass Prairie Stewardship Project.

Lee Manske is range and grazing specialist at North Dakota State University and a frequent presenter at grazing seminars in southwest Manitoba. He notes that cool season grasses initiate tiller growth in the fall, then resume active growth the next spring. But, "this growth is triggered by day length, not temperature or precipitation, so it's the calendar that dictates optimal grazing time," he said.

Manske cautions that when new growth begins, usually in late April, grass shoots start growing and should be left undisturbed at least until the three leaf stage. Defoliation of the tiller before this results in reduced production, and can stress a plant to the point where it's survival is in question, he said.

Manske's research has pegged the actual costs of grazing too early. For instance, grazing before May can cause a loss in production of up to 70 per cent; grazing from May 1 to mid May can reduce later production up to 60 per cent. These production losses can easily translate into substantial economic costs related to reduced cattle weight gain, and the need to supplement feeding where it should not be necessary.

Carberry cattle producer Claire De'Athe utilizes native pastures in her family's large cattle operation. She too believes prairie grasses are not mature enough to graze until the three leaf stage - from about late May to the first week in June. "If you put cattle out there too early, they cut and kill the native grasses, and you're left with quack grass and Kentucky blue grass," she said. "You're looking at a prolonged recovery period."

"In native pastures, you have a natural blend of grasses-some maturing at a given time and more coming - if you let your pasture disintegrate to quack grass and bluegrass, you have just two production peaks, and by the end of July, you're

Seeding Date

There were a few lines missed in last week's article. So here are the missing parts.

Wheat, oats, barley and peas all have their highest yield when seeded in the last week of April. Oats is the only one that the yield drops much (8%) by the first week of May. The other three drop only marginally (2 - 3%) between those two weeks. However, by the second week of May the yields are already 6 - 13% less for those four crops. By the last week of May they are 16 - 29% less. And by the first week of June they are 26 - 52% less. Oats is the 52% one and quite a few farmers seed their oats near last. No wonder long term average yields for oats in crop insurance are so poor! Canola's highest yield is similar from the first to the third week of May. Yield is down 17% by the first week of June. Flax's highest yield is similar the first and second week of May. Yield is down 15% by the fourth week of May and 24% by the first week of June. Again, flax is often sown late.

Phosphate Placement

As seeding time approaches I'm often asked how important is it to have your phosphate placed with the seed. Most times, it is very important. Phosphate does not move much in the soil the way nitrogen and sulphur do. The phosphate content of seedling plants needs to be high in order to achieve maximum yields. Placing phosphate fertilizer where developing roots can access it rapidly is critical in attaining these high phosphate levels in young plants. 12-51-0 and 11-52-0 have a low salt index and do not produce much ammonia, so they have a relatively low toxicity to seedlings. All phosphate needs can be put with cereal crops. With eilseed and pulse crops it depends on your soil type, soil moisture and seed spread with your drill. If you are seeding into moisture with an opener that gives some spread, all your phosphate needs should be okay with the seed. If it is dry soil or sandy land, you probably should limit your phosphate with the seed to 20 lbs/acre. Pulses are more sensitive and a maximum of 25 lbs/acre should be followed even in moist soil conditions.

The only time all phosphate can be banded before seeding is if you have high phosphate levels in your soil. This is a rare field in this area. Many years of manure application or excess phosphate application levels are the only way to build your phosphate to a high soil level. Even then, a third of the time cereals will respond to 10 lbs/acre of phosphate placed with the seed. This is commonly referred to as the "pop up" effect and occurs particularly in cold, dry soil conditions at seeding time.

Winterkill of Alfalfa

Alfalfa growers should inspect their fields this spring for damage. Cold conditions after snowmelt may have caused some problems. In addition, low areas are more susceptible to winterkill due to flooding and ice encasement. To assess an alfalfa stand, you measure the numbers of stems per square foot. This gives an indication of stand productivity. In pure alfalfa stands, more than 55 stems per square foot is considered as no limitation to yield. Between 40 and 55, you can expect some yield reduction. Stands with less than 40 stems per square foot should cause you to consider replacing it. For grass and alfalfa mixtures you use the ratio of alfalfa to modify these numbers. For example a stand with 80% alfalfa would have no limitation to yield if it has 44 (80% of 55) stems per square foot. Or a stand of 60% alfalfa should be replaced if it has less than 24 (60% of 40) stems per square foot.

Flax and Spring Frost

The market price of this crop makes me think there won't be many fields this year. But for those who take my advice from last week and seed it early here is some more information. Plants just emerging are the most tender but can withstand temperatures down to -3°C. After the seedlings have passed the two leaf stage (true leaves, not cotyledon leaves) and are hardened by some frost exposure, they can withstand temperatures as low as -8°C for a short time without damage. Canola shows similar results to flax. The number of hours of frost has an impact as well. Early seeding of flax also results in less lodging.

Pasturing Too Early...

losing feed value hand over fist. And by the end of August, you have no food value left. You want stuff that carries you into September-October, which you get with native grass, but not with the junk that comes if you don't manage your pastures," explained De'Athe, district five director for the Manitoba Cattle Producers Association (MCPA).

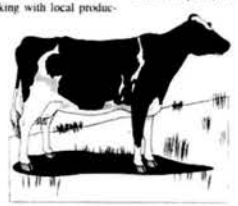
Killarney area producers Betty and Dennis Turner have cattle on both native and tame pastures, and have set up what they think is a very successful rotational grazing system. The Turners are firm believers in the benefits of correctly timed grazing. "What we've found is if you turn them out to early, it hurts the grass, and the damage is long term. Grazing at the proper time-at least after the three leaf stage-stimulates the grass growth," said Betty Turner.

Most experts suggest opening that pasture gate between the last days of May and June 7, but be sure to check the grass for three leaf growth. Tame paddocks can generally be grazed in May and June and again from August to October, and producers may wish to increase their tame pasture acres for this purpose. Graze the native grasses from early June to August. This general management approach is also encouraged by conservation organizations like Ducks Unlimited Canada (DU) and the Manitoba Habitat Heritage Corporation (MHHC).

"There's another benefit to having properly grazed native pastures," said MHHC's Roy Bullion. "Healthy, productive grasslands support a healthy, diversified wildlife population." As an example, he says grazed native pastures seem to be very attractive to meadowlarks.

DU's Wayne Cowan is working with local producers to establish several local grazing clubs throughout southwestern Manitoba. "The idea is to get like-minded ranchers together to test out the best ways to manage these rotational grazing systems. We're focusing on the management side, especially carrying capacity and the timing of the grazing," he said.

A 1996 DU survey of 85 MCPA members estimated that native grass is incorporated as a valuable pasture rotation component for 71% of cattle producers in southwest Manitoba, with an average of 208 acres in native grass. The MCPA, MHHC, and DU are all members of the Mixed Grass Prairie Stewardship Project.



Increase Tree Growth

by Laura Poppy

The most challenging obstacle in establishing shelterbelt trees is weed competition. Weeds adversely affect tree growth and survival, but there is little information on the exact effect of weeds on trees in our semi-arid prairie climate.

Bill Schroeder in the Investigation Section at the PFRA Shelterbelt Centre has been trying to gain an understanding of how weeds and trees compete for moisture and nutrients. Studies at the Shelterbelt Centre near Indian Head looked at the effect of weed competition on the growth of young green ash trees. In each of the three growing seasons of the study, weed competition reduced tree growth by 40% or more. These results were not terribly surprising since we know that weeds in the garden grow at the expense of our vegetables, but Schroeder was interested in finding out why this occurred with trees.

An interesting finding of this study was that in wet years trees in the weedy plots did not suffer from a lack of moisture. Yet the growth of the young seedlings was significantly reduced. Why did weed competition reduce tree growth if soil moisture was not a problem? It seems that weeds hindered growth of the green ash trees by competing for soil nutrients, especially nitrogen, and also by competing for much needed light. It is obvious that in our dry prairie climate, weeds most often compete with trees for moisture but competition for soil nutrients and light is also a concern.

This study further reinforces the fact that weed control is essential for establishment, growth and survival of shelterbelts even in wet years because weeds rob trees of moisture, light and nutrients.

Flax To The Max

Using flax to max-out profits is fun for producers like Robert Ostafie of Canora, Saskatchewan.

When in flower, the new flax variety AC Carnduff is like an ocean of blue.

Last summer, Ostafie propped up a canoe out in his flowering crop of AC Carnduff.

"The crop was so tall, I had to support the canoe with a couple of landscape ties so people could see it. It attracted quite a bit of interest. We had some tourists in our area and they stopped to look and take pictures of the crop and it did look good," he chuckled.

Straw strength is very important to the Canora area farmer since he sells his flax straw to the durafibre plant at Canora.

"Our straw is being baled for the Sask-Kam fibre and Durafibre plant and Cargill is involved in that operation. They are picking up all of our flax straw."

"I was the only one that had AC Carnduff flax straw. I told them to make a note that this is a new variety and to keep that in mind," he said.

Ostafie said the fibre plant will continue testing to see how AC Carnduff flax straw stacks up in comparison to the other varieties of flax straw.

Scott Duguid, at the Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada Research Centre at Morden, Manitoba says the future looks promising for the new flax varieties.

"AC Carnduff is one of the new varieties of flax to be released for spring planting in 2000 from SeCan members across Western Canada.

"It has high yield and good lodging resistance. It has high oil quality," said Duguid.

The seed was developed by the Morden breeding program.

"This is a breeding program that is looking for high yielding and early maturing varieties with high oil content and oil quality. All our materials are disease resistant," said Duguid.

"All the varieties that are registered have to meet those requirements. The distinction is that some of our lines are a little better in terms of resistance to fusarium and other diseases," he said.

"If you were to compare AC Carnduff with some of our other lines that we have produced, it would be very similar. In terms of maturity, AC McDuff is later than AC Carnduff, but yield wise they are very similar.

It has a seven per cent higher yield than Norlin in 1994-1996 field trials and a two per cent higher yield than Flanders and Normandy in 1994-96 field trials.

The maturity is approximately one day earlier than Flanders.

When comparing AC Carnduff and Bethune, Duguid says that Bethune potentially has a little higher yield, but has some problems with lodging resistance.

He said the varieties coming out of the Morden program have been fairly strong in straw strength and the seed size is larger.

AC Carnduff does not require any special management practices.

"If producers are looking for lodging resistance then AC Carnduff is the flax that they should consider planting," Duguid said.

"The other thing that I would consider important is the yield. AC Carnduff has a higher yield than the other varieties of flax, besides CDC Bethune.

"It is a little bit earlier than AC McDuff. It has one of the higher oil contents when compared to other varieties out there," Duguid said.

Prepare To Plant Trees

by Laura Poppy

The busy spring season is quickly approaching. Consider the following activities in preparation for planting trees this spring.

Finalize the design of the tree planting. Tree planting is a long term activity. Consider the proper species, spacings and distances from buildings, roads and power lines. Also, consider any potential problems such as snow drifts and herbicide drift from nearby crop fields.

Prepare the soil. The site should be cultivated for one year prior to planting. Weeds are the number one killers of young trees. Therefore, plan to eliminate weeds before you plant your trees. Consider using herbicides registered for use in shelterbelts. There are also non-chemical methods available including mechanical tillage, plastic mulch, wood chips and flax sheaves.

Reserve a tree planter. If you are planting a significant number of trees, it is worthwhile to borrow a tree planter. Planters are available from local municipal offices, local conservation organizations or your local PFRA office. Call early to reserve.

Stake the tree row. It is important to survey and mark the planting area prior to planting. Use colored stakes that are highly visible. This will aid the tractor driver/tree planter in proper alignment and spacing of the tree rows.

Plant your trees as soon as possible. Plant trees as soon as you receive them. Do not store bare root seedlings for longer than five days. Containerized seedlings can be stored longer. Keep tree bundles or containers in a cool protected location (garage or cold room). Heal-in the seedlings if planting is delayed. It is very important to keep the tree roots from drying out during storage and planting.

Planting pointers. Make sure the roots are kept moist at all times during planting. Seedlings can be planted up to one inch deeper than they were at the nursery. Firmly pack the soil around the roots. Water immediately, especially if the soil is dry. This will aid in removing air pockets which dry out small roots.

Control weeds and inspect your trees on a regular basis. The success of your shelterbelt/tree planting will depend on good weed control. Control weeds for at least 3-5 years after planting. Maintenance, including pruning and early detection of insects or disease, should be performed over the lifetime of the trees. Replace any trees which do not survive.

Bringing Home The Bacon

AC Bacon, New Hulless Barley Variety

AC Bacon could be called a designer barley.

AC Bacon is a new variety that has been developed specifically for hog production. It is a high energy feed and hogs utilize it fully producing less manure than they would if fed rations made from covered barley. Hog producers can save money over the long term with reduced manure handling costs.

"AC Bacon is a smooth awned six row hulless variety. It is used exclusively as swine feed. It's big features are yield capacity. It is a very high yielding variety, so producers can get a lot of production per acre," said Dr. Mario Therrien, Plant Breeder at the Agriculture Canada Brandon Research Centre. Results from 1999 Provincial trials in Saskatchewan reveal that AC Bacon yielded 105% in area 3 and 110% in area 4 of Harrington.

"With AC Bacon work has been directed towards lowering the beta-gluten content and this will result in easier manure handling and fewer barn related problems".

"When a high beta-gluten barley gets wet before it is fed to the animal, it becomes like glue. After you have sticky feces and that can be very bad. It can't be washed down properly. So, the newest varieties of hulless barley have very low beta-gluterns to prevent these problems," said Dr. Therrien.

Hulless barley is well suited for hog producers who want to grow their own high quality feed.

Hulless barley is identical to covered barley except that the hulls are removed during threshing to produce grain that looks more like wheat than barley. Hulless barley is a preferred feed for hogs because it is lower in fibre and higher in energy than covered barley.

Research has shown that hulless barley has an energy value basically equal to wheat or corn and has better protein content, higher feeding value than corn in hog diets which makes it the feed of choice for the expanding hog industry on the Prairies.

AC Bacon's disease package is very strong having resistance to stem rust, surface borne smuts, and septioria. It is susceptible to both loose smut and net form of net bloch. AC Bacon is medium in height with a good lodging rating. AC Bacon is one day earlier than Condor. One of the most important factors when choosing a hulless barley is its ability to dehull. AC Bacon has moderate threshability, similar to Falcon.

If cattle producers use AC Bacon as feed, they should do so very carefully.

"AC Bacon is a high energy feed. You wouldn't want to feed it straight to cattle all the time. You would have to limit the amount that you fed them or cut it in with hay or other feed," Therrien warns.

AC Bacon performed well considering the adverse weather conditions in southeastern Saskatchewan last year.

Don Johnson farms near Kipling, Saskatchewan in southeastern Saskatchewan.

"We were in a very wet area. We seeded AC Bacon in June. We have found AC Bacon has strong straw strength, compared to some hulless varieties. We got 55 bushels per acre. The weight was good. It looked very good and had good disease resistance".

"We didn't notice any shattering and AC Bacon dehulled really well in the combine. It has a huge advantage to the hog grower and we are hoping eventually feed mills in Saskatchewan will pay a premium for it," said Johnson.

We straight combined the AC Bacon and that is probably not a good way to handle it. As a result, there was some shelling damage. It yielded quite well but it didn't seem to lose its hull the way it should have".

Dean Davidson raises crops in the Kitscoty, Alberta area. Davidson planted AC Bacon last year.

"It yielded more than we thought it would. It was easy to thresh and was about 80 bushels per acre. It was drought stressed to begin with and then we had a lot of rain. It seemed to be fairly disease resistant," Davidson said.

Richard Mueller grew AC Bacon on his farm near Barrhead, Alberta.

"I wanted to see something taller than Falcon. AC Bacon is just the right height that we needed here," Mueller said.

Terry Niemela raises crops near Eckville, Alberta.

"I grew AC Bacon on canola stubble and I got 100 bushels per acre with it. It stands well and it was medium-early. I found that at maturity, it holds its head very well. It doesn't snap off or break off," Niemela said.

William Knight is very pleased with the outcome of his AC Bacon crop he raised near Tees, Alberta.

"It's an excellent barley and has excellent quality. If you look at it in the bin, it looks just like wheat. It dehulls really good. We found it ran about 85 bushels to the acre. We planted it on lighter land and it stood really well. I don't think there was one plant down in the whole plot".

Get tough on tough weeds

Ask a farmer what his problem weeds are and chances are he'll reply "ALL of them!" Likewise, the term "tough weeds" begs the question - What other kinds of weeds are there?

When it comes to weed control in canola, one thing is certain: The challenge of keeping fields clean until harvest is more daunting than ever. Not only are weed targets constantly shifting, with an ever-changing mix of newcomers and old standbys, but control of these weeds until later in the season is more important than ever.

Often, a single-shot contact herbicide application just doesn't cut it. The farmer has to go back for another kick at the weed control can - and another bite out of his budget.

The problem more often than not is multiple flushing weeds such as wild mustard, stinkweed, chickweed, cleavers, green foxtail, and redroot pigweed. These yield robbers can strike during the critical seedling stage when canola is most susceptible to yield loss, but also germinate later in the season following a rain shower or heatwave, causing problems for you at harvest.

As mentioned, most of the yield loss from weeds occurs early on, but later flushes can also hurt the bottom line and the harvestability of your canola crop. Cleavers and wild mustard seeds, for instance, are inseparable from canola seeds. Failing to control later flushes of these weeds could lead to the canola load getting dinged at the elevator for dockage or, even worse yet, downgrading it to sample. In addition, weeds like cleavers and chickweed that emerge in later flushes can grow throughout the season, presenting the farmer with a tangled mess at swathing time.

Five years ago, farmers with conventional canola varieties had very few herbicide options for controlling tough weeds such as cleavers, chickweed and stinkweed in their canola crop. Today, however, they have a new tool in their weed control toolbox: The SMART system with ODYSSEY, the only HTC system which controls multiple flushes of tough weeds like cleaver, chickweed and stinkweed - right up to crop flowering.

Despite the ease of the one-pass extended control with ODYSSEY, the SMART system's yield and disease resistance doesn't take a back seat. Pioneer brand 46A76 yielded 122 per cent of AC Excel in co-operative trials and is the only herbicide-tolerant canola variety with an 'R' rating for blackleg. Pioneer Brand 45A71 is the first member of the SMART family, and a consistent, high-yielding, early-maturing performer. 45A71 has been one of the most popular open-pollinated canola varieties over the past several years. Pioneer brand 46A73 combines superior yields with a strong MR rating for blackleg and excellent lodging resistance. All of the above mentioned varieties are available through Proven Seed.

Whatever a grower's particular weed challenge is, choosing the correct herbicide tolerant canola system is a matter of identifying specific problem weeds on the farm, says Rob Park, oilseeds specialist with Manitoba Agriculture and Food in Carman.

"Take a look at your weed spectrums and what type of traditional weed problems you have on your farm," says Park. "Which herbicide-tolerant canola will control the weeds that you have problems with?"

In Memoriam

Madill - In loving memory of Donald who left us April 22, 1993.

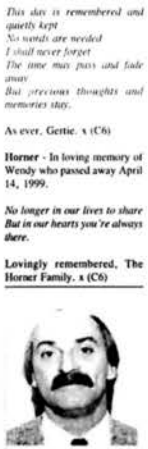
This day is remembered and quietly kept
No words are needed
I shall never forget
The time may pass and fade away
But precious thoughts and memories stay.

As ever, Gertie. x (C6)

Horner - In loving memory of Wendy who passed away April 14, 1999.

No longer in our lives to share
But in our hearts you're always there.

Lovingly remembered, The Horner Family. x (C6)



Daniel Weedon - In loving memory of a wonderful husband and father who passed away on April 20, 1999.

You continue to inspact our lives in such a profound way.
Thank you for the incredibly rich legacy you left for us.
We cherish our memories of you.
Until we meet again...

Lovingly remembered and deeply missed by your family, Thuraya, Michael, Philip and Stephen Weedon. (C6)

In Memoriam

Horner - In memory of a wonderful wife, mother and grandmother, Wendy Louise Horner, April 14, 1999.

I Remember

I remember the way you smiled,
I remember the way you laughed,
I remember the way you cried.

I remember the sound of your voice,
I remember the touch of your skin,
I remember the smell of your perfume,
And the beauty of you within.

So much has changed without you,
Nothing is the same.
I miss you very dearly,
But I love you just the same.
I still have all the memories,
Memories of you and me.
And I will always remember,
The little things of you.

Love always and forever, Brian, Tracy & Del, Megan & Darren, Heather & Ashley, Jessica, Dilon, Shane & Brooklyn. x (C6)

Obituary

Joseph Fiarchuk

Peacefully and in his sleep, on April 8, 2000 Joseph passed on to his eternal resting place.

He was predeceased by his parents: Peter and Mary, brothers: Paul, John and Adam as well as his daughter, Phyllis.

Joe is survived by Annie, his loving wife of 62 years; sons: Steve (Eileen) and Peter (Edie); his grandchildren: Mitch, Darlene, Linda, Terry, Kevin, Sherri and Jolene; his great grandchildren: Krystal, Jake, and Jefferson. He is also survived by his sisters: Katie Korol, Annie Harasymchuk, Nellie (Bill) Hendrick as well as many other relatives and friends.

Joe was born in Winnipeg, on December 14, 1910. He moved to the Elphinstone area at a very young age where he began his much loved country life. He enjoyed clearing the land and built a wonderful homestead for his family. He will also be remembered for his love of fishing, hunting, trapping and his strength of character. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday, April 12, 2000, from St. Jude's Roman Catholic Church, Erickson, with interment following in the parish cemetery. Prayers were said from the church Tuesday evening. Rev. Deacon Conrad Plante officiated. Pallbearers were: Terry Fiarchuk, Kevin Fiarchuk, Wayne Drul, Glenn Kaskow, Myrcel Sbeeshka and Darrell Leganchuk. Crossbearer was Jolene Fiarchuk. If friends so desire donations may be made to the Canadian Cancer Society or the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Manitoba. Rae's Funeral Service of Shoal Lake were in care of arrangements. (C7)

Obituary

Leonard Bruce (L.B.) Gusdal

Len died peacefully in his sleep on Saturday, March 11, 2000 at the age of 68. He was the beloved husband of Doris (Clym), whom he married November 10, 1956. He will be dearly missed by his children, Brent (Karen) Calgary, Darren (Janet) Clear Lake, Blaine (Jane) North Battelford, Danica (Leonard) Camrose, and grandchildren, Megan, Rylee, Mitchell, Melissa, Connor, Kjel.

On August 6, 1931, Leonard was the first baby to be born in Riding Mountain National Park. He spent his childhood years on the Viking Valley farm. He is predeceased by his parents Ludwig "L.B." Senior, and Nellie (Hall). He is survived by his siblings; Martha Neilson-Berg (Erickson), Lenore Dinsdale (Ottawa) and Reverend Delmar Gusdal (Miami, Florida).

In 1951 Len received his Agriculture Diploma from the Brandon Agricultural School. During the first years of their marriage, Len and Dorrie lived in Winnipeg where he served on the Winnipeg Police Force and then worked for the London Life Insurance Co. He took over the Viking Valley farm and seed business in 1970, following the death of his father. His love for the land had brought Leonard to his roots. He farmed this land until his passing.

He was an enthusiastic sportsman and avid baseball player, and spent countless hours taking pleasure in riding the horses he and Dorrie raised. Len took great pride in his children's achievements. He also served on the Erickson Parks Board and the Recreation Committee. He was a member of the Canadian Seed Growers Association. He was a life long member of the Lutheran Church holding many leadership positions. He enjoyed singing with the Erickson Lutheran Church Male Chorus.

His enjoyment of socializing with people from all walks of life was a characteristic that came naturally to Len. The accomplishments of his students gave him great satisfaction in teaching the High School Drivers Education Course for the past 10 years.

The celebration of Leonard's life was held in the Erickson Lutheran Church, Wednesday, March 15th, 2000 at 3:00 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Len's name to the Heart and Stroke Foundation and/or Camp Wannakumbac Memorial Fund.

Pallbearers were Greg Dinsdale, Brock Neilson, Jim Stinson, Leif Gusdal, Jonathon Gusdal and Nolan Gusdal. Sparrow Funeral Service of Minnedosa was in care of arrangements.

"I shall pass this way but once.
Any good therfore that I can do,
Or any kindness that I can show to any human being,
Let me do it now.
Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Obituary

Robert Harold (Bob) Sanderson

Following a brief illness, Bob passed away on Wednesday, March 29, 2000, at the Brandon Regional Health Centre at the age of 84.

He was born at Arran, Saskatchewan, on June 1, 1915, and also received his education there. In 1933, Bob came to the Westmount district where he lived with his grandmother and worked on Uncle Vic's farm. He continued to farm until he retired to Erickson in 1977.

Bob took an active part in the local farm organizations and was a member of the Erickson Lutheran Church, for a number of years serving as its offering recording secretary. He was an avid reader, a frequent visitor to the library, and took a keen interest in world affairs.

Bob was hospitalized in September 1999 an in late January 2000, he became a resident of the Sandy Lake Personal Care Home.

Bob is survived by his brother Vic (Fran), Winnipeg; sister-in-law Eileen Miault, Winnipeg; nephews Ronald (Maureen), Australia; David (Lise), Ottawa; Rodney, Winnipeg; niece Pamela (Kurt) Schlegel, Winnipeg; great-nephew Michael, Australia; great nieces Nicole and Danielle, Ottawa.

He was predeceased by his parents Roy and Henny; brothers Fred, Russell, Frank and Ross; and nephew Douglas.

Funeral service was held in Erickson Lutheran Church on Saturday, April 1st, at 2:00 p.m., with Pastor Lanny Knutson officiating. Interment followed at Erickson Cemetery. Active pallbearers were Wade Shellborn, Leslie McInnes, Stanley Byskal, Rudy Usick, Dennis Larsen and Keith Johnston. Honourary pallbearers were Ferg Challborn, Glen Shellborn, Lloyd Bergeson, Herb Skogstad, Ron Lee and Wendell Johnston.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Bob's memory may be made to the Erickson Lutheran Church or Erickson District Health Centre.

Sparrow Funeral Service of Minnedosa was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Don George Stenson
March 20, 1928 - April 4, 2000

Don passed away in Minnedosa Hospital at age 72. He will be lovingly remembered by many friends and family members. Many special thanks to Dr. Bright and all the nurses (mother goose, mother bear). Thank you to everyone who helped with the funeral preparations too.

You!
Rejected by some,
Loved by most,
You left this world,
To be with the Holy Ghost.
Always remembered,
Lovingly missed.
You are always in our hearts,
You have been from the start.
To a better place you went,
because you were Heaven sent.
You were loving and kind,
A treasure to find!
Love your Minnedosa family. (C7)

Northeast residents in favour of skateboard park ... but somewhere else

By Nancy Chemerika

Mike Kowal attended last week's regular Council meeting to represent residents of the northeast end of town who are opposed to having a skateboard park developed in the Kinsmen Park, also known as Hornsby Park.

Kowal explained that he personally feels that a skateboard park in Minnedosa is a good idea, and could in fact be a tourism draw, but that it should be located in a non-residential area. He added that there were concerns about garbage, washroom facilities, and the noise level in a residential area.

Kowal brought forth a petition, signed by 91 residents, expressing objection and disapproval of the proposed plan to construct a skateboard park in Kinsmen Park, also known as Hornsby Park.

Reading from the petition, Kowal stated, "We feel that we will be the individuals who will be most affected by this action. A skateboard park is a very good idea and is something that is obviously needed in the Town of Minnedosa. However, it is of our opinion that a residential area is not the proper place for the construction of such a facility and that a new non-residential area such as Minnedosa Beach should be considered in this matter. We do not welcome the idea of a skateboard park in our area and wish for Hornsby Park to remain as it presently exists. We trust that our opinions and feelings of disapproval will be taken seriously in the consideration of this matter."

At the previous Council meeting, the Minnedosa Skateboard Association made a proposal that they be allowed to use a portion of the Kinsmen Park in the northeast corner of town for their sport. At that time, Council agreed to consult with the Kinsmen and involved residents. A number of individual letters were received opposing the location of the Park.

After the delegation at last Tuesday's meetings, Council decided to enter into discussions with Rolling River School Division to consider an alternate location.

Dillabough purchased a Golf Course Expansion builder loan in support of the project which will see the current course expanded to 18 holes. He also made a Birdie Level donation.

Builder loans can be purchased for a minimum of $1,000 from Chris Worley at the Pro Shop.

Taylor indicated that The fundraising committee will also gratefully accept donations of any amount. Payment plans for donations and builder loans can be arranged.

The fundraising committee is also working at various other projects including a pay what you pull raffle, and the Packed Auto draw.

Red Coats of the Northwest to set up camp in Minnedosa

By Nancy Chemerika

At last Tuesday's meeting, Council accepted a resolution brought forth by Councillor Graham to have the Red Coats of the Northwest perform a re-enactment at the fairgrounds from July 2nd to 5th.

According to Jim Snow, President of the Red Coats, the group will set up on Sunday, July 2nd, and will perform the re-enactment until Wednesday afternoon.

During their stay, the Red Coats depict the establishing of a fort in the 1886 era, complete with a uniform of black pants and scarlet jackets.

"It is quite appropriate for Tanner's Crossing at Minnedosa," explained Snow. "Visitors will see a day in the life of the Northwest Mounted Police."

The volunteers involved will perform a number of demonstrations throughout their stay including cooking, clothes washing, gun cleaning, a jail complete with a circuit judge, town patrols, drill work on horseback, infantry foot drills, and canon firing. Fundraising activities include hatchet and knife throwing contests, a camp barber, a quilt draw, and donuts sold right off the fire. A portion of the proceeds are donated to WATCH (Westman Associaton for Terminal Care Hospice).

The Red Coats of the Northwest were formed about four years ago. The group currently includes 30 to 35 men, women and children from the Douglas, Brandon, Forrest, Morden, Carberry, Deleau, and Birtle. Snow noted that all volunteers are welcome, as contrary to popular belief those involved are not RCMP members and a love of horses is not a prerequisite.

Although Snow noted that the Red Coats has requests to perform reenactments almost every weekend, the performers eventually get burnt out with the schedule. This year the group will be travelling to Birtle, Rossburn, Minnedosa, Clear Lake, and tentatively Waskada.

"It's Canadian History and we love it," stated Snow. "It involves a lot of work and some expense, but it can be a lot of fun. It makes my heart feel good when I ride into a parade carrying the British flag and the older people stand up and salute. It's our history, and we should be proud of it."

125th Anniversary

Minnedosa celebrates an anniversary of sorts this summer. It will be 125 years since the North West Mounted Police arrived at Tanner's Crossing and began construction of their post. The Post, which lasted for two years, served the area well and was immediately effective in quelling the vast illegal liquor trade which had sprung up along the wild and wooly Carlton Trail.

In 1875, Tanner's Crossing was on the very edge of the frontier. Mail sent to Tanner's stopping house was addressed to the North West Territories as Manitoba's provincial boundaries had stopped near present day Gladstone. From that point on, law and order was sporadic at best and previous to the formation of the NWMP and their march west in 1874, nonexistent.

All that came to a swift and sure end with the arrival of two brothers to Tanner's Crossing. They were Aschel (Ace) and brother Sydney Scouten. Part of their duties included patrolling the vast areas west and north of Tanner's Crossing as well as forwarding dispatches between Fort Dufferin on the Red River and Fort Livingston on the Swan River.

Small stopping places where horses could be fed, watered and rested were also constructed along their patrol routes and some evidence still exists today along the slopes of the Little Saskatchewan River of these NWMP resting areas.

Within two years, progress had moved onward and another post was built near present day Shoal Lake. The Tanner's Crossing Post was closed down and the two Scoutens moved along the trail with it.

Ace Scouten would return to Minnedosa later in life and would operate a local hotel for a time, participate in the gold rush to the Yukon and then retire at Riding Mountain.

Council agreed to tender for the creation of the Town's web site.

Members of Council, and the Town Superintendent, were authorized to attend a meeting with the Manitoba Water Services Board and US Filter, in Winnipeg, May 3rd to discuss the new water plant located in the Town of Minnedosa. The Town has not yet taken over ownership of the plant from Manitoba Water Services Board, because they feel certain specifications have not yet been met.

By-law 2420, being a by-law to set rates and impose taxes for the year 2000 was given second and third reading by Council.

Council agreed to tender for a new garbage truck as per specifications prepared by the Town Superintendent with a delivery date set for January, 2001.

360Networks connected locally

What local riches have been garnered this past week with the Initial Public Offering conducted on behalf of 360Networks, formerly and in part known as Worldwide Fiber or Ledcor Industries? Two relatively obscure industrialists formerly from Leduc, Alberta struck it rich this past week when their new company, 360Networks, was unveiled on both the Toronto and Nasdaq Stock Exchanges. The stock was initially offered to insiders at $20.66 Canadian and then traded as high as $28 by the end of its first day.

Minnedosa's connection with the company occurred last summer when their fiber-optic line stretching from Vancouver, B.C. to Toronto passed through Minnedosa. Several locals where employed in the operation as it passed through this district and then continued on into Saskatchewan and Alberta. For many of those employees, up to 200 shares of the new company, listed on the TSE as TSX were offered at the pre-IPO price of $20.66. The purchase and sale of those 200 shares at the end of the first day of trading would have resulted in a quick profit of $1600. However, with the make-up of the company, its financing strategy and its capability and expressed intention to span the globe with fibre optic cable, the future share price potential is unlimited.

Trenching and installing the fibre optic line through the rail yards in Minnedosa last July.

The company, headed by former Microsoft boss Greg Maffei and financed by Goldman, Sachs of New York has risen from its Leduc roots to suddenly be worth in excess of $3 billion - and with a very large number of shares being owned by present and former employees, has made it the largest blue-collar gold strike in Canadian history. It is estimated that the 180 Ledcor employees own 45% of Ledcor, which, as reported in a recent Canadian Business article, gives them an indirect stake in Worldwide Fiber that is worth more than $760 million.

The company will now embark on its plan to continue its fibre-optic cable network by taking on the North Atlantic. It has recently acquired fibre-optic networks in Europe and plans to link those up with its present cross-Canada network by laying the cable across the Atlantic from North America. As well, it is currently laying networks from San Francisco to New York and have started planning another network from San Diego to Miami.

To say the least, the company has created quite a stir on the international markets with over 8 million shares trading on the first day and has joined other Canadian companies such as JDS, BCE/Nortel, Corel and Research in Motion as some of the top technology companies in the world.

Picture of the Week ...

Alexe Bell, Kyle Robinson, and Ricky Fisher were taught the traditional art of easter egg decorating by Lynn Moffatt, Minnedosa. Both Grade 3 classes from Tanner's Crossing School took part in the lessons last week.

From the Editor's Desk

Big Meetin'.
There will be ample numbers of Reeves, Mayors and Councillors in our town on June 22nd, as Minnedosa will be hosting a district meeting for the Association of Manitoba Municipalities. At the moment, the Chamber has been approached to see if they are interested in running a spouses program. In all, 120 people are expected in town for the day.

Speaking of ...
While the subject was taboo during his tenure as Premier, Opposition Leader Gary Filmon recently touted the idea that it was time for municipalities to unite in order to save money and better influence development opportunitites. Now, the idea has taken hold in Saskatchewan where combining municipalities into counties has been announced to begin this year. You can bet that Premier Doer has taken note and the same course of action will be forthcoming from the Manitoba government at any time.

Guns, guns, guns ...
News is out that the national gun registry has grown to 1,400 employees and now costs taxpayers five times the original estimate. In another note on the same subject, are you aware that the laws kick in next January, and at that time, police will be allowed to seize handguns that remain unregistered under the new laws.

No more pennies ...
The Feds are seriously looking to end the penny and are also looking at introducing a new five dollar coin in the near future. Apparently a study has been commissioned on the possibility. Such things as political and social implications will be studied to death by some lucky consulting agency; no doubt for a fee that will both astound and choke the common taxpayer.

Fore ...
The Minnedosa Golf Club officially opened for play last Tuesday with the driving range being opened previous to that. As well, Pro Tom Betz from the Clear Lake Golf Course in Riding Mountain National Park, let us know that his course has opened as of last Thursday.

Expanding again ...
We still probably have almost two months of NHL playoff hockey to watch yet. Hopefully we will still have at least one Canadian team to cheer for when it does come down to the final two weeks. By the way, in case you hadn't heard, the two new expansion franchises that will join the other teams next season will be called the Columbus Blue Jackets and the Minnesota Wild. How I long for the original, six and exciting hockey.

Rural Forum
Don't forget the upcoming Manitoba Rural Forum to be held at the Keystone Centre starting this Thursday and running through Saturday. The Town will once again have a booth there manned by volunteers from the Chamber of Commerce and we hope, so will a few local cottage industries have their wares on display. The event annually draws about ten thousand people to view the various exhibits and the affair presents a great showcase for new and innovative products and services from the rural area.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Let's see now. Headingly residents and now those living in St. Andrews have voiced their strong opposition to the NDP's go ahead for prospective native casinos in their areas. At the same time towns all over the province are up in arms over the NDP's approval for an expanded hog production industry. Perhaps this newly elected party which hasn't had a taste of power in many years needs a reminder about what democracy is all about.

Manitobans have clearly said that they do not want more casinos that ultimately destroy people's lives nor do they want an increase in hog production which ruins our groundwater system.

What part of this do you not understand Premier Gary Doer?

Sincerely,
Al Yakimchuk

Rick Searle holds book reading at Library

By Nancy Chemerika

Rick Searle, author of Phantom Parks - The Struggle to Save Canada's National Parks, gave a book reading at Minnedosa Regional Library last Thursday afternoon.

Searle, the son of Clayton and Loreen Searle of Minnedosa, spent over a year and a half travelling to 27 of Canada's 39 National Parks with his wife Dianne. At each Park he interviewed Park staff and representatives from local communities, First Nations, environmental groups, etc. He also read documents such as Park Master Plans. Searle's passion for the wild, and a determination to do what he can to see that some of it is protected and maintained in some areas of Canada, inspired him to write his book.

Through his research and subsequent writing, Searle provides the reader with a passionate examination of why Canada's National Parks are failing to protect the wild within, and what must be done to reverse the trend. In his book, Searle outlines several new and radical approaches, including a fundamental change in the way humans perceive the wild and national parks.

Rick Searle was born and raised on the edge of Riding Mountain National Park. His maternal grandfather worked in the forest reserve at a sawmill before the reserve was converted to a National Park. Some of Searle's earliest memories involve going for long walks with his grandfather through the Park. In 1973 Rick was hired as an Interpretive Centre attendant. He later became a Park Interpreter, a position he held until 1979.

Since leaving Parks Canada, Rick has worked for Manitoba Provincial Parks, completed a Master's degree in resource management, and provided consulting services to a variety of park agencies. He teaches in the Department of Geography at University of Victoria, and is the author of numerous articles on park-related issues.

According to Mr. Searle, Canada's National Parks are becoming "phantom" in that they are losing their wildness, the essential quality that sets them apart from the domesticated landscape that surrounds them.

"The Parks still will look beautiful, but they will be phantoms of their former state," explains Searle. "Riding Mountain National Park for example, is in danger of losing the wolves. If this were to happen, the moose and elk could erupt to a point that their numbers would overbrowse the habitat, causing an ecological catastrophe that would have far reaching implications for the entire park. It has happened once before."

Searle feels that many things can be done to stop National Parks from becoming "Phantom" Parks. He notes that the threats that are found within, and around Park boundaries, must be addressed, as well as those threats arising within Parks Canada itself.

"The most important thing to be done is to change the way we view the National Parks from that of profitable playgrounds to sacred trusts wherein we respect the inherent worth of wild species and ecosystems." Searle adds, "Canadians also need to make changes in their own lifestyles. Around RMNP, this could mean seeing that wildlife habitat outside the Parks is protected through municipal zoning or conservation covenants. RMNP must be embedded in a nurturing landscape and connected to other protected areas for it to remain wild."

There are currently 5000 copies of Searle's book in print, courtesy of Key Porter Books. In addition to Ottawa, Toronto, and Minnedosa, Rick's book tour will take him to Vancouver, Victoria, Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton.

Brad Hall wins gold medal

By Nancy Chemerika

Brad Hall, Grade 12 student at MCI, was awarded the Gold Medal at the 3rd Annual Provincial Skills Competition, held April 13 at Red River College.

To win the medal, Brad competed against 20 other high school contestants. He worked at 10 stations for 20 minutes each which tested in a variety of areas including a written component, using a scanning tool to determine a problem area on a vehicle, setting up a differential, a brake inspection, and alternator inspection, among others.

As a result of his top placement in Winnipeg, Brad will be travelling to Quebec City in June to attend a two day Canadian Skills Competition. In Quebec, more than 450 provincial and territorial medallists will participate in 33 separate contest areas. One of the eligible medal winners from each contest will represent Canada at the Youth Skills Olympics in 2001, Seoul Korea.

"Brad has very good potential," stated Dennis Skibinsky, Power Mechanics teacher at MCI. "I think he will make an excellent mechanic."

Brad, the son of Murray and Judy Hall of Minnedosa, has taken Power Mechanics since Grade 9, and plans to attend Assiniboine Community College after graduation for Automotive Mechanics.

Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District holds first Spring Banquet

By Nancy Chemerika

The Little Saskatchewan River Spring Banquet, held in Basswood recently, was well attended by local producers, dignitaries, and fellow conservation organizations.

Greetings were extended by the R.M. of Saskatchewan, Roy Greer, Chairman of the LSRCD Board, MLA Harold Gilleshammer, and MLA Tom Nevakshonoff representing Jean Friesen, Deputy Minister of Intergovernmental Affairs. District Manager, Myles Kopytko recapped LSRCD's first year of operation, and local producer, Bob McNabb discussed the importance of conservation projects.

The Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District commenced operation in January, 1999. The district is a partnership of the Department of Conservation, and the local municipalities and towns involved, including the R.M.'s of Blanshard, Daly, Saskatchewan, parts of Minto, Odanah, Clanwilliam not located in the Whitemud Watershed, and the Towns of Rivers and Minnedosa. The partnership resulted after local councils recognized a need to address some of the resource issues that occur on a broader scale such as controlling runoff and its impacts downstream. There was also a need to address the impact of indiscriminate drainage on the entire watershed, and to develop sustainable farm programs that support long term sustainable farm family values.

"Because many of the issues occur beyond municipal or man-made borders, its critical that issues are looked at regionally, especially where they start and where they end," explained Myles Kopytko, Manager of the Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District. "In any district, the first step to the planning process begins on the landscape, within the watersheds or drainage basins where you can see how the effects of action upstream can impact someone downstream.'

During its first year, LSRCD was involved in three headwater storage projects, over 750 acres were secured to a permanent cover, and four wells were capped throughout the district.

In 2000, the LSRCD plans to continue to promote the district, and expand programming in all areas, as well as looking into new ideas for conservation programming, one of which will be "Classrooms and Creeks". The educational program will be introduced as a pilot project to Erickson Collegiate. The teacher and students will learn watershed principles and resource strategies within their curriculum. In addition, they will be examining their local watershed and explore different options to enhance or maintain their creek within their back yard.

The conservation district program has been on the Manitoba landscape for over 27 years, starting with the Rosedale Farm, which lead to the inception of the Whitemud Watershed in 1972. At the time, the district was formed to help find solutions to problems associated with run off, erosion, and flooding along the Manitoba Escarpment. Following that, the district program grew with five more districts forming in the late 70's and early 80's.

In 2000 there are eleven conservation districts that span over 50% of agro Manitoba. The Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District, situated between the Upper Assiniboine River Conservation District and the Whitemud Watershed Conservation District, was the eleventh district to form in Manitoba.

Above, over 100 people attended the first Spring Banquet of the LSRCD

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

I just had a call from the Tribune office informing me that news has to be in a day earlier due to Good Friday. So this will be short.

Sympathy is extended to the Paul Warwaruk family on Paul's death. Prayers and funeral service were held Monday, April 17th in St. Aphonses Church, Minnedosa with Interment in Erickson Cemetery.

Wally & Frances Yanchycki had all their family home for Easter. They came from Brandon, Portage and Winnipeg.

Former Ericksonians Bob & Eva Sims of Edmonton were Monday visitors with Harry & Almie Paulsen.

COPP's safety tip this week is: Beware of suspicious telephone calls. As well, don't leave a message on your telephone answering machine that would indicate you are on an extended absence.

Recent visitors with Mary Koping were her cousins Mr. & Mrs. John Korberg, Vernon, BC, and Mrs. Hilma Lundman, Enderly, BC and Mrs. Mabel Korberg, Minnedosa.

Jennie Rumak had her daughter Carol Basler of Morden visiting her a few days last week.

Correction from last week: Blaine Pengelly also accompanied his parents Harvey & Carol to visit his brother Ryan in France. They also visited with a former exchange student who had spent some time in their home.

Dave & Fran Pengelly are looking forward to having their son Murray and daughter-in-law Liz and children Christian and Gillian of St. John, NB as guests over Easter.

Work should be starting soon on upgrading the camping facilities on the Centennial grounds. I don't have details but I believe bathrooms and showers are being upgraded and hopefully the Old Manse (Museum) will have work done on improving it. Volunteers would be appreciated.

Henry & Helen Oshust enjoyed a three week holiday with their family in Edmonton and Vancouver.

Keith Johnstons had their daughter Shirley and husband Wilf Sawatsky and their three sons from Winnipeg visiting them last weekend.

Dr. Jennie Jackson, accompanied by her husband Robin Flindahl spent 3 weeks in England recently visiting with their family. They were happy to be there to welcome their second grandchild.

Have you purchased your tickets for the Lutheran Church Annual "Sing and Cert"? See Coming Events (in last weeks issue).

Welcome to Erickson Mr. George Wilson. George came to us from Winnipeg (originally from Onanole) and lives on 3rd Street N.E.

"Wayne's" Restaurant in the Nordic Inn is now in operation. We extend a warm welcome to this new business and wish him a thriving business.

Selma Skoglund is home for the weekend after spending a month with son Dr. Craig.

Britany Woywada had a very busy day on April 11th. She was one of 71 children of the "Dream Flight for Kids" who flew to Disneyworld Florida. A Full day from 4:00 a.m. to 12:30 a.m. makes for tiring experience, but Britany enjoyed every minute of the adventure.

Best wishes to Wendell Johnstone who had eye surgery at Misercordia Eye Centre in Winnipeg on March 20th.

Erickson Homecoming 2000

July is fast approaching. Are you expecting guests for homecoming? It might be a good idea to warn them that accommodations in the area are filling up. Remember as gardening season is coming the colours to think about are red, blue, and gold. Be sure you have your lights ready for the decorating competition.

Shirts and caps with our logo are available at the library in a variety of colours and some children's sizes are being ordered.

Marge Gregorash is still looking for some volunteers to help with registration. Please let her know if you can spare a little time for one morning.

Carole Bergeson has had interest shown in the proposed homecoming quilt. If you would like to make a block please let her know as she needs to plan the size. It can be embroidered, painted, appliqued or done in any other way you fancy. A small fee will be charged for including your block and the quilt will be raffled during homecoming.

We now have confirmation of some exciting events. There will be a pow-wow, presented by the Rolling River First Nation, a pedal-tractor pull, a balloon man for the kids, and a flea market just to name a few.

If you are organizing an event the committee would like to get your confirmation by the end of April.

If you require more information please contact the municipal office or visit our website. Meanwhile, spread the word. We have only three months to go.

Onanole News

By Leona Kucher

Win Whitaker and Leona Kucher attended Assiniboine Presbytery meeting at Isabella on Wed.Apr.12. It was interesting to note that although there are no stores left in the town, there is a church, a hall, a post office, and four museums. How's that for preserving heritage?

Sympathy of the district is extended to the families of Perry George who passed away recently. Perry and his wife had retired to Onanole to be near their son Lamont and his family.

Rick and Sharon Kucher and family spent Easter with their parents, Frank and Leona Kucher.

Happy Easter to everyone.

Basswood News

by Zelda Firby

Many from the area attended the excellent performance of "Calamity Jane" at Strathclair. All who took part in the play are to be congratulated for their hard work.

Stan & Zelda Firby attended the memorial service in Winnipeg for Jesse Sturtevant of St. Albert, AB on Monday, April 17th. Jesse & his wife Dorothy owned the Gateway Motel in Minnedosa a number of years ago. Jim & Gladys Murray of Minnedosa also attended the service.

Sunday, April 16th, friends & family gathered at the Basswood Hall to honour Shelley Winder with a bridal shower. Shelley was the recipient of many useful gifts. After opening the gifts Shelley thanked all those present. A time of visiting and refreshments followed.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING OF Sandy Lake Consumers Cooperative Limited

Take notice that the Annual Meeting of Sandy Lake Consumers Cooperative Limited will be held:

Date: May 8th, 2000
Time: 8:00 p.m.
Location:
Sandy Lake Community Hall

To consider:

1. The business that is usually brought before the annual meeting as permitted by the charter by-laws;
2. A special resolution to amend the articles of the Cooperative to comply with the new Cooperatives Act; and
3. An ordinary resolution to repeal the existing charter by-laws and replace them with new by-laws to comply with the new Cooperatives Act.

Copies of the exact wording of the proposed resolutions regarding articles and by-laws are available for members to pick up at Sandy Lake Consumers Cooperative.
The following is a summary of the proposed new provisions.

Proposed Amendments to the Articles

- Co-op to have between 5 and 7 directors.
- No restrictions on the business the Cooperative may carry on.
- Authorized membership share capital to be unlimited.
- Maximum rate of return on membership shares, member loans, and/or patronage loans to be as specified in the regulations under The Cooperatives Act.
- Method of distributing surplus upon dissolution to be specified in the articles.
- Restrictions on the issue, transfer, and ownership of shares to be specified in the articles (previously by-laws).
- The Cooperative is organized on, operates on, and carries on business on a cooperative basis.

Proposed Replacements By-laws

- Board to determine actual number of directors to constitute a full board, within the range set in the articles.
- Employees and commission operators not qualified to be directors.
- A member with an account more than 90 days in arrears is not qualified to be a director.
- A member who has not purchased at least $1,000 worth of goods and services from the Co-op in the last financial year is not qualified to be a director.
- Greater detail on procedures for electing directors.
- Some changes in directors' meeting procedures.
- Directors' conflict of interest rules are now as stated in the Act.
- Mandatory indemnity of directors in certain cases.
- Board termination of a membership requires board special resolution, not ordinary resolution.
- A member no longer has a right of appeal to the Registrar if his/her membership is terminated.
- Membership now stated to be "open to all who can use the services of the Co-op and meet the responsibilities of membership".
- Directors approve the allocation rate (previously approved by members).
- Priorities for paying out membership shares put general repayment before withdrawal for reasons of bankruptcy, receivership, and personal choice.
- Co-op must notify members of the number of membership shares that will be purchased on their behalf by application of patronage refunds.
- Directors may pass new by-laws not inconsistent with existing by-laws, but must obtain members' approval at next meeting of members.
- By-laws cannot be amended at a meeting of members unless notice of proposed amendment is given with notice of meeting.
- By-law amendments effective on date passed or date stated in motion to amend, but not retroactively.
- Record date for a meeting of members is 30 days before meeting.
- Notices of meetings may be sent electronically.

Sandy Lake News

Eddy and Ida Andreychuk spent a day in Dauphin visiting with Paul Coulson at the Personal Care Home. They also visited his wife Jennie. They visited with their Aunt Jean Mytruk. Jean lived in Richmond BC for many years before returning to Manitoba last August.

Congratulations to Blair and Pam Bachewich on the birth of their daughter, a sister for Tyson.

Maurice and Margaret Mayor of Kenora ON visited a few days with Eddy and Ida Andreychuk.

Members of the Sandy Lake Legion Auxiliary, at their April meeting continued with plans for the Quilt Raffle and Bake Sale in May. The quilt, which was set up the in Drop-In Centre is nearing completion and tickets are ready to go on sale. Meeting agenda also included the following; an invitation to attend the Volunteer Tea 2000 at the local Personal Care Home, correspondence regarding the 38th annual Legion Athletic Camp in July and August at the International Peace Gardens, Heart and Stroke canvass convener Joyce Coulson reported that $485.00 had been collected from the February canvass, report of the district meeting at Shoal Lake, and information on the publication of "Women of the War Years" which is being compiled by a committee in Gladstone. A motion followed that we purchase a copy for our Auxiliary. This book is a record of women who served in our Armed Services, worked for the war effort in one way or another, as well as many stories of war brides. The Legion Branch suggested making plans for the Trans Canada Trail Relay on June 22 when it will pass through Sandy Lake.

The Drop-In Centre held their April Birthday Bash on Saturday afternoon. Seated at the decorated table were Joe Hnatiuk, Rose Koversky, Dan and Anne Zatylny and Jean Nechweduik. Congratulations to Joe on his 90th and Jean on her 80th birthday!

Spring fashions will be coming to the Drop-In in early May. Please check the coming events column and watch for posters in the community. Anyone wishing to model some of the clothes is welcome to report to the Centre.

Easter 2000 and shown in the photo are students at the Sandy Lake School all very intent on drawing straight lines at the Pysanka workshop. The school has been promoting this tradition for the past 30 years since Henry Tkachuk invited ladies from the area and organized a workshop for his art class. For the past number of years the Ukranian Cultural Heritage Museum group have undertaken to sponsor this event, also an Easter bread, the Paska workshop which was held on April 19th. Four workshops were held at the school, the S.L. Rec Centre, the Drop-in-Centre and the Nursing Home. Every student should have brought home a small freshly baked decorated Paska - if they didn't eat it on the way home!

Bravo! to the Strathclair Drama group for a most entertaining evening with Calamity Jane! There has been nothing but praise from all the Sandy Lake folks who attended.

Helen and Deb Maluk and Robert Mandzuk motored to Saskatoon for a few days to visit Rosanne Maluk.

Robert Mandzuk has returned home to St. Catharines after visiting here with his mother and other family. Brandon University Basketball Coach Jerry Hemmings joined him during the weekend and they will travel to Charlotteville, Virginia to visit Robert's daughter Risa at the University, then on to North and South Carolina to visit Jerry's family.

The smell of fresh baked bread hung over our town as several of the local ladies worked with the school children on a Paska Making workshop. Groups were stationed at the school, at the Curling Rink, at the Drop-In and at the Nursing Home. The experience was enjoyed by all - it's hoped that some of the Paskas made it home for the families to see.

March 24th visitors at Irene Shandala & son Brian were Mr. & Mrs. Stan Modrowski and Joan of Toronto and Mr. Joe Andreychuk of Newdale. Mrs. Marcie Pollack visited Irene & Brian Shandala April 15th. Mr. Wendall Misanchuk visited and had business while staying at Irene Shandala's.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

Volunteer Week was observed in most communities where there is a Hospital or Personal Care Home, and also by local people to neighbours. The following is a poem clipped out of the Pilot Mound Sentinel that arrived at my door recently and well worth passing on for no matter what time of the year:

"The Volunteer - Evaluation of Worth (by The Veteran)
Not how long did he serve, but what was the yield,
And how did he accomplish the tasks in his field?
Not what did he gain, but what did he give,
To make it easier for his brothers to live?
Not what was his position, but had he a heart,
And how did he carry his load and his part?
To combat abuse, disadvantage and greed;
Was his purpose to help others in need?
Not what was his philosophy, nor was he fulfilled?
But was he decisive always ready to build?
To make life abundant, full of compassion,
Did he willingly go to serve in his fashion?
These are the units to measure the worth
Of a volunteer worker, regardless of birth.
All of these things, and much more still,
Are God-given gifts to use if you will.
As your brother's keeper, his helper, his friend
In volunteer service, your tasks never end."

Eric and Evelyn Rapley of Strathclair accompanied Olive Waddell and Eva Mackie (Minnedosa) to Carberry to play in the Seniors Regional Crokinole play offs on April 14th. There were five tables of skillful participants with Miniota, Lenore and Rivers teams taking the honours. An assortment of tasty foods and great fellowship of former and new acquaintances made the trip to and from Carberry an interesting and fun activity.

Newdale 4-H club held their achievement on Saturday, April 15, 2000 in the Community Hall. Several local people and members' parents attended and viewed the eight projects by thirteen members.

Head Leader for the year was Pat Baker, President Melissa Robertson, Secretary-Treasurer - Nicole Tolton, all gave glowing remarks on their years' work. Judge of the projects was Joanne Baker of Virden. A tasty time and a time of fellowship closed a very interesting afternoon.

Palm/Passion Sunday - April 16th:

A beautiful lily about to bloom graced the platform in the Newdale United Church. The scene of the Choir and Sunday School children walking down the aisle and waving palm branches and with congregation, singing "Hosannah, Loud Hosannah", was symbolic of Jesus the week before the crucifixion. Related scripture included the events of Holy Week leading up to Easter, from the plotting, through the Last Supper and Trial, to crucifixion. Rev. Hunter "invites us to consider what it means to live with passion...to consider the possibility of living not to just survive, but to live with conviction and courage and passion for that which we value and believe in, and for those for whom we care...live fully with our hearts and be Jesus' passionate people in our day."

Congratulations and best wishes were extended to Barbara and Dennis Pedersen on this, their 34th Anniversary.

Some of the early ones home from University are Tara Wight and Karen Delgarno.

Xisra Lamb, Shirley Pederson, Ann Patterson, Doreen Kienas and Phyllis Tolton attended the Regional W.I. Convention at Virden on Wed., April 12, 2000. This Newdale Group presided over the Memorial Service.

The sale of farm machinery of Terry and Ruth Wareham drew a large crowd on Wed., April 19, 2000. The Newdale Ladies Curling Club served lunches during the day.

Thirteen adults were represented at the Newdale United Church Congregational meeting held Wed., April 19th. Much discussion took place regarding events in this Millennium year, and many people of the faith are needed to carry on the work.

Think Thoughts (Selected)
"If you cannot plant a garden,
Sow a seed;
If you can't feed all the hungry,
Fill one need.
The seed you sow may someday bloom,
And spread,
And your loaf supply a multitude
With bread." (H.I.)

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

The Oak River Legion - Cardale members recently canvassed the Cardale area collecting for the Canadian Red Cross - $660.00 was realized Thanks to all who took part.

The Oak River Legion has also been selling tulip bulbs (from Holland) which are to be planted next fall and will hopefully bloom in the spring of 2001 - which will mark the 75th Anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion - it was formed in 1926.

These tulip bulbs are being sold across Canada in the hope that they will mark the Anniversary in a colorful way.

Jerry and Lisa Kletke and daughter of Winnipeg and Cliff and Marilyn Cullen and three boys of Glenboro visited at the home of Ed and Cathy Shaw on Saturday and Sunday the 15th and 16th of April.

Ian Fortune and Chad Peters participated in the Major Pee Wee Regional Hockey Tournament which was held in Minnedosa on the weekend.

Barry and Helen Hole from Boissevain and Dave and Claire Day from Dand were supper guests at the home of Lorne & Fran Radcliffe when on their way to the drama at Strathclair.

Ross and Annilore White from Winkler were over night guests at the Radcliffe home when they went to the drama.

Terry and Melanie Radcliffe visited with Melanie's father in Winnipeg on the weekend. The children stayed with their grandparents Lorne and Frances.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the Genung family on the passing of father, grandfather, great grandfather Maurice Genung, who passed away on Friday, April 14th in Hamiota hospital. The funeral was held in Oak River United Church on Tuesday, April 18th.

A large number of Cardale folks attended the Strathclair Drama "Calamity Jane". Everyone reported a very enjoyable evening. Even the weather man cooperated - no fog, snow etc.

A number of Cardale ladies enjoyed the Celebration Century Tea which was held in the Hamiota Community Center on Saturday.

Over 200 people signed the guest book and most people were wearing "Hats". There were old hats and new hats, fancy hats and comic hats - even a few gardening hats, bring back memories of when all ladies wore hats!

Nora Kirk did a great job - recalling the events of Hamiota's history. Lunch of angelcake and tea was served. "In all a great day".

George sez: "Dieters are people who get up every morning and the first thing they say is "Mirror, Mirror on the dresser" - "do I look a little lesser!"

Newdale UCW News

Newdale U.C.W. met on April 6, 2000, Xisra Lamb presiding and 6 members present.

Committee reports were given. Olive Waddell has Regal Easter Cards on hand if anyone wishes to purchase them.

Friendship report - 2 birthday cards, 3 sympathy cards, 2 get well cards were sent or delivered.

Church Board meetings: Newdale April 19, Cardale April 24. There will be a Good Friday Service at Strathclair April 21 at 7:00 p.m.

Donations were made to Newdale Church Board & Prairie Spirit Camp.

Thank you to Gail Tolton for auditing the Treasurer books.

Hilda Davies had the program showing the video "House upon the sand", telling of the growing gap between the rich and poor.

The meeting closed with an Easter Prayer followed by a fellowship hour during which we enjoyed a delicious lunch served by Xisra Lamb.

Newdale History Book

Above, Duncan Waddell, Chairman of the Newdale Historical Society, displays an old photo that will be used in the upcoming Newdale History Book. He and his committee are continuing to collect material for the history book which will be published this year.

Second annual Greenwing Nest Box Check

On the snowy afternoon of Sunday, April 9, eleven Greenwing youth and five adult volunteers met at the Minnedosa Golf Course...but not to golf. Instead of driving a ball down a fairway their mission was to check, clean out and if necessary repair thirteen cedar nest boxes installed along the Little Saskatchewan River as it passes along the golf course. These boxes were built by Minnedosa Greenwings three years ago and with permission from the Minnedosa Golf Club were installed in November of 1997. The boxes were designed for cavity nesting ducks (did you know that in Manitoba we have five species of ducks which nest exclusively in trees?) and so what better place close to home and the river to place the boxes. While the "target" duck to have nesting in one of the boxes some year is the colorful Wood Duck the kids don't seem to mind what uses them. The past winter saw Red Squirrels using five boxes while a Northern Flicker (a woodpecker) used one. However the real highlight of Sunday's nest box check was seeing a little Northern Saw-whet Owl poke its head out of a box hole - a "lifer" for most of the gang! Soft drinks and donuts were served following the two hour event. A special thanks goes to Richard Brugger and Pete Stevenson for their enthusiastic support and to Heritage Co-op and the Minnedosa Bakery for the treats.

Ducks Unlimited's Greenwings are keen participants up to age 17 who take part in hands on activities aimed at increasing awareness and appreciation of wildlife and their habitats. They learn about wetlands, wildlife and conservation and have fun doing it! For more information give the Minnedosa DU Office a call at 867-5228.

RCMP Community Question & Answer

Q. What is the CAT (Combat Auto Theft) Program?

A. This is a good question, in light of the fact that auto theft is such a big problem, especially in the larger centres. Small towns, however, are not immune to this type of crime. Minnedosa can certainly attest to this. One night Minnedosa had 3 vehicles stolen, and 4 more attempted thefts. The CAT Program is sponsored by Manitoba Public Insurance and Manitoba Justice in the province of Manitoba. In order to join the program, a motorist has to complete a registration form, which can be picked up at your local RCMP detachment. The registrant states on the application that his/her vehicle is rarely driven between 1:00 a.m. and 5:00 a.m., a prime time for auto theft. The applicant receives a reflective decal, which is placed on his/her vehicle. If the police see a vehicle with a CAT decal being driven between 1:00 a.m. and 5:00 a.m., they will stop it and verify the driver's licence and vehicle registration. (It would be a good idea, therefore, not to leave your registration in your vehicle!) Does CAT work? Of the 10,000 vehicles registered in Winnipeg since 1990, only 3 have been stolen. CAT registered vehicles are 60 times less likely to be stolen than vehicles not registered in the CAT program.

Q. What is the speed limit for a tractor?

A. The speed limit for a farm tractor on a highway, (which includes, essentially, any roadway that is accessible to the public), is 40 km/hr. The fine for exceeding this speed limit is $74.00.

Q. Say I find myself in the back of a police vehicle and the police officer is demanding that I blow into the Alcohol Screening Device. Am I entitled to a lawyer? What if I refuse to blow?

A. An Alcohol Screening Device is an approved device designed to ascertain the presence of alcohol in the blood of a person. Under Section 10(b) of the Charter of Rights, any person who is arrested or detained has the right to retain and instruct counsel without delay. However, the courts have ruled that a motorist who has been read the Alcohol Screening Device Demand is not entitled to retain counsel since it does not constitute an unreasonable delay. If a person refuses to provide a sample of their breath which is suitable for analysis, he/she will be charged with refusing or failing to comply with the demand, and may be placed under arrest. The driver will then be issued a court document to attend court. In addition, the driver's licence will be suspended for 24 hours from the time of the offence, and then, after a 7 day "grace" period, it will be suspended for an additional 90 days. If convicted of refusal, the driver will receive a fine of at least $300.00 for a first offence and not more than 5 years in jail. For a second offence, the sentence is not less than 14 days in jail and not more than 5 years of imprisonment. In addition, the driver's licence will be suspended, both by the courts and by the Motor Vehicle Branch. He/she will also end up with a criminal record.

Get Acquainted with a Dietician

The role of nutrition on our well being has become evident. As early as the 5th century, Hyppocrates advice was "Let food be your medicine". Diet can play a part in prevention of disease as well as in the treatment of disease, and can speed up the process of recovery in time of illness. No one knows more about nutrition than a Registered Dietician and there are a number of them in the Westman area.

What is a Registered Dietician?

They are specialists in nutrition who have a bachelor degree majoring in foods/nutrition and in addition have completed a dietetic internship from an accredited program. You will find dieticians working in a variety of settings. They work in hospitals and long term care facilities as clinical dieticians where treatment and/or prevention of disease is the goal.

Community dieticians focus on wellness and prevention of disease.

Administrative dieticians work to ensure that the provision of food is safe and healthy.

Soil Temperatures

As of last Thursday at 9:00 in the morning here are some local soil temperatures. On a black summerfallow field it was 8°C at 1 inch and 5°C at 2 inches. I went to a heavy stubble canola field. The temperatures under one inch of canola chaff were 4°C at 1 inch and 2°C at 2 inches. I also found as heavy trash cereal field as I could and checked under one inch of cereal trash. The temperatures were the same as the canola field. A few feet away was some black soil in this field and not surprisingly it had the same temperatures as the summerfallow field. So why does crop sown in zero till fields not come up uneven due to the difference in soil temperatures between black soil and soil under trash? The answer lies in the seeding implement used and the sun. Most direct seeding drills have hoe type openers which push the majority of the trash to the side of the seed row. This leaves the majority of the seed row black. Combine that fact with the mixing of soil in the top inch or two and the sun's heating ability on that fresh seed row and you get even germination on what was uneven soil temperatures.

I only measure temperatures to two inches because I don't feel there is a need to seed any deeper if there is good moisture to that level. In fact, research has shown one inch seeding depth to be higher yielding than two inches. If the weather is as warm this past weekend as the forecast said it would be I wouldn't be worried about starting seeding this week. Wheat, oats, barley and peas all germinate at 1 - 5°C. I feel we need to pay more attention to Mother Nature than the calendar. And Mother Nature is telling us the land is drying up nicely and is ready for seeding. There could be snow or cold days yet but I would rather have 2 or 3 fields sown too early than 2 or 3 fields sown too late. Yield data shows the too early fields outyielded and outgrade too late fields. Odds are very good that if a severe weather change occurred it won't cause you to have to reseed. But if you did have to reseed a field or two, I would rather do that in May than be caught seeding later than that in June.

Fly a kite in the clear blue sky

If someone tells you to go fly a kite, don't be offended. Give it a try!

Manitoba's wide open spaces are the perfect places for kite flying on a warm spring day. Before you unroll the string, take a look up and be sure there are no overhead power lines in the way. If you spot a line, move to a safe location where you'll have plenty of room to watch your kite soar.

Kite strings have the potential to conduct electricity. Contact with an electrical source can result in shock and burns, possibly fatal. To make matters worse, some strings have fine wire woven into them that makes them even better conductors. If you're buying new string, pick one without the wire inside and encourage your friends to do the same.

It's also important to pick the right weather for flying. Never head out when clouds are dark or there's thunder booming and lightning flashing in the distance. If your string is damp or dirty, it has a better chance of conducting electricity. Remember that electricity travels extremely fast. There's no time to drop the string if your kite touches a power line or is struck by lightning. Model airplanes on strings and metallic balloons have the same potential to conduct electricity and cause serious injuries.

If your kite gets caught in a tree that's near a power line, tell an adult to call Manitoba Hydro. Never try to get it down yourself.

Crafts For All Seasons

by Brenda Dowsett

Dana Bailey, Adrianne Gogal, Kirsten Quesnel, and Karen Bailey are all enjoying this new 4-H project, which offers them a wide variety of craft ideas. Since October they have been meeting 3 times a month. Their parents have been helping them learn the skills required to make the projects. So far they have made stained glass items, tin can angels, foam magnet frames, potpourri, quilting and podgy crafts.

The girls say their favorite crafts are the quilting, the stained glass, and the tin can angels. They are very close to having all of their items finished along with the project books that need to be completed by Achievement at the end of April. We will look forward to seeing your display at achievement, girls.

'Spirit and Diversity' of Manitoba on display at Rural Forum 2000

Manitobans will have an opportunity to explore the spirit and diversity of the province without leaving the Keystone Centre in Brandon, the site of Rural Forum 2000 and three days of learning, networking, browsing and food sampling April 27 to 29.

With hundreds of displays, dozens of seminars, local entertainment and a food court, the forum is one of the largest community and business events in Western Canada.

"Visitors to the forum have an opportunity to enjoy the diversity of Manitoba that will be on display and to share and celebrate the success of Manitoba's communities," said Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Jean Friesen.

Rural Forum is organized by Intergovernmental Affairs, along with 28 partners representing public and private sector organizations and businesses. The theme of this year's event is 'Building Our Communities Through Learning.'

Highlights of this year's forum include:

- Silken Laumann, Olympic champion, will relive her story of teamwork, trust and triumph at the Rural Forum's opening ceremony at 10 a.m., Thursday, April 27. She will be joined by Premier Gary Doer, who will bring greetings and also attend a special youth leadership session.

Seminars will focus on helping delegates to develop or enhance their skills and learn how to create opportunities in their communities. Topics include: community approaches to lifelong learning, opportunities in the Manitoba film industry and community event planning and tourism development.

- Three special workshops—"Taking Care of You," "The Three Basics to Successful Communication," and "Activities Management—Women in Business"—will aim to help women in business. The workshops will be led by Barbara Thrasher, author of the national best seller, Smart Women.

- An expanded Flavour of Manitoba Food Court welcomes the Food of the Festivals and will include two dozen food stations. In addition, the Food Court will feature live entertainment by Manitoba performers, as well as craft and food demonstrations.

- 'Two Grumpy Guys in the Kitchen' TV hosts and broadcast legends, Lee Major and Don Percy, will perform their culinary feats live during four shows: Thursday, April 27, at 6 p.m., Friday, April 28, at 5 p.m. and Saturday, April 29, at 12:30 and 2 p.m.

- 'Manitobans into the Millennium' is one of this year's feature displays. It will include the Community Time Capsule where communities and municipalities from across the province have been invited to contribute items of historic and local importance. The display will also provide a glimpse into the future to show how technology and innovation are shaping our communities.

- Manitoba singer Travis Barré with 'Wild Orchid' will headline a Thursday evening mixer at the Victoria Inn. On Friday, the Celebration Banquet returns, featuring Manitoba food and a spectacular showcase of Manitoba cultural performers.

For the first time this year, Rural Forum, in partnership with Greyhound Canada and Grey Goose Bus Lines will offer free bus service to the forum. Two buses will depart the Winnipeg Bus Terminal on Thursday, April 27, at 7 a.m., stopping at Unicity Mall at approximately 7:15 a.m. The buses will return to Winnipeg at 6:30 p.m.

One bus will leave the Winnipeg Bus Terminal on Friday, April 28, at 9 a.m., stopping at the Unicity Mall at 9:15 a.m. and returning to Winnipeg at 6:30 p.m. Space is limited and a reservation should be made by calling 945-1845.

The bus lines also are offering reduced bus fares to residents living north of the 53rd parallel. Northern residents planning to attend the forum must register first before receiving a voucher that will entitle them to reduced bus fares.

Daily admission to Rural Forum 2000 is: adults, $3; seniors, $2; and students and children, free of charge.

4-H Youth Discover Healthy Eating

by Brenda Dowsett

Brad LeBoutillier, Paul Harrison, and Michael Olenick are 4-H members who don't leave all the cooking for their mothers to do. They are taking a 4-H project called Discovering Your Food Choices. The project encourages the members to make healthy food choices by learning more about the food groups and how to prepare meals using a healthy balance of those groups. Their parents have been giving them some assistance with their project and they've been holding two meetings for each until they cover. At the first meeting they learn about the food, discuss what food to use, and do their project workbook. At the second meeting they cook their meal, and of course eat the finished product, which they say has been really tasty. So if you're looking for some tips on healthy eating, or a break from the kitchen, give the boys a call. We'll be looking forward to some taste tests at Achievement Day.

TCS Topics

Spring has sprung at good old TCS. The weather this week has been great for the start of track practices and badminton is in it's last week of practices before the final tournament this Saturday. Parents are needed to help with the canteen at the school and rink so please contact the school if you can help. The students involved in the spring musical have been busy practicing their play Gone With The Breeze. The date has not yet been set but will be some time toward the end of May.

Our three choirs performed in the Rolling River Festival and did a wonderful job. Special thanks to Mrs. Shirley Dyck for being our accompanist for the day. Wind up parties for the choirs are just around the corner so watch for letters to come home.

Obituary

Paul Jano Donald Warwaruk

Paul Jano Donald Warwaruk passed away on April 12, 2000 at Minnedosa District Hospital, Minnedosa, MB.

Paul was predeceased by his son Mario, Parents Peter and Katherine and In-laws Mike and Mary Nowodile.

Paul will be lovingly remembered by his wife Marion, sons Jano and Joseph and daughters Pauline and Julietta. His brothers Roman (Marguerite), Julian (Jean), Lawrence, sister Linda Ryback (Peter) and sister-in-law Steffie Prydun (Milton). Many nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, cousins and friends.

Paul Warwaruk was born February 10, 1935, at Mrs. Val Bizzo's Nursing Home, Erickson, Manitoba to Peter and Katherine Warwaruk. He lived out his childhood on their homestead about four miles south of Erickson. Paul attended Westmount and Erickson High School, graduating in 1951.

The family were members of the St. Jude's Roman Catholic Church in Erickson where Paul was an Alter Boy. He participated in digging the basement for the new St. Jude's Church.

Paul remained on the farm where he learned valuable farming skills, such as being able to fix his own machinery. In 1961, Paul bought a farm west of Newdale, Manitoba where he put a lot of work into ditching and clearing the land. Paul continued to live and farm at home and at Newdale. He met Marion Nowadile of Winnipeg in 1968. They married on July 11, 1970 at the Holy Eucharist Ukrainian Catholic Church in Winnipeg.

Paul and Marion started their married life together on the homestead until they bought a farm one mile south of Erickson and it became their home. Over time, they expanded their farm, which eventually grew to the size of twelve hundred acres and he loved every minute he spent farming it. Paul's garden was a perfect example of how he liked things kept, neat and tidy. Paul found the winters long. He looked forward to getting out in the field, planting his crops and watching them grow.

Even though Paul would have many late nights farming, he still found time to spend with his children. Paul had a lot of pride in his family which was his most prized possession. He took his family fishing to Moon Lake and also on family trips to the States and out west. In the early 1990's, Paul and his family became members of the St. Alphonsus Church in Minnedosa.

Paul was a hard worker which led him to various businesses. Which included clearing land with his bull dozer, cutting logs in the park and a retail lumber yard, P&M Lumber. Paul enjoyed the customer interaction part of running the businesses. The lumber yard brought on a love for carpentry. He had many projects which included designing and building their home. Due to a series of brain tumors which started in 1984, the lumber yard came to an end and farming became the priority.

Over the past sixteen years Paul continued his love for farming, but was slowed down by his health. He will be sadly missed by his family and friends.

Pallbearers were Paul's nephews Lawrence, Christopher, Eugene and Murray Warwaruk and Derek and Vernon Ryback. Cross bearer was niece Carmela Warwaruk. Readers were nieces Bernadette and Juliana Warwaruk.

Prayers were held on April 16, 2000 and Mass on April 17, 2000 at St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, Minnedosa, Manitoba. Interment was at St. Jude's Cemetery, Erickson, Manitoba along side his son Mario. Officiating the services were Fr. Sean Cahill, Amaranth and Deacon Conrad Plante, Erickson.

Donations to the St. Alphonsus Church landscaping fund Box 241 Minnedosa, MB R0I 1E0 or a charity of one's choice would be appreciated by the family.

Sparrow Funeral Service, Minnedosa in care of arrangements. (C7)

In Memoriam

McKay - In loving memory of Harvey, beloved Husband, Father, Grandfather and Great Grandfather, who passed away April 26th, 1996.

As time goes on without you,
And days turn into years,
They hold a million memories
And a thousand silent tears.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain
To walk with us throughout our lives
Until we meet again.

Lovingly remembered by wife Vera and Family. (C6)

In Memoriam

McKay - In loving memory of my husband and Free's father, John Melvin McKay who died April 16, 1998 at the age of 38. John we think of you often, though we can't see you, we know you are always with us; Helping…Watching… In memory of you, we dedicate this poem from author unknown.

It's not a matter of years that a man has been around,
Or the trail in life he chooses to take,
But, it's the things he does for everyone,
That makes a man so great!

And Dear; You are great! We love you always, Muriel, Free & Kristy.
May the pussy willows bloom!

Inky Mark M.P. - Voice in Ottawa

Canadian Alliance releases report from ASAP Task Force

Last week the Canadian Alliance agriculture team released the report from the Action for Struggling Agriculture Producers (ASAP) Task Force.

Dauphin-Swan River MP Inky Mark unveiled the results of months of direct consultations with farmers struggling with the lowest incomes since the great depression.

"The ASAP tour cut a wide swath through Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in an effort to develop long-term solutions to the agriculture crisis. Our policy decisions are based on farmers' input," stated Mark.

In November, 1999, the ASAP tour was struck by the Canadian Alliance Caucus in response the income crisis facing Canadian Agriculture and the lack of concern and action for this crisis by the federal government.

"During the ASAP tour, we conducted 70 meetings and heard from over 3,500 farmers in five different provinces. The policy suggestions from farmers contained in the ASAP report are the views of producers who attended the ASAP meetings, " noted Mark.

"It is the first year of a new millennium. We know current problems in the agriculture sector are driving the food producers of this country to get their rations from food banks. Today's farmers cannot survive on 1935 wages," Mark stated

Key results from a questionnaire distributed at the ASAP meetings are:

- 74% of farmers believe it will be difficult or impossible to continue farming
- 88% of farmers believe that the government's AIDA program has failed
- 90% of farmers want the government to reduce the federal cost burden on farmers
- 75% of farmers want the government to encourage value added processing like the prairie pasta producers
- 78% of farmers want a voluntary Canadian Wheat Board
- 79% of farmers believe Canada has failed at international negotiations and the federal government should immediately launch an aggressive international campaign to reduce (and eventually) eliminate foreign subsidies.

Key Issues Raised by Farmers

- the failure of the AIDA program
- the impact of high foreign subsidies and the need for an aggressive Canadian campaign against them
- the need for a reliable long term safety net
- the cost burden imposed on farmers by the federal government
- the need for grain transportation reform
- the need for more farmer-driven, value added processing
- the need to reform the Canadian Wheat Board
- the need to reduce interprovincial trade barriers
- concerns over proposed environmental legislation
- concerns regarding genetically modified organisms
- the human impact of the farm income crisis, and
- the need to better educate the urban population regarding the impact of the farm income crisis

The auditor general released his annual report last week, and several findings caught my eye. To nobody's surprise resource and administration problems within the RCMP included licence applications and firearms registration. Some 404 full-time employees are stuck administering the program at a cost of $19-million.

The AG also pointed out serious flaws in the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs. The department does not have a handle on how education funds are being spent, an education system, which is 23 years behind the public system, used by other Canadians. Some $1- billion is being spent on an unacceptable status quo education system for First Nations students.

The four opposition parties put on a rare show of unity Thursday and urged the Liberal government to hold an independent public inquiry into bungling and political interference in job creation programs. HRDC Minister Jane Stewart dismissed the request as "rantings and ravings". But some of these rantings include: misappropriation of funds; grants approved after payments were made; tampering with documents; influence-peddling; and the use of public money for political gain. I think taxpayers deserve real answers to this billion-dollar boondoggle.

Book Marks

I have re-introduced a Private Member's Bill in the House of Commons, which would change the income tax act to benefit registered charities. Bill C-474 levels the playing field between registered charities and political parties, regarding the percentage of gifts that may be deducted from tax. The majority of Canadians contribute an average of $239 annually. If those dollars go to charities, donors receive a very reduced rate of tax credit compared to donations to federal political parties. This bill takes away that political advantage for donations. Some 30 thousand signatures in support of Bill C-474 have rolled in from individuals and charitable organizations across the country.

Bench Marks

Governor-General Adrienne Clarkson gave royal assent to the historic and controversial $487-million Nisga'a land claim agreement in Ottawa last Thursday. The ramifications of this deal will have far-reaching effects, because it basically creates a semi-soverign state within Canada. It will also be used as a template for future treaties.

A Canadian Alliance call for a First Nations Ombudsman was recently shot down by Parliament. The bill would have allowed the Ombudsman to investigate complaints relating to administration and communication problems within First Nations.

The controversial Same-Sex Bill was railroaded through the House last week. Bill C-23 gives out marriage-like benefits, without defining marriage in legislation. In a riding survey last year, over 79 per cent of respondents did not agree with the concept of same-sex benefits.

The Canadian Alliance will unveil long-awaited details of their ASAP (Action for Struggling Agriculture Producers) meetings, which toured the Prairie Provinces earlier this year. I will be holding a media Tele-conference from Winnipeg Thursday April 20th to discuss findings from the meetings, which made their way through the riding last December.

Did You Know?

I had the opportunity last week to have lunch with two young ladies from our riding, who were in Ottawa for a seminar. Melissa Byer from Alonsa and Nicole Tolton from Newdale were in Ottawa for the 2000 National 4-H Seminar.

Rotary book sale deemed a success

The 2nd Rotary Used book sale was a huge success judging by the number of donations and purchases that took place at the former Idle Moments store in Minnedosa.

Since the inception of the Used Book Sale last year, between 4,000 and 5,000 used books, have found a new home. According to John Neable, Minnedosa Rotary member, a number of positive comments were received about the initiative taken by the Rotary Club to recycle the used books within the community.

Because of the success of the first two years, plans are to continue with a third sale next year, which may be expanded to include used CDs, tapes, video games, and sheet music.

To date, all types of books have been accepted, which has led to a surplus in some areas, and shortages in others. For example, Neable noted that 2000 saw a high demand for "How To" books, mysteries, science fiction, and westerns. Surplus books were donated to Frontier Trading Store.

Proceeds from the book sale have been used by the Rotary Club within the community to support a number of projects, including literacy initiatives, the Rotary Suspension Bridge, and assisting local youth in attending educational and personal development activities outside Minnedosa.

Donations of books will be accepted throughout the year. If someone is sorting through or contemplating discarding a book collection, consider contacting a local Rotarian to make arrangements for pick ups.

Thank-You

Packing them in

Erickson Collegiate was the proud winner of the 1st Annual VW Cram, after stuffing a total of 26 students in a Volkswagon Beetle in three minutes.

The contest, held in Brandon recently, was sponsored by Brandon Audio Video, European Auto, and KX96.

ECI competed against Minnedosa Collegiate, Elton Collegiate, Neelin, Crocus Plains and Vincent Massey, to win $500 for Safe Grad activities. ECI won the contest by cramming 20 students in the VW, and earned a few bragging rights by squishing in 6 more.

Students from all Grade levels participated in the activity, with the trip to Brandon being organized by this year's graduating students. The students held one practice prior to the main event.

Laumann touts rowing in Minnedosa

Silken Laumann

Canadian Olympic rowing champion and national hero Silkan Laumann was the guest speaker at the Opening Ceremonies at Rural Forum held last week at the Keystone Centre and she didn't mince any words when it came to touting her sport and the Minnedosa Rowing Club as among the best. Waving the local rowing club's pamphlet in her hand as she addressed Premier Doer and several hundred in attendance, she emphasised the love she and her husband have for the sport and the Minnedosa venue. Her husband was instrumental in the start-up of the local club two years ago.

Many Manitobans took advantage of the opportunity to explore the spirit and diversity of the province last week at the three day Rural Forum 2000, held at the Keystone Centre in Brandon.

Inky Mark M.P. - Voice in Ottawa

Canadian Alliance releases report from ASAP Task Force

Last week the Canadian Alliance agriculture team released the report from the Action for Struggling Agriculture Producers (ASAP) Task Force.

Dauphin-Swan River MP Inky Mark unveiled the results of months of direct consultations with farmers struggling with the lowest incomes since the great depression.

"The ASAP tour cut a wide swath through Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in an effort to develop long-term solutions to the agriculture crisis. Our policy decisions are based on farmers' input," stated Mark.

In November, 1999, the ASAP tour was struck by the Canadian Alliance Caucus in response the income crisis facing Canadian Agriculture and the lack of concern and action for this crisis by the federal government.

"During the ASAP tour, we conducted 70 meetings and heard from over 3,500 farmers in five different provinces. The policy suggestions from farmers contained in the ASAP report are the views of producers who attended the ASAP meetings, " noted Mark.

"It is the first year of a new millennium. We know current problems in the agriculture sector are driving the food producers of this country to get their rations from food banks. Today's farmers cannot survive on 1935 wages," Mark stated

Key results from a questionnaire distributed at the ASAP meetings are:

- 74% of farmers believe it will be difficult or impossible to continue farming
- 88% of farmers believe that the government's AIDA program has failed
- 90% of farmers want the government to reduce the federal cost burden on farmers
- 75% of farmers want the government to encourage value added processing like the prairie pasta producers
- 78% of farmers want a voluntary Canadian Wheat Board
- 79% of farmers believe Canada has failed at international negotiations and the federal government should immediately launch an aggressive international campaign to reduce (and eventually) eliminate foreign subsidies.

Key Issues Raised by Farmers

- the failure of the AIDA program
- the impact of high foreign subsidies and the need for an aggressive Canadian campaign against them
- the need for a reliable long term safety net
- the cost burden imposed on farmers by the federal government
- the need for grain transportation reform
- the need for more farmer-driven, value added processing
- the need to reform the Canadian Wheat Board
- the need to reduce interprovincial trade barriers
- concerns over proposed environmental legislation
- concerns regarding genetically modified organisms
- the human impact of the farm income crisis, and
- the need to better educate the urban population regarding the impact of the farm income crisis

The auditor general released his annual report last week, and several findings caught my eye. To nobody's surprise resource and administration problems within the RCMP included licence applications and firearms registration. Some 404 full-time employees are stuck administering the program at a cost of $19-million.

The AG also pointed out serious flaws in the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs. The department does not have a handle on how education funds are being spent, an education system, which is 23 years behind the public system, used by other Canadians. Some $1- billion is being spent on an unacceptable status quo education system for First Nations students.

The four opposition parties put on a rare show of unity Thursday and urged the Liberal government to hold an independent public inquiry into bungling and political interference in job creation programs. HRDC Minister Jane Stewart dismissed the request as "rantings and ravings". But some of these rantings include: misappropriation of funds; grants approved after payments were made; tampering with documents; influence-peddling; and the use of public money for political gain. I think taxpayers deserve real answers to this billion-dollar boondoggle.

Book Marks

I have re-introduced a Private Member's Bill in the House of Commons, which would change the income tax act to benefit registered charities. Bill C-474 levels the playing field between registered charities and political parties, regarding the percentage of gifts that may be deducted from tax. The majority of Canadians contribute an average of $239 annually. If those dollars go to charities, donors receive a very reduced rate of tax credit compared to donations to federal political parties. This bill takes away that political advantage for donations. Some 30 thousand signatures in support of Bill C-474 have rolled in from individuals and charitable organizations across the country.

Bench Marks

Governor-General Adrienne Clarkson gave royal assent to the historic and controversial $487-million Nisga'a land claim agreement in Ottawa last Thursday. The ramifications of this deal will have far-reaching effects, because it basically creates a semi-soverign state within Canada. It will also be used as a template for future treaties.

A Canadian Alliance call for a First Nations Ombudsman was recently shot down by Parliament. The bill would have allowed the Ombudsman to investigate complaints relating to administration and communication problems within First Nations.

The controversial Same-Sex Bill was railroaded through the House last week. Bill C-23 gives out marriage-like benefits, without defining marriage in legislation. In a riding survey last year, over 79 per cent of respondents did not agree with the concept of same-sex benefits.

The Canadian Alliance will unveil long-awaited details of their ASAP (Action for Struggling Agriculture Producers) meetings, which toured the Prairie Provinces earlier this year. I will be holding a media Tele-conference from Winnipeg Thursday April 20th to discuss findings from the meetings, which made their way through the riding last December.

Did You Know?

I had the opportunity last week to have lunch with two young ladies from our riding, who were in Ottawa for a seminar. Melissa Byer from Alonsa and Nicole Tolton from Newdale were in Ottawa for the 2000 National 4-H Seminar.

Rotary book sale deemed a success

The 2nd Rotary Used book sale was a huge success judging by the number of donations and purchases that took place at the former Idle Moments store in Minnedosa.

Since the inception of the Used Book Sale last year, between 4,000 and 5,000 used books, have found a new home. According to John Neable, Minnedosa Rotary member, a number of positive comments were received about the initiative taken by the Rotary Club to recycle the used books within the community.

Because of the success of the first two years, plans are to continue with a third sale next year, which may be expanded to include used CDs, tapes, video games, and sheet music.

To date, all types of books have been accepted, which has led to a surplus in some areas, and shortages in others. For example, Neable noted that 2000 saw a high demand for "How To" books, mysteries, science fiction, and westerns. Surplus books were donated to Frontier Trading Store.

Proceeds from the book sale have been used by the Rotary Club within the community to support a number of projects, including literacy initiatives, the Rotary Suspension Bridge, and assisting local youth in attending educational and personal development activities outside Minnedosa.

Donations of books will be accepted throughout the year. If someone is sorting through or contemplating discarding a book collection, consider contacting a local Rotarian to make arrangements for pick ups.

Packing them in

Erickson Collegiate was the proud winner of the 1st Annual VW Cram, after stuffing a total of 26 students in a Volkswagon Beetle in three minutes.

The contest, held in Brandon recently, was sponsored by Brandon Audio Video, European Auto, and KX96.

ECI competed against Minnedosa Collegiate, Elton Collegiate, Neelin, Crocus Plains and Vincent Massey, to win $500 for Safe Grad activities. ECI won the contest by cramming 20 students in the VW, and earned a few bragging rights by squishing in 6 more.

Students from all Grade levels participated in the activity, with the trip to Brandon being organized by this year's graduating students. The students held one practice prior to the main event.

Laumann touts rowing in Minnedosa

Silken Laumann

Canadian Olympic rowing champion and national hero Silkan Laumann was the guest speaker at the Opening Ceremonies at Rural Forum held last week at the Keystone Centre and she didn't mince any words when it came to touting her sport and the Minnedosa Rowing Club as among the best. Waving the local rowing club's pamphlet in her hand as she addressed Premier Doer and several hundred in attendance, she emphasised the love she and her husband have for the sport and the Minnedosa venue. Her husband was instrumental in the start-up of the local club two years ago.

ECI hosts drug awareness evening

By Nancy Chemerika

Staff of Erickson Collegiate hosted a Drug and Alcohol Awareness evening for parents of the area last week with guest speaker, Cpl. Mike Hengen of the Yellowhead Detachment.

Throughout the course of the evening, Cpl. Hengen discussed with the parents the reasons why youth use drugs, what they as parents can and should do if their teen is using, and what community resources are available to them. He also outlined warning signs of drug use that parents should be aware of.

Hengen informed those in attendance that marihuana is most frequently found circulating in the area, followed by cannabis hash/hash oil, and cocaine. Crack cocaine has also been discovered in the area. He added that the drugs are often found with the influx of summer people, rather than true locals.

Hengen noted that alcohol is becoming a more serious problem, and is now being consumed by younger people.

"We are a lot better off then some communities, but we do have concerns," stated Hengen. "The lure of drug usage will always be there."

Last week's meeting was a follow up to a Drug and Alcohol Awareness evening featuring a speaker from the Addictions Foundation of Manitoba.

"The staff felt it was very important, because we believe an educated parent is an ally in the war on drugs," stated ECI Principal, Matt Rapsky. "It's also important for the staff to be as educated as possible so kids don't get lost in the system."

Rapsky noted that in the last five years, six groups of students have been caught with drugs or alcohol at ECI. Currently, Rolling River School Division has a zero tolerance policy concerning drugs in the schools. If a student is caught using or in possession of narcotics, hallucinogens, drugs or stimulants at school, or school functions, or appears at school functions showing evidence of having used the illegal substances, they could be suspended from school. Repeat offenders or those providing illegal substances to other students may receive a lengthy school suspension and may be considered for expulsion by the school board.

According to Cpl. Hengen the main purpose of the evening was educational. "We are trying to develop awareness for the parents so they can deal with their children appropriately if they do come across drug or alcohol abuse." He added, "It's very important for parents to be aware. It is the number one preventional step in dealing with situations like this. I hope the parents in attendance have learned to be aware, to be somewhat suspicious, to learn how to deal with their children if they run into grief. Hopefully they can take a proactive approach, rather than a reactive one."

Parents in attendance felt that the meeting was beneficial, and commended ECI for organizing it.

"I think it was a very important, very educational meeting," noted Cathy Koroscil, a parent in attendance. It was every educational in teaching techniques to approach your children about drug use. I like to have good, open communication with my children. This evening showed me a great deal about that. It was a really good presentation."

Signs your child may be using drugs

Changes in school performance - lower grades, frequent tardiness and absenteeism, falling asleep in class, discipline problems

Changes in physical appearance - red eyes, less cleanliness, general deterioration

Changes in eating or sleeping habits - insomnia, napping at inappropriate times, weight loss, sudden increase or decrease in appetite

Changes in friends - new or different friends who are very different in appearance, behaviour and goals

Changes in behaviour - moodiness, depression, hostility, hypersensitivity, loss if interest in previous hobbies or activities, familiarity with drug culture and hangouts, lying.

Physical evidence - finding drug paraphernalia, strange odours, or cover-up odours.

Rural Forum...

A number of seminars were held which focused helping delegates develop or enhance their skills and learn how to create opportunities in their communities. Topics included community approaches to lifelong learning, opportunities in the Manitoba film industry, and community event planning and tourism development.

According to Mayor of Minnedosa, Terry Drebit, Rural Forum provides an excellent opportunity to showcase the community and its numerous attractions to all of Manitoba.

"We're here to show Westman what we are all about," stated Drebit who was manning the Town booth. "The focus of our booth is tourism, industry and economic development."

Kirsten Ryan, program administrator for Minnedosa Rowing Centre, was also in attendance at Rural Forum, promoting the club to the Westman area.

"Rural Forum is a good avenue to raise awareness of the club in the surrounding area," stated Ryan. "We're hoping to attract youth, and really rowers of all ages. There are only four rowing clubs in Manitoba, and Minnedosa has one of them. People attending Rural Forum can come out and talk to us and find out more about the club and the sport."

Rugby alive & well in Minnedosa

The MCI Chancellors Rugby team is alive and well, as this practice clearly shows. 25 students have signed up for the team this year, drawing from Grades 9 to 12. Wilf Taylor, MCI, is the team manager, Coaches are Gavin Roche, Ewan Common, Andrew Robson, and Barry Dowsett. The first League game will be held in Portage, Tuesday, and the first home game will be held Friday night, 6 p.m. at the MCI field.

MINNEDOSA CREDIT UNION MEMBER NEWSLETTER

DEPOSIT SECURITY AT MINNEDOSA CREDIT UNION

Deposit Protection and a solid security record

When you save at a credit union, your savings are protected by the Credit Union Deposit Guarantee Corporation (The Corporation). The Corporation's primary objective is to preserve a 50-year record of provincial credit union stability. Since 1937, when Manitoba's first credit union opened in St. Malo, no member has ever lost any savings or deposits.

What is the Corporation?

The Corporation is the deposit guarantor for Manitoba credit unions. As established under The Credit Unions and Caisse Populaires Act, it is required by law to guarantee all the deposits you make with your credit union.

The Corporation's five-member board is appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. A general manager and support staff administer Deposit Guarantee's daily operation.

What types of accounts are protected?

The Corporation guarantees all money placed in a savings or deposit account, including any interest credited to those accounts.

The Corporation does not guarantee or insure the equity of a credit union. Equity consists of shares by the credit union or other securities and surpluses of the credit union.

How is the Corporation financed?

The Corporation is maintained through mandatory quarterly assessments made on each Manitoba credit union. Each individual credit union contributes to the Corporation based on total member deposits.

How else does the Corporation protect my deposits?

The Corporation promotes adherence to sound and prudent standards of financial practice by all Manitoba credit unions.

This is accomplished through the monitoring and inspection programs of the Corporation, which also help to ensure that each credit union operates within the requirements of The Credit Unions and Caisses Populaires Act and its regulations.

In addition, an independent annual audit confirms that each credit union's financial statement presents a true picture of its operating results.

CAMP WANNAKUMBAC

Minnedosa Credit Union will be sponsoring 2 young members to go to Camp Wannakumbac "2000".

WHERE AND HOW SHOULD YOU INVEST?

A message from MemberCare Financial Services

Making the right investment choices can be confusing. You may want to consider MemberCare Financial Services, a financial planning service for credit union members, to help you set investment goals and make the best choices to satisfy your individual needs. Call Carole Stoyka, your MemberCare Financial services representative, today at 867-2781 or drop by the MemberCare Financial Services Centre located at 60 Main St. Minnedosa, Manitoba for a no-cost, no-obligation consultation.

MemberCare Financial Services is a division of the CUMIS Group of companies offering financial planning, life insurance and investments to members of credit unions and their communities. MemberCare is a trademark of Credit Union Central of Canada is used under license.

WHAT YOU SHOULD LOOK FOR IN AN RRSP?

Look for the plan that has the best potential return for the risk you are prepared to take. Take all fees that are involved into account while comparing the anticipated annual growth. All fees reduce the final available amount. Make sure your plan can be terminated quickly at minimum or no cost. The more you know about your RRSP before you invest the better. Don't be afraid to ask questions, as your sales representatives are there to help you.

WINNERS

Winners of the four pairs of tickets to The Minnedosa Collegiate Drama production "The Red House Mystery" were Claire Hopkins, Yvonne Scott, Audrey Crooks and Alex McNabb.

Patronage Refund

The Board of Directors has announced a Patronage Refund for 1999 in the amount of $100,000 to be equally divided amongst our borrowing and depositing members. What does this mean to you? Here are some examples:

Let's say you took out a Guaranteed Investment Certificate on December 31, 1998 in the amount of $10,000. The going rate at that time was 4.4% so on December 31, 1999 you would have received $440 in interest. The Patronage Refund announced means you would receive a bonus of 5.32% on the interest you received in 1999 or $23.41 bringing the total interest you received on your $10,000 to $463.41 for an actual return of over 4.63%!

O.K. let's not forget about our borrowers. Let's say you borrowed $10,000 from us on December 31, 1998 at a rate of 9% and paid the loan off on December 31, 1999. You would have paid us $900 in interest. The Patronage Refund announced means you would receive a rebate of 2.29% of interest paid or $20.61. This means you actually only paid $879.38 in interest. That works out to 8.79%, not 9%!

Does your Financial Institution pay you for dealing with them? We do!

Minnedosa Credit Union Grad Night

The graduation class of 2000 and their parents are invited to an evening of information on STUDENT ACCOUNTS and STUDENT LOANS, Wednesday, May 17, 2000 at the Ukrainian Hall at 6:00 p.m. A supper of pizza and pop will follow.

It was over in a heartbeat

Have you missed that junk mail you used to receive from Columbia House? You remember - the company that began some 35 years ago selling LP's, and then tape cassettes and most recently music CD's for those next-to-nothing prices with only a promise by you to buy just a few more later on?

Just a little over a year ago, 1999 looked like just another rosy year for the profitable enterprise. In fact, owner Time Warner had projected profits of $100 million for the coming year.

Enter MP3 and a few other internet based music downloading sites and some favourable publicity and within a few months, Columbia House was going broke. They are now history - gone forever.

That is just the latest example of how the new economy can change the world in just a few short months. How a company that had cornered its market could ever to be imagined to be replaced with such suddenness as was Columbia House is a question being asked in every board room around the world.

This perhaps explains how we have recently received the news that firstly Thomson and now Hollinger have switched their publishing strategies 180 degrees in just a few weeks and are now turning to digital publishing enterprises and selling off the majority of their newsprint publishing holdings.

The first week of April, 1996 saw The Minnedosa Tribune publish its first complete online edition on a subscriber or paid circulation basis. At that time, the New York Times were fully online as was the San Hose Mercury. The little Minnedosa Tribune was the third newspaper and the first weekly newspaper in the world to go fully online! Four years and four weeks later, over 2000 newspapers now offer online content with a few hundred more joining the frey every year.

Every day it becomes more apparent that you either go with this tidal wave or face the alternative - just like Columbia House has.

Time-Warner got the message. Shortly after the Columbia House debacle, they amalgamated with America Online, the premier internet service provider and web portal in North America. Thomson saw the handwriting on the wall and this past week, Conrad Black blinked.

Almost gone and soon forgotten

You could see it on the faces of long-time conservative supporters anywhere you looked. Disappointment was clearly evident when it was announced that Joe Clark would become the leader of the national PC Party. Manitobans had rallied their support behind Brian Pallister, but it was to no avail. Clark carried the country and everyone was stuck with it.

That unfortunate choice has now led us to an Alliance Party and a leadership race that has captured much of the country's attention. Playing a close second to the race is the latest list of PC defections - those who are abandoning the listless Joe Clark and his doomed dream of once again being Prime Minister.

The country did not need an Alliance Party. It didn't need a Reform Party nor did it need a Quebec Block Party. What it needed was a PC Party that was willing to change with the times. We didn't get one and now it is becoming more clear with each passing day that we never will.

Picture of the Week ...

Members of the Minnedosa Scouts, with representation from the Brownies, Guides, and even the Rotary, were busy last week spreading wood chips along with Oxbow Nature Trail.

The work on the nature trail is part of the scouts citizenship challenge.

Go figure ...
Well, we should have known. Only in the province where one wacky Premier follows another - either to the brink of resignation or to jail. Sometimes referred to as Lotus Land or La La Land, British Columbia can now claim to be the province in Canada that has the highest number of UFO sightings per year. In fact, over half of all UFO sightings in Canada, last year totalling 259, were reported to have occurred over our beloved wet coast.

Premier's Pipeline ...
Premier Doer, during his opening speech at the Rural Forum, made one comment that will surely interest our school divisions and teachers. He intimated that Canadian history might soon become a mandatory subject in Grade 11. It will be about time. Thanks to the former Filmon government and their reaction to a public outcry a couple of years ago, history is still taught at all. The next battle will be fought over which watered-down version will be used.

Great minds ...
With the unfortunate knife attack on some Ottawa high school students by one of their own, will the great minds at the federal government level now be considering licensing steak knives? Will the restaurant owners associations accross the nation revolt at the thought?

Keeping up with the Jones'.
Li Ka-shing, the Hong Kong billionaire who owns the majority of our Minnedosa Mohawk plant through Husky Oil has just spent $10.2 billion to buy permits in the United Kingdom which will allow his joint-venture companies Telesystem International Wireless and Hutchison Whampoa Ltd. to deliver video and other internet services to cellphone users.

Note to Councillor Grumpy
Councillor Graham has been quick in the past to point out our small town paper's penchant for putting pictures of cows on our front page. Imagine his chagrin last Friday when our two national newspapers, the Globe and Mail and the National Post both sported photos of no less than five cows - an yes, that's right - on their front pages. We knew we were on the right track all along.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
Many of us take our hearing and speech for granted. However, one out of ten children born in Canada has difficulty hearing or speaking.

Communication is a vital link between human beings. In the young, hearing loss cuts a child off from normal social development. Like many ailments, the sooner a child with a hearing or speech problem can be identified and start appropriate treatment, the better the resulting communication and social skills.

Through our ears we gain much of our information about others and the world around us. Help keep the information flowing. If you suspect a child you know has a hearing loss or speech problem, contact a physician, audiologist, or speech pathologist. Early identification of hearing and speech problems is everyone's responsibility.

Sincerely,
Exalted Ruler,
Minnedosa Elks,
Bill Webb

Dear Editor:
Saturday, April 22nd was Earth Day, a day to clean up and remove the winter debris. However, as usual, nothing happened in Minnedosa as far as clean-up being done.

I really wonder if any of our town fathers ever walk down Main Street? Do you know there are five garbage containers between the Dari Isle and Prairie Pantry? That the rip rock around the bridge is full of weeds and garbage? That a large white sheet of something has hung in the trees by Tanner's Crossing Park since last fall? That the school yard is full of garbage, with not one garbage container available?

You, Mr. Editor, are always trying to keep abreast of Neepawa, well in the garbage area, Minnedosa is way ahead. We want to be a tourist town, but all we have is a garbage dump!

June McPherson,
A walker in Minnedosa.

Editor's Note: Last I heard, Town Council was in charge of the number of garbage cans on Main Street, and keeping Minnedosa abreast of Neepawa, not the Editor.

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the Rolling River Teachers' Association, I would like to respond to the article published in the April 17th edition of The Minnedosa Tribune entitled "Trustees concerned about NDP plan to scrap Bill 72".

Bill 72 contained a number of amendments to the Public schools Act and was passed by the previous government in 1996. These amendments fundamentally altered the rules by which collective bargaining between teachers and school boards was to be carried out. Bill 72 imposed a biased and one sided bargaining regime upon teachers by radically tilting the playing field in favour of school boards.

Bill 72 was fought adamantly by teachers in general and by the Manitoba Teachers' Society (MTS) in particular. The previous government, however, chose to ignore the concerns of teachers and proceeded to impose these changes. The NDP, then in opposition, promised that if they were to form the next government they would repeal the Bill 72 amendments and replace them with a fair and equitable system of collective bargaining.

The implication in the article seemed to be that the MTS wants to grant teachers some sort of special privilege which would somehow give them a decided advantage in negotiations with school divisions. Nothing could be further from the truth. The MTS has advanced the position that teacher collective bargaining ought to be placed under the Labour Relations Act (LRA), the same legislation used by virtually every other employee group in the province. What could be fairer. It is the Manitoba Association of School Trustees' (MAST) position that continues to advocate for unfair and biased bargaining legislation by insisting on a continuation of the most reprehensible elements of Bill 72. Any legislated amendments retaining any portion of Bill 72 would be totally unacceptable to teachers.

As teachers always consider the best interests of their students, I would note that MTS has asked for one change to the LRA, that being the use of binding arbitration to resolve bargaining disputes, rather than strike/lockout. This was meant to ensure that no student would ever be forced to lose valuable educational time resulting from schools being closed due to a teacher strike or a board lockout.

One last point that I would like to make comes from a direct quote attributed to Mrs. Colleen Jury, Chairman of Rolling River School Division Board of Trustees regarding her view of what would happen if the MTS proposals were to pass. She stated that "We (the School Board) don't have any leverage." As teachers, we have had enough of a system of bargaining that is unfair and biased toward one side. We seek no "leverage", or advantage. We want only what is fair, for the public, for ourselves, and most of all, for our students.

Yours sincerely,
Mel Harvey
President, RRTA

Eye on MCI

by Andrew Michaluk & Lee Robinson

It has been a heavy duty week for MCI students. The track team is training hard for upcoming track meets. The rugby team is preparing for another successful season. Their first game was yesterday (Sunday). The game was not completed before press time. Upcoming games for the squad are on Tuesday (May 2nd) in Portage, and the home opener on Friday (May 5th) at the Minnedosa Pitch.

Badminton wrapped up last week. Congratulations to Derek Horner and Terry Luhowy - Boys Doubles 1st place, Brenda Dowset and Corynne Charles - Girls Doubles 1st place, John Hutton and Jami Boyd - Mixed Doubles 1st place, Boys Singles 1st place, Wes Lewis - Boys Singles 2nd place, Julie McNabb - Girls Singles 2nd place. Congratulations to all and good luck in provincials.

The MCI drama club's version of "The Red House Mystery" was a hit over the weekend. Thanks to all those involved on making the play a hit.

Congratulations to Brad Hall on his Gold Medal in the "Ford School Challenge". He will be representing the school in Quebec in June.

Well that wraps up this week. See ya next week.

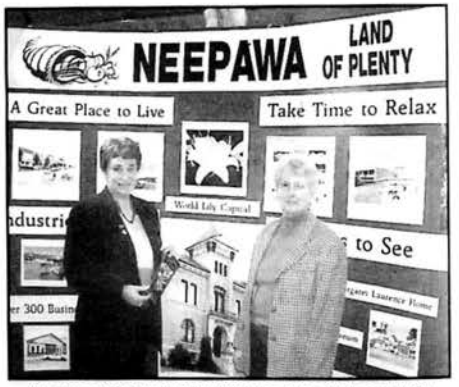
Rural Forum 2000

Cary Clarke, owner of Clarke's Renaissance Iron Works, Brandon, felt that Rural Forum provides an excellent opportunity to tell people about his business. Several people stopped to find out more about his hand crafted wood and metal works. Cary is the son of Ted and Diana Clarke of Minnedosa.

Mayor of Minnedosa, Terry Drebit, met a number of people during Rural Forum and found the experience an excellent opportunity to share with prospective visitors the highlights of the community. A number of Beachcomber tourist guides were handed out over the course of the three day forum. Barb Cook, vice chair of the Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in setting up the Town booth.

The Elkhorn Resort and Conference Centre booth, at Rural Forum for the first time, was visited by a number of interested visitors.



The Town of Neepawa booth extolled the virtues of the community, and the annual Lily Festival, which has made Neepawa the Lily Capital of the World

Kirsten Ryan, kneeling, welcomed the chance to inform the Westman area about the Minnedosa Rowing Centre. A number of visitors stopped by to find out more about the club, the sport, and to try out the equipment.

The 2000 version of Rural Forum featured over 300 displays which provided Manitobans with an opportunity to explore the province without leaving the Keystone Centre.

The three day forum, now in its eighth year, is one of the largest community and business events in Western Canada.

"Visitors to the forum have an opportunity to enjoy the diversity of Manitoba that will be on display, and to share and celebrate the success of Manitoba's communities," said Intergovernmental Affairs Minister, Jean Friesen. Rural Forum is organized by Intergovernmental Affairs, along with 28 partners representing public and private sector organizations and businesses.

On the opening day of the forum, Premier Doer met with student leaders from across the province to hear their views on building a Manitoba Youth Strategy aimed at developing and retaining strong and dedicated future leaders. A group of 25 student council members joined the premier in a special round table session during Rural Forum 2000.

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

The Easter weekend was beautiful in every way. Weather, company, church services, etc. made it very special. It was great seeing so many visitors around Erickson.

So far we've had no rain so fires are prevalent. The Firemen were busy on Friday containing a fire on the farm previously owned by Len Slobodian, south of town.

COPP's safety tip this week is .. Dead bolt type locks are normally superior to "key in lock" types. Check with your hardware supplier for information on locks best suited for your needs.

Carol Bergeson who has retired from teaching near Winnipeg, is preparing to move back to her house in Erickson. Welcome home Carol.

Erickson Collegiate students have been canvassing for funds for World Vision to help starving children in various countries. Along with canvassing they will be on a hunger strike for 30 hours. Isn't it great to see our youth showing this concern for unfortunate youth?

Cliff and Marg Eden had all their family and grandchildren home for Easter.

The residents of Parkland Home are happy to have a painter brightening up the hallways and common room. Now they are hoping there will be sufficient funds for new drapes and rugs. Anyone out there who would like to support this cause?

Irene Sobie of Minnedosa was staying with her daughter Sally McManus. Sally also had her family with her for Easter.

Calling all seniors. Watch for a computer course that will be available in early May.

Ed & Betty McLeod of Ft. Frances spent Easter with Oshust relatives.

Anton Fournier, Winnipeg spent Easter weekend with Grandma Winnie Marcino.

Winnie Marcino and daughter Terry of Poland were in Thunder Bay recently visiting Steve & Dora Marcino and family. They also visited Lachie Marcino and Peter in Kenora.

Congratulations and best wishes to Ron Drozda on his retirement from Heritage Co-op where he served the surrounding communities for 34 years.

The Retread girls made the residents of Erickson Care Home very happy one afternoon when they presented their Easter Fashion Show. They also took the residents out in their wheel chairs for an outing. The happy time was concluded with Ice Cream Treats.

Fred & Florence Swiscoski had Brian and Sherri Fleming and family, Brandon and Melanie and Halden of Lethbridge, AB as Easter Guests.

Bill & Phyllis Baraniuk, Prince George visited with relatives recently.

Kelly & Wilda Carlson had Kelly's sister Effie Moffat and son Terry for Good Friday guests.

Viola Burkett's home was filled over the Easter weekend with son & daughter-in-law Murray and Karen and family, Elaine and Doug Lochhead and family and Doug's mother Evelyn Lochhead all of Winnipeg.

Glen & Ada Shellborn, Lance and Islay Shellborn, Victor and Lana Bachewich attended the wedding of Ada's grand niece Desirei Bateman in Calgary on April 29th.

After performing two vocal solos for Rolling River Festival of the Arts, Kelsea McInnes walked away with a trophy for best solo performance in the ages 10-14 groups.

She also attended the "Highlights of the Festival" in Rivers where she performed her song along with the other various trophy winners.

Kelsea is eleven years old, and is the daughter of Cam & Arden McInnes. She has been a member of the Brandon Conservatory Chorale for three years. Congratulations Kelsea.

Grade 7 students examine effects of a road through RMNP

Ken Kingdon Park Interpretor, with Grade 7 students

By Nancy Chemerika

Laurie Bachewich's Grade 7 science students at Erickson Collegiate received lessons in opinion forming as a result of a recent project which examined the effects of building a road through Riding Mountain National Park.

The project involved research and a field trip to scientifically test the potential impact of the proposed road, which would connect Grandview and Rossburn if it was built. The road proposal debate has been an ongoing since the 1970's. As part of the project the students examined the effects of noise and land pollution, road kill, fragmented wildlife habitat, and non native grasses being grown in the park. In order to hear the other side of the story, the students also listened to a presentation on potential benefits of the road being built from Dwayne Lawless, Reeve of the R.M. of Rossburn.

According to Mrs. Bachewich, the students will be responsible for compiling their data, which will be sent on to Sheila Copps, Minister of Heritage Canada, after being presented to the class.

Mrs. Bachewich explained that the purpose of the project, which was initially intended to educate the students on eco-systems, was to show the students the difference between forming a biased opinion, and listening to both sides of the story.

Jesse Kent, Grade 7 science, noted that the project has helped him to make an informed opinion about the proposed road building project, which he had not heard of prior to the science project.

"I don't think the road should be built because the Park is for animal and plant life protection," stated Kent. "I think building a road through the park would violate that."

David Lukianchuk also felt that the science project helped him to make an informed opinion, and feels that the road shouldn't be built because it would disrupt ecosystems.

"The science project educated us on how to handle situations and, made it clear that it's important to hear all the facts before blaming one side or the other," stated Glynis Shemeliuk. "I think it was a worthwhile project. It helped us to know how the road would effect the environment if it was built. Maybe we have a chance to stop it."

Erickson Elementary celebrates Earth Week

Principal Frank Foord gathers up the refuse to take to the Erickson Landfill Site

By Nancy Chemerika

Erickson Elementary showed their environmentally friendly tendencies last week in celebration of Earth Week.

A full week of activities was planned which encouraged community and school beautification. Although the Earth Week is spearheaded by Grade 5, all classes in the elementary school take part in the events. In addition to a community and school yard clean up, students held a paper shredding contest to recycle waste paper for bedding for the red wiggler worms. The worms are raised at school and are put to work eating lunch waste. A bake sale was held, and Erickson's town foreman spoke about the recycling depot to the students. Other activities included a recycling sale, contests were held, a garbageless lunch day were students were encouraged to bring their lunch in reusable containers, and as the grand finale, an Earth dance was held on Friday afternoon.

Gail Whaley's Grade 5 students have been planning Earth Week activities for about four or five years, in recognition of the annual Earth Day, which was held on April 22nd this year.

"It would be nice if the activities carried on for the rest of the year," stated Mrs. Whaley. "We think what we do helps. It starts with the little ones."

Over the course of the past few years, Erickson Elementary has completed over 600 Earth friendly projects. The school is partners in a national, Alberta based program, Learners in Action.

Sandy Lake News

by Deb Maluk

Easter visitors with Olga and Peter Prosken included Brenda and Robert Douglas and Julie and Ed Alexiuk and family of Winnipeg.

Stan Maluk of Winnipeg spent the weekend at home celebrating Easter and taking a break from final exam stress at Red River.

Sincere condolences to the family of Jesse Paraschuk, who passed away on Friday, April 21. Jesse was a resident of the Sandy Lake Personal Care Home.

Condolences to the family and friends of Jakob Prokopchuk who passed away on Saturday April 22 in Brandon.

Our Sandy Lake Shevchenko Ukrainian Dancers have had a busy month of competition. From April 7 - 9, they participated in the Brandon Troyanda Dance Competition, and brought home 2 Gold Medals, 4 Silver Medals, and 4 Bronze Medals. From April 14 -16, they were at the Russell Yachninka Competition, where they were awarded 4 Silvers and 8 Bronze Medals. The Intermediate Dancers recently attended the Tavria Dance Competition in Regina, and won 2 Silver Medals and one Bronze Medal. Well done to all the Dancers, Instructors and parents. They do us proud everywhere they go, and are helping to put Sandy Lake on the map! Check your paper for notices of their upcoming Spring Concert and do yourself a favor and attend!

A meeting was held on April 25 at 1:30 at Sandy Lake Fire Hall in regards to the Jackfish School #1367 Reunion. The Reunion will be held on August 4, 5, 6th, 2000. Discussion took place on activities to be held. Mailing of invitations is in progress.

What Is The Nurses Role?

The last days in a terminally ill patient's life present the nurse with one of the greatest challenges in her nursing career, according to nurses Claire Hoffman, Gladys Lipman, and Ella Thompson in their book, "Simplified Nursing".

The nurse may be the person who gives the last comforting services to the dying patient. She can be a source of great comfort to the family as well.

She knows and recognizes the needs of the patient and learns to anticipate their requirements for comfort. She is also alert to sense a patient's wish to talk to clergy or particular family members.

She is schooled in dealing with the emotional stresses the patient and family is undergoing and, like the doctor, the clergy and funeral director, is an important member of the care-giving team. Very often, she takes special study classes in the care of the terminally ill.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

The Newdale Lion's Club has forwarded $775 to the Derek and Kim Patterson family to assist them in costs not covered by Medicare for their infant son, Jamie. This money was raised through individual donations in the community of Newdale.

Home for Easter Weekend was Christa Pedersen, and Dwight, Bonnie, Brent and Stephanie Malcolm from Winnipeg. All were visiting with Dennis and Barbara Pedersen.

Hazel and Elmer Sinclair, Brandon, visited with her sister, Mabel Rose.

Inga Livingstone, Starbuck, visited with her mother, Hazel Andreychuk, and Dennis and Barbara Pedersen.

Home for Easter Weekend were Jim, Margie, and children Kristine, Kerry, and Kaythin, visiting with Olive Waddell.

Dorothy Ray spent Easter Weekend with daughters Donna, and Linda in Winnipeg.

Emily Silzeer from Pense, SK; and sister (Jackie's) Geannie and Kevin, and family Ashley, and Kody Fleury from Stony Beach, SK, visited with Jackie and Les Pedersen.

Tara Wight, and friend Tyler Crowe from Winnipeg were home to Wendell and Jean Wight on the Easter Weekend. Also, Maisie and Reg Elliott from Napinka were over for the day.

A few from Newdale congregation were represented and participated in the Good Friday Service, held in Strathclair United Church on Friday, April 21st.

Easter Sunday came in sunny and warm with a light breeze. In Newdale United Church, Rev. Hunter's theme of "emptiness", related particularly to the empty tomb, as Mary returned to the place where Jesus' body was being held, having experienced the risen Christ, ran to tell others that Jesus was not dead, but alive forever more. "It takes courage to enter our own emptiness..., to allow ourselves to be vulnerable..., to acknowledge our pain, our fears, our anger, our sadness, and loneliness which brings opportunities to experience Easter, the season of new life and hope for the future."

Our sincere condolences to Don Baker and family on the death of his father, at age 86 near Brandon, on Monday, April 17th.

The official Board of the Strathclair-Newdale-Cardale Pastoral Charge was held in Cardale, Monday, April 24th. Six from Newdale attended.

Harrison House News - Marlene, Mary, and Bill Webb of Minnedosa visited with Isabelle McTavish on April 23rd.

Think Piece: "For now the winter is past, the rain is over and gone. The flowers appear on the earth; the time of singing has come. And the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land. The fig tree puts forth its figs, and the vines are in blossom; they give forth fragrance." (Song of Solomon 2:11-13)

Our 4-H Achievement was held April 15, 2000. Doors opened at 3:30 p.m. for viewing the projects and the program started at 4:00 p.m. We sang O'Canada and said the 4-H pledge. After that we did the Parade of Projects (everyone explained what they did and thanked the leader). Then we had the judges remarks. This year the judge was Joanne Baker. These members were asked to take some of their work to Fall Fair in Brandon in November: Kristina Baker - basket of soaps; Cody Baker - photo album; Leanna Baker - Apple roses; Katrina Raginsky - Christmas tree craft.

The Head Leader, Pat Baker, gave her remarks and presented Nicole Tolton and Melissa Robertson with a gift and wished them well as they graduate this year. Then we did the 4-H grace and sang God Save the Queen. Juice and cookies were served downstairs afterward.

McKerchar gives up beard to charity

L-R, Alan Johnson - instigator of the fundraiser, Ross McKerchar - whose beard was shaven, Ian Branson - instigator of the fundraiser, Lynda Dereniwski - barber.

At Strathclair, a few short weeks ago some fun-loving community minded individuals proposed a posse hunt for the capture of their local Co-op fuel truck driver (Ross McKerchar) in order to have his almost 20 year old beard shaved for charitable donations.

After public rebuttals and good natured bantering on both sides, an agreement was reached where public contributions would be channelled toward the Canadian Porphyria Foundation, an organization that the family has turned to for support since Ross's brother was diagnosed with porphyria.

As quickly as the bantering exchanges took place, the community donations rolled in to support the cause.

On Monday, April 17, 2000 at 2 p.m. at the Strathclair Community Centre, members gathered to celebrate a successful event which raised $1,313.00 for the Canadian Porphyria Foundation. People with porphyria are unable to tolerate sunlight and some medications. The sunlight causes a damaging effect and results in extreme sores, blistering, scarring and darkening of the skin, particularly to sun exposed areas. The acute symptoms which are often precipitated by certain medications are severe abdominal pain, muscle weakness particularly in the arms and legs, rapid heart beat, nausea or vomiting. Some cases go on to paralysis and death.

It is recognized that attacks may be caused from sunlight, numerous drugs including the brith control pill, estrogens, exposure to chemicals, alcohol, exhaustion and dieting.

Porphyria is a condition not always thought of or recognized by patients and physicians. It is not contagious. It may result in recurrent and prolonged illeness. Porphyria is not a single disease, but a group of at least 7 disorders. It is a condition in which excessive amounts of substances known as porphyrins form in the body. Although porphyrins are normal body chemicals, they do not normally accumulate in the body. They are produced by everybody, but it is only when there is too large a quantity that porphyria results.

A diagnosis of porphyria affects medical treatment also. The choice of drugs to treat other conditions, the choice of anaesthesia before surgery or dietary recommendations.

Basswood News

by Zelda Firby

On April 20, Marion Ogibowski's family hosted a surprise birthday party in honour of her 70th birthday at the Basswood Hall. Friends and relatives from near and far gathered for a time of fun, visiting and fellowship. The evening concluded with the serving of birthday cake, ice cream, and coffee. Home for the happy occasion were Diane Hextall and family of New Jersey, USA, Dawn McMillan and boys of Calgary, AB, Raul and Ruth Reiss, and girls of Winnipeg. Congratulations Marion!

Sympathy is extended to Murray and Marlene Genung and family in the recent passing of Murray's father, Maurice Genung at Oak River.

Pleased to report that Bob Templeton is feeling better after being in the hospital.

Cheery thoughts to Anne Richmond in hospital and Frank Bell at home.

Scott Manns of Guelph, ON, spent Easter with his parents Bob and Gwen Manns and the Galbraiths. Kent Manns of Brandon was also home.

Rookhurst News

By Clarence Williams

Reg and Yvonne Scott were visitors with Yvonne's dad, Bill Parrott of Bethany.

Don and Brenda Williams, Ryan and Maureen Williams and family, Bradley and Christine, all of Winnipeg, were Easter week-end visitors with Don's parents Horace and Anne Williams.

Clarence Williams spent the Easter weekend with his daughter Corraliene Mullens & Brian Baker of Brandon.

Wes and Marion Brugger had their family arrive home on Good Friday to spend Easter with them. Barb and Mike Elson, Bev and Alison, Stonehouse, and friend Joe Josic all of Winnipeg.

Saturday, they all took Wes and Marion to Mr. Ribs in Neepawa for dinner help celebrate Marion's birthday. Other visitors on the weekend with Wes and Marion were Olive and Don Latter of Melville, SK.

On the 26th, Wes and Marion spent the day with Marion's mother, Ethel Robertson and brother Gordon at Eastview Lodge, Neepawa, for a family dinner.

The meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Moore Park News

by Carmin Grasby

Deepest sympathy from the Moore Park district is extended to the families of Alva Hedley of Minnedosa who passed away recently. She will be greatly missed.

The Ladies from the Justice Mennonite Brethren Church held their annual Tea and Bake Sale, Tuesday, April 18th. There was a great crowd. They had a very good guest speaker who suggested that being beautiful on the outside didn't necessarily make one beautiful on the inside. She suggested how we could learn to make ourselves beautiful on the inside. A grand array of baking and a delicious tea and lunch followed. All in all, a grand evening.

Thursday, April 18th, grandson Zachary came out to our place to spend a few days visiting. The next day, grandson Daniel came down for a visit and supper. On Sunday, April 23rd, Travis, Anita, Jeremy and Jordan, Aaron and Teresa, and Christina, and grandson David came out for a short visit with everyone to celebrate Easter, and Travis' birthday. They took Zachary home with them.

The trustees for the Moore Park hall held their annual Spring bingo April 24th. There was a pretty good turnout. After the bingo was over, during coffee, everyone had a good look at the pictures on the wall. We were told that we had done an admirable job.

Horticultural Society holds successful variety concert

The Minnedosa Horticultural Society sponsored a very successful variety concert on Friday, April 7, 2000 in aid of the Canvasback Duck Community Project 2000.

The variety concert was held at the Minnedosa Collegiate auditorium with Tom Delgaty as master of ceremonies. The flute, piano, saxophone, and trumpet solos performed by young musicians were well done.

Performances by the Merry Hearts Choir, the Junior Choir, the Sandstrom Family, Odanah Pass, Jack Butler and Gib Graham, and a number of others were enjoyed by all.

A skit Liz and Friz kept the crowd in stitches, and musical comedy by Mary Dalton concluded the concert.

Rapid City & District News

by Grace Fearnley

Thirteen seniors were out to bowl at Minnedosa Easter Monday. The head pin went to Gib Phillips and the trophy winners were Chris Stanich and Lawrence Turton.

Thursday, April 20th Lily Anderson accompanied daughter Jean and Jim Walker, Karla and baby Kourtney to Saskatoon where they visited with Kim and Steve Negum. They returned home Easter Monday.

Easter guests with Mabel Haslen were Chris and Greg Judd and children Cody and Stephanie from Glenboro.

Good Friday visitors with Elwood Fawcett were Gerald and Laura Hudson of Meaford, ON.

Kelly Marshall from Kelvington, SK spent the Easter weekend at home with her dad, Terry, and also visited with her sisters of Brandon.

On behalf of all friends in the community I wish to convey heartfelt condolences to John and Marlene Fehr, on the recent loss of their son Richard. Sympathy also to his wife and their children, sisters and brother, relatives and friends. A number from town attended the funeral in Winnipeg, April 20, 2000.

Mrs. Elyda McLean of Morden spent Easter with her daughter Bernice and Steve Dmytriw and grandsons and is continuing her visit for a week or so.

Mel McCollum of Winnipeg spent the Easter weekend with his mother Jean, and brother Murray and Donald. Donald returned to Calgary Easter Monday.

Visiting over the Easter weekend, with Hans and Thelma Andersen were her daughters: Vivian Bolton and granddaughter, Jackie and Jeff Martens, Jasmine and Robbie from Winnipeg; Lorna and Murray Blight, and Drew from Brandon; Lynda Stack, Justin and Katelyn from Regina. Trips to the fish ladder were greatly enjoyed by all.

A speedy get well wish goes out to Elsie Greer (a former resident of Rapid City) Mrs. Greer is a patient at Minnedosa & District Hospital as the result of a bad fall.

Bernice McTavish accompanied son Roy and Sandy to Portage la Prairie to spend Easter with Judy and Larry Downey. Roy and Sandy continued on to visit with Sandy's parents Mr. & Mrs. Norris at McMunn.

On Friday, April 21st Margo Eckberg flew out to Edmonton Alberta to spend the Easter weekend with Karolina, Darren and Amanda Scott. On Saturday, Krista Eckberg from Banff, Alberta arrived to spend Easter weekend with her family. Amanda Scott's first birthday was celebrated while the family were together. She turns one on Saturday, April 29th. Margo returned on April 24th.

Hendry & Heather Smith attended the World Curling in Glasgow, Scotland. Then visited Isle of Mull & Sona, the Invereive Gardens at Inverness, Culloden Moor, St. Andrews and Edinburgh. Then spent a week visiting relatives in England. Frank & May Martin, Esher, Vath Wells, Cobham and Rosemary & Bill Smithers. Leaving March 30, returning April 23.

There were over 1,500 Canadians at the curling, more from Manitoba than anywhere else. The weather in Scotland was cold.

Ken and Kay Sample report a generally pleasant three month stay in Victoria, with many get togethers with their family and friends there. The weather was mostly dry and mild. Though Ken was in hospital for a short while, both were impressed by the prompt and excellent medical care. A highlight of their stay was when they were joined by their children from Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver to make the family gathering complete in early April.

Homecoming 2000 Celebrations

More people have registered for Homecoming 2000 and they are as follows: Jim & Nancy Betteridge-Powell River,BC, Robert & Susan (Dyer) Murphy- Nanaimo, BC, Don & Edith (Strahl) Thornton- Kingston, ON, Bev (Oman) Scharikow- Winnipeg, Marsha Wurster- Coquitlam, BC, Lydia (Michasiw) Boychuk- Pine River, MB, Alan & Ann (Johnson) Taylor- Halifax, NS, Roger & Norma (Johnson) Huston- Saskatoon, SK, Christine (Oakley) Arnold- Rosetown, SK, Shirley (Harland) Powell- Airdrie, AB, Betty & Curt Johnson- Calgary, and Louise Proven, Joan & Steve Skatch, Marjorie & Vern Birch, Joe Woychyshyn, and Gus Kartanson all of Minnedosa. It was great to hear from these people and we hope to hear from you as well!

Some people who received our second mail-out may have thought that they had to register again or that we might have missed your registration after the first mail-out. Please don't register more than once but if you do, we will return your second registration. We have already done this for several people. Mr. Harvey Vale can rest assured that we received your first registration.

Hope you enjoy the Homecoming pins that we had made! They are available at various outlets in town and people have made positive comments about the pin. We have just recently received some t-shirts and sweatshirts with the Homecoming Logo stitched on the shirts. Check them out at the Dollar Store and we'll try to order as many as seem needed.

We are still looking for talent for the Talent Show July 3rd. We are also looking for artists and craftspeople for the Art and Craft Show and Sale July 2nd. Let Marc Chisholm and Jean Sharpe know of your intentions.

We will be preparing a booklet to give to Homecoming Registrants. It will outline all of the Homecoming events as well as Fun Fest events. Any Class/Club/Organizations Reunion that is being planned will be published in this booklet as well, so let us know of your groups plans so that it can be included. Box 2000 is our mailing address. Deadline for this information is May 15th.

Weed Control Strategies

This topic usually has producers thinking about various herbicide tank mixes. However, there are some other strategies you can do to have better weed control, sometimes at less cost. Everyone realizes various crops have different competitive abilities. In order from most to least competitive with weeds is fall rye, winter wheat, barley, oats, wheat, canola, peas, flax and lentils. But everyone may not know there are varying degrees of competitiveness between different varieties within a crop. Taller wheats are more competitive than shorter wheats such as the prairie springs and other semi dwarf varieties. In barley it is a similar story. Of the varieties tested, Virden and Lacombe, taller feed varieties were the most competitive with weeds. Harrington, a malt variety and Condor, a hulless variety, were next in competitive ability. Falcon, another hulless variety and Earl, a semi dwarf feed variety were the least competitive of those that were tested.

Seeding depth, quality of seed, seed treatment and weed stages at seeding all contribute to a crop's competitive ability with weeds. Good vigorous treated seed that is sown shallow will be a vigorous healthy crop. Making sure when your crop emerges there are no weeds ahead of it also helps it compete.

Increased seeding rates, especially with crops whose seed is lower cost is a good method of outcompeting weeds. Placing the fertilizer as close to the seed as possible without causing injury also gives the crop a competitive edge over weed seeds futher away from the fertilizer.

Recent research has shown that many fields are sprayed too late for maximum yield protection. Weeds emerging from before seeding and crop emergence up to 2 ½ weeks after crop emergence cause the majority of yield loss. This correlates with up to the 3 leaf stage of the crop. Extensive research with several crops and weeds shows that weeds emerging after the 3 leaf stage of a healthy, vigorous crop have little impact on crop yield. A crop should be kept weed free up to the 3 leaf stage in order to maximize yields. In other words, more fields should be sprayed 2 - 3 weeks after emergence and get the early weeds. Waiting on more weeds to germinate loses yield. Those later weeds cause little yield loss and controlling them is more for cosmetics and weed bank seed prevention.

The last way to reduce herbicide costs is to use economic thresholds for weeds. The Guide to Crop Protection has several tables showing how many wild oats cause what amount of yield loss. Many producers worry about letting any weeds go to seed and add to the problem in future years. This is a legitimate concern. Most common weeds in a field already have very large and persistent seed banks that will be there for years. If an economic threshold this year points to not treating for a weed, most times the weeds that do go to seed have little effect on long term weed numbers. However, if you have a new weed or difficult to control one (eg. - resistant wild oats or cleavers) you would probably want to ignore economic thresholds and spray. In a year like this with such low grain prices you will really want to examine economic thresholds closely.

Now Hear This!

Ann Mandziuk,
Home Economist

"That's not noise - that's my music". Or so you are supposed to believe. But, whether it's Beethoven or Bon Jovi on the headset, it's plain noise to the ears. Too much noise can lead to hearing loss.

As well, if you are involved in farming – be conscious of the noise levels on farm equipment.

Although we're paying more attention to workplace noise, people do not realize that hazardous noise levels also affect them at home and at play.

In fact, everyday noise from lawnmowers, snowmobiles, motorboats, recreational hunting, stereos and planes can go beyond safe limits.

Over time, sound levels above 85 decibels will create hearing loss.

By comparison:
- Normal conversation is about 60 decibels
- A lawnmower is about 100
- Music through a headset (at volume 5) is about 105 decibels
- A shotgun or jet engine is about 140 decibels

Loud noises cause the hair cells in the inner ear to bend over and eventually break. As a result, they can no longer transmit information properly to the brain. Once destroyed, these hair cells cannot be replaced. This causes permanent hearing loss.

PREVENTING HEARING LOSS

Obviously you need to avoid dangerous noise levels - at home, at work and at play. If you are exposed to loud noises, wear airtight ear protectors. If you notice hearing problems, check out the situation immediately.

Thanks!
The Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce would like to take this opportunity to thank our Honorable Mayor and fellow business owner, Terry Drebit and Terry's Place Restaurant, for contributions to Chamber Events over the last five years. Terry has contributed countless hotdogs, gallons of hot chocolate and coffee, given his time and continuous monitary support of our projects and events. Also Terry has allowed us to use his facility for our weekly meetings.
With the closing of Terry's Place, we wish Terry the best of luck and good fortune with future endeavors. The Chamber, as well as the community at large, will notice something missing, especially when Friday Lunch comes and we can't get that smorg, and some of that "Famous Fried Chicken".
Thanks, Terry!

In Memoriam

Bachewich - In loving memory of Michael, beloved husband, father and grandfather, who passed away 3 years ago on May 2, 1997.

Asleep in a country cemetery
The winds of love blow softly
And whisper to only you can hear
We will always love and miss you
And wish you were here
Memories are like threads of gold
They never tarnish or grow old
Just as you were, you will always be Treasured in our memory.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by wife Diane & family. x (C6)

Kreshewski, Blaine

Five years has passed,
We miss you dearly,
Think of you always.

Love The McKinney Family. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Kreshewski - In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Blaine, who left us on May 6, 1995.
There will always be a heartache,
And many a silent tear,
But always precious memories,
Of the days when you were here.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout our lives,
Until we meet again.
Sadly missed by Mom, Sister and Brothers.

Cards of Thanks

Spaller - Words alone cannot express our heartfelt thanks to our family, friends, co-workers and neighbors for your many acts of kindness, visits, cards, phone calls, food, floral tributes, words of encouragement, and charitable donations. Special thanks to Jennifer Borean (Victim Services), Madeleine and Keith (very special people) for the care and comfort that each of you provided for us and our families on the 1st day and the days that followed. Your support made it easier for us to manage. A special thanks also to John & Sonia for taking me under their wing, for all the coffee talks, and for comforting both Lindsay and myself. Our sincere thanks to Fr. Malik for his touching service, the Eucharistic Church Elder, Pallbearers, Andy for being Cross Bearer, and the Church Ladies for preparing and serving the lunch. In addition, our gratitude to Rick and Shawna of Rae's Funeral Home for being so compassionate and their exceptional professionalism. Your assistance and services were greatly appreciated. Thanks to all of you for sharing with us in our loss. Our loss is also your loss. May he rest in peace. Pat and Lindsay. (CD)

We would like to thank all those special people who expressed their sympathy to us through phone calls, visits, hugs, gifts of food, help with chores, cards & flowers. Thanks to the staff of Rae's Funeral Home and to Jennifer Borean for their support and guidance. John & Sonia Spaller. (CD)

We want to thank all of the friends and neighbors who came to Marian Ogibowski's surprise birthday party. We also want to thank all of those who couldn't make it but sent their love and best wishes. Mostly we have to thank everyone for keeping it the best kept secret in town. Mom was suitably shocked, surprised and honored at the outpouring of love and balloons that she received in her honor. We want to thank you all for helping us show her just how much we love her.

A special thank you to Shirly Dyck for helping spread the word and to Tammy and Rick Turner for their deviousness, and for all their hard work helping set up and tidy up. It was wonderful to have this chance to renew old memories, meet old friends and neighbors again and to do it all in the name of celebrating our mother's life. Thank you all! Ray, Ruth, Dawn and Diane and all the grandchildren. It was a complete surprise...I'm still in shock! Basswood Hall full of purple balloons and smiling faces. You have just added a volume to my store of precious memories. With heartfelt thanks to all of you. Marian Ogibowski. x (CD)

Obituary

Josephine (Laskowsky) Paraschuk

On Good Friday, April 21, 2000 Josephine Paraschuk peacefully passed away at the Sandy Lake Nursing home.

She left this world to join her husband Thomas, her parents Ben and Anna Laskowsky, her sisters Katie Siwak, Lilian Duchminsky and Elsie Pavlik. She will be missed by her children Phyllis and Wally Posoy, Olga and Peter Prosken, Metro and Jean Paraschuk; her grandchildren Harold (Joyce) Prosken, Gary Posmitsuck, Douglas Paraschuk (Mary-Ann), Julie (Ed) Alexiuk, Gail (Lloyd) Leknes, Debbie (Keith) Lemkey, Brenda (Robert) Douglas; her great grandchildren Jeff and Mary-Joy Prosken, Elyse and Leiya Lemkey, Nicholas and Lucas Alexiuk, Thomas and Hope Posmitsuck and her only surviving brother John Laskowsky.

Josephine (Jessie) Laskowsky began her life on November 6, 1904 in Angusville, Manitoba and married Thomas Paraschuk in 1925. Her family and friends were the focus of most of her activities. She was very active in her church, enjoyed cooking and travelling, playing cards and fishing.

Her life was celebrated on Friday, April 28 at 10:00 a.m. with Divine Liturgy at Holy Ascension Ukrainian Catholic Church in Minnedosa, Manitoba. Prayers were held on Thursday, April 27 at 7:00 p.m. at the Sparrow Funeral Chapel. Father Michael Tkachuk conducted the services.

Interment will be at the Ukrainian Catholic Cemetery in Minnedosa. Her grandchildren will be her pallbearers. Crossbearer will be her great-grandchild.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made for mass or to the Holy Ascension Ukrainian Catholic Church Memorial Fund in memory of Jessie Paraschuk.

Obituary

George Henry Young

George Henry Young was born June 30, 1920 in Glenella, Manitoba, the second child and eldest son of W.T. and Irene Young. He passed away on April 23, 2000 at the Stettler Health Complex, Stettler, Alberta following a lengthy illness.

George's family moved to Minnedosa, Manitoba in 1933 and George worked on the family farm and for local businessmen until 1953 when he moved to Devon, Alberta to work in the oil field. George married Vivian Charles of Minnedosa in 1954. They moved to Stettler in 1955 where they raised their family. George retired from oil field servicing in 1979 and then held various seasonal employments until Vivian retired in 1987.

George was very active in the Stettler Baptist church, serving for many years as Sunday School Secretary-Treasurer, Deacon and Envelope Secretary. As long as his health permitted in retirement, he enjoyed helping with the maintenance of the church and its grounds.

George also enjoyed the outdoors - hiking, boating, cycling, fishing and traveling by motorhome. His travels covered Canada from coast to coast, seeing 33 of the 50 states of the USA and New Zealand.

While economic circumstances precluded George from completing his education, he was a strong supporter of education. His support enabled each of his children to complete post-secondary education and to obtain professional designations.

His parents and three brothers Bruce, Glen and an infant, predeceased George. He leaves to mourn his passing his wife Vivian, his children Bob of Edmonton, Nancy of Calgary and Bryan of Calgary. He is also survived by his sisters Alma Peterson of Minnedosa and Clara (Albert) Johnson of Minnedosa, brothers Lewis (Donna) of Innisfail and Lloyd of Prince Albert, sisters-in-law Joye Young of Regina and Ruth (Abe) Peters of Virden as well as many nieces, nephews and friends.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, April 26, 2000 at the Stettler Baptist Church, Stettler, Alberta with Pastor Ken Schoenherr officiating and Rev. Ernest Hanson officiating. Two beautiful solos were sung. Bruce Johnston sang "The Holy City" and Melva Stewart sang "He the Pearly Gates Will Open." Musical accompaniment for the hymns "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah" and "Under His Wings" were performed by organist Eleanor Huber and pianist Hilda Baergen. Interment took place at Lake View Cemetery with pallbearers being Ross Crawford, Stanley Pearson, Larry Peterson, Trevor Young, Stephen Johnson and Ian Hoggins.

Following the service family and friends gathered in the Multi Purpose Room for a time of sharing and light refreshments prepared and served by ladies of the Stettler Baptist Church.

Memorial donations may be made to the Gideons or to the Alberta Heart and Stroke Foundation, c/o Stettler Funeral Home. For further information please contact Stettler Funeral Home, 742-3422. (C7)

Obituary

Joseph Tony Zatylny

Joseph was born on a farm in the Rackham District December 11, 1926. He attended Rackham and Sandy Lake Schools.

After Teachers College, he taught elementary school for 19 years. In 1970, he moved to Winnipeg and worked for Motor Coach Industries for 20 years.

He married Mary Huculak September 1, 1984 and is survived by her. He is also survived by one son Reginald, brothers Steve (Kay) of Lethbridge, Alberta; John (Helen) of Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, one sister Rose of Brandon, Manitoba as well as sister-in-law Mary Zatylny of Erickson, Manitoba. He is also survived by three step children; Larry (Cathy) Rudnicky of Winnipeg, Darlene (Wayne) Gushaluk of Winnipeg and Donna (Kyle) Harrison of Matlock.

Joseph was predeceased by his father Anthony in 1968, his mother Anna in 1983, infant sister Mary in 1917, infant brother Frank in 1918, brother Nicholas in 1986, brother Michael in 1999 and by brother-in-law Paul Michalyshyn in 1995.

Joseph was an altar attendant at St. Anthony's Church for over 20 years and an usher at St. Mary's Cathedral in Winnipeg for 29 years.

One of his special interests was cars. He spent many hours polishing and restoring his 1960 Monarch, which he still owns and drove during the summer months. He joined the Manitoba Classic and Antique Auto Club in Winnipeg where his Monarch had won many awards.

Prayers for Joseph were held Sunday, April 16 from Sparrow Funeral Chapel, Minnedosa. Funeral Mass was held Monday, April 17, at 10:30 a.m. from St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, Jackfish with Rev. Deacon Conrad Plante officiating. Interment followed in the Parish Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ed Zatylny, Mark Zatylny, Larry Huculak, Wayne Zatylny, Ernie Braschuk and Don Kostyrko. Sparrow Funeral Service of Minnedosa was in care of arrangements.
May he rest in peace.

Obituary

James (Jim) Earl Spaller

On April 6th, 2000, James (Jim) Earl Spaller passed away at the age of 54 years.

Jim was the first of twin boys born to Rose and Milton Spaller, in Sandy Lake, MB on February 17th, 1946. Jim started his schooling in the one room Lake Andy School.

He married Pat Prokopchuk of Onanole, MB on June 17, 1972, and they were blessed with one daughter, Lindsay Rae.

Jim worked at Acklands, was employed at Riding Mountain National Park to oversee numerous campgrounds in the Park, worked as a carpenter for numerous years, and spent the last 9 years as a laborer at Springhill in Neepawa. He enjoyed his work at the plant so much that he would leave earlier than need be in the mornings to spend time conversing over coffee every morning with friends.

Jim spent his entire life on the farm where he found his greatest joy and could watch nature unfold throughout the seasons. He raised chickens for his family and friends, kept roosters and "kauchkos" for pets, planted and reaped the benefit from one of the largest gardens in the area, and spent lots and lots of time tinkering around outside every evening.

Being close to the Park line allowed Jim to experience and take part in the activities he loved most. He always had a tale or two to tell to anyone with a good ear about the tracks he'd found or the patch of "smooshie" he'd come across. Jim spent many an hour during the winter months peering out into the night at the 20 or so deer that would come into the yard.

Jim also loved to fish. If ever there was a man that needed his own "Gone Fishin" sign, it was Jim. He even went so far as to pickle the fish he caught.

Jim was also an avid card player, and delighted in playing poker, hand and foot canasta, crib, and rummy.

No one will ever forget the smoked deer and elk sausage Jim made for everyone to sample, nor will they forget the many fish burgers, moose roasts, and pickled white wine fish he always had to offer.

Jim loved a good visit with lots of laughs with family and friends. If he could get his audience to crack a smile, then he was happy.

He was predeceased by his Father, Milton Spaller. He is survived by his wife, Pat and their daughter, Lindsay (special friend, Kyle Mosher, Rose Zeppa, his twin brother John (wife Sonia - daughter Sharla), brother Melvin (daughter Melanie), sister Verna Benfeld (husband Larry, son Wade), sister Gail Bevan (husband Ben, daughter, Jillian), special uncle Matt Spaller (wife Lilly), mother-in-law Sadie Prokopchuk, brothers-in-law Adam and Louise Prokopchuk, Wally and Linda Prokopchuk, sister-in-law Sandra and Lee Fry, and his many nieces and nephews, cousins and a host of friends.

Funeral Service was held April 10th, 2000 from The Holy Ghost Ukrainian Catholic Church in Sandy Lake, with Rev. George Malik officiating. Interment followed in the Holy Eucharist Ukrainian Catholic Cemetery, Horod, MB.

Pallbearers were Adam Prokopchuk, Gerry Ryback, Karl Koversky, George Buhay, and Walter Sichewski. Cross-Bearer was Andy Jewar. Honorary Pallbearers were all that were in attendance.

Rae's Funeral Service was in care of arrangements.

We will miss his friendship but know he is at peace. He was loved and will be remembered by all. God Bless His Soul. (C7)

Kinsmen/Kinettes hold successful CF Luncheon

by Nancy Chemerika

The annual Kinsmen/Kinettes CF Luncheon, sponsored by the Minnedosa Credit Union, was well supported by individuals and businesses last Friday.

The luncheon, catered by D & B Catering, was intended to raise funds for cystic fibrosis, a key national project for Kinsmen and Kinettes.

Nick Ewasiuk, 12, came from Onanole to attend the luncheon with his mother, Tami. Nick spoke about living with cystic fibrosis, and some of the daily routines he must go through to remain healthy. He told the crowd that he has undergone six operations in seven years.

Nick Ewasiuk

"I'm not really that different from other kids except I can't run as far because I get winded," Nick told the crowd.

Nick and Tami were later presented with a framed print, donated by the Canadian CF Foundation, by local Kinsmen member, Terry McLennehan.

CF is an incurable disorder that affects mainly the lungs and digestive system. Sticky mucus clogs the small bronchial tubes in the lungs, making it difficult to breath. Bacteria collect in the clogged tubes, causing infections. People with cystic fibrosis most often die of lung disease.

Mucus also plugs the tiny ducts of the pancreas. As a result, it is difficult for people with CF to get the nutrients they need from food, and they often take special enzymes and vitamin supplements to improve their nutrition.

More young Canadians die of CF than from any other inherited disease. About one in every 2,500 children born in Canada has CF.

Since 1964, members of Kin Clubs have raised and donated more than $26 million for the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

So far, there is no cure or control for CF. But research has found treatments that can prolong life.

Busy week for Fire & Rescue

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Volunteer Fire Fighters were kept busy last week answering call after call for grass fires on the loose.

One of the more serious fires occurred on Tuesday at Bison Hills Estates. The grass fire, which started in two spots on the east side of PR 262, was thought be started by sparks resulting from road grading nearby.

Local fire fighters fought the fire for three hours before containing the blaze, only to be called back a few hours later to put out a spot fire. None of the new homes in the area were damaged.

That same day, fire fighters answered a call to the Brian Foxton farm, southeast of Minnedosa, where a grass and bush fire resulted in a lost granary and some damage to farm vehicles. There was also a grass and bush fire at the Bruce Firby farm, north of the mile long hill.

Local Fire Chief, Bill McVey, cautions farmers who are planning to burn their fields to have at least a 30 foot fire guard in place, that has been well worked up.

"The fire will jump, and create its own wind, so drastic winds also spell trouble," stated McVey.

The Minnedosa Volunteer Fire Fighters have answered about ten calls this spring, which McVey noted were mostly grass fires. Each trip costs over $1,000, including equipment and manpower.

"It's very dry all over. There isn't a ban in place, but we suggest that you don't burn unless absolutely necessary, at least until we get a good rain. We also ask motorists to keep their eyes open for volunteers and fire trucks, and allow them to pass when responding to a fire," concluded Mr. McVey.

Chicken Terry's to make way for The Lorelei

By Nancy Chemerika

Minnedosa's Main Street incurred a change last week with the closing of a local landmark, Terry's Place, otherwise known as Chicken Terry's.

Terry Drebit, Mayor of Minnedosa, came to town in 1977 to manage the local Chicken Delight franchise. He opened his own restaurant, Chicken Terry's, in 1984 on Main Street, and later moved to the expanded Valley Motor Lodge location in 1991. Over the years Terry has also had outlets in Erickson and Shoal Lake, and has greatly expanded his catering business.

"My lease was up, and I felt it was time to do something different," stated Drebit of his restaurant closing. "I will be running the Beach Concession, and I plan to stay in the catering business, and of course continue as Mayor. It has been a joyful experience serving the public. Minnedosa is home, it is as simple as that."

Drebit noted that he will miss serving and meeting the great variety of people, and his regular customers who have become his friends over the years.

Despite his leaving the Minnedosa restaurant business, Mr. Drebit made it clear that there are some secrets that he will be taking with him.

Kinsmen/Kinettes hold successful CF Luncheon

by Nancy Chemerika

The annual Kinsmen/Kinettes CF Luncheon, sponsored by the Minnedosa Credit Union, was well supported by individuals and businesses last Friday.

The luncheon, catered by D & B Catering, was intended to raise funds for cystic fibrosis, a key national project for Kinsmen and Kinettes.

Nick Ewasiuk, 12, came from Onanole to attend the luncheon with his mother, Tami. Nick spoke about living with cystic fibrosis, and some of the daily routines he must go through to remain healthy. He told the crowd that he has undergone six operations in seven years.

Nick Ewasiuk

"I'm not really that different from other kids except I can't run as far because I get winded," Nick told the crowd.

Nick and Tami were later presented with a framed print, donated by the Canadian CF Foundation, by local Kinsmen member, Terry McLennehan.

CF is an incurable disorder that affects mainly the lungs and digestive system. Sticky mucus clogs the small bronchial tubes in the lungs, making it difficult to breath. Bacteria collect in the clogged tubes, causing infections. People with cystic fibrosis most often die of lung disease.

Mucus also plugs the tiny ducts of the pancreas. As a result, it is difficult for people with CF to get the nutrients they need from food, and they often take special enzymes and vitamin supplements to improve their nutrition.

More young Canadians die of CF than from any other inherited disease. About one in every 2,500 children born in Canada has CF.

Since 1964, members of Kin Clubs have raised and donated more than $26 million for the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

So far, there is no cure or control for CF. But research has found treatments that can prolong life.

Accident at 16 & 10 Junction results in injuries

A two vehicle accident occurred at the Junction of Highways 16 and 10 last Friday which resulted in injuries to the drivers of both vehicles.

Patrici Thorsteinson, Winnipeg, was west bound on #16, when she pulled out from the junction stop sign directly into the path of a northbound car, driven by Janet Wood of Brandon, who was travelling about 100 k/hour on #10.

Charges are pending against Thorsteinson, who suffered pelvic and chest injuries, for proceeding from a stop sign when it was not safe to do so. Wood suffered wrist, arm and leg injuries. Both drivers were taken to the Minnedosa District Hospital.

Minnedosa Highway Patrol, Ambulance, and Fire and Rescue, attended the scene.

Leadership candidates attend local PC breakfast

Leadership candidates Stew Murray and Darren Praznik were in attendance at Saturday's PC Breakfast as guests of Harold Gilleshammer. The two are vying for the job currently held by Gary Filmon. Nominations for the race close on June 1st with the leadership convention slated for Winnipeg on the 2nd and 3rd of November.

Both candidates pressed the point of change vis-a-vis the process of selecting a leader for the party stating that the present delegate system is antiquated and should be replaced by a one-member one-vote system. In line with the current system, Minnedosa Constituency members will meet in Forrest on September 28th to select their 12 voting delegates to the PC convention.

Praznik is a long-time cabinet member holding several posts during his twelve year tenure. His speech listed several incidents that, over time, eroded voter confidence in the reigning Tory party that resulted in their recent defeat and concluded "We don't have a right to power, it is something we must earn".

Murray is the CEO of Domo Gas in Winnipeg who was heavily involved in the Pan Am Games and the World Jr. Hockey Championships. He stressed his desire to talk to party members and volunteers and listen to their ideas and their suggestions as to the party's future course.

Coordinators to be hired for Co-op Ed. Program

By Nancy Chemerika

Rolling River School Division is in the midst of enhancing the career preparation program of the high school curriculum by hiring two full time Career Preparation and Placement Coordinators for an eight month term.

The pilot program will involve two full time coordinators who will share the responsibilities of finding work placements and preparing the students, providing career exploration, and providing interview skills, among others. The coordinators will be based out of the four highschools.

The program, more commonly known as Co-op Ed., currently involves having teaching staff or administrators finding work placements for over 400 students in Grades 11 and 12, as part of the Division wide Career Preparation and Exploration Program. Students are required to successfully complete the program in order to obtain a highschool credit in their final year.

"The program has grown considerably, and it takes a lot of time in terms of coordinating work placement," explained Jim Hardy, Assistant Superintendent. "To date, it has been done by teachers or administrators on a part time basis. We are looking at having someone work as a coordinator whose full time responsibility is the process of career preparation and exploration."

The co-op ed. program began about 10 years ago at Minnedosa Collegiate, and evolved from there to Erickson, and then progressed to the other two highschools, Rivers and Elton, because of the success of the program.

"The Division has always recognized the importance of the program. We think it is very important in terms of making good choices, as far as what the students will do after school," stated Hardy. "The program allows them to see what a particular work environment is like, and if it is something they in fact want to do. Numerous students have benefited directly from the placements either through part time or summer employment. In some cases, the students have ended up working for the companies that they made a connection with through the co-op ed program."

The 8 month pilot program will commence in September. The success of the program will determine whether or not the Division will continue the Career Preparation Program with full time coordinators.

Odd Fellows donate to Golf Course Expansion

Howard Trott, Minnedosa Odd Fellows Lodge #10, presented a $1,000 cheque to Frank Taylor, Golf Course Expansion Fundraising Committee, for the development of the proposed 18 hole course.

Stated Mr. Trott, "The Odd Fellows are in favour of continued progress for the future betterment of the town, for all the young people, and for tourism."

PUBLIC Consultations

The Workers Compensation Board of Manitoba (WCB) invites you to Public Hearings on a new Premium-Setting Model

The WCB is designing a new premium-setting model to ensure that the premiums paid by employers are not only fair and financially sound, but also promote workplace safety and effective disability management. Before we reach a decision on the new premium-setting model, we would like the views of individuals and organizations.

WHERE AND WHEN

Thompson	Tuesday, May 23 - 1:00pm, 6:00pm Meridian Motor Hotel, 183 Cree Rd.
Flin Flon	Wednesday, May 24 - 1:00pm, 6:00pm Victoria Inn, 160 Nva. 10 Highway
Portage la Prairie	Friday, May 26 - 1:00pm, 6:00pm Manitobah Inn, Highway No. 1
Brandon	Monday, May 29 - 1:00pm, 6:00pm Victoria Inn, 3550 Victoria Ave. W
Winnipeg	Wednesday, May 31 - 5:00pm Thursday, June 1 - 1:00pm * WCB, 333 Broadway, Lower Level
Winkler	Friday, June 2 - 1:00pm, 6:00pm Winkler Inn, 851 Main St.
Beausejour	Saturday, June 3 -1:00pm Brokenhead River Recreation Complex, James Avenue (West off PTH 302)

 French-English simultaneous translation will be provided at the hearing in Winnipeg on Thursday, June 1*

Open to the public

The public hearings are open to everyone. You don't have to make a submission to attend, but we would like to hear from:

- Workers or employers;
- Labour unions;
- Professional, trade, industrial and business associations;
- Other organizations that represent workers or employers; and
- Individuals or organizations interested in promoting workplace safety and effective disability management.

To make a submission or presentation

You may make a written submission to the WCB, or an oral presentation at one of the public hearings, or you may do both.

Written submissions should be received by the WCB no later than June 2, 2000. You may send them by mail, courier, fax, e-mail, or hand them to the panel at one of the public hearings.

To make an oral presentation, please notify the WCB by mail, fax or e-mail at least a week prior to the public hearing you wish to address, so we may set aside sufficient time for everyone who wants to appear.

Individuals will be allotted 10 minutes for their presentation and five minutes to answer questions from members of the panel. Organizations representing employers or workers may be allotted additional time, upon prior request.

The WCB will confirm receipt of all written submissions and the time and location of bookings for oral presentations.

What should the submission or presentation contain?

Your written submission or oral presentation should contain anything you believe will contribute to a premium-setting model that promotes accident prevention, effective disability management, financial soundness and fairness.

To help you focus your thoughts, we have prepared a Discussion Paper. It contains an outline of the current premium-setting model, an outline of the WCB's strategic plan, an explanation of the four principles guiding the creation of a new rate model, a discussion of some challenges that the new premium-setting model will address, and potential concepts that could be included in a new premium-setting model. We will be pleased to provide you with the Discussion Paper, or you can find it on our web site: www.wcb.mb.ca

How to contact us.

If you want to send us your written submission, book a time to make an oral presentation, receive the Discussion Paper or get additional information, please contact us at: Workers Compensation Board of Manitoba, 333 Broadway, Winnipeg, MB R3C 4W3.

PHONE: 1-888-504-1339 • FAX: (204)954-4265

E-MAIL: hearings@wcb.mb.ca

We want to ensure that WCB premiums are fair and help make Manitoba's workplaces safer. We need your input.

Terry Drebit, manager of the Minnedosa Chicken Delight in 1977

"I will not be revealing why the chicken crossed the road, and which came first - the chicken or the egg," Drebit concluded with a smile. "Myself, and Chicken Jack, Mayor of Souris, are the only two people who will ever know."

Welcome The Lorelei

Although Main Street will be losing Terry's Place, Valley Motor Lodge owners, Ron Marcyniuk, and Rick Baerg, have their own plans for the restaurant. Sometime in June, the community will welcome the opening of The Lorelei, an upscale restaurant that has been in the planning stages for several months.

According to Marcyniuk, renovations will begin today (Monday) on the new restaurant which will have a number of interesting features. Custom designed booths will be installed, as well as water fountains at the main entrance, and within the restaurant, which will feature a pond and stocked gold fish. There will also be the addition of a unisex wheel chair accessible washroom.

The restaurant will feature standard fare, with some elegant twists. A good solid lunch buffet will be provided everyday, as well as a 12' salad bar which will feature up to 40 different items. Darryl McLaughlin, a certified Red Seal Chef, will be joining the restaurant at the end of August.

"Our focus will be on excellent quality food, great service, and a real relaxed, fantastic atmosphere," stated Marcyniuk. "To sum it up with one word - it's going to be 'classy'."

The main contractor for the project will be Birch Construction, Basswood. The plumbing will be done by Wahoski Plumbing and Heating Neepawa, electrical by Burton Enterprises, Minnedosa, and the interior designer will be Maggie Creber of Newdale.

"We are looking forward to serving the community, and hope that the community will welcome us," concluded Marcyniuk.

The Rock - Canada's economic bright spot

A few decades can make a big difference. In a recent economic forecast released by the Bank of Montreal, the two Canadian provinces who will lead the economy over the next five years are Alberta and Newfoundland. Newfoundland?

It wasn't all that long ago when visitors to Newfoundland were greeted with signs proclaiming, "There's no work here - we've got it all done". Daily we were treated to television interviews and newspaper articles proclaiming Newfoundland as the poorest of the poor - the bottom of the barrel in Canadian economic terms. What happened?

In a word, oil. Offshore drilling, giant seagoing platforms and onshore mineral discoveries have transformed the Newfoundland fishing based economy into one of the most prolific natural resource based economic regions in the country. And it happened almost overnight.

In an article I wrote in The Tribune two years ago upon my return from a trip to Newfoundland, I indicated my astonishment at the vehicle license plates seen on the streets of St. John's. Hundreds of license plates were evident from Alberta, B.C. and Ontario. I enquired as to the reason and quickly found out that they all belonged to former Newfoundlanders returning to their home province to fill the thousands of oilpatch and mining jobs that had suddenly been created under their new economy. The transformation has been quick in coming and truly amazing in its volume.

In that same Bank of Montreal study, the predicted economic growth figures for Manitoba place it among the lowest of the ten Canadian provinces. Our oil patch remains miniscule with few new discoveries being reported and our mining sector remains stagnant with little prospecting being conducted and no new mining operations on the horizon. At the same time, growth in the agriculture sector remains negative and other than Maple Leaf announcing their start-up some three years ago, not much of significance has happened since. We are stagnating. Another report released last week by the Globe and Mail, relating to current economic conditions and future outlooks across the country, placed Manitoba at dead last.

Like the Newfoundland fishers of old, the only news eminating from the prairie provinces of late is with regards to the latest farm protest against less than anticipated federal and provincial bail-outs. The tables have, for the forseeable future, turned.

Newfoundland - the economic bright spot in the Canadian economy. What an amazing turn-around.

An unwelcome anniversary

One year ago last Thursday, May 4th, the rains started falling and then didn't let up for six straight weeks. The result was a disaster for our area farmers. A disaster that they still reel from to this day. It was unprecedented in the recorded history of our area. Not since the first till was set to soil on the Little Saskatchewan in 1875 had such an agricultural setback ever been recorded.

Let them all get their crops in this planting season, with rains coming only when needed. Is this too much to ask?

Picture of the Week ...

Dave Pollon was busy scraping the caboose in Tanner's Park last week in preparation for repainting. The Minnedosa Railroad Centennial Committee hopes to have the caboose refinished in time for Homecoming.

From the Editor's Desk

Pipe me aboard!

Have you seen the 'Royal Barge' afloat on Lake Minnedosa? Commodore Blazer, sporting his Captain's cap, now rules the waves on our shiny little pond. The initial launch was marred slightly with the loss of a certain lottery ticket which now rests somewhere on the lake bottom - and nearly took on a life of its own when the $12 million rural Manitoba winner remained unknown for an excruciating ten days. For the balance of the summer, us landlubbers stuck to the shore and forced to be nothing more than onlookers, will be able to offer little more than a doff of the cap as the Royal Yacht passes us by. By the way, is Commodore Blazer aware that he will require a licence to operate his barge this summer? Rec Commissioner Ken Surovy awaits Blazer's attendance at his next eight hour boater's course.

Up, up and away!

Remember how the privatization of MTS and deregulation of the telecommunications industry was going to result in more competition and lower phone rates? Well, with MTS' announcement last week, us captives will now have to cough up another three bucks a month just to keep enjoying the service we currently have. The company claims that residential customers, even after the three buck hike, will be paying on average $18 per month for phone service, a service they say costs $34 per month for them to provide. Even after the increase, the company indicates that their service will still be among the cheapest in Canada.

Someone wanted us to know ...

In case you were wondering, May is:

Huntington's Disease month
Speech and Hearing month
Allergy Awareness month
Medic Alert month
Hearing Awareness month
Cystic Fibrosis month
National Clean Air month
National Melanoma month
National Electrical Safety month

Ignoring the fact that there are only 31 days in the month of May, 32 days have been set aside to mark other events of significance such as Mothers Day, Respect for the Law week, Schizophrenia Day, National Sun Day, National Tap Dance Day and of course the all important National Press Freedom Day. Have a busy month!

Upcoming tournaments.

Chris Worley has issued the following list of scheduled golf tournaments for the summer.

June 10 - Zekes Ladies Open
June 11 - Men's Spring Open
July 7,8 & 9 - Fun Fest Open
July 19 - Senior Ladies Open
Aug. 19 - Fall Mixed Open
Sept. 6 - Fall Ladies Open
Sept. 10 - Fall Men's 2-man scramble
Sept. 14 - Senior Men's Fall Open

As well, a number of private tournaments have been scheduled. Check with the pro-shop for those dates.

Beta Sigma Phi celebrates 50th Anniversary

Charter Members L-R: Jean Stephenson, Marj Graham, Norma Laws, Joan Cook, Aileen Johnston, Norma Cleverley, Frederica Jeffery, Pauline Robertson

The Beta Sigma Phi of Minnedosa celebrated a milestone anniversary recently when they commemorated their 50th anniversary in the community.

Eight charter members, Norma (Bednas) Laws, Marj (Alexander) Graham, Aileen (Lee) Johnstone, Jean Stephenson, Joan (Josland) Cook, Fredrica (Halpenny) Jeffery, and Donna Cleverley, Pauline (Coulson) Robertson, joined the Lambda, Xi Theta and Preceptor Zeta chapters of the Beta Sigma Phi as they marked the special occasion at the Minnedosa Community Conference Centre with a full day of activities.

According to the Minnedosa Centennial Book, Valley Views, The Lambda Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi was formed in Minnedosa in May, 1950. Organizing members were Fredrica Halpenny, Marj Alexander, Joan Josland, Aileen Lee, Jean Stephenson, Jean Phelps, Pauline Caulson, Norma Bednas, and Irene Gugin. The director was Mrs. Verna Green, and the social sponsor was Mrs. Edythe Cummins.

Lambda's first project in May 1950 was to collect for Flood Relief.

They also helped wash dishes at the Minnedosa Hospital, and a fashion show was held later in the year.

The chapter's first Ritual of Jewels Degree took place on October 26, 1950, and the first Founder's Day Banquet was held at the Tremont Hotel on May 2, 1951. Lambda Chapter qualified for and was granted its Charter in October, 1952. As a result of swelling membership, the Preceptor Zeta and Xi Theta Chapters were later formed.

Over the last 50 years the Beta Sigma Phi in Minnedosa have been a dominant force in supporting the community, young people, and the school music programs.

As of the year 2000, the three chapters of the Beta Sigma Phi have a combined 80 members. The three local presidents are Karen Webber, Lambda Chapter, Karen Parenteau, Xi Theta Chapter, and Darlene Koetke, Preceptor Zeta Chapter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Please find enclosed C.I.B.C. personal cheque in the amount of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) as a charitable donation towards the expansion of the Minnedosa Golf Course from 9-18 holes. Just another 299 similar donations and you will have your "show on the road". All my best wishes to you and your fund-raising committee members for this Golf Course expansion program.

Sincerely,
Fred Wickenden, Winnipeg

P.S. When Fred was contacted regarding the donation he said "Minnedosa is a very nice town to visit and a lot of small towns need additional out of town support for their projects to be successful."

Dear Editor:

We are so lucky to live in a country as wonderful as Canada. We may complain about GST, our politicians etc., but compared to some other countries in the world this is quite insignificant. Everyone in this country should be proud to call Canada their home.

To celebrate being a Canadian the Kinsmen & Kinette Clubs of Minnedosa are challenging everyone in the town of Minnedosa and surrounding areas to put up a Canadian Flag by May 13, 2000, which is Raise the Flag Day.

Raise the Flag Day began in 1992 by the then Mayor of Ottawa, Jacqueline Holzman. She challenged other cities across Canada to raise as many Canadian Flags as possible in honor of Canada's 125th Anniversary.

It was such a big undertaking for the cities to organize, so in 1994 it became the national project for all Kinsmen & Kinette clubs throughout Canada.

We have so many events happening here throughout the year, that a Canadian Flag flying from every business and home in Minnedosa would truly make tourists remember us.

If you love your country and are proud to live here, then Raise a Canadian Flag.

Sincerely,
Corinne Topham
President - Minnedosa Kinette Club

Motor boat operators - Prepare to be carded

Canadian boaters can expect safer waters this summer with the introduction of the Lifesaving Society's new Boat Operators Accredit Training (BOAT) program for all boaters. New laws require that boaters will have to carry a Canadian Pleasure Craft Operators Card (PCO).

"If people are going to operate a boat, they can expect to be spot checked this year for a PCO card - especially young people," said the Lifesaving Society's Executive Director, Rob Truthwaite. "The fines are substantial and start at $100 for any youth born after April 1st, 1983, not having a PCO card."

The goal is that by September 2002, anyone operating a powered water craft under four meters will be required to take a Boat Operators course to avoid fines starting at $250 per incident.

There are three ways to get the card. Boaters can enroll in the Lifesaving Society 8 hour BOAT Course for amateur boaters, the four hour refresher course for semi-experienced boaters, or if experienced, boaters can challenge the exam by writing and passing it. The test must be passed with a minimum score of 75% in order to receive the PCO card. Currently The Minnedosa District Recreation Commission are offering the Boating Safety Course at the end of the month.

Until now, people of any age could operate any kind of boat with no training or education. Even youngsters with no knowledge of boating safety could legally handle a powerful craft.

For years, concerned Canadians have pushed for mandatory boater education to reduce the 200 lives lost and estimated 6,000 non-fatal boating incidents that take place each year on Canada's waterways. The new regulations could help reduce recreational motorized watercraft deaths, which jumped from 59 in 1996 to 73 in 1997; and increase of almost 25%.

According to the Lifesaving Society, one of the most alarming things about boating deaths in Canada is that many of them could have been prevented by wearing a Personal Floatation Device when out on the water.

"Everyone can make our waterways safer by watching their alcohol intake, wearing a personal floatation device, and as of last fall, becoming more water wise by obtaining their Pleasure Craft Operator Card. In addition to the card, new federal laws require that all boaters must have properly sized personal floatation devices for each occupant in their craft," concluded Rob Truthwaite.

Minnedosa to host 2002 Sprint Canoe/ Kayak Championships

By Nancy Chemerika

The Manitoba Paddling Association officially announced last week that the 2002 National Sprint Canoe and Kayak Championships will be held at Minnedosa Lake, August 21 to 24, 2002.

In conjunction with the national event, the Canadian Masters Canoe and Kayak Championships will be held on August 25th. Combined, the two events are expected to attract approximately 2,000 athletes, coaches, officials and volunteers.

The 1000 meter course, is a legacy of both the Canada and Pan American Games. The finish line will be at the pavilion, and boat storage will take place on the baseball diamond and the soccer pitch. Results will be collected in the pavilion. Tents will be set up for boat weighing and to shelter athletes and officials in case of inclement weather.

Denis Van Laeken, Executive Director, Manitoba Paddling Association, noted that the event will be surrounded by an easy going atmosphere and security will not be as tight as for the Pan Am Games.

"Anyone can come in for free to view the races. There will be a designated parking area and a security guard to watch the equipment at night," explained Van Laeken.

A combination of Manitoba Paddling Association and local volunteers will be organizing the event. Byron MacLennan, Chair Minnedosa Canoe/ Kayak Club, will be heading up the local volunteers and organizing the site. Anyone interested in volunteering for the event, or bidding on catering or accommodations are welcome to give Bryon a call.

Racing will be held every day from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., with races taking place every five minutes.

"Swimming won't be a problem, but motor boats may be a problem during race time. But we will only be using 1000 meters of the lake, so there will probably be some access for boats on the north end, but I won't guarantee that," stated Van Laeken.

As a result of the paddling event, Minnedosa will be the site of a number of social activities including Junior and Senior Socials, a Commodore Reception, a Master's Banquet, and numerous meetings. The bulk of the athletes will be staying in Brandon, although Van Laeken noted that the Minnedosa Campground and hotels will also benefit.

A training camp for paddlers will be held July 13 to 21 in Minnedosa. On July 16, 2000, The Manitoba Cup, a competition for beginner paddlers, will be held at Minnedosa Lake. The one day event is expected to draw approximately 50 athletes from all over Manitoba.

The National Qualifiers/ Prairie Divisionals will be held at the Lake, July 22 and 23, for approximately 200 athletes from Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan. The competition is for athletes at the Midget level and up. Separate events are also being added for Atom level paddlers, which will include a number of Minnedosa athletes. Athletes who place in the top four of their category will earn the right to compete at the Canadian Championships at Halifax in August.

Van Laeken concluded by saying that the beauty of Minnedosa Lake is key in attracting numerous events to the area. "It's a world class course. Basically the best course west of Montreal," he stated.

Public hearing to reconvene

By Nancy Chemerika

Councillors Graham, Willis, Everett, Blais and Mayor Drebit were in attendance at last Tuesday's regular meeting. A public hearing regarding Tony Saler's application to amend the planning scheme was held. Mr. Saler had previously made application through his solicitor to have his property on 3rd St. northeast rezoned from RA, suburban, to R2, suitable for a two family dwelling district which would permit a single family dwelling or a two family dwelling.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Saler, a delegation led by Ken and Susan Hoglund, was also in attendance to voice their objections to the amendment. The meeting was adjourned to obtain information, as there was some confusion regarding whether or not the objecting property owners were zoned RA or R2.

After re-examining the zoning map, and having it reviewed by Community Economic Development Services Branch of Intergovernmental Affairs, it was determined that the objecting property owners on 3rd St. NE, were zoned R2.

"It is unfortunate that the information brought to the table by Ken Hoglund was incorrect," stated Mayor Drebit. "He felt that he was zoned RA, but further investigation revealed that he is zoned R2, which is what Mr. Saler is also requesting. Council has a desire to treat everyone who comes to the table, equally and fairly. The Public Hearing will be reconvened at the next regular Council Meeting."

In other Council news, Assistant Administrator, Shirley Warkentin, was authorized to attend the Auto Administrator General Meeting in Gimli

Central Manitoba Tournament of Champions held at Minnedosa Bowl

Minnedosa Bowl was the site of the Central Manitoba Tournament of Champions this past weekend, drawing about 160 bowlers to the area for the two day event.

The Central Manitoba Bowlers Association is hosting the tournament. The current executive includes President, Mary Ann Bullock, Vice President, Wilf Grieder, and Secretary-Treasurer, Cathy Mansell. Tournament Director is Lori Stevenson, with Waine Mansell as Assistant Tournament Director.

This is the second year that the tournament has been held in Minnedosa. The location will change next year, with the change in rotation of the executive to elsewhere in Central Manitoba.

Thirty two teams of bowlers, all league champions, from Swan River, Gilbert Plains, Dauphin, Neepawa, Portage, and Minnedosa took part in the tournament. Each team play three games in a pins over average format. All were competing for the mixed team championships, as well as the men's and ladies's champions. Look for the results of the tournament in next week's Tribune.

A banquet was held on Saturday evening with greetings being brought from MLA Harold Gilleshammer, and Mark Blais of the Town of Minnedosa. The Zone winners of the past year were announced.

"It's a tournament that everyone enjoys, because it recognizes grass roots bowlers with the same respect given to the elite bowlers," stated Lori Stevenson, three time National Champion. "There is a good mix of all calibre of bowlers. I think that's why everyone enjoys it."

Shakin the Lake to be held at Classic Rock Site

Promotors have announced that the contemporary rock festival, Shakin The Lake, will take place in Minnedosa this July.

Over 25 acts will be contracted to play on June 30th, the Kick Off Party, and continuing through until July 2nd. The promoters have said that currently Jar, Wide Mouth Mason, Rhymes With Orange, Moist, Filter, and most recently, the Matthew Good Band, have been signed to perform. They added that the Minnedosa festival will be Filters only Western Canadian Show this summer.

Morris Levandoski, one of the promoters of the event, noted that they are planning to sign at least 20 more acts for the festival.

The festival will be held at the Classic Rock Weekend site on the shores of Minnedosa Lake. The four day festival is being limited to 7500 passes.

Corporates signed for the event are Labatt Breweries, Polar Ice Vodka, Rothman's Benson and hedges, and InterCanada Communications (Rogers AT&T).

Council news...

Council agreed to bring forth a resolution regarding establishing a task force to study the effects of amalgamation, at the Association of Manitoba Municipalities Mid Western District Meeting, held in Minnedosa last Friday. Council also put forth a motion that a resolution be sent to AMM to urge the Provincial Government to hold Rural Forum alternately between Winnipeg and Brandon.

Council agreed that all docks remaining from the Canada Summer Games and the Pan Am Games be collected and stored at the Parks Office.

A summer meeting schedule for Council was set for July 11th and August 15th, beginning at 10:00 a.m.

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

Manitoba broke previous high temperature for May 2nd when the mercury climbed to 31C. Now if we could only get rain! Farmers are almost working round the clock to get their seeding done.

John & Sharon Whitaker recently returned from England where John had been invited to a Biosphere Conference at Cambridge. Sharon joined John after the Conference for a week's holiday in Yorkshire.

COPP's safety tip this weeks is: ...Do a good inventory for all attractive items. This will greatly assist police. Include brand names, models, serial numbers and other physical descriptions. Photographic records should be part of this inventory. Engraving your I.D. number on some items such as tools will also assist greatly.

Viola Burkett attended the funeral of her uncle Emil Shellborn of Jeffrey, B.C. She returned to Erickson with Olav and Lula Shellborn who will be spending a short holiday at the farm while visiting relatives and friends.

Olga Hall had daughter Dolores from Outlook, SK, Pearl Hall & Lilly Paulsen of Brandon as Easter guests.

The Erickson Women's Institute attended the Provincial Women's Institute Convention at Portage la Prairie on May 1st. Congratulations to Kay Kotyk who won 1st Prize for her Butter Tarts and Gale Johnson for Honorable mention and Janice Appleyard for placing 2nd in the Photography Category.

Brian and Bernice Pearse went to Edmonton to see Monique and Don and new granddaughter.

Sympathy is extended to the Holm and Nylen families on the sudden death of Ruby Nylen at Minnedosa. The funeral was held on Friday, May 5th.

Condolences are also extended to the Gregorash family on the death of their 92 year old mother Teenie at Sandy Lake Personal Care Home. Funeral service was conducted at Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, May 6th.

Dr. Jenny Jackson had a very informative and interesting presentation on "Our Immune System" at the regular May meeting of the Erickson W.I.

Ethel Neilson had her granddaughter Cathy Buckboro, Winnipeg visiting her for 5 days.

George Wilson is now residing in Parkland Home.

Mike Geletchuk and John Ewashko have returned from their 3 week trip to the Ukraine. I'm anxious to hear all about the conditions over there.

Homecoming is soon here. Remember to plant your flowers in Red, Blue & Yellow colors. If there was a prize given for the cleanest, prettiest street, would your property help your street to win that prize?

Please give or phone me your news.

Park performs prescribed burn at Lake Audy

By Nancy Chemerika

Riding Mountain National Park performed a prescribed burn in the Lake Audy area last Wednesday by dropping small chemical bombs from a helicopter.

The fire was contained by using natural fire breaks, such as the Little Saskatchewan River to the west, and Bone Creek to the south. Southwesterly winds ensured that the flames were pushed towards the Park, rather than the outlying areas.

According to Warden's office Communications Officer, Ken Kingdon, the purpose of the prescribed burn was to rejuvenate some of the native prairie in the Lake Audy area. The burning gets rid of the majority of the old, dead vegetation and converts it to a type of fertilizer for the new growth. Approximately 2,200 hectares were burnt.

The Park felt that the burn was necessary because the larger meadows have been steadily growing in over the last 50 years.

"The idea is to get things back into a fire cycle," stated Kingdon. "Those prairies would have originated from a grass fire once every 5 to 15 years. It's been 50 years since some of those prairies have been burned. In the old days, they used to hay them, but now, because we don't allow haying in the park, we need to be able to use something like fire to knock back the trees, etcetera."

Kingdon noted that the prescribed burns generally result in very little dead wildlife. The animals tend to find the wet, safe areas, and moose and elk generally skirt around the flames.

"We're not really worried about a scene from Bambi happening where everything is rushing towards the lake. Particularly in the prescribed areas, the flames would hardly be more than a meter at the best of times. It is mostly a creeping grass fire."

The Park is currently planning a prescribed burn around the townsite of Wasagaming, again in order to restore the natural prairie, but also to protect the townsite from wildfire sweeping in from the east. RMNP is also planning to burn every year in a different area in order to get a more natural fire cycle activated. "We are trying to reintroduce fire to the Park as a natural component. It doesn't really matter how it happens. If it happens by a controlled prescribed burn, then that's good. If it's a wild fire that does the job for us, that is also okay. Our current mandate is to put the wild fire out, but there is a move in Park service to take a look at any wild fire and determine what it is threatening. If it's nothing, then we will determine how we can manage it. As of today, we would still do a frontal attack, but in the future, I think we will be moving towards not being so aggressive in trying to stomp out every fire."

Manitoba Small Scale Forestry Shines

by Bill Stilwell

The auctioneer's cry of "sold" signalled Wes Enns as the high bidder for a bundle of Manitoba grown and manufactured black ash boards. This is lumber he'll use to make furniture.

"I liked the auction idea," said Wes Enns, who describes himself as a hobby woodworker from Winkler. "It's a good place to see what the different woods are selling for."

This auction attracted people from across Manitoba including: Pipestone, Neepawa, Carberry, Miami, Brandon, St. Claude, Pine River and many other places.

The auction's sponsor, the Manitoba Agro Woodlot Program (MAWP), works with Manitoba producers to improve the industry and the product, according to Shane Tornblom, MAWP field manager. Just in case anyone wonders, it wasn't an accident that the lumber auction was held on Earth Day.

"We wanted to show Winnipegers that landowners and micro forestry operators were producing furniture and quality lumber while enhancing wooded wildlife habitat on private lands," said Tornblom.

"Now that we have good quality locally produced kiln-dried hardwood, we'd like to broaden the market by having made-in-Manitoba finished products," he said.

A display of beautifully crafted furniture at the auction demonstrates the potential of local grown lumber, noted Scott Davis, a MAWP woodlot technician at Killarney. It featured tables, chairs and dressers made from bur oak, birch, black and green ash.

"This is something quite new," said auctioneer Bill Klassen soon after the bidding started on April 22 at Oak Bluff, Mb. The sale targeted skilled woodworkers and hobbyists. More than 350 people attended as 10,000 board feet of woodlot lumber went on the auction block in small lots.

"We thought the auction went well," said Davis. We want to get the message out that rural Manitoba's small scale operations produce high quality kiln-dried hardwood lumber, he adds.

Most of Manitoba's woodworkers use imported hardwood lumber from Ontario and Eastern United States. MAWP hopes that more craftsmen will use lumber produced in rural Manitoba to build specialty furniture.

Interest in woodlot management is growing across the province. Landowners are putting idle acres to work by managing their wooded land. Many farmers also see this as a way to diversify their income, while using small scale woodlot management practises to enhance wildlife habitat and diversify the economic base of rural communities.

Enns, who is from Winkler, bought 25 board feet of kiln-dried black ash lumber consigned by Clint Nicolajsen, a Carman kiln owner.

"I'll make coffee tables or maybe small cabinets from it," he said.

Nicolajsen said the black ash makes beautiful furniture since these are good quality boards. Black ash has a well-pronounced grain and kiln-drying ensures it won't warp or crack.

The Manitoba Habitat Heritage Corporation, a provincial Crown corporation with a mandate to conserve, enhance and restore fish and wildlife habitat, delivers the MAWP.

May is Cystic Fibrosis Month
- Messages from Marquette -

Cystic Fibrosis (CF) is an incurable inherited disorder, affecting mainly the lungs and the digestive system. In the lungs, where the effects of the disease are most devastating, CF causes increasingly severe respiratory problems. In the digestive tract, CF often results in extreme difficulty in digesting adequate nutrients from food. Most persons with Cystic Fibrosis eventually die of lung disease.

How many Canadians Have CF?

It is estimated that one in every 2500 children born in Canada has CF. At the present time, approximately 3000 children, adolescents, and adults with Cystic Fibrosis attend specialized CF clinics. These types of clinics are available at the Health Sciences Centre in Winnipeg.

What are the signs and symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis?

Since it is a disorder that affects several bodily systems, Cystic Fibrosis is associated with a variety of symptoms, which can include: Chronic cough, producing thick mucus Excessive appetite, combined with weight loss Bowel disturbances Skin which tastes excessively salty Repeated or prolonged bouts of pneumonia

What causes CF?

Cystic Fibrosis is a genetic disease. It occurs when a child inherits two copies of the defective CF gene, one from each parent. Approximately one in every 25 Canadians is a carrier of the gene that causes CF. As they have only one copy of the gene, these individuals do not have Cystic Fibrosis themselves, and can never get the disease. In most cases, they are not even aware that they are carriers, since they do not have Cystic Fibrosis, or any of its symptoms.

However, if two persons who carry the CF gene have a child, each pregnancy involves: A 25% chance that the child will be born with Cystic Fibrosis; A 50% chance that the child will not have CF, but will be a carrier; A 25% chance that the child will not have CF, and will not be a carrier.

How is CF diagnosed?

If a physician suspects CF, he or she will probably order a "sweat test" which analyzes the salt content of sweat. An abnormally large amount of salt in the sweat, in association with other symptoms, would point to the presence of Cystic Fibrosis.

How does CF affect daily life?

For persons with CF, life includes a daily routine of therapy and periodic visits to a CF clinic. Otherwise, most individuals with Cystic Fibrosis lead normal lives, for many years, in terms of education, physical activity, and social relationships. Eventually, however, lung disease places increasing limits on daily life.

Cystic Fibrosis is currently an incurable disease.

Onanole News

By Leona Kucher & Harriet Hodges

Sympathy of the district is extended to Stan Rozdeba of Onanole, on the passing of his brother Frank Rozdeba in Winnipeg recently.

A bridal shower was held in honour of Rick and Kim (Ball) Grille on Saturday Apr.29 at the Rec Centre in Onanole. Later that evening a reception was held in their honour at Danceland.

A baby shower was held at Crawford Park Hall on Sunday Apr.30, for Patrick John Kondratiew, son of Mitch and Janean Kondratiew. Patrick accepted everything most graciously, by sleeping through the whole afternoon.

The Annual Rodeo weekend is fast approaching in Onanole, sanctioned by the Manitoba High School Rodeo Association. See notices for dates and times. Plan to come out and support the young rodeo riders. It's usually a lot of fun.

Happy Mother's day to all the mothers in the area. Most of the restaurants have some very appetizing Mother's Day specials advertised.

Sympathy is extended to the families of the late Jim Spaller. Jim and his wife Pat and their daughter Lindsay lived in the Lake Audy area.

Ruth Brown returned home on Thursday were she spent a month visiting with her son-in-law and daughter Tim & Lori Hockins. Her grandson Eric came home with her.

Those who attended the 25th Wedding Anniversary for Earl & Martha Mayor in Allan, SK were Glen & Marion Mayor, Elwood & Ruth Brown, Earl & Harriet Hodges, Leonard & Shirley Bialas. Helen Bialas and Sadie Prokopchuk spent Tuesday at Bellecourt, ND.

Basswood W.I. member named Manitoba President

Vivian Campbell of the Basswood W.I. was installed as President of the Manitoba Women's Institute at the 90th Anniversary Convention, last Monday in Southport.

The Manitoba W.I. is an organization that focuses on personal development, family and community action including agriculture, and rural development, both locally and globally.

Vivian has been a member of the Basswood W.I. for the past two years, and prior to that was with the Isabella W.I. for 14 years. She and her husband Gordon farmed in the Isabella area before retiring to Neepawa.

"I hope to continue with the programs that W.I. is involved with, especially looking at the farm crisis," stated Mrs. Campbell. "I am also interested in health issues," concluded Campbell, who was a public health nurse for 35 years.

In past years, Lois Neable and Marion McNabb, both of the Basswood W.I., were also Provincial Presidents for two year terms.

Newdale & District News

by Olive Waddell

"Experience is not what happens to a man; it's what a man does with what happens to him." Aldous Huxley.

Above quote taken from the Manitoba Health Auxiliary's Annual Meeting in Neepawa, Thursday, April 27, 2000. Attending from Newdale were Shirley Pederson, Phyllis Tolton, Marj Osborne and Olive Waddell from the Newdale Aid and there were 60 represented from the nine Auxiliaries. Business was covered during the morning and very interesting and informative guest speakers following lunch. They were Sandra Delorme, C.E.O. Marquette Regional Health and Pat Cockburn, Vice Pres. Program and Services. Mary Ellen Clark spoke on Palliative Care for Neepawa. Courtesies to Neepawa Auxiliary who shared a delicious lunch and coffee/tea breaks throughout the day.

Congratulations to great-grandmother Phyllis Tolton on the safe arrival of Brendan Taylor, born to Deanne and Allan Lawn of Hamiota.

Welcome to our March newcomer, Kristi, born to Janine and Roger Morris.

Dorothy Ray arrived home from having attended the Confirmation Service of her grandchildren Eldon and Shauna Litke in Beausejour, Easter Sunday.

Welcome home to Mike and Eileen Price who spent the past six months on Vancouver Island. Already they are starting to sow their garden.

Visiting with Leonard and Ida Bradley over the Easter weekend were Gwen and Allen Holmes of Regina, SK.

"Without A Doubt" was the message on the second Sunday of Easter, April 30, 2000 in the Strathclair - Newdale - Cardale United Church Charge. Sermon was based on Scripture from John 20. "The doubting Thomas", like the disciples Thomas, or even Peter and Judas, we are not perfect followers. We too have our doubts, but Jesus accepts our questions and doubts and strengthens our faith. Rev. Hunter says, "The gift of doubt is a very important gift for believers...doubts are not only acceptable, they are essential...doubt is the fuel of wisdom...so essential to faith." Communion was shared with servers, Rev. Hunter, Wendell Wight, Brian Tolton, Marguerite Wareham and Ann Patterson.

Seeding has started in the area and several are taking advantage of the ideal weather to do some gardening. Now for a little moisture!

A few from Newdale enjoyed the Spring Smorg held in the newly renovated Church basement at Cadurcis on Sunday, April 30th. A good time was spent visiting and renewing acquaintances. Rev. Drake was present to welcome all and pronounce "grace" for workers and food.

Shirley Pederson and Phyllis Tolton attended the Manitoba Women's Institute Provincial Convention held at Southport (Portage La Prairie), on May 1st.

Harrison House visitors: On April 22nd - Grace, Kyle, Karwin McLean from Strathclair called Jean Irwin. April 23-25 - Doreen Chambers from Calgary, visited her mother Blanche English.

Agriculture Report

by Neil Galbraith

Wheat Protein Content

Beginning August 1, 2000 producers will have the right to binding arbitration when there is a disagreement with an elevator company over protein content of the wheat. The Canadian Grain Commission will test the wheat for protein. If their results are within plus or minus .4 per cent of the elevator company's results, the elevator's test results will be considered accurate. If the CGC result is outside that range, then the CGC's results would be considered binding on both the farmer and the elevator company.

Pesticide Free Crop Production Research

This is a fairly new research initiative. Pesticide Free Crop Production, or PFP, is a production system where no herbicides, insecticides or fungicides are used from time of crop emergence to time of grain marketing. Fertilizers can be used, and certain pesticides can be used before and after crop production, and in non-PFP years. Proposed benefits of PFP include: 1) more farmer control of grain production, 2) less risk of developing herbicide resistant weed problems, 3) lower input costs and 4) possible access to growing environmental food markets.

The University of Manitoba, Ag Canada and MB Agriculture and Food are conducting the research. The work includes on farm research, long term crop rotation experiments, integrated pest management and agronomic studies and market research. A group of Manitoba farmers are involved in directing the research.

Interested farmers can participate in the research in two ways. If you have ever grown cereals, oilseed or pulse crops without any herbicides, fungicides or insecticides, the PFP research group would like to hear from you. They would like to know how well it worked and what techniques you used to make it work.

The second way is if you have any fields that may not require an in crop herbicide this year. The researchers would like to visit the field before you make the final decision to spray or not to spray. They will scout the field and if weed populations are below the threshold for herbicide treatment, they would like to include the field history in their database.

In either way, there is little extra work for you, the producer. Basically, making a phone call is most of your responsibility. Contact myself at the Ag Office if you are interested in this new concept.

A win for Manitoba Motorcyclists

by Marcel Normandeau
Past President and Communications Director

The Coalition of Manitoba Motorcycle Groups has scored a touchdown according to Terry Johns, President.

"We have been in discussion with Manitoba Public Insurance for over 3 years about the inequities in the Special Risk Extension coverage for motorcycles. They finally recognized the validity of our arguments and moved to slash the SRE premiums drastically." This means that motorcycle enthusiasts in Manitoba who buy the additional coverage for fire, theft, vandalism (which in not offered with the basic coverage as it is with other vehicles) will see their costs go down by several hundred dollars. In addition, those motorcyclists who did not buy this protection in the past because it was too expensive will now find it much more affordable.

Johns goes on to say that while this is a major step forward in bringing back some fairness in motorcycle insurance premiums, the game is not over yet. "The CMMG is still going toe-to-toe with MPI on the major issue of basic insurance which has increased over 240% in the past 10 years. We will continue our lobbying efforts to implement a Loss Transfer system."

Johns explains that when a motorcycle is involved in an accident with another vehicle that is not a motorcycle, all the costs for repairing the bike plus the medical, disability and wage replacement etc. costs for the operator are borne by a small pool of registered motorcycle owners who now number less than 7000. One or two catastrophic accidents per year mean that the dwindling number of motorcyclists have to pay for costs which are not the result of their own actions. Loss Transfer would ensure these costs are borne by the vehicle which is at fault in the accident and help reduce the rising basic insurance rates.

Watch the Prairie - Heralds of Spring -

by Gerry Oliver

After the cool winds of March, people of the prairies watch closely for the first heralds of spring. Mother Nature has supplied us with many small but bright flowers to announce the arrival of spring.

Many of the early-blooming plants are low-growing, so as to be protected from the cool winds, but at the same time, capture the warmth of the sun and soils. Some are covered with fine hairs which further help insulate the plant against the wind, both in the cool spring and later during the hot days of summer.

The most widely known is the prairie crocus (Anemone patens). We find these fuzzy little purple flowers carpeting south facing slopes of many native prairie hillsides early in April. The early botanists who surveyed the North American plains named this little harbinger of spring after Anemos, Greek god of the winds. Thus, the little flower has been known since then as "the flower of the prairie wind".

Close on the heels of the prairie crocus, are the buttercups (Ranunculus rhomboideus). Their shiny, bright yellow flowers are easily spotted on the prairie, despite the fact that the plant itself hugs the ground Five petals are characteristic of this family of flowers. Look for them in slightly moister areas such as those that are partly shaded or hold moisture a bit longer in spring.

Prairie cinquefoil (Potentilla pensylvanica) greens up soon after the snows leave the prairie. While not overly attractive, the modest plant, with the "five-fingered" leaves, produces small yellow flowers. The leaves are quite hairy and have a greyish appearance. Several other cinquefoils quickly join their cousin, adding new colour to a drab landscape.

Prairie smoke (Geum triflorum) softens the harshness of the prairie of early May with its soft pink haze. Growing in a large matt, these flowers look like smoke covering the ground. The flower heads droop when immature, but become erect once the flower is fertilized. This is when the soft achenes to which the seeds are attached, become long and pink. They move with the winds, a glistening, soft pink and dancing back and forth. The achenes carry the mature seeds to new locations. This plant is also called "Old Man's Whiskers" and three-flowered avens.

In the shaded areas under a tree or in a damp meadow or near a slough, one can often be surprised by the tiny but bright-coloured violets. Three species are common throughout this region - crowfoot violet, Western Canada violet and yellow meadow violet. These miniature pansies are easy to determine as each one has distinctive characteristics.

The crowfoot violet has finely divided leaves and a distinct purple flower. It grows in drier locations often in the grass and sun, while Western Canada violet is found in wooded, shady spots. It has heart-shaped leaves and the flower is pale pink or purple, often fading to near white. One of the petals has a prominent spur. The yellow meadow violet grows in moist meadows and has a distinctive yellow flower.

Spring flowers of the native prairie serve as the herald for bigger and brighter things to come. They just let you know that another summer is just around the corner.

Eye on MCI

by Stephanie Johnson & Lyndsay Alexander

Only 48 days! The countdown is on! This years Y2K Grad promises to be the best of the millennium. Needless to say, we do have the best. With the likes of Devin Dmytriw as our own Valedictorian and the one and only George Jersak as our Guest of Honour. Who and what could top these famous personalities?

Amongst all of the hustle and bustle of this being our last year in the halls of MCI we have all voted on our choices for the various distinctions that make this Millennium Grad (The Class of 2000) the gala event of the Century. Francis Webb will honour the Queen, to the teachers who we all look up too; Jan Currah and Sean Perkins will put them in the limelight. To Toast the parents for a long haul, Lindsay Lewis and Katrina Nylen will take this honour. To us the grads, Mr. Stone, Mr Chisholm, Mrs. Mansbridge and Mr. Brooking are in the running. The Class of 2000 has chosen the one and only Ms. Reid as our Guest Speaker, this promises to be a fitting farewell to a great teacher.

To all the grads, remember banquet tickets must be purchased Tuesday, May 2nd to Tuesday May 9th. The tickets are $12.00 per person; Grads are allowed themselves, and 5 guests. Extra tickets may be available on a first paid, first served basis. Our prom is on June 26th, the Grad March is at 9:30 p.m. and we will be marching to "We're Here For A Good Time", by Trooper. "Yesterday" by the Beetles will be the feature dance with the parents. Ronin Keating's, "When You Say Nothing At All", will be the dance for all those grads with a special friend.

Graduation ceremonies are in the afternoon on the 27th. All may attend both the grad ceremonies and the prom the evening before. Last but definably not least; our Y2K Safe Grad is set to go.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

The seniors met May 1st at Minnedosa with sixteen out to bowl. The trophy winners were Lily Anderson and Earl Wilkinson, with Lawrence Turton receiving the Head Pin.

There were seven tables in play for the whist drive held at the Valleyview Senior Centre May 1st. The trophy winners for the ladies were: Bette Hyndman and Ann Wright, and the men, Bill Bridgeman with a tie between Gladys Simpson and John Fearnley. The trophies donated for annual competition by Ivy Cornish and Hugh Wright were presented at this time. Ivy presented Thelma Andersen with the ladies trophy, and Bob Hyndman received the men's trophy from Hugh. Thelma and Bob were declared the high score winners after attending twelve games during the past season. Credit must be given to Olive Walker for recording the scores following each game.

A pre wedding social was held Saturday evening April 29th at the Legion Hall to honor Shannon Fontana and Darcy Bayes.

Sunday guests with Stephen and Lora Hay were parents Fred and Hilda Hay, sister Lisa Hay and Don Cheen of Winnipeg, Michelle Maxwell, Charley and Georgia, Rivers, Charlotte McWilliams, Brandon and John and Grace Fearnley, Rapid City. The happy occasion was son Tanner Hay's third birthday.

Friday, April 28th was Norma Christie's 70th birthday. Dawn at Dacz's restaurant over morning coffee, friends gathered, and Lorraine Hales had Len De Schutter make a large cake in the shape of a flower, beautifully decorated. Norma cut the cake and everyone in for coffee that morning, was treated to the tasty dessert.

Saturday, April 29th, Sue and Art Brown invited Norma Christie to come to Brandon for supper. Sue told Norma that she had to take a library book out to Margo Eckberg (Norma's daughter). Arriving at Margo and Arnie's, Margo was waiting, and said to her mum to come into the garage for a minute. Inside, family and friends were waiting for Norma, to help celebrate her 70th birthday. Needless to say, Norma was speechless. A delicious pot luck supper was enjoyed and a birthday cake was served to 58 people. This happy celebration was planned by Norma's family, Margo and Arnie Eckberg, Ron and Jai Christie, Ken and Bev Christie and Marcia Hay.

Joanne and Bill Porter from Transcona were weekend visitors with their Grandma Mabel Haslen, and parents Bruce and Arma Porter of Brandon.

Friday evening April 28th Patty and Andy Johnson hosted a farewell party, in honor of Barb and Allan Stone who are leaving Rapid City to make their home at victoria. A group of ladies gathered Wednesday evening at Dacz's restaurant and were joined by Barb and Allan Stone for a delicious meal. The couple were presented with a bell clock and a gift of money on behalf of community friends. We will miss our leader Barb, you are tops!!

R.M. of Saskatchewan News

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Council of the Rural Municipality of Saskatchewan held in the Council Chambers in Rapid City at 9:00 a.m. Tuesday the 2nd day of May 2000.

Present: W. Clayton Murray - Reeve; Robert L. Sharpo - Councillor Ward 1; Ron Citulsky - Councillor Ward 2; Edward Rudneski - Councillor Ward 4; Ron Kingdon - Councillor Ward 5; Valerie P. Irving - Chief Administrative Officer. Resolutions passed were as follows:

That the minutes of the regular meeting held Tuesday, April 11, 2000 be taken as read, all statutory requirements having been fulfilled.

The By-Law No. 1139; to provide for levying of taxes of year 2000 pass second reading.

That By-Law No. 1139 pass third reading and be signed by the Reeve and Administrator and that the Municipal Seal be impressed thereon.

Whereas Manitoba Habitat Heritage has requested the R.M. of Saskatchewan enter into a Memorandum of Understanding regarding any future Conservation Agreements signed in the Municipality. And Whereas the Council of the R.M. of Saskatchewan believe that signing of the MOU will encourage landowners to sign these Conservation Agreements; Be It Resolved that the Rural Municipality of Saskatchewan not sign this Memorandum of Understanding with Manitoba Habitat Heritage.

That the first installment of $2,854.00 of the 2000 payments to the Daly-Saskatchewan Recreation Commission be paid, being the following: $1354.00 - Daly-Sask. Rec. Commission, $700.00 - Mdsa Rec. Commission, $500.00 - Rapid City Ag Society - Fair grant, $200.00 - Rapid City Museum, $100.00 - Rec. Commission - Summer Drop-In Rapid City, as per the financial plan.

That $100.00 be granted to the Rapid City & District Chamber of Commerce for Canada Day celebrations.

That the R.M. of Saskatchewan donate 25-30 municipal pins to the reunion of the Rapid City School Class of 1963-64.

That membership fees of $25.00 to the Auto Administrator User Group be forwarded.

That the Financial Statement for the month ending April 30, 2000 be received and filed.

That the report of the Finance Committee be received, and that cheques numbered 3623 through 3634 in the amount of $4,114.92 be paid and that payments made after the April meeting, being cheques numbered 3609 through 3622 in the amount of $11,064.88 be approved.

Odd Fellow & Rebekah News

Lake Region #12 of Devils Lake, North Dakota, hosted the Annual meetings of the Department Council and Department Association of Man. Dak. Saturday, April 8. Conducting these meetings were Col. Gerald Lorentzon, Lake Region #12, & Lady Joan Hirt, Ft. Garry #1, Winnipeg. At the joint meeting in the afternoon, members of Lake Region #12 held a memorial service for all departed members. The officers of the Department Association were capably installed for the next term by a staff of Canton members. All enjoyed supper at the White House Restaurant. In the evening the Decoration of Chivalry was conferred on Lt. Col. Darold Ulrich of Devils Lake, under direction of Brigadier General Wm Bourgeault, Ft Garry 1, Wpg. He was escorted by his son Captain Mark Ulrich. Also taking part in the ceremony were his two grandsons and a granddaughter who had the honor of pinning his jewel.

The evening concluded with the drawing of donated articles, coffee and cookies. Attending from Canton Manitoba #2 & Ladies Auxiliary were the following Chevaliers & Ladies, Shirley & Harvey Morley, Aileen & Gordon Smalley, Herman Nikkel, Helen Blake and George Greenlay who was accompanied by his wife Maureen.

We are very proud to have two Manitobans lead the Departments for the new term, namely Lady Aileen Smalley, Brandon & Col. C. MacLennan, Wpg.

Deborah Rebekah Lodge #9, Rapid City, held a very successful luncheon. Wed. Apr. 19, in the senior centre, Rapid City. We also raffled two grocery hampers which went to Brandon & Hamiota, had a large bake sale and an auction, capably auctioned by Barry Hales.

The following evening we held our regular meeting. The money raised from the raffle was to be sent to Winnipeg for the second phase of the remodeling of the Odd Fellows home in Charleswood, now being made into suites and Grand Lodge offices.

It was decided to present a scholarship at the graduation exercises to a deserving Grade 8 student. Lunch concluded the evening.

Ruth Delmage hosted the Wandah Ladies Club, Thursday, April 27th. Following a social afternoon, all enjoyed a delicious lunch when we were pined by husband Ernie & Bert & Doreen Delmage of Brandon.

Local Conservaton District Makes Terrific Headway

by Bill Stilwell

The Little Saskatechewan River Conservation District has made tremendous headway by completing many sustainable agriculture and conservation projects in a short time.

"It is unbelievable what you have done in one year," said Interlake MLA Tom Nevakshonoff, speaking on behalf of the Minister of Intergovernmental Affairs, at the district's Spring Banquet at Basswood Community Hall on April 14.

Local MLA Harold Gilleshammer said he was delighted to see the accomplishments of the LSRCD. "It's unbelievable what you have done it's a testament to the leadership of board," he said. He praised the grassroots support and partnerships created that combine resources with local ideas resulting in significant accomplishments.

"I see a bright future for you," he said.

With a bit of persuasion you will soon have the R.M.s of Park, Harrison and others joining the conservation district, Gilleshammer added.

"Formation of a conservation district is a good example of what you can accomplish when you work together for the sake of the environment, our children's future and sustainable agriculture," said Councillor Chris Brown, R.M. of Saskatchewan.

Brown, who is also a member of the Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District (LSRCD) district board, made these comments during his greetings to the district's first Spring Banquet held at the Basswood Community Hall on April 14.

Over the past year, the LSRCD board and subdistricts have been developing programs to meet the local resource issues of the area, according to Roy Greer, board chairman.

The district was busy during the first year. They set up an office, hired staff, developed programs and erected boundary signs. Four abandoned wells were sealed, three small dams built and 750 acres were seeded under a forage seed program.

LSRCD includes the R.M.s of Daly, Saskatchewan, Blanshard, part of Odanah, Minto and Clanwilliam and the towns of Minnedosa and Rivers. The district has a board with three subdistricts, with both citizen and municipal representatives.

The district board established a long term vision, according to Myles Kopytko, district manager. "They developed a mandate to encourage support of meeting conditions and conservation practices that enhance the quality of life through integration of sustainable land and water management," he said.

Plans are already under way for many new projects in the upcoming year, according to Kopytko. These include expanded programs with Ducks Unlimited and Manitoba Habitat Heritage's Green Bank Program.

Public education will continue and a prototype program is planned for Erickson Collegiate called Classrooms and Creeks. It teaches watershed management principles and strategies. It will help students explore options and take part in local demonstration projects.

The Conservation district movement continues to grow within Manitoba. Planning is under way to form three new districts, according to Kopytko. These include Lake of the Prairies, Tiger Hills and possibly La Broquerie. As well, many existing districts continue to expand.

ECI students take part in 30 hour famine

Erickson Collegiate students did their part to put a stop to world hunger last week by taking part in the World Vision 30 Hour Famine.

Approximately 60 students from Grades 9 to 12 took part in the famine, from 9:00 a.m. last Friday until 3:00 p.m. on Saturday. Throughout the course of the activity the students remained at Erickson Collegiate, chaperoned by teachers and parents, and took part in a variety of activities to help take their minds off their hungry stomachs.

In addition to the giant pillow fights, arts and crafts, movies, and a dance, the students were allowed one drink of water or juice every hour. On Saturday afternoon, the participating students dove into a lunch provided by the parents.

Prior to the 30 hour famine, the students collected pledges which will be sent to World Vision for the needy in 3rd World Countries.

"A number of students in the school approached the student council to organize something for the 30 Hour Famine. It will make kids happy, that's the whole point," stated Shannon Whaley, President of the Erickson Collegiate Student Council.

Now Open Manitoba Youth Job Centre

By Patricia Jackson

Spring is in the air, and with it comes the reopening of the Manitoba Youth Job Centre (MYJC). We are very excited to be celebrating our 25th year of successfully supporting youth employment in Manitoba.

My name is Patricia Jackson and I am the Minnedosa and area MYJC Office Manager for the summer of 2000. I have just completed my first year of Music at Brandon University and will be returning in the fall to pursue a Bachelor of Music.

The Minnedosa Manitoba Youth Job Centre is sponsored by Manitoba Education and Training in partnership with the Kinsmen, and serves the communities of Erickson, Onanole, Keeseekowenin First Nation, Sandy Lake, Strathclair and Wasagaming.

The MYJC is designed to meet the employment needs of our students and youth, as well as the needs of employers who have vacant positions to fill, by offering a free referral service to those who wish to hire an eager, hard working young person. Only the most qualified students are referred, and the final result of whether to hire or not is completely the employer's decision. There are students and youth registered with the Centre who are available for full time and part time work, as well as some who are willing to work on a casual basis doing those tasks that require only a few hours or days of labour. These students are available for employment both in the business and household setting.

We encourage students and youth over the age of 12 to register with our office at the Yellowhead Employment Office. If you are seeking employment, need help with your resume, or are looking for some job search or interview skills, drop by during usual office hours 8:30-4:30, and we will be happy to work with you.

We also encourage employers of all types - business, household, farm, construction, etc. - to take advantage of the free services the Centre provides.

During the next few weeks, I will be busy visiting schools to encourage registration and offer job search workshops. I will also be in touch with Minnedosa and area employers to encourage job orders. Our students and youth are a valuable employment resource, offering fresh, innovative ideas. By hiring a young person, you are providing a very valuable experience that not only provides them with a wage, but also gives them numerous skills that they will find useful in their future. Your support has long lasting effects on the entire community.

The Centre will also be holding an open house next Tuesday with an official ribbon cutting taking place. The public is invited to drop in and enjoy coffee and doughnuts. See the ad in this weeks edition.

I am looking forward to a successful summer working in our communities, and encourage anyone with any questions or employment needs to drop into the office, or call 867-3846.

Rec Files

by Ken Surovy - Rec Director

Spring is a time of discovery and growth. This is true for both our environment and out little ones under the age of 5 years.

Research tells us that recreation is a key to balanced human development by helping us reach for our potential. Participation in recreation activities is essential for the development of our children as these little ones learn motor skills (physical), social skills and develop intellectual capacities and concepts as well as many other life skills through play and sport. Children also develop creativity through arts, crafts and exposure to cultural activities.

Programs such as Little Hikers, Spring Snoopers and Eco Explorers will provide an opportunity for your 3 to 5 year olds to snoop under rocks, examine the growth of flowers and leaves and explore the wonders of the Oxbow trail. Inside/Outside allow young people to learn about the outside environment through hands on experiences. Games, stories and crafts will reinforce what they are discovering and learning about the outdoors.

Sports of Sorts and Games and More will enhance motor skill development though the introduction of sports that are modified so that little ones can enjoy the activities while learning the concepts and rules. Cooperative games using the parachute and earth ball will facilitate the learning of cooperation, helping, sharing and problem solving.

Spring is also an active time for adults who are eager to get outside and play sports such as golf, softball as well as walk, bike and hike. For those who do not enjoy sports, adults can stay active by taking part in inside activities such as Boxersize and Aquasize.

Boxersize is a high impact, high intensity fitness program that incorporates music, aerobics and kick boxing moves and techniques. Taught by our certified instructor, Gaytan Perez, participants will develop their cardio-vascular capacity as well as muscle strength and physical endurance. It is recommended that anyone with health problems or concerns consult their doctor prior to participating. Aquasize is aerobics to music in the water. Aquasize is a lower impact fitness program which can be modified with the help of Gaytan to be either low or high intensity, depending on participant needs and ability.

Spring into active living, get out side, enjoy the weather and the benefits of recreation and leisure participation.

Pre-registration is required for the parent participation and pre-school programs while Boxersize and Aquasize are drop-in activities. For more information about these and other activities, call me at the Recreation Office, 867-2272.

Fire is a management took when used properly

by Bill Stilwell

Grass fires are natural and beneficial for native prairie under the right conditions. Habitat managers use controlled burning to improve native prairie when weather conditions permit.

"I didn't realize how much non native species are encroaching on the native prairie," said Ron Taylor, a representative of Friends of Rivers Lake. A visit to the native prairie site near Rivers caused him to recognize the need for management. "Burning is the natural way of maintaining native prairie," he said.

"Periodic fire is beneficial for maintaining the health of native grasslands," said Gerry Oliver, a grassland specialist with the Mixed Grass Prairie Stewardship Program.

Controlled burning helps reestablish native grasses by setting back introduced species that invade native prairie, according to Roy Bullion, a field rep with Manitoba Habitat Heritage Corporation (MHHC).

"All grasses are suppressed by fire but introduced species, such as brome and Kentucky blue grass, are hurt more by fire than native species," he explains.

"It's a renewing thing for the prairie," Oliver said. To explain, she uses Rivers' mixed grass prairie as an example. "There's a heavy thatch, a lot of build up of dead material there," she said. Fire, at the right time and frequency, can help reduce that layer and benefit native plants and wildlife found there.

In Memoriam

Madill - In loving memory of our parents and grandparents William May 14, 1997 and Elvera October 5, 1993.

They've gone from our sight but not from our thoughts
They've gone from our touch but never our hearts.

Sadly missed and forever remembered. Joy, Jack, Ray, Joan and grandchildren. x (C6)

Cards of Thanks

Thank you to everyone who attended our social and to those who bought tickets but could not attend. A special thanks to those who helped make the evening a success. We did enjoy seeing everyone. Darcy & Brenda Canners. x (CD)

The family of Jessie Paraschuk would like to thank the following people for making the departure of their loved one an easier transition: our thanks to Doctors Khandelwal and Jackson for looking after Jessie's health, to the staff of the Sandy Lake Nursing Home for making her room a home, to her friends at the Holy Ascension Church and Community Hall for their assistance, and to Father Micheal Tkachuk for his support. All other condolences received have been very much appreciated. (CD)

Cards of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere thanks for all the acts of kindness during my hospital stay after surgery and at home convalescing.

Special thanks to Dr.'s Khandelwal, Bright and Onyshko and all the nursing staff at the Minnedosa Hospital for my special care. Thank you to the Minnedosa Elks Lodge, the Minnedosa Legion, the relatives, neighbors and friends for all the phone calls, visits, cards, flowers and gifts, and to my wife and family for standing by me. George McLean. x (CD)

I wish to thank all those special people who expressed their sympathy to me through their phone calls, gifts of food, cards & flowers. Your support made it easier for me to manage. Margo. x (CD)

To all the friends and family near and far that attended the funeral or sent cards of our late dad Mr. Jacob Prokopchuk, wish to thank everyone for a beautiful day to remember him by. Our special thanks goes to Rev. George Malik who officiated the ceremony, Mr. Ernie Malchuk and staff for their beautiful voices, the Ladies Auxiliary for putting on a beautiful lunch for our get together, and the Royal Canadian Legion #143 and #184 for a ceremony at the Parish Cemetery that we will never forget. From all my brothers and sisters, we wish to thank you all. Thank you. We miss you Dad and Grandpa. From the sons & daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren of the late Jake Prokopchuk. x (CD)

We would like to thank everyone that attended our social evening on April 29, 2000 at Erickson. A special thanks to the Erickson Fire Dept., the bridal party, those who sold tickets and the people from Arborg for attending. Thank you to those who bought tickets but could not attend. Jeff & Melanie. x (CD)

Obituary

James (Jim) Earl Spaller

On April 6th, 2000, James (Jim) Earl Spaller passed away at the age of 54 years.

Jim was the first of twin boys born to Rose and Milton Spaller, in Sandy Lake, MB on February 17th, 1946. Jim started his schooling in the one room Lake Audy School.

He married Pat Prokopchuk of Onanole, MB on June 17, 1972, and they were blessed with one daughter, Lindsay Rae.

Jim worked at Acklands, was employed at Riding Mountain National Park to oversee numerous campgrounds in the Park, worked as a carpenter for numerous years, and spent the last 9 years as a laborer at Springhill in Neepawa. He enjoyed his work at the plant so much that he would leave earlier than need be in the mornings to spend time conversing over coffee every morning with friends.

Jim spent his entire life on the farm where he found his greatest joy and could watch nature unfold throughout the seasons. He raised chickens for his family and friends, kept roosters and "knuckleys" for pets, planted and reaped the benefit from one of the largest gardens in the area, and spent lots and lots of time tinkering around outside every evening.

Being close to the Park line allowed Jim to experience and take part in the activities he loved most. He always had a tale or two to tell to anyone with a good ear about the tracks he'd found or the patch of "smoozhie" he'd come across. Jim spent many an hour during the winter months peering out into the night at the 20 or so deer that would come into the yard.

Jim also loved to fish. If ever there was a man that needed his own "Gone Fishin" sign, it was Jim. He even went so far as to pickle the fish he caught.

Jim was also an avid card player, and delighted in playing poker, hand and foot canasta, crib, and rummy.

No one will ever forget the smoked deer and elk sausage Jim made for everyone to sample, nor will they forget the many fish burgers, moose roasts, and pickled white wine fish he always had to offer.

Jim loved a good visit with lots of laughs with family and friends. If he could get his audience to crack a smile, then he was happy.

He was predeceased by his Father, Milton Spaller. He is survived by his wife, Pat and their daughter, Lindsay (special friend, Keith), Mother, Rose Zeppa, his twin brother John (wife Sonia - daughter Sharla), brother Melvin (daughter Melanie), sister Verna Benfield (husband Larry, son Wade), sister Gail Bevan (husband Ben, daughter Jilliani, special uncle Matt Spaller (wife Lilly), mother-in-law Sadie Prokopchuk, brothers-in-law Adam and Louise Prokopchuk, Wally and Linda Prokopchuk, sister-in-law Sandra and Lee Fry, and his many nieces and nephews, cousins and a host of friends.

Funeral Service was held April 10th, 2000 from The Holy Ghost Ukrainian Catholic Church in Sandy Lake, with Rev. George Malik officiating. Interment followed in the Holy Eucharist Ukrainian Catholic Cemetery, Horod, MB.

Pallbearers were Adam Prokopchuk, Gerry Ryback, Karl Koversky, George Bulay, and Walter Sichewski. Cross-Bearer was Andy Jewar. Honorary Pallbearers were all that were in attendance.

Rae's Funeral Service was in care of arrangements.

We will miss his friendship but know he is at peace. He was loved and will be remembered by all. God Bless His Soul. (C7)

(Teenie) Antonina Gregorash

Teenie Gregorash was born in the Ukraine June 24, 1907. She came to Canada with her parents Nicholas and Magda Moroz and sister Cassie in 1908. She received her education at Round Lake School. She worked as a waitress in Minnedosa. She met Jacob (Jack) Gregorash and on February 21, 1925 they were married. They raised a family of six children and after they all left home she went to work at Donors Lodge in Clear Lake. She was also very active in the church and hall in Rackham. They moved to Erickson from Rackham in 1956. She also worked at the Erickson Hotel and also looked after the public restrooms. Later she moved into Parkland Home when it first opened and the last few years she lived at Peter Abel Place. When her health started to fail she moved into the Sandy Lake Nursing Home where she received excellent care.

Teenie was a very quiet person. She very much enjoyed her grandchildren and great grandchildren when they came to visit her. always having cookies for them. Teenie leaves to cherish her memory 4 sons and 1 daughter.

Mike (Maria) Shilo, John (Marge) Erickson, Mary Silander, Kitimat, BC Ernie, Prince George, B.C. Nestor (Linda) Erickson. There are 10 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren. Also sisters Cassie Malchuk & Rose Gushulak, step-sisters Mary Lee and Anne Elchuk, step-brothers Nick Skakevich and John Skakovich.

She was predeceased by her husband Jack in 1962, son in law Steve Scheschuk in 1997, daughter Jennie Scheschuk in 1998, son in law Neil Silander 1986.

She was also predeceased by brothers Jack Morris, Mike Moroz and Martin Moroz and step-brother Paul Skakevich and step sister Pauline Boss.

Donations in lieu of flowers may be made to Sandy Lake Nursing Home or charity of choice. The family would like to thank Dr. Jackson and the staff at Sandy Lake Nursing Home for all their kindness and compassion.

Prayers were held Friday, May 5th at 7:00 p.m. from Sparrow Funeral Chapel. Funeral Mass was Saturday, May 6th at 10:00 a.m. from Sacred Heart Ukrainian Catholic Church with Rev. Fr. Michael Tkachuk officiating. Interment followed in the Rackham Cemetery.

Crossbearers were Spring Gregorash and Ashley Gregorash. Pallbearers were Alan Gregorash, Dale Gregorash, George Edwards, Peter Moroz, Mike Malchuk and Philip Smith. Sparrow Funeral Service was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Elks and Royal Purple award high school winners

The Elks and Royal Purple Lodges sponsored a drug and alcohol awareness program aimed at assisting local efforts in communities nation wide in helping youths to focus on the abuse of drugs and alcohol. Locally, the Lodges sponsored a Literary, Video and Poster Contest. In addition to the contest entries at the elementary level, two were received from Minnedosa Collegiate. Stacey Martin placed first in the Essay Category, and in the video category, Stacey placed first with Jacquie Lawson. The students were assisted by teacher Jill Reid.

The Elks and Royal Purple of Canada are groups of men and women, coast to coast, joined through common bonds of friendship and charity. Promotion and support of children in the community occurs through volunteer efforts of the local lodges.

Fire a management tool...

Before European settlers arrived, wildfires would periodically spread across grasslands, holding the aspen and shrubs at bay. Controlled burning simulates the natural process. Controlled burns restore native prairie grasses and reduce shrubs and aspen.

There is an immediate need to manage the Rivers grasslands from a wildlife standpoint, Bullion says. "They're not even good nesting habitat for native song birds."

While it could pose a threat to early nesting birds, the benefits far outweigh the risks, according to Taylor. There has to be some short term pain for long term gain, he says.

Some wildlife species respond almost immediately after a prairie fire, says Dan Chranowski, a wildlife specialist with Manitoba Conservation.

"It's been shown that sharp-tailed grouse can be on a burn site within 24 hours," he said. "They tend to appreciate fires that burn through their dancing grounds, because it reduces the shrub growth." Sharptails prefer the flat open grasslands for their mating and courtship displays.

Two tracts of native prairie will undergo managed burning this spring, according to Gerald Forsyth, a local MHHC field rep. "First will be the Crown land by the park and followed by the Wareham piece," he said.

The Wareham property is a tract of native grassland and bush on the southeast corner of Rivers donated to MHHC by Al Wareham. Only the north portion will be revitalized using controlled burning.

Every possible safety precaution will be in place. Manitoba Conservation will have two crews of very experienced personnel on hand, including several natural resource officers with decades of fire management experience. The Rivers fire department will also lend a hand.

Controlled burning is safe under the right conditions, according to Bob Buck, Manitoba's superintendent of fire programs. The key is "temperature and humidity", he said.

A big bouquet to Sue Proctor who spent the week in our school with the "Artists in the School" program. She went into each of the K-3 classes to help students develop their self-esteem through clowning and miming. Each class acted out a story and took part in the final performance on Friday afternoon.

Grade one mom's be sure to set aside May 12 at 2:30 for the annual Mother's Day Concert put on by the grade one classes. They are busy practicing and eagerly awaiting the big event this Friday.

Minnedosa Schools Band concert will take place next week in TCS Pit. You will hear a variety of music from the beginner band, junior band, MCI/ECI senior band, jazz band as well as some solos and ensembles.

The TCS track day is set for May 18th and students are busy training for the big day. Those students who finish in the top three in their event will be eligible to go to the divisional meet as long as they have been attending practices regularly.

9 Bison calves and counting

The Minnedosa Bison Park is one big happy family these days with the addition of 9 new bison calves, as of press time, and more on the way.

The first calf heifers seem to be taking to their new offspring, often bringing them out of the bush for visitors to get a good look.

The calves will be weaned this fall, and taken back to McCreary. Once they are a year and a half old, the heifers will also be bred.

The bull will be brought back to the Bison Park this summer to visit the ladies and start the procreation process all over again.

Currently the bison are being fed hay to supplement their diet of grass. The cows and calves will also have access to grain.

Gilleshammer disappointed in NDP budget

By Nancy Chemerika

Former Finance Minister, MLA Harold Gilleshammer, noted his disappointment last week after reviewing the first provincial budget brought forth by the new NDP government.

"I am very disappointed that the government did not address the taxation issue," stated Gilleshammer in a telephone interview. "Every jurisdiction in Canada is lowering taxes in this budget and the NDP have done nothing to lower taxes. Their budget documents indicate that Manitobans will be paying the highest income tax in the nation in some brackets. They're talking about lowering them next year, and the year after, but in this year's budget they have not changed the rates. We are going to be paying higher taxes than every jurisdiction around."

Gilleshammer referred to the indications that a family of four at the $60,000 income level will pay the highest taxes in Canada. He reiterated his concern that high taxation will lead to a "brain drain" for the province, which will result in young mobile professionals moving to other provinces for tax savings, after being university educated in Manitoba.

"The government is touting the tax reduction measures that we had in last year's budget, but there is nothing new in this year's budget to lower personal income taxes for a family of four at the $60,000 income level. Over the long run as we train people in university, they are going to migrate to where there is work and lower taxes," noted Gilleshammer.

Minnedosa - A Smart Community

By Nancy Chemerika

John MacDonald, Chair of the Smart Communities Selection Committee, announced last Thursday that Minnedosa would be one of the communities involved in Canada's 12 Smart Communities Demonstration Projects.

Other communities involved in the Manitoba Smart Network are Brandon, Souris, Neepawa, and Carberry.

The Manitoba Smart Network is the creation of a regional Manitoba community network with links to urban Manitoba communities, connecting key locations of the regional communities in order to provide a lifestyle that is productive and sustainable.

Elsie Calen celebrates 102nd Birthday

By Nancy Chemerika

Elsie Calen celebrated her 102nd birthday on Sunday with a come and go tea at the Minnedosa Personal Care Home.

Elsie, who can now say she has lived in three centuries, was born on May 4th, 1898 in Nebraska. She came to Canada with her parents, Anna and Johan Enquist, and siblings, to settle in the Smoland District, south of Minnedosa, with others of Swedish descent.

Elsie married Dave Calen in 1924, and they farmed in the Smoland District for a number of years. They had a family of two, Ron, and Ray who together with his wife Joyce, raised a family of four: Shelly, Brad, James (Nicole), and Audra (Stephan). Dave, Ron and Ray, have passed on.

Elsie lived on the home farm, in her own home assisted by her family, until June, 1999, when she was 101. At that time, she moved to the Minnedosa Personal Care Home.

"I feel good, I don't have much pain at all except for my hands and knees," stated Mrs. Calen with a smile. "I don't feel a bit of difference being 102. It's hard to believe I'm still here."

Elsie also has a sister, Elna, 99, who lives in Ontario, and a brother Hilbert, 100, of B.C.

"She's such a neat lady, and still cares so much about her personal appearance," stated Wilma Shewfelt, an LPN at the Personal Care Home. "She still independently gets herself to meals. She loves old time music, and television. Her only complaint is that she gets tired. She's a real sweetheart to work with."

Library receives donations

Nicole McManus, Lambda Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi, presents Georgina Johnson, Minnedosa Regional Library, with two cheques totalling $400 the proceeds of Ladies' Nite Out. The funds will be equally dispersed between the Library's summer reading program, and the Millennium Addition.

Seeding ahead of schedule

By Nancy Chemerika

Neil Galbraith, Minnedosa Ag. Rep., seeding is at least two weeks ahead of schedule with farmers in the District taking advantage of the warm, dry conditions to get the majority of their crops in.

"The majority of cereals are in, and most producers are starting on their oil seeds now. There is no comparison to last year. Last year was one of our latest seeding years, this is one of our earliest years," stated Galbraith, referring to last year's devastating rainfall.

Early seeding ensures that many crop varieties are through critical yield determination phases before certain insects and diseases set in.

Galbraith says that there is no real need for producers to be concerned about lack of moisture, because there is still a great deal of sub soil moisture remaining from last year. From May to October, 1999 the area received approximately 25 inches of rain, compared to an average normal of 10 to 12 inches.

"There is lots of moisture to germinate crops on any of the zero till fields. The half inch of rain received last Thursday will also help to germinate the late seeded oil seeds.

Galbraith concluded by saying that many producers have shown mixed emotions about seeding their crops this spring.

"They're glad to be getting their crops in early, but they're pessimistic about the outcome for profits because of very poor grain prices."

Gilleshammer disappointed...

According to Mr. Gilleshammer, the major impact of the 2000 provincial budget is that Manitoba may lose its competitiveness.

"For every dollar of tax saving, there's $8.00 of new spending. The government had a tremendous opportunity to lower taxes as Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan have done. Instead of doing that, they have chosen to spend more money. Although we expected the government to spend more money in health and education, they also had an opportunity to reduce taxes at the same time. In my mind, it's a missed opportunity."

"The history of the NDP government is to tax and spend. I think they have fallen into the old ways of the 1980's. Every province in Canada has made a major move in tax reductions this year, except Manitoba."

Mr. Gilleshammer concluded by saying his other major budget concerns involved a $10 million cut to the highway construction budget, and that there was not additional relief targeted for farmers in the southwest corner of the province who are still having difficulty recovering from last year's excess moisture disaster.

Locally, Mayor Terry Drebit felt more positive about the provincial budget.

"I think it was a moderate, responsible budget, and I was pleased to see more funding allocated for health care," noted Drebit. "I think the budget reflects a responsible, honest approach to government."

Mr. Drebit concluded by saying that he was disappointed that farmers in southwestern Manitoba were not given consideration in the budget relating to last year's excess moisture.

Mother's Day remembered at Tanner's Crossing School

Mother's Day is never forgotten at Tanner's Crossing School, and this year Grade 6 students' moms received unique wheat weaving swans.

Under the instruction of Lynn Moffat, owner and operator of Crafts Naturally Grain Bin, students tied seven pieces of wheat, inserted a wire in one, and then did a simple left hand over right hand technique, to result in the swan figurine.

Moffat, who has provided wheat weaving instruction in numerous areas, collects the wheat in sheaves from local farmers, and hangs it upside down to dry. The wheat can be used a minimum of a week later.

Clanwilliam curling club plans community garage sale

The Clanwilliam Curling Club is planning a community garage sale for the end of the month to raise funds for rink improvements.

The Club is planning to install new fluorescent lighting, and change the lay out of the ice sheets. After the improvements, there will be a walkway between the two sheets and seating along the outside edges of the ice.

Although a small community by any standards, the Clanwilliam Curling Club draws sport enthusiasts from all over to take part in the annual winter bonspiels.

During the past winter the Club sponsored Youth, and Ladies' bonspiels, as well as a Senior, and Mixed bonspiel.

The mixed bonspiel is often a family affair, that is played over the course of a week with two draws a night, and all day Saturday and Sunday. Anyone familiar with the Clanwilliam Mixed bonspiel, also knows of the large quantities of food that are produced each night to feed the curlers, spectators, or those who drop by for "take out"

Smart communities...

The Manitoba Smart Network will acquire broadband capacity from Westman Communications Group, who have their own fibre optic network from Brandon to Minnedosa, Neepawa, Carberry, and a fibre optic link connecting Brandon to Winnipeg. Broadband capacity will also be acquired to connect Souris to these communities on Westman Communications Group's planned fibre optic link. Once the communities are connected into a Wide Area network, either fibre optics or the existing bi-directional broadband cable networks in each community will be used to connect individuals and stakeholders depending on the nature of the application. This network will be the first stage of a longer term plan to connect other Manitoba communities, providing similar advanced technology and application in the future.

"This project will put Minnedosa on the leading edge of technology," stated Mayor of Minnedosa, Terry Drebit, a charter board member of Manitoba Smart Network Inc. "Linked communities will now have state of the art technology at their finger tips. Within a year or two, Minnedosa Hospital will have more power and available technology than even the Health Science Centre has today. The implications are endless. For the first time in history, someone will be able to open up an Internet business in Minnedosa and be on a level playing field with a business man in Tokyo or New York. Because of the quality of life in Minnedosa, I expect to see Internet businesses wanting to relocate to this community.

The Manitoba Smart Network will use open standards like Internet protocol to allow other stakeholders to participate and to ensure the network is scalable with capacity to expand to meet the growing need for application requiring high bandwidth. It will be a network that can be used by all individuals, of all ages to enhance various aspects of their lives. The introduction of the Manitoba Smart Network and its new technology will contribute to levelling the playing field for rural Manitoba. Smart Services to be delivered by the network include integration of rural hospital lab facilities, state of the art hospital patient registry, internet protocol based video conferencing, transportation of medical imaging, e-commerce training and applications, and video on demand educational courses.

The $60 million Smart Communities program was announced in 1999 under the Connecting Canadians Initiative, which aims to make Canada the most connected nation in the world. The communities involved in the projects will become leaders in the integration of information and communication technologies into community life, in areas such as health care, education, training and business.

Smart Community Demonstration Projects were chosen from each province, one from the North, and one Aboriginal Community. The 12 Smart Communities Projects were chosen from an original pool of 129 communities that submitted letters of intent. This number was reduced by the Selection Committee to 46 communities which submitted comprehensive business plans detailing the strategic, operational and financial aspects of the proposed projects.

As a result of their involvement in the project, each of the 12 selected Smart Communities will receive $ 5 million from the Federal government to develop the technology necessary to be part of the project. The Manitoba Smart Network Inc. is currently lobbying the Provincial Government to match the funding.

We're Number One?

Manitoba is finally number one in the country. We're the highest taxed province in Canada. Feel good? We also are the highest per capita spending province in health care! Number one in two categories! What is going on?

The NDP government in British Columbia has all but driven that province into bankruptcy. Dozens of their business head offices have moved elsewhere. It is common currency in any Calgary coffee shop to hear that former B.C. Premier Clark was the best economic development officer the Province of Alberta has ever had! We, in this province, have now embarked on the same path that has brought economic devastation to British Columbia.

By not cutting both business and personal income tax, Premier Doer, in his budget brought down last Wednesday, has set this province up for a major fall. Paying the highest business tax in the country will not attract businesses to this province! The highest personal income tax rate in the country will not draw highly educated workers here either, nor will it help to keep our own offspring thinking of this province as the right place to open their business or bring up their families.

While Premier Doer and his bunch proudly slapped each other on the back, hooted and hollered and gave themselves a standing ovation in the Legislature on Wednesday afternoon, the Manitoba business community cried.

Two weeks ago, the Globe and Mail rated Manitoba as dead last amongst the ten Canadian provinces in potential future economic growth. That newspaper had determined that the growth climate in Manitoba is anti-business, and the Doer government managed to prove them right, and so it shall remain for the forseeable future.

For the past couple of years, Manitoba politicians have been claiming that the Manitoba economy is booming. They haven't fooled anyone except themselves. Ask any business owner about the present 'boom' and you will soon find out that the empty businesses on Minnedosa's Main Street are not an exception, but the norm. A drive down the desolate and deteriorating Portage Avenue shows dozens of empty storefronts and blocks of poverty lurk just beyond those empty stores. Our capital city is in a sorry condition where street gangs patrol the streets and alleys far more often than do the police. Winnipeg is dirty, grimy and falling apart at the seams. A walk down any city street at night is putting yourself at great risk. Signs are everywhere that this is a dying city, yet those who live closest fail to see what is happening, or are at best powerless to do anything about it.

Filmon and his government had campaigned last fall on a platform of tax cuts. His platform was rejected in favour of Doer's promises to increase spending. Doer has done what he said he was going to do, yet we are still shocked. What is truly amazing is that he failed to see the light and capitulate to the stark realities of our economy, but instead held true to his destructive course - one that will have far greater implications on the welfare of our province than he, at this date, can imagine.

Picture of the Week ...

A pole top fire occurred on the hydro pole behind The Castle on the back lane last Thursday, which affected about 68 customers for three hours.

The moisture resulting from the afternoon's slow rain mixed with dirt and allowed electricity to travel from the line to the pole structure causing a fire. The damage was repaired by linemen that afternoon.

One rock short ...
Jean Garbolinsky tells us that the Junior Curling Club is short one rock! The small sized rock is needed back to complete their set and it would be gratefully appreciated if the person who borrowed the rock could return it to the club - no questions asked. If you have any info on the whereabouts of the missing stone, you could call Jean during the day at 867-6178. Your help would be appreciated!

GO leafs, go ...
Even with the planets as fully aligned as they were last week, the Leafs still haven't tasted champagne from the Stanley Cup since the dawning of the Age of Aquarius! To put it into even deeper perspective, if you are 33 years old, you have never heard the name of the Leafs and the Stanley Cup mentioned in the same sentence! Startling. And to think of all of the teams that were born since the dawning of the Age of Aquarius who have built up their teams and gone on to win the coveted cup, the thought is even more amazing. A long string of less than brilliant owners who have hired an even longer string of less than brilliant G.M.'s, coaches, scouts and assistants is the formula that the Leafs have used to take their once almost unbeatable hockey dynasty and turn it into mediocrity.

We're all goin' to die !
That revelation will hit us all squarely in the face as more and more publicity is given to the fact that astronomers have now almost confirmed that the Milky Way (our Galaxy) and the Andromeda Galaxy are on a collision course. The two galaxies are closing the gap at a combined speed of 400,000 kilometres per hour and we only have an estimated 3 billion years to live before the head-on collision occurs. What will that do to property values - or the stock market! What a boost this will give to the doomsday cults. Don't worry about it, though. Those same astronomers say that we won't be affected one bit by the collision. Why? Because our sun will have burned out long before that so it really doesn't matter. The recycling of our galaxy will be just another blip on somebody else's telescope.

Lake Rehab Report ...
The most prolific volunteer committee over the past ten years is running out of projects. The Lake Rehabilitation Committee, formed in 1988 to tackle the restoration and rehabilitation of Minnedosa Lake not only completed that job, but then took on the area south of the spillway and completed that job. Now they are taking on their final task, that of installing lights along the dam. They are currently selling sponsorships for the light standards and the whole project should be finished shortly. Contact Ken Harris if you wish to sponsor a light.

Cops will be everywhere!
Most off-duty though. According to Officer Ron, foursomes are still needed for the A.M. tee-off at the RCMP Golf Tournament set for May 29th. Call him at 867-2916 if you want to book a time. I should get one free pass on a seatbelt citation for this freebee.

Weed Control at Seeding

As more producers switch to direct seeding there is more weed control at seeding time done with herbicide rather than cultivator shovels. This is good for soil conservation. However, producers should remember what variety of crop they had on the field the previous year. I'm particularly referring to herbicide burnoff this spring on fields that were Roundup Ready Canola last year. If there are canola plants up you should add one half litre per acre of 24-D to control these weeds. When it comes time to do broadleaf control in crop, any broadleaf herbicide that controls volunteer canola will control volunteer Roundup Ready Canola.

Recent Government Program Letter

Recently there was a letter sent to some farmers that had no particular name or address. It's printing was all in red including the Canadian flag and large print saying "Important Information Enclosed". It also said it was "announcing federal and provincial government programs to assist all farm and business ventures". We have looked into this letter and it is not from any government department. They want you to pay $100 to get information on government programs. Governments do not change for program information. It is some private individual who wants to make money on free information. It isn't illegal but using the flag and the "Queen's Printers" name is very misleading. Queen's Printers is the true name of the government printer in every province and Ottawa. They did not print this letter. Their publications always have a number associated with the name and as I said there is no charge.

Eye on MCI

by Jodi McVey & Ashley Britton

As the school year progresses, it is time to start thinking about what is going to happen next year. The new student council nominations are coming in, but very slowly this past week. Speeches for the student council are going to be held on Monday, May 15, and following that are the elections which will take place on May 16.

There has also been a lot of nominations for the Wall of Fame. Any individual student awarded a plaque on the Wall of Fame has been nominated and chosen by a vote of all students in his/her grade.

The school Rugby team is getting well under way. Their last game was on Friday, May 12, vs. Portage. The cheerleaders were there cheering and anticipating their victory. Speaking about victory, our Junior Varsity Badminton Divisional Tournament teams took home the gold. Lisa LeBoutillier and Martine Kilrwnik placed first in the girls doubles. Wes Lewis placed first in boys singles, and Brad McNabb and Stacey Johnson won in the mixed doubles.

In Grad news, Mr. Barry Brooking has been selected to give Toast to the Grads.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We at The War Amps have noted media coverage lately regarding motor vehicle licenses for older drivers.

Last year The War Amps instituted a successful Mature Driving Program for our members, wives or widows. (Average age of War Amps is 77). It offers tips, an instructional video, material on the written test and refresher training in conjunction with a national driver education school.

Note: If a person fails the course, we recommend they give up their driver's licence. Most agree!

We will make our instructional material available at cost ($15, including postage) to any seniors group. To order, please use E-ZEE ACCESS: Call toll-free 1-800-250-3030 or fax toll-free at 1-800-219-8988 or e-mail communications @ waramps.ca.

Parks Board gears up for summer season

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Parks Board is gearing up for another summer season with a number of improvements to offer visitors.

Over $30,000 has been spent on upgrades to the electrical and water distribution system. As a result of the water upgrades, the campground, beach, and washrooms in the cabin area, are now fully tied into the Town's water supply.

Campground Manager, Lorna Hislop, explained that 42 sites have received 30 amp electrical power, and water hookups for camping units. A number of sites have also been levelled and widened to allow for bigger units.

Sewer upgrades to the campground, beach, and cabin area washrooms are also nearing the completion phase. Currently, sewage is trucked out regularly at a tremendous cost. Town Superintendent, Allan Jamieson, hopes that the sewer upgrades will be fully completed this fall to minimize road disruption during the busy summer season.

The total cost of the project will be approximately $600,000 which will be cost shared between the Town, and the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Parks Board Chairman, Shawn Willis stated, "Environmentally, this will be a win-win situation. The sewage will be handled efficiently and cost effectively, and as a result of hooking on to the Town's water, visitors can enjoy good potable water."

Willis added that from a tourism standpoint, continual development is necessary to continue to draw visitors to the Minnedosa campground.

"Continual improvements add to the natural beauty of the area. I grew up in this area, and have always wanted to continue to improve it for future generations." Willis concluded, "We are lucky to have very professional campground managers, Rick and Lorna Hislop. They are very receptive to visitors, and are continually doing little extras for the enjoyment of the visitors. We have received numerous positive comments about them."

The Minnedosa Campground has 146 sites - 55 with water and electrical, 42 with electrical capabilities, and 49 unserviced lots. There are 22 seasonal sites booked. Mrs. Hislop noted that she was pleased with the number of early bookings for May Long Weekend. In addition to the 22 seasonal campers, an additional 53 sites have been booked.

"I think the facility itself draws the people," stated Hislop. "We are continually upgrading, it's a beautiful location, and people are pleased with the top notch water and shower facilities. We are in the business of making sure that the campers have everything they need. They appreciate our efforts, and they keep coming back to us."

Co-op donates to Safe Grad

Miles Dalrymple, centre, presents Kelsey Trott and Andrea Taylor with a cheque for $200 for the Minnedosa Collegiate Safe Grad activities. The donation was made after members of the MCI Safe Grad Committee spent a day pumping gas at the Heritage Co-op Service Station. In return for their work, the Service Station donated 2¢ per litre to the Committee.

Conference Centre in the black

By Nancy Chemerika

According to the 1999 financial report, The Minnedosa Community Conference Centre is operating in the black, and recorded an operating surplus of $4,700 at the end of the year.

Since opening in 1997, the MCCC budget increased $10,000 in 1998 and has since stabilized. An operating budget of approximately $55,000 has been set for 2000.

In 1999, 412 events were held at the MCCC. The facility's popularity is steadily increasing, and Ken Surovy, Rec. Director and Conference Centre Manager, noted that he is expecting that bookings for 2000 will meet, or even exceed, those in 1999. In fact the first quarter report for 2000 records 163 bookings, compared to 155 in the first quarter of 1999.

"The facility is being used more and more each year," stated Surovy. "It is now being used regionally, probably more than anyone expected it would be. The Conference Centre is becoming more of a multi use facility. It's not just for socials and weddings anymore. We hold recreation programs here, meetings, even funerals."

The primary fundraiser for the facility is the Conference Centre Bingo, held every Wednesday. The bingo runs at a surplus, and the funds raised pay for the centre's utilities. Future projects for the facility include the addition of an exterior sign, a chain and post border for the sidewalk, and additional facility storage.

As of 2000, the Town of Minnedosa has dissolved the Hall Board, which was initially formed to build the facility. The Rec. Commission is currently in negotiation to assume responsibility for the hall's operation.

"The benefit of the Rec Commission taking over responsibility would be that one board would be eliminated, which would free up volunteers to work on other community projects," explained Surovy. "There would be one board to supervise the staff, and in general the facility would run more efficiently and effectively."

Local nurses get active

National Nurses week, May 8th to 14th, was observed by local members of the profession last week.

In recognition of Canada Health Day, and International Nurses Day, May 12th, local nurses went to the Minnedosa Fitness Centre to receive a free trial of the equipment.

"There is a national nursing shortage. The average age of nurses in the profession is 48. If we are going to get through the shortage, nurses and the community have to get active and stay healthy," stated Teresa Wareham, local nurse.

The Healing Garden Nursery

To those who visited the Healing Garden last year, we offer a sincere thank you. To those visiting for the first time, we hope you too will discover old garden favorites and new treasures. Many plants not suitable for mass production as transplants for commercial greenhouses are slowly being lost, and our gardens are the poorer for it. Gone are the classic flowers and those plants that created the rich, varied, romantic and often fragrant gardens once commonly found in Manitoba.

At The Healing Garden you'll find an enticing selection of perennials, some rare and unusual varieties and new introductions exclusive for the year 2000. Medicinal and culinary herbs, edible flowers, scented geraniums, wave petunias, heritage vegetables, and house plants. Please take a walk through our garden and hopefully this will help you decide what to plant in your garden. Let us help you begin your gardening dreams.

Is hay your best option?

Forages provide a number of benefits beyond their primary value as livestock feed. Growing hay is often your best option on erosion-prone marginal crop land. Forages also provide nest sites for ducks and other ground-nesting birds. ➤➤➤ That's why Ducks Unlimited is working in the following RMs to help producers establish hay lands:

• Clanwilliam • Rossburn • Park

And northern parts of:

• Harrison • Strathclair • Silver Creek

We can help eligible producers establish hay crops by reimbursing 80% of seed costs to a maximum of $25 per acre. And if you allow us to restore drained wetlands we'll pay 100% of the seed costs.

This program is targeted to key wetland landscapes with late cutting dates

MAY (by Marjorie Martin)
"Allow me to hold May to my heart,
This delightful month of blooming flowers,
And birdsong that awakens me
With drifting melody for hours.
The greenest month of all the year
Comes to an end too soon,
But leaves rainbow flowers everywhere
As a welcome in, to June."

May 2, at 7 p.m. the Newdale Horticultural Society members and visitors met at Harrison House, to view a slide presentation of Marg Senkbeils, of Brandon, tour of England, Scotland and Wales, their many lovely flower gardens - also slides of Marg's own flower garden, showing a great display of flowers. What a lot of work!

Marg gave a good commentary and answered questions on flowers. Much appreciation to Lois Hyndman for arranging to have Marg come. Light refreshments concluded the informative evening. (I.B.)

John Waddell returned home May 2nd having spent two weeks holiday with granddaughter Denny and Don Phillips and family in Trenton, ON and area.

Lorne and Janet Bradley motored to Kamloops for the Christine Bolger and Mark Bradley wedding.

Jack and Xisra Lamb returned home Tuesday, May 2nd after visiting her sister Francis of Dapp, AB and attending the Bradley-Bolger wedding.

Lois Hyndman of Cardale deserves a big bouquet and credit for the "High Steppin' Into Summer" Dance Concert held on Friday, May 5, 2000 in the Newdale Community Hall. Appreciative of the recital was a packed hall of supportive area people. Complimenting the Tap and Jazz presenters were the Shultka Dancers from Shoal Lake, whose boys and girls ranged from beginners, intermediate and senior levels. There were 22 girls in the Tap and Jazz and who also served lunch following the program.

The third Sunday of Easter in United Church May 7th was also Birthday Sunday, at which one lone birthday, that of Duncan Waddell was observed.

Sermon theme was "Risk The Journey". Rev. Hunter used the notable story of the hero, Terry Fox, who risked his life to help research for cancer. Jesus' disciples of old took risks following in the steps of their Master. "In Luke's story about Jesus walking with two of His followers on the road to Emmaus, Jesus is totally vulnerable and He allows them to experience Him as the risen Christ...when we expose our total selves to the love of Christ, we may indeed know wholeness... Peace be unto you".

Following the service, hostesses Willene Young and Gillian Cockburn served a delicious lunch, to some 30 in attendance.

Edith Kerr of Cardale and Olive Waddell motored to the Spruce Woods Provincial Park to walk on the TransCanada Trail from the Kitche Manitou Starting point to the Hogsback Outlook, and joining with 52 adults and covering 10 miles of tough walking "roller coaster" country, close to the stretch of the Assiniboine River where the sand is soft and dry, but the grass was green and dotted with wild flowers, yellow Pucoon, purple cut-leafed violets, white stitch wort, bastard toad flax and wild native grasses, identified by Biologist, Jennifer Shay of St. Adolphe. Spruce trees and ground spruce were in abundance and various trees leafing out - wild birds lifting their throats in song breaking the silence of the countryside. It was a wonderful day of perfect weather and much appreciation to Kathleen Leathers of Winnipeg and her helpers for their planning to make this a memorable walk.

Prior to the Women's Walk 2000, Edith and Olive were Saturday guests of Mrs. Ruth Berry of Cypress River, long time friend of Edith's who toured us to a 1910 Historic Site, Café Bru, where a Lutheran Church built by the Icelandic pioneers, with its' leaded stained glass windows and oak interior furnishings is now being used as a tourist attraction, and a facility for wholesome food and restful lodging, "smoke-free" and wheelchair accessible.

Congratulations to grandparents Gordon & Enid Clark and to great grandmother Phyllis Tolton, on the safe arrival of Danielle Paige, daughter of David and Michelle Clark.

Congratulations to Isabelle McTavish on her 86th birthday on Sunday, May 7th. Afternoon visitors were Bill and Mary Webb of Minnedosa. A special celebration supper was held at Shoal Lake with sister Sadie Dunn and Wilma Yanz of Brandon, Olive Gamey, Eleanor Waddell and Jean Watson of Strathclair. It was a gorgeous day, safe outing and much appreciated by Isabelle.

Minnedosa Health Auxiliary met in Newdale United Church Lower Hall on Monday, May 8th with an attendance of 27. Guests were Esther Robertson, Community Health Director, who keeps members aware of the needs of the equipment for the Minnedosa Hospital and Personal Care Home, and Theresa Wareham, R.N., and one of a team of nurses who assist Dr. Rocha, for cataract surgery showed a video of the procedure. It was very interesting as many are having to have this operation.

The upcoming Florence Nightingale Tea and Bake Sale profits will be used to help buy expensive equipment for the Hospital. "Have a good and healthy summer" is wished to all Auxiliars.

MANITOBA BUDGET 2000

A RESPONSIBLE & BALANCED FINANCIAL PLAN FOR TODAY'S FAMILIES

Budget 2000 shows the government is listening to Manitobans. This financial action plan fulfills many of the government's commitments to the people of Manitoba by directing funding where it is needed most.

EDUCATION

Public schools are receiving $30 million more in funding. A 10% reduction on college and university tuition will save students $8 million and community colleges will receive $7.5 million in new dollars this year.

HEALTH CARE

Funding to health care will increase $135 million this year to help end hallway medicine, reduce waiting lists, hire more nurses and expand key programs.

TAX RELIEF

Budget 2000 provides tax savings for Manitoba households to ensure Manitoba remains one of the most affordable places in Canada to raise children. For example, a single income family of four earning $40,000 will save $1,314 over the next three years.

Look for your copy of the BUDGET 2000 HIGHLIGHTS being delivered to your home.

Another week without rain. Gardens are very dry, and farmers are still busy with seeding. Edmonton received sow May 10th.

Reg Nylens had a short holiday at Minot Friday to Sunday.

Congratulations to Henry Wall who was one of 3 Minnedosa 55 Plus Bowlers to win the Manitoba Championship. They will be aiming for the Canadian Championship June 23rd at Moose Jaw.

The program May 7th by the Lutheran Choirs again was a very enjoyable event. Many people were in attendance from Minnedosa, Basswood, Brandon, Plumas Waldersee and other points, but I thought more locals would have attended. The musical selections all dealt with various occupations (farmers, carpenters, teachers, etc.)

Sorry to report the death of a former Erickson resident, Colin Campbell at Fairview Home, Brandon. The funeral was held at Neepawa Funeral Home on May 9th.

COPP's safety tip this week is ... Women that live alone should only use either their first initial in the telephone book, on mailboxes, intercoms, etc.

Anne Berkowski is home from the hospital and has her daughter Geraldine of BC visiting again.

Katie & Steve Wozney motored to Winnipeg to visit relatives. They stayed with Katie's brother and sister-in law, Victor & Judy Koroscil in Oakbank. While in Winnipeg the two couples attended the extravaganza Zabova 200 hosted by Robert J. Tomkins of radio station CKJS 810. The Zabova, the entertainment and the lunch was most enjoyable. The zabova also has perfomances by the Sarto Ukrainian dancers. Katie & Steve arrived back home on Monday, May 8th.

Henry Wikdahl, Winnipeg has been lending a hand to his brother Earl, in the spring farming work.

Margaret Halvarson has been home for a week after spending a long winter holiday in Arizona.

Jack Sitko has his sister and brother-in-law Bernice & Stan from Lumley, BC, visiting him for about 10 days.

A speedy recovery to Wilda Carlson who was hospitalized last Wednesday with chest problems. Effie & Terry Moffat, Winnipeg were looking after Kelly.

Belated Happy Birthday to 98 year old Lena Stone who marked her special day May 1st at the Erickson Care Home with a Coffee Party & birthday cake.

Norman & Joyce Stone of Tisdale, SK., arrived April 29th, to do their spring farming North east of Erickson. They have finished seeding and will soon be heading home or to their cottage near Cranberry Portage.

Iris Karton & Shaun spent a week in Maple Ridge, BC visiting her parents Bill & Doris Karton.

Harry & Chris Dymterko of Melbourne, Florida will be arriving at Clear Lake on May 17th for the summer months. Welcome back.

Mr. & Mrs. Steve Shindela returned from a European tour. They visited Germany, Poland, Slovakia, Hungary, Austria and Czech Republic. It was a very interesting and enjoyable trip. They saw the remaining Berlin Wall that is kept as a reminder of what war does. Also the Aushwitz Concentration Camp. Jasna Gora a monastery of Czestochwowa, cruised a Danuke River. They learned very much about the European history.

Hope all mothers had a Special Mother's Day.

A newly formed committee has been struck to develop a Palliative Care Program at the Erickson and District Health Centre. This program would provide support to residents and families of Sandy Lake, Onanole, Erickson and surrounding districts. Palliative Care is the active, compassionate care primarily directed toward the quality of life for the dying individual, their family and friends. Watch for further information.

Our regular monthly meeting was held on May 2, 2000 with president Katherine Pollon presiding. There were 15 members present.

The committee reports were given and accepted as read. The final plans were made for the Mother's Day Luncheon. Thank you letters were received for donations made to The Manitoba March Of Dimes, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and The Developmental Centre in Portage la Prairie. Plans were made to have a quilt block made for the Homecoming 2000 quilt. Following the meeting we joined the branch for refreshments and conversation.

Erickson Mayor guest of the Lieutenant Governor

Mayor Wally Yanchycki and his wife Frances were recent guests of their Honours Lieutenant Governor Peter Liba and his wife Shirley at their official residence in the Government House. They were entertained to a lovely reception which included a tour of the facilities. The Government House was built in 1883 by the Federal Government and donated by the first Prime Minister of Canada, Sir John A. MacDonald, to become the official residence of the Lieutenant Governor and Chatelaine. Much of the fixtures and furniture date back to that time. The Yanchycki's were each presented with a specially minted millennium medal to mark the occasion.

Mayor Yanchycki extended an invitation to the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Liba to attend the Relay 2000 and the official (local) opening of the Trans Canada Trail in Erickson on June 22nd. The Lieutenant Governor graciously accepted the invitation and will take part in the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Seniors For Seniors

"For the second year, Erickson Collegiate Senior students are volunteering their time to help senior citizens in the area make their way into the world of computer technology.

An initiative developed by the Erickson/Onanole Services to Seniors, the four session technology course involves having the graduating students teach the seniors a variety of techniques in MS Works, MS Publisher, and in using the Internet.

"I had been approached by a number of seniors who had been given hand me down computers by their sons or daughters, and wanted to learn how to use them properly. The course allows them to learn more about the latest technology. We certainly appreciate the Grade 12's giving up their time for this activity," stated Sally McManus, Coordinator, Erickson/Onanole Services to Seniors.

Because of the success of the program and the cooperation of Erickson Collegiate, McManus plans to continue to offer the technology courses on an annual basis."

Ivan & Doreen Macksymchuk & girls visited with Doreen's mother, Anne Weibe and family members at Carmen, MB on the weekend.

On Sunday, May 7th the Basswood Horse Club held their Poker Derby with 71 riders and 64 silent riders taking part. Following the ride, all enjoyed a roast beef supper.

Deepest sympathy of the district is extended to the following families: Helen Rose & family on the passing of son Clayton Ross in Edmonton, AB; Frances Holmstrom & family on the passing of Frances' sister Barbara Wyton at Killarney, MB; and Bill & Doreen Trott & family on the passing of Doreen's father Colin Campbell at Brandon, MB.

On Sunday evening Stan & Zelda Firby attended the Erickson Lutheran Church Choirs "Sing'n Sert". All those who attended enjoyed a fine evening of music and food.

Sandy Lake News

By Deb Maluk

Easter visitors with Steve and Helen Derhak were Wally and Jean Derhak, Janice Duchminsky of Wpg, Butch and Joan and family of Oakburn, Allan and Kyla of Neepewa, Blair and Pam and family and Diane Bachewich.

Tenielle Carvie Lyn, infant daughter of Blair and Pam Bachewich was the guest of honor at a Candlelight Baptismal ceremony held in Ozerna on Tuesday evening. Father Michael Tkachuk officiated. A delicious supper was served to the 20 guests at the home of the parents.

Wishing a speedy recovery to Steve Derhak who is in the Minnedosa Hospital.

The Spring Fashion show was a success, with ladies from Sandy Lake and surrounding areas viewing a variety of lovely outfits modelled by a number of local women. The latest dip in the mercury means that those outfits will have to wait in the closet until Spring returns!

Deepest sympathy is extended to the Buhay family from Rackham with the passing of Cassie (Buhay) Huta. Cassie passed away on April 21 at the age of 71.

I Understand Some People Pre-Plan Their Own Funerals: Why Do They?

Three important reasons come to mind at once. Pre-planning permits free choice, makes one's wishes known, and does away with any possible disagreement among the bereaved as to what to do and how much to spend.

In effect, one eases the burden placed on the immediate family - in terms of both the proper course of action to follow and the peace of mind in knowing that arrangements have been made in advance.

Because we feel that this question may be of value to many residents in the community we serve, we're glad you asked.

We welcome your questions and comments on this and other subjects, watch weekly for your answer.

MCI student benefits from Little Valley Jamboree

Deanna Ng, a visually impaired student at Minnedosa Collegiate, accesses innovative technology to assist her with the demands of senior years course work. Last year, Deanna was chosen by the Polonia Community Club to receive a portion of the proceeds from the Polonia Little Valley Jamboree held on June 27, 1999. This enabled Minnedosa Collegiate to purchase the specialized computer components and accompanying software that are needed to ensure Deanna's success in high school.

Deanna is a hard working student who makes the very best use of her school computer. The Ng family received a home computer from the Lion's Club two years ago and Deanna is well equipped for success.

The Members of the Polonia Community Club, as well as many other volunteers, will be helping two more children this year at the Little Valley Jamboree on June 25, 2000. They are making a commitment to helping these young people and making a positive difference in their lives.

Voice in Ottawa

Inky Mark M.P.

The political scene in Ottawa right now has several MP's between a Rock and a Clark place. Health care is no doubt the number one issue in the land, and with the Canadian Alliance gathering steam, more and more Conservatives are joining the only real alternative to the governing Liberals.

Alberta's Bill 11, which will give private clinics the right to perform operations requiring an overnight stay, has all political parties scrambling for position. The Canadian Alliance believes the status quo of this country's health care system is no longer feasible or effective and provinces need to propose new concepts. We know the Liberals stand for status quo. We know the NDP's answer is the same as it is to everything, throw more money at the problem. And Joe Clark and the Tories, will wait and see what everyone else does. Of the industrialized countries, we are rated 23rd of 29th in technology although we spend the fifth most (of our GDP) on health. Some of the things to be considered include massive waiting lists, an aging population, rising drug costs, emergency room chaos, access to new technology and the brain drain of specialists. Keep in mind a new national poll suggests 66% of Canadians think people misuse the health-care system, leading to increased costs. And 75% think the medical system is facing a funding crisis. I will soon be meeting with health care professionals in the riding to discuss the future of Medicare.

BOOK MARKS

Last week, the Liberals played up a media event to make a non-announcement on grain transportation reform. Producers are again being insulted by the governments' inaction. They have had recommendations from the Kroeger Report for a year, and could have saved producers money by reducing freight rates months ago.

Meanwhile, an internal document from the CBC leaked to the media last week, set off a firestorm of protest. CBC President Robert Rabinovitch plans to make cuts to CBC TV regional programming, including an overhaul of regional supper hour news programs. In Manitoba, the proposed restructuring identified 53 redundant full time positions. I am against the CBC obtaining additional funding. It must be restructured respecting the mandate of the Broadcast Act, and recognizing regional programming is a priority.

BENCH MARKS

The Standing Committee on Canadian Heritage continues hearing witnesses on Bill C-27 (National Parks Act). I intend to hold Parks Canada accountable to the people that they serve, urging them to be inclusive and transparent.

The RCMP were called in to investigate another federal job creation gram this time involving allegations that a clothing manufacturer in Montreal, obtained $720,000 simply to hire another company's employer. There are now 20 active RCMP and police investigations related to federal job creation grants across the country, including three in PM Jean Chretien's riding.

DID YOU KNOW?

A new EKOS poll shows that support for the Canadian Alliance has jumped seven percentage points since a similar poll was conducted in March. The poll found support for the Liberals down four points to 52%, while the Alliance is at 17%. The Tories have fallen to third place, at 11%, and the NDP remain steady at nine per cent.

Thursday May 18th, is International Museums Day. Museums are an important part of Canadian culture, and we are fortunate to have one of the very best examples of that in Dauphin, with the Fort Dauphin Museum. I urge all to consider a visit to a Museum in the near future.

Rolling River School Division Board News

Rolling River School Division No.39 Board Meeting of May 4, 2000. Present: C.Anderson, J.Meadows, G.Stewart, L.McFarlane, D.Krahn, R.Madill, C.Jury, L.Jackson, B.Nowell, W.Yanchycki, D.Nye, I.Shannacappo. Division Administration present: N.Whitley - Superintendent, J.Hardy - Assistant Superintendent, D.LaCoste - Secretary-Treasurer. The following are the passed resolutions subject to approval.

That the Board accept the resignation from Dana Rungay effective April 26, 2000 and thank her for her service to the young people of Erickson Collegiate.

That the Board accept the resignation from Ryan Maksymchuk effective June 30, 2000 and thank him for his service to the young people of Rivers Collegiate.

That the Board accept the resignation from Gaileen Kingdon effective June 30, 2000 and thank her for her many years of service to the young people of Tanner's Crossing School.

That the Board accept the appointment of Nancy Chemerika as Secretary at Erickson Collegiate effective June 1, 2000.

That the Board grant Mary Dalton parental leave from June 1, 2000 to June 30, 2000.

That Barb Dowsett's request for parental leave from January 8, 2001 to June 30, 2001 be approved conditional upon approval of adoption.

That Brandon University's request to carry out a research project on Teaching Place Value at Douglas School be approved as outlined in the proposal.

That we support the Minnedosa Skateboard Association in principle while more information on the project is gathered to form a final decision.

That the Capital "D" items as recommended by the Maintenance Committee be approved.

That the four students involved with illicit drug use at Erickson Collegiate be suspended for a period of 30 days.

Other Business:

Mr. Whitley provided an oral report on the following items: Letters of resignation from Dana Rungay, Gaileen Kingdon, and Ryan Maksymchuk. Appointment of Nancy Chemerika as Erickson Collegiate Secretary. Parental Leave requests from Mary Dalton and Barb Dowsett. Rapid City Parent Group Walk-a-thon. Brandon University research project. Math teacher interviews. Co-operative Education Co-ordinator positions.

Ken Surovy, Mark Thompson and Jason Treloar attended the meeting on behalf of the Minnedosa Skateboard Association to request Board permission to convert the outdoor arena at Tanner's Crossing School into a skatepark. The Association will operate under the auspices of the Minnedosa Recreation Commission for liability purposes.

A delegation of parents from the Onanole area attended the meeting to ask that the Board to reconsider the reduction of Staff at their school. Mrs. Marg Tarleton, P.A.C. President, outlined the classroom configuration that they will have as a result of the reduction and which coupled with the numbers of special needs students results in an unacceptable situation. Two of the parents outlined the difficulties their special needs children will face as a result of the reduction and a letter written by Marne Krushelnisky outlining similar concerns was read.

Mr. Joseph Wurtz from the Oak River Hutterite Colony attended the meeting to make a request for some input into the staffing at the colony school. Mr. Whitley will meet with them at a later date and discuss their request.

C.Jury reported on a meeting of the MAST Western Region that she attended with Jim Hardy. The meeting dealt with the current collective bargaining issues.

Congratulations to Joyce Douglas who recently entered her name in a draw at Fabricland in Brandon. She won 5th prize, which was a Brother Sewing Machine.

Harvey & Joyce Douglas enjoyed a special birthday supper for Ron Petch in Neepawa. After supper they all went to the Petch farm for a suprise birthday party.

Grandson Jordan of Brandon came to spend a few days visiting with us. Grandson Daniel of Dauphin came to visit Sunday, May, 7th.

Don't forget our Tea & Bake Sale early in June. Watch coming events for date & time. Also we are having an Open House later on in June for everyone to come and view the pictures on our walls of fame in the hall and have coffee and cake and visit. Again look in coming events for date and time.

Manitoba Health Auxiliaries - Marquette Region

Manitoba Health Auxiliaries 3rd Annual Meeting, Marquette Region was held in Neepawa April 27th, 2000.

The meeting was conducted by Rita Wasslen Regional Rep. Iona Simpson, President of Neepawa Auxiliary welcomed auxilians. Mayor Ken Waddell brought greetings from the town of Neepawa and Marg Van Buskirt Community Health Director from the RHA.

Joan Madill President MHAA brought greetings from the province. She also gave the following statistics, MHAA has 4435 members who volunteered 286, 956 hrs. Both of these numbers are down.

During lunch we were entertained with old time fiddle music and displays of stained glass, quilts and a button collection.

Following the annual meeting our first speaker was Mary Ellen Clarke who spoke on the Palliative Care Unit in Neepawa.

Sandra Delorme CEO, Marquette Regional Health and Pat Cockburn Vice President Programs & Services spoke on activities within the region which include hospitals at Carberry and Shoal Lake, replacement plans for East View Lodge Neepawa, the upgrade at Minnedosa PCH and the ambulance garage Minnedosa. Pat spoke on serviced and programs in the region.

There were many questions from Riverdale following a report in the Brandon Sun, that their hospital would be closing. Sandra stressed that this was only a working paper under discussion and no decisions have been made.

Thanks to Neepawa Auxiliary for a delicious lunch and coffee/tea breaks throughout the day.

Chamber Chat

Spring is here! What comes to mind when we think of spring....Golf! Therefore Chamber is hosting it's 3rd Annual Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament. For the month of May the Chamber will be meeting at the Golf Course Clubhouse. Letters have been sent to restaurants in town to see who can accommodate us. The May Long Community Garage Sale last year was a huge success so the Retail Committee has decided to do it again this year. 50/50 draw boxes are still at businesses around town with the proceeds going towards the Chamber 2000 project. Barb Cook did a great job on the Minnedosa Booth at Rural Forum. It looked great and I'm sure we'll have a lot of new visitors to our beautiful town. The Chamber has also decided to promote our town by producing postcard strips which will consist of 2 strips of 5 cards each that will be available for retailers near the end of May or beginning of June. The Chamber is busy with a lot of new ideas and upcoming projects so watch for this column next month. The meetings are fun and informative, so any members wishing to come out are more than welcome.

Guiding Area Day held at Minnedosa

Right: In between activities at Area Day

The Minnedosa Pavillion and Beach came to life recently with 475 youth and adult members of the Girl Guides of Canada at the 4th Annual Assiniboine Area Day.

Area Day celebrates 90 years of Guiding in Canada. The theme of the day was "Carnival" with clowns of all description being crafted. The afternoon featured a penny carnival with bean bag tosses, ring tosses, parachutes, and relay games. The highlight of the afternoon was a ride on the CPR Safety Train and a visit with the RCMP Safety Bear and local Constable Lori Martin.

The day ended with a campfire on the beach and birthday cake in honour of the celebration.

"Area Day is an opportunity to show the girls that the organization is bigger than just their individual units, it is world wide," stated Lorna Hislop.

Rapid City District News

by Grace Fearnley

The Senior Bowlers held their 'wind-up' for the season Monday, May 8th at Minnedosa, with sixteen in attendance. They enjoyed a couple of fun games and a meal together. Trophies were presented: Perfect attendance were Mary and Laurence Turton, next in line was Zetta Stoughton. Most head pins - Sadie Northcott. Most trophies - Chris Stanich and Lawrence Turton. Highest single games over average - Jean Lewis and Lawrence Turton. Most Improved bowlers - Jean Lewis and Walter Scott. Most consistent bowler - Margaret Brown and Gib Phillips. Highest average - Ethel Westwood and Earl Wilkinson.

Shirley Burstall and son Dale of Calgary were recent visitors with her mother Mabel Haslen and sisters Orma Porter, Norma Bartley, Brandon, Mae, Davidson and brother Charles, Glenboro and their families.

Saturday overnight guests with John and Margaret Northam were son Alex and Kim and their family from Holland. They had taken their children to the Shrine Circus (just a perfect age to enjoy the circus).

I am happy to report that the sum of $1,310.00 was donated from our area, via the house hold mailer envelopes, for the Heart and Stroke Foundation. The best response in thirty years!

Many good wishes for improved health are expressed to Margaret Greig and Jean McCallum who are presently hospitalized, on behalf of your Rapid City friends.

The Chamber of Commerce met at the Library Monday evening May 8th. The main topics of business were plans and ideas for the upcoming street sales, Fair Day and Canada Day Celebrations.

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary had the pleasure of welcoming a new member, Joanne Bos, at their May meeting held at the Senior Centre. Nancy Stephenson installed Joanne.

Approximately a dozen ladies from our area attended and enjoyed the Grandmother's Tea and Fashion Show held May 9th at the Royal Oak Inn, Brandon. Amanda Stott was the guest soloist - she is a bright vibrant young lady (good for the grandmothers) Our group had the unexpected sharing of a table with Pat Eastgate her father-in-law and mother-in-law were Bill and Beth (Lizzie Barrett) Eastgate. Pre war owners of the butcher shop at Rapid City. It was a very pleasant chance meeting in such a large crowd. P.s. I believe my brothers worked for Bill Eastgate in his butcher shop.

Happy Mother's Day ladies!

Rapid City 4-H News

by Samantha Inglis - Club Reporter

The Rapid City 4-H Beef Club held their 7th meeting on May 9th in the library basement.

Bee Jay Graham led the club with the 4-H pledge.

Minutes were taken by Vice Pres. Mandy VanMeijl as our secretary and treasurer were absent.

Bernice Dmytriw gave a report on the District meeting. New for next year will be having to get our speech night done earlier as the district and regional speak offs are earlier.

Sandy Underhill gave a report on the fat stock meeting. Doug Ellison will be our judge for the interclub show. Supper will be sponsored again and the sale will start at 6:00 p.m.

A clinic will be held on May 28th at Hamiota for all beef members wanting to go. We must know before May 15 how many will attend to pre register.

After some discussion it was agreed that our club would have a float in the parade on fair day. The executive and a few other members made up a committee and ideas to be brought to the June meeting.

Every year the members who are selling steers give a token of appreciation to the buyer of their steer.

A reminder that tickets are to be handed in to Sandy Underhill when sold.

Our club plans to have a judging/showmanship clinic possibly June 10th. Project books are to be handed in this same day and a wiener roast will follow our meeting.

Member were asked the name of their animals so that stall cards can be made up. It was suggested that Grant Moffat be asked to take steer pictures the night before Achievement for the Thank yous to the buyers.

Minnedosa Hosts Central Manitoba Tournament of Champions

Minnedosa Bowl was the scene of our 2000 Millennium Tournament of Champions hosted by the Central Manitoba Bowler's Association. There were teams from Swan River, Gilbert Plains, Dauphin, Minnedosa, Neepawa, Portage and Carman, consisting of 160 bowlers (32 teams) with spouses and guests. There were some 300 single games and +100 games bowled and some of us just had fun!! All in all I think everyone enjoyed themselves. There were a lot of positive comments on our town's tourist attractions that guests visited during their time here.

After the event the Minnedosa Golf Club catered the banquet. Minnedosa MLA Harold Gilleshammer and his wife Diane, together with Counselor Mark Blais brought greetings from the Town of Minnedosa. Many prizes were handed out which were graciously donated by our town merchants. Trophies and medals were handed out to all those who placed. The champions in each category are as follows: The Ladies Team Champions, from Gilbert Plains - "The Poker Pins" - Audrey Kotak, Pat Dubek, Donna Los, Lynn Huebener, & Des Fisher with a +269. The Mens Team Champions, from Carman and also were defending their title from last year - "The "A" Team" - Sheridan Fjeld, Steve Derksen, Mike Clarke, Ian Sylvester and Ken Wilson with a +175. The Mixed Team Champions were from Neepawa - "Sunday Rockin Rollers" - George Roberts, Bernice Roberts, Fred Hares, Angie Beaver and Tom Hares with a +375. The Singles Ladies High Pins Over Average Winner was Audrey Kotak from Gilbert Plains with a +168 and the Mens High Pins Over Average Winner was Gerry Detoche from Portage with a +222. Congratulations to all the winners!! It should be noted that the Minnedosa Mixed Team "The Hopefuls" - George Mason, Andrew Citulsky, Waine Mansell, Lori Stevenson and Cliff Langan gave it their all to place third with a healthy +224 - way to go Minnedosa!!

Our Ladies Open Zone Champion this year is Minnedosa's Tracy Swift with a twenty game total of 4815, and Our Mens Open Zone Champion this year is Gilbert Plain's Kevin Fisher with a twenty game total of 4907. The Pepsi Youth Ladies Zone Champion this year is Miki Hares from Neepawa and the Pepsi Youth Mens Zone Champion is Steve Clarke from Carman.

The Zone Mr. & Mrs. Tournament Winners out of 27 entries are Joe & Jean Pethybridge from Carman, with a +188. Mixed Doubles Zone Champions are Al Lightfoot and Lil Patterson from Portage with a +289. Congratulations to all of our Zone Winners!

Benefits of Manure Composting

by Bill Stilwell

Manure composting has potential for livestock producers. Under the right conditions it helps build soil, protect water quality and reduce manure handling costs. But, wet conditions make it a difficult proposition.

"On a couple of hills where I fed my cattle, where it was dried out, it worked," said Craig Pearson. Manure composting could save farmers money and provide farm management benefits.

"It takes less time to haul it out in the fall," he said. "It also makes it a lot nicer spreading and seeding after it."

Pearson, a Rapid City area cattle producer, is one of five producers participating in a manure composting demonstration carried out by the Minnedosa Soil Management Association (MSNA). The project received funding from Covering New Ground (CNG), a Manitoba Agriculture and Food program.

Wintering facilities for livestock need to be cleaned of manure every year. This custom corral cleaning is a costly item in every livestock farm's budget. Producers are looking for lower cost alternatives.

The MSMA and Ag Rep Neil Galbraith wanted to see if composting Livestock manure would lower the volume being hauled to the fields. They also wanted to learn if composted manure is easier to spread and incorporate on fields.

They used a large mulcher mounted on a payloader, borrowed from the City of Brandon. It was equipped with smooth tires that didn't work well under wet, muddy conditions. The project was carried out during one of the wettest summers on record.

"What we learned is, it won't work for a farmer unless the composting machine is mounted on a crawler cat," said Galbraith. Any other type of loader gets stuck in the muck because of weight.

Conditions were too wet for two out of five participants to windrow their manure. The mulcher got stuck before they got into a third one, so they were only able to do two places.

Manure composting has the potential to reduce hauling costs by as much as 60 percent. "We were down to 50 to 60 percent of residue left," said Galbraith.

This process worked well at Pearson's site where he fed cattle along the side of a well-drained hill that dried quickly. "The machine itself works well when they can get to the piles," Pearson said. "Turning and processing worked good."

Pearson can see the benefit of composting for the average cattle producer and he thinks it would pay to use this method from the point where the equipment is in the yard.

For this trial, their equipment came by truck and trailer from Brandon, adding to the cost. "If they didn't have to rent a loader or pay for the truck and trailer to haul it out, the cost of just doing it wasn't bad. Seeing the results of what it actually did, that part was worth it."

At Pearson's location, the manure was already in the field because that is where he wintered his cattle. He didn't have to load it up and take it from the pens to the field. That extra time and expense must be taken into consideration, he says.

Despite the problems encountered, Galbraith is happy with the experiment. His intention was to see if it would work and learn if there would be a cost saving. The project left little doubt that the composted manure is much easier to incorporate into the soil. As well, it is easier to seed the field after applying composted manure.

This was a really good opportunity to try out manure composting. Chances are, the next trial will take place under drier conditions and the results will be even better. The project also shows that a rubber-tired loader is not the machine for operating the composter in cattle pens.

Building a budget that works
- Managing Your Money -

If you want greater control over your financial life, here's a tip: put together a budget.

A budget is an essential element of any financial plan. It's a way to track your income and expenses and to adjust your finances so they fit better with your goals. Once you have a budget, you can establish realistic financial objectives and earmark more of your money for savings and investments.

Your budget can show you a way to free up cash from short-term financial needs - for instance, your next vacation or a down payment. It can also generate more to invest for long-term wealth such as Registered Retirement Savings Plans (RRSPs).

Your budget start-up

Here are some ideas to get you started on the road to budgeting:

If you have access to one of the many personal financial computer software programs available, it's easy to formulate a budget. With a few clicks of the mouse, most of these programs will create one for you - provided that you've been meticulous about entering your financial data.

If you don't have access to a computer, a good alternative is to simply use paper.

The first thing to do is calculate your monthly income. Using your spreadsheet or notebook, list all components of your income in one column and appropriate dollar amounts in another column. Remember to include salary and bonuses, commissions, pension income, investment income from stocks or bonds, rental real estate, alimony and child support - then subtract income tax.

Next, move on to your monthly expenses. Using columns again, list your monthly spendings. You'll have to gather up receipts, which may be easier at this time of the year since you've just collected many of them to complete your income tax return. To track other expenses, consult your bank statements or cheque book, credit card statements and any other records you have. It's best to average your expenses over three or four months since there are some expenses which don't occur each month.

Jot down everything you can think of, including mortgage payments or rent, property taxes, utilities, loan payments, private health insurance, car lease payments, car insurance, parking fees, public transportation, dry cleaning, gifts, clothing, groceries, child care, restaurant meals, vacations, charitable donations, life insurance and entertainment. If you put aside money for savings of investments, such as RRSP contributions, note these as well.

When your list of income and expenses is complete, total the amounts in each column. To determine what's left over at the end of each month, subtract your expenses from your income. The result is the amount you have to save and invest.

Your budget tune-up

Now it's time to make adjustments. If the amount is small (perhaps even negative) you've got some fine-tuning to do. But even if you're happy with what you see, you can still use your budget to reduce spending and increase your savings and investments.

Make one last column and jot down what you really want to spend every month in each category. Be realistic. Don't cut too much, or you'll never stick to your plan. And every few months, take a look at how you're doing - maybe you'll find ways to further improve your finances.

Here's another useful suggestion: Consult your financial advisor when putting together a budget. With professional advice, you'll have an even better chance of whipping your finances into shape.

Watch the Prairie
Mixed Grass Prairie Stewardship Program a necessary partnership

by Gerry Oliver

Prior to European settlement of the western plains, a myriad of plants covered much of the landscape. No matter whether the soil was rich or poor or the exposure was open and harsh or protected, some kind of plant covered the soils. They also survive the extremes of temperature, high winds and drought that are all part of life on the prairies?

The plants have made many adaptations over the last several thousand years, to enable them to exist in such an extreme place, but the most important one takes place underground. Somewhere along the evolutionary pathway, a partnership started between certain soil fungi and the plants. This has become probably the single most important factor in native plant survival on the prairies.

The earth is covered with millions of forms of fungus. Some are harmful such as the ones that cause blight and mildew. There are also beneficial fungi, that break down organic matter on the surface as well as within the soil. Without these organisms working away, soil fertility would be absent. Fungi also enter the roots of most plants forming a beneficial association called mycorrhizae. This is a partnership, in which the fungi absorbs essential minerals, especially phosphorous, from the soil, and transports it back to the roots of the plant, for which the plant provides it with carbohydrates and sugars.

This relationship works particularly well in infertile soils, where the fungi enable the plant to manufacture food faster, be more tolerant to salinity, be more resistant to competing harmful fungi and bacteria as well as take up water more efficiently than uninfected plants.

This relationship occurs in the upper few inches of the soil, where the vast majority of plant roots are found. The fungi are absent from soils that have been recently flooded, or the topsoil removed or eroded. They are also not found to the same extent in fertile soils.

Outside the root, the fungi produce tiny threadlike roots called hyphae. These hyphae greatly increase the extent and surface area of the root system. Some plants establish tremendous root systems that extend out many hundreds of feet from the plant. Its no wonder that in poor soils plants can survive, with this huge gathering system at work.

Research has found that plants under stress benefit most from this fungal association, such as ones that grow in soils with low fertility or moisture shortages. Many of the grasses and wildflowers have adapted well to areas of low fertility, including some of the most well-known plants such as the orchids. In many cases the soil fungi are necessary for the very survival of the plant.

Much about the relationship between the plants and the soil fungi is not yet understood, but one thing is known for sure - that without the presence of these microscopic organisms, the prairies would look very different, and be much less productive.

In Memoriam

Dinese Skoglund (Zatylny)

The month of May brings joys and regrets,
God took you home as one of the best.
To be free from suffering and pain,
Quietly your memories we treasure.
Loved, missed, and forgotten never,

Rest in peace. Love Mom. (C6)

Victoria Bukarz

In memory of "Victoria Anne Bukarz" who passed away on May 14th, 1999.

One long year has come and gone,
The pain of absence, fails to cease,
We pray in silence alone,
That our precious angel rests in peace.

Taken by the hand of God,
Years before you've grown.
The emptiness left behind,
Is like none we've ever known.

Memories we shared with you,
Will forever and always remain.
Our love for you will carry us through,
Until we meet again...

Love Always, Dad, Mom, Dustin, Ryan and Mitchell. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Skoglund, Dinese - May 13, 1999. Our Mom and Nana and now our Angel.

In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
You suffered much in silence,
You fought so hard to stay,
You faced your task with courage,
But your body would not mend,
And still you kept on fighting,
Until the very end.

God saw you getting tired,
When a cure was not to be.
So he put his arms around you,
And whispered, "Come with me."
So when we saw you sleeping,
So peaceful, free from pain.
We could not wish you back,
To suffer that again.

Always thought of and remembered with love. Brian, Edie, Shannon, Tyler and Shaena. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Rochelle - In loving memory of our mother, grandmother, great grandmother, Ann who passed away April 2, 1997; and our father, grandfather, and great grandfather Nick who passed away May 15, 1995.

Those we love don't go away
They walk beside us every day
Unseen, unheard but always near
Still loved, still missed and very dear

Always remembered by Aleta, Fred and family, Lucille and Ray and family. x (C6)

Parrott - In loving memory of my dear wife, mother, grandmother and great grandmother, Marjorie, May 18, 1997.

When thoughts go back as they often do,
We treasure the memories we have of you.
This day is remembered and quietly kept,
No words are needed, we shall never forget.

Always remembered by husband Will, children Gladys and Allan, Ron and Beryl, Glenn and Bobbie, Yvonne and Reg, Joyce and Bert, grandchildren and great grandchildren. x (C6)

Cards of Thanks

My sincere thanks to Dr. Khandelwal, Dr. Marlatt & Dr. Onyshko and nursing staff at the Minnedosa Hospital for the wonderful care after my surgery. Also thanks to my neighbors, family & friends for visits, cards, flowers and gifts. Heartfelt thanks to all of you. Phoebe. x (CD)

Cards of Thanks

The Willing Walkers wish to thank everyone who gave so generously in support of The Supercities Walk for MS. Your support means so much in the fight against the devastating disease of Multiple Sclerosis. Thank you all. Sharryn Jacobson, Betty Wilson, Abe and Wilma Braun. x (CD)

The Minnedosa Parks Board would like to thank the Minnedosa Lions Club for all their years of dedicated service. For many years they have kept up and looked after the playground in the campground area and will no longer be doing so. Thank you very much, the campers, their children, and visitors of the park have really appreciated it. (CD)

Nylen - The families of Ruby Nylen wish to thank all those individuals who expressed their sympathy through phone calls, visits, cards, flowers, gifts of food and charitable donations. Special thanks to Bishop Marvin Beaumont for conducting the service and Raymond Beaumont for the Eulogy and to Doris Anderson for acting as pianist. Thank you to Sparrow Funeral Service for understanding and fulfilling our special requests. The Nylen Families. (CD)

A big thank you to everyone who supported our CF Luncheon through ticket sales and donations. We were able to raise $1,014.11 for Cystic Fibrosis. We would also like to thank the Credit Union for their continued sponsorship of this event. The Minnedosa Kinette and Kinsmen Clubs. x (CD)

We would like to thank all those in the Basswood/ Minnedosa area, who took the time to attend the funeral service of our father and grandfather, Colin Campbell. Thanks also to those who sent cards. God bless you all. Doreen & Bill Trott and family. x (CD)

We would like to thank all those special people who expressed their sympathy to us through phone calls, visits, hugs, gifts of food, cards and flowers. Also to our very good friends for all their love and support. A bouquet to Shelley for singing mum's favorite song, it meant a great deal to us. To Murray for bringing back a lot of memories, that was a very touching and unforgettable moment. It will stay in our hearts forever. Our sincere thanks to the Choir, Organist, Rev. Hall for such a touching service, Honorary Pallbearers and the Legion Ladies Auxiliary for a very beautiful lunch. A special thanks also to the staff at the Personal Care, and Sparrow's Funeral Home. All your kindness will never be forgotten. Ken, Wendy Alexander & family, Jim & Janice Gwyer. x (CD)

We would like to thank everyone who supported and attended our social April 22, 2000. Special thanks to our wedding party, my mom (Chris) and Wayne J. for all the help. Jalna & Bob. x (CD)

Deacon Conrad Plant for coming to the house and services in church Tuesday evening and Wednesday for the Funeral Mass. Thank you to Alma & Paul Braschuk for playing and singing the hymns. Thank you to all the Pallbearers and the Crossbearer and to Rick & Shawna of Rae's Funeral Home and to St. Jude's Ladies for preparing lunch. Also a big thank you to all the staff at the Sandy Lake Nursing home for taking good care of Joe. Annie Fiarchuk & family. (CD)

Obituary

Gladys Barbara Carlson

Gladys Carlson (Alexander) passed away peacefully on May 5, 2000 at the age of 82. Born in Minnedosa June 23, 1917 to John Birt Alexander and Mary Evelyn Alexander. She loved sports of all kinds and played on a girls hockey team. She worked at Safeway in town and then went on to work as a receptionist for the late Dr. Gillsuly. She also worked in Ottawa as a civil servant and hairdressed in Kenora.

In 1949 she married Albert (Benny) Carlson and had two children: Wendy and Janice.

Gladys was predeceased by her husband Benny, her parents, brothers Ralph, Harold, Don, Jack, Bill, Russ and sisters Blanche and Margaret.

She is survived by her two daughters: Wendy and husband Ken Alexander of Minnedosa and their two children Erin (Mark) Hayward of MacGregor and Lindsay of Minnedosa. Two great granddaughters Kamryn and Bergen. Also Janice and her husband Jim Gwyer from Minnedosa. Surviving are sisters Shirley (Dick) Gillsuly, Jean Allan and Donna Aspelund all of Winnipeg. Also numerous nieces and nephews.

She had a great love for her two grandchildren Erin and Lindsay. Ever since they were small it was a very special time when they asked their Nana to "tickle them". Her two great granddaughters Kamryn and Bergen brought her such great joy. They meant the world to her. We will miss you forever mom and nana and until we meet again and come home to all be together.

Funeral services were held at Minnedosa United Church May 9th, with Pastor Elgin Hall officiating. Honorary pallbearers were David Alexander, Brent Alexander, Bruce Alexander, Murray Allan, Bob Carlson and Ryan Clark.

Sparrow Funeral Service of Minnedosa were in care of arrangements. (C7)

Obituary

Amy Mildred Taylor (nee Elviss)

With great sadness we announce the passing of Amy, on Sunday, May 7th, 2000 at Victoria Hospital. She was born September 11, 1907 in Souris, MB, the daughter of Charles and Florence Elviss. The family moved to Beedenbury, SK and then settled on Munnedosa in 1917, where she resided for more than 50 years. Amy worked in George Eakins law office until her marriage to Wallace Taylor on August 12, 1936. In 1970 she moved to Winnipeg and has resided there since.

Amy is survived by sons David and Donald, sister Florence Leathers, nephew Michael Hart and family all of Winnipeg, and niece Maureen Arnold, Vancouver, BC.

She was predeceased by infant son Paul in 1942, husband Wallace in 1963, sister and brother Pauline and David in 1992 and by two infant brothers.

She was a 50 year member of Ruth Chapter Number 15 Order Of The Eastern Star, also a member of Inner Wheel and the United Church.

Amy will be remembered for her kind and gentle nature, pleasant smile and kind words. She loved her family and was up to date and interested in friends and activities. She'll be missed by many.

A special thank you to Dr. Mihalcionu and staff at Victoria Hospital.

Funeral services were held Thursday, May 11th, 2:00 p.m. at Minnedosa United Church. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Cancer or Heart Foundations. Sparrow Funeral Service was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Saskatchewan faces challenges at the post secondary education level

By Calvin Daniels

Saskatchewan by the nature of its geography and the sparsity of its population faces challenges in many areas. Among those is education, especially at the post secondary level, where costs continually rise for education provided through universities. The sheer costs involved with university education coupled with a focus that is not always directed at more manual jobs has created the need for other options. The regional college system has grown out of that need. First introduced in 1973, the system has served the province well. With the release recently of a report on the regional college system comes affirmation the system works and fills a need, said Glen Hagel, minister of post secondary education and skills training in the province. The report - entitled Future Close to Home is aptly named, and shows why the system works, said Hagel. "It captures the essence of what the regional college system is all about," he said in a telephone media conference. "S It brings the campus to the students close to home." Hagel added the colleges are also about the future of the province because of the role they play in the education system. Hagel said the statutory report, while containing a number of recommendations was an "affirmation of the importance of regional colleges in rural and northern Saskatchewan." The system helps make post secondary education more affordable to many who have an option of remaining at home or enjoying the lower rents of smaller cities. The regional colleges also have added flexibility, and Hagel said that can allow them to be more responsive to the job market needs of a localized area. Hagel said the system reacts to "the needs of learners," but also provides a much needed link between learners and the labour market. Of course a linchpin of the system is technology that has increasingly allowed distance education to be effective. But technology costs money and while the budget for regional colleges grew by four per cent and a capital centenary fund worth $20 million over four years has been carried out, one questions if it's enough. A new high school in Yorkton for the Catholic system will come in at some $6 million, meaning over four years three facilities could be built of a high school configuration. A technology upgrade by the public division in Yorkton flirted with a $1 million cost, and one wonders what the cutting edge technology needed to stay current at the college level will cost. It's one thing to recognize that the unique regional system we have works for the province. It's quite another to make sure funding remains sufficient to stay on top of the fast changing technological opportunities of education. It is to be hoped the government seizes the opportunity with sufficient dollars to educate our young people for the future. 30

TCS Topics

Coming up this week at TCS we have two very important events both taking place on Thursday. During the day the middle year's track meet will take place for all students in grades 5 to 8. Winners from this event will go on to the divisional track meet in Brandon provided they have been attending practices regularly. That evening the spring band concert will take place at 7:30 in the pit.

The grade one mothers were treated to a concert put on by all the grade one students in both classes. Thanks to Mrs. McKenzie and Mrs. Furman for all their hard work in preparing students for this concert. It was great to see all the mothers out to enjoy such a wonderful event.

Big Brothers and Sisters of Minnedosa recently made a donation of $1,000.00 toward the playground equipment fund at TCS. This donation is greatly appreciated and a big thanks goes out to the members of this group.

Hilding Alex honoured

Minnedosa MLA Harold Gilleshammer presented Hilding Alex with an honorary life membership to the Manitoba Library Trustees Association last week at the Minnedosa Regional Library.

The honorary membership was presented to Mr. Alex in recognition of his years of dedicated service and his outstanding contribution to the development of library service in the province.

Mr. Alex was a Minnedosa Regional Library Board member beginning in 1986. He served as vice chairperson in 1988, and 1989 to 1998 as chairperson. He continues to serve on the Manitoba Public Library Advisory Board, and has also served as chair and vice chair for the Manitoba Library Trustees Association.

Local groups benefit from Millennium funding

By Nancy Chemerika

Minnedosa projects were well recognized by the Millennium Bureau of Canada. In total, local projects received $16,776 in funding from the Canada Millennium Partnership program.

The Minnedosa District Heritage Foundation received $5,676 to create a water wheel and a commemorative gate along the Heritage Walking tour and the Oxbow Nature Trail. The water wheel will be set beside the former hydro substation, which once generated electricity for the area.

Water from Minnedosa Lake will be used to power the eight foot high wheel. Total project cost is estimated at $21,266.

The Chairman of the Minnedosa District Heritage Foundation is Lem Shuttleworth. The Projects Committee involves local volunteers, Ken Harris, Bob Mummery, and Mel Nagorski.

"We are very pleased that we received the funding for this project which will be another major tourist attraction for the community," stated Mr. Harris.

Council sets time table for water hook up to cabin area

By Nancy Chemerika

Deputy Mayor Mark Blais chaired last Tuesday evening's Council proceedings in the absence of Mayor Drebit.

At the meeting Council passed a resolution to turn on the water to the cabin area. On a yearly basis, the water will be turned on by the Wednesday prior to May Long Weekend, and turned off the third Monday of September, unless conditions beyond the Town's control occur, for example, frozen lines.

At the meeting a continuation of a public hearing regarding a request from Tony Saler to amend the Minnedosa District Planning Scheme was concluded with no further objections being heard. Council later gave second and third reading to the by-law which will allow Mr. Saler to rezone his property on 3rd St. NE from RA, suburban, to R2, suitably for a two family dwelling district. Mr. Saler has subdivided the property and established two residential lots.

Council awarded a number of annual grants at the meeting including Frontier Trading Company $6,000, Minnedosa District Services to Seniors received $2,000, Homecoming 2000 Committee received $3,000, Access 12, $1,000, and Canada Day Committee $300.

Correspondence was received from the R.M.'s of Minto and Odanah regarding the Association of Manitoba Municipalities Meeting which will be held on June 22nd in Minnedosa. The Town of Minnedosa will be hosting the meeting and the correspondence from the two adjoining municipalities indicated that although they were not interested in co-hosting the meeting, they would be happy to supply a door prize.

Nancy Taylor submitted a number of ideas for tourist attractions for the Town of Minnedosa, which were filed by Council. In her letter Ms. Taylor suggested that a rising and falling waterfall, with a circular spray at the bottom, be placed on the west side of the bridge. She also suggested a symphony orchestra be organized in Minnedosa, as the community has a great deal of musical talent to offer.

Council agreed to apply for one Green Team position for the summer months. As a member of the Green Team, the youth employee will be involved in projects that beautify the community.

A request from the Minnedosa Rowing Centre for dock installation was tabled pending insurance information.

Ken Beatty was awarded the tender to supply crushed gravel to the Town of Minnedosa.

Minnedosa benefits...

"The Committee plans to meet in the near future, with construction on the water wheel to possibly begin as early as June 1st. Harris added that the Heritage Committee would greatly appreciate any further donations to the project.

The Minnedosa District Heritage Foundation has also received $4,033 in Millennium funding for restoration of the period house now located in the Heritage Village.

The Minnedosa Horticultural Society - Community Project 2000 received $7,067. The Horticultural Society plans to erect a monument of a Canvasback Duck, a species that thrives in the Minnedosa pothole region. The duck will have a 16 foot wing span and will be located on an area that will be turned into a picnic area. Total project cost is estimated at $21,200.

Library shortchanged on Millennium money

By Nancy Chemerika

Although overall Minnedosa did well on the Millennium Grant circuit, the Minnedosa Regional Library was informed that its expansion project did not meet the criteria for the program.

According to the Millennium Bureau of Canada, the Library addition project proposal was of an infrastructure nature, and was therefore inadmissible under the Canadian Millennium Partnership Program. The Library Fundraising Committee had requested $100,000 from the program, which was to be the Federal contribution to the expansion project.

Although disappointed by the decision, the Minnedosa Regional Library Fundraising Program plans to encourage the Councils of the Town of Minnedosa and the R.M.s of Minto and Odanah to apply for infrastructure dollars.

"I think right now, as a fundraising committee, we are looking for some direction from the library board," stated Dean Wareham, Chairman of the Fundraising Committee. "We had always been operating under the premise that the Federal Government would participate. We need to try and figure out how we can access other Federal monies, perhaps through infrastructure grants, or through other avenues. I am still very hopeful that the project will go ahead, although the timetable has been altered somewhat.

"The project won't go this year, but we certainly have not given up," stated Georgina Johnson, Minnedosa Regional Library. "The committee has submitted numerous grant applications which we are waiting to hear back on. We are continuing to actively fundraise, and it is going well."

Approximately $100,000 has been raised locally for the project through contributions from the three municipalities, private donations, fundraising activities, and pledges.

"We have been very pleased with the way the community has come forward, through the groups and organizations, and individually showing their support of the project. Charitable donations have been coming from current and past residents through the homecoming connection, which has been a bright spot in our fundraising campaign," concluded Wareham.

Elgin Hall to retire from Minnedosa United Church

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa United Church will be saying farewell to Pastor Elgin Hall at the end of May, when he retires from active ministry after 40 years.

Elgin has been a minister with the Minnedosa United Church since 1990, but his career in ministry began many years before.

Religion and spirituality were an important part of the Hall's family life. From a young age, Elgin regularly attended the Bethel Lutheran Church in the Danvers District, north of Erickson, with his parents, Olga and Algot, and the rest of the family.

He noted that he was involved in all aspects of the Lutheran Church, and his earliest childhood recollections are of the church, which was one of the most important social centres of the time. Elgin's first job, at the age of 12, was as custodian of the Bethel Church for the sum of $1 per week.

After high school, Elgin attended Canadian Lutheran Bible School in Camrose, AB for two years. He was first paid as a preacher at the age of 19, in northwestern Minnesota. He continued to preach in Ontario from 1962 to 65, and it was during this time, that he met and married his wife, Donna. The couple has two sons, Allan and Darren.

In 1965, the Halls moved to the Waterloo/Kitchener area where Elgin enrolled in what was later to become Wilfred Laurier University, for Ministry. He later decided that ordained Lutheran Ministry was not the career or life path for him, and moved back to the Erickson area with his family in 1971 to take over the family farm.

In Erickson, Elgin was lay minister for the Lutheran congregation, and later served the Dauphin Lutheran Church for a time as well. During this time, he became involved with the Onanole United Church, and in 1978, began conducting three services a week in addition to farming and many other activities.

In 1990 Elgin was appointed to the Minnedosa-Clanwilliam Pastoral Charge as Lay Pastoral Minister, and the rest, as they say, is history. His official retirement will commence at the end of June, after a Re-Covenanting Service.

Minto & Odanah support Golf Course expansion

Brian Skatch, Reeve of the R.M. of Minto, Dan Johnson, Chair of the Minnedosa Golf Club, Marion Sharpe, Reeve of the R.M. of Odanah.

The Rural Municipalities of Minto and Odanah have each agreed to donate 50 hours of equipment time on the rough grading phase of the expansion project which will see the Minnedosa Golf Course expand from 9 to 18 holes.

The approximate cost of the scraper use is approximately $100 per hour. The Golf Club will be paying the cost of fuel and labour, leaving the entire donation at about a $7,000 value.

Dan Johnson indicated that any farmers in the area who wish to assist the project in a similar fashion can contact him at 867-3145 or 867-2379.

"We felt it was important to support the project, as we do others in the community like the Library expansion, the Vet Clinic, and the like," stated Reeve Sharpe. "We wish the Golf Club well with their expansion."

"The expansion is a worthwhile project which will enhance the area," added Reeve Skatch. "It will attract more visitors, and perhaps those wishing to settle in the area."

Where do we go from here? Taking a second look at Collenette's Transportation Reforms

It was with mixed emotion that many producers reviewed the details of Transport Minister Collenette's plans to improve the western grain handling and transportation system. While delighted that the federal government finally decided to do something, there is a gnawing concern that it may have been better to do nothing. Quite frankly, the package to reform the system could very well do more harm than good.

There was, of course, no hint of this in Collenette's press release. To the casual observer, the claims of improving the system and saving farmers money will be taken at face value.

In actual fact, if you reworked the federal government's press release to reflect the probable impact of the changes, it might read something like this:

News Release
Government of Canada Announces Measures to Erode Western Grain Handling and Transportation System

Ottawa - Transport Minister David Collenette, together with Ralph Goodale, Minister of Natural Resources and Minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board, and Lyle Vanclief, Minister of Agriculture and Agri Food today announced the government's intention to introduce measures to reduce efficiency and increase costs in Canada's grain handling and transportation system.

"After three years of consultations, including the Estey Report and the Kroeger Report, we have been unable to find a consensus on how to reform Canada's grain handling and transportation system," said Mr. Collenette. "Cabinet has found itself confused and divided on the issues, unable to discern good advice from bad. Nonetheless, we are proceeding with changes which will be implemented for the 2000-01 crop year."

Reforms to be implemented by August 1, 2000 include the following:

1. The establishment of a revenue cap that provides for an annual estimated $178 million reduction in railway revenues, which represents an estimated 18 percent reduction in grain freight rates. Although this will save farmers money in the short term, the federal government recognizes it won't provide better transportation. In fact it could leave producers waiting for a train that isn't coming.
2. The federal government will make it illegal for the tariff rates on single car movements originating on branch lines to exceed main line tariff rates for similar movements by more than three per cent. This will help ensure that keeping grain-dependent branchlines open will make no economic or business sense whatsoever, thereby preventing the railways from unnecessarily delaying their closure.
3. Since a conflict of opinion exists over whether the Canadian Wheat Board should tender the shipment of grain to port, the decision was made to make no decision. Instead, the federal government has decided to fudge on the issue by kinda implementing it and kinda not. This will ensure that any cost savings that may have been realized should be successfully avoided, while at the same time retaining the existing system of confusion and unaccountability.
4. The government will establish a mechanism of continuous monitoring, measurement and reporting to determine the effects of these changes and the overall performance of the system. This mechanism will be put in place by an independent, private sector third party whose recommendations will then be largely ignored, just like those of Justice Willard Estey and Arthur Kroeger.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
"THE CANVASBACK DUCK WILL NOT FLY IN MINNEDOSA"

An emergency meeting was called by Evelyn Delgaty as Secretary-Treasurer of the Minnedosa Horticultural Society's Town of Minnedosa Community Project 2000.

I had been working with the Council, along with my husband Tom, who is President of the Project 2000 Committee, Lyla Smith who is Vice-President and Stan Gugin who is a long time Horticultural member. We had attended two council meetings back in March, 1998. On March 23rd, 1998, I received a letter from Gail V. Graves, Municipal Administrator, from which I quote:
"Community Project 2000"

"This will confirm that Council of The Town of Minnedosa supports the project proposed by your committee as presented to them and outlined in your letter of March 16, 1998.

We enclose copy of plan of the area which is outlined in heavy black and indicated as "A" with dimensions marked.

We wish your committee every success with this very worthwhile project and would commend you on your efforts." (end quote)

We have had many hurdles to overcome and hoops through which to jump, especially recently. We feel these should have been brought to our attention two years ago when the project was accepted by the Town of Minnedosa.

On May 11th, 2000, when I dropped into the Town Office with a sketch of the Canvasback Duck they had requested, I was handed a Building Permit to fill out and sign. I returned it Friday, the 12th of May. I was then told an Engineer would have to be engaged to oversee the entire project including the pouring of the pilings to specifications, which had already taken place by a reputable construction company. The exact position of the statue had been carefully determined by the Minnedosa Horticultural Society members of the Community Project 2000 at the emergency meeting May 16th passed a motion to withdraw their plans to erect their Canvasback Duck Statue on their previously planned sight and are now contemplating a sight in the R.M. of Odanah.

The Minnedosa Horticultural Society much appreciates the high level of support shown to the members by the citizens and former citizens of Minnedosa, who have supported our efforts financially, so that now we have a Canvasback Duck and park as our Millennium Project.

The Canvasback Duck has been constructed by Ralph Berg of Cabri, Sask., and is presently loaded on a flat deck in pieces and will be brought to our site as soon as the pilings are poured and settled, and will be mounted securely according to plans. Mr. Berg has never ever had to deal with Horticultural Society members.

This Building Permit and the necessity to engage an Official Engineer was a blow to the Society members. We feel this should have been made known to us long before the project got into the construction stage.

We were also advised by the Town Administrator that their Liability Insurance would be rendered nul and void should this Project go ahead on the Town property. Again we feel betrayed at not having been advised about this two years ago when the Town accepted our proposal.

The above information adequately explains the reasons why the Minnedosa Horticultural Society members a building permit or an engineer in any of his several statues that he has created and installed throughout Western Canada.

What a shame Minnedosa Town Council does not support the Minnedosa Horticultural Society as Neepawa Town Council supports theirs. No wonder Neepawa has become Canada's Lily Capital.

Initially our millennium project was designed as a drawing card for the business places in Minnedosa as well as a relaxing spot for all to have a rest and enjoy the beauty of the park.

Respectfully submitted,
Evelyn Delgaty,
Secretary-Treasurer
Community Project 2000

Editor Izzy ...
Former Minnedosan Izzy Asper and his CanWest Global Communications company are reported to be in hot pursuit of some daily newspapers that have recently come up for sale in Canada. Included in the list are the Thunder Bay Chronicle-Journal, the Medicine Hat News, the Lethbridge Herald, the Winnipeg Free Press and the Brandon Sun. The price tag for the five Thomson owned newspapers is reported to be $300 million. Just pocket change.

Railroaders ...
The Railroaders Committee is hard at work preparing for their upcoming Railroaders Day which will take place during Homecoming. Joan Richards has been given the task of organizing a photo display of Minnedosa's railroading history and she is asking anyone with old photos relating to our town's railroad history to give her a call. She is particularly interested in photos of the CP unit being installed in the park and she can be reached at 867-3277.

Excellent picks.
Hockey Manitoba has announced the 40 players who have been selected to attend the June 2 to 4, 2000 Program of Excellence Team Western Summer Camp set for Shilo. Coaching staff will select some 17 players from each of the boys and girls camps to join with players from Saskatchewan to form Team Western to compete at the World Under 17 Hockey Challenge set for next January in Pictou, Nova Scotia. Form this area, Jon Naturkach of Forrest has been selected for the boys team and Jami Boyd and Julie McNabb of Minnedosa and Hilary Ford of Erickson have been chosen for the girls team. Congratulations and good luck to all.

Off the wall ...
A report was received from The Netherlands to the effect that a Jewish concentration camp survivor will be charged with war crimes and may face charges at a War Crimes Tribunal for attempting to poison several Nazi SS Officers who were being held in prison after the conclusion of the Second World War. Apparently the poison didn't work too well as the officers did become ill but survived. If this matter does come to trial, you can bet it will be one proceeding that will capture the attention of most of the world.

"Sandy Lake Heritage Association plans to restore Pioneer Cemetery"

Dear Editor:
The Ukrainian Cultural Heritage Association of Sandy Lake wish to inform you and your readership of our millenium project 2000. We've undertaken the project of restoring Sandy Lake's oldest cemetery, the Pioneer Cemetery, which is located on S.E. 18-18-20.

Our research indicates that the cemetery was first used by the Metis and French Canadians who inhabited this land in the late 1800's and early 1900's. The committee realizes the historical significance of this site and wish to restore the area to its original beauty and tranquility.

The cemetery is in dire disrepair. Present restoration plans include: to secure the land; fence the area; remove unnecessary trees and debris; repair remaining tombstones and iron crosses; sow into grass and/or wildflowers; erect a monument listing the names of the deceased; possibly erect a large cross which would be visible of the Cross Canada Trail; and provide some type of accessibility to the property.

To help fund this project we are asking for help from the families of the deceased and from the general public in the form of a donation and/or labor.

We are also seeking photos taken at the cemetery to help locate the gravesites. (We will return the photos.) We are requesting that families submit the names, dates of birth and death (if known) or age at death and approximate location of grave site.

Please help us, through a donation, to achieve success with this very worthwhile project. Make the checks payable to: U.C.H.A. Cemetery Fund. If you wish, tax receipts will be issued. Once the project is completed, any remaining funds will be placed into a perpetual fund and will be used for the upkeep of the cemetery.

If you have any questions please call Helen at 204-585-2636 or Joyce at 204-585-5314.

Please send your donations, photos, etc, to:
Mrs. Sharon Liebing
Treas. Pioneer Cemetery Com.

We thank you in advance for your donations and interest.
Yours truly,

Mrs. J. Coulson/Public Relations Com.

Dear Editor:
This letter is written in response to the article, "Not In My Backyard". I am a father of two young skateboarders, who are members of the Minnedosa Skateboarders Association. Over the past year I have been impressed with the club members' dedication and enthusiasm to their sport and commitment to developing a safe accessible skateboard park. I commend the Recreational Director in his patience and guidance in assisting these youth.

A year ago I was a cautious skeptic of this sport and admittedly had difficulty understanding the lingo and harbored some negative images of the sport.

My views changed last summer when I traveled to Victoria with our youngest son. At every stop along the way, he would seek out the closest skate park, gone were the days of sightseeing and trips to the zoo. In Victoria, my son located an impressive skate park which was used by numerous skaters.

While in Victoria, my son and I met with the Community Service Manager to discuss how they had developed their park. One of my first questions was around the issue of liability. She was clear that insurance coverage was the same for any of their facilities such as Tennis courts and playgrounds. She stated since opening the park in 1997, there has been no reports of injuries other than minor scratches. She recommended a sign on a park could be posted, recommending use of safety gear.

Victoria Emergency room Doctors have indicated they see more children receiving injuries from playgrounds as well as trampolines and baseball than youth injured while skateboarding. She felt skateboarders spend many hours improving their sport in small increments prior to attempting more difficult maneuvers.

I found there was an incredible sense of "etiquette" involved in skateboarding. During our many side trips to different skate parks, older or more skilled skaters would stop and offer advice and hints on technique to our son. I observed no rude or aggressive behavior and people waited their turn and there seemed to be an orderly flow of "traffic".

The other safety concern was the fear of alcohol and drug usage at the parks. A youth worker I spoke with clearly stated to me that she was not concerned about alcohol or drug use among skaters and the development of a youth skate park cannot be seen as a reason young people are drinking or using drugs.

From observing skateboarding, I find it to be a very self expressive sport that does not require excessive organization. I think we need to recognize all of our children deserve a safe place to play and facilities for young people should not be built "out of sight, out of mind".

The Minnedosa Skateboarder Association has presented their ideas to have a designated skate board park to Town Council on two occasions and for different reasons each proposal has been rejected.

Presently the club has approached the School Division requesting use of the old skating rink. The members of the Skateboard club could use community support in order for this park to become a reality. The fact that our youth are closely involved in the process will serve to increase a sense of ownership and pride in their community.

Sincerely,
Richard Kerschtien

Conservation District partners with youth

An ECI student takes a water sample under the direction of Mike Stainton

By Nancy Chemerika

The Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District has recognized the importance of teaching youth about the values of conservation and watershed management. As a result, LSRCD is conducting a pilot project with the Grade 12 biology students of Erickson Collegiate to perform water testing, and to determine the effects of environmental factors on water quality.

Jack Coulson's biology students, along with Miles Kopytko, LSRCD, Mike Stainton, Fresh Water Institute, Geraldine David, Riding Mountain Biosphere Reserve, and John Whitaker, Riding Mountain Biosphere Reserve, took water samples from Rolling River and Whirl Pool River as they come out of Riding Mountain National Park. They then sampled at various locations along the way to Erickson to determine how the quality changes as the water goes through farmland and other direct human contact.

Riding Mountain Biosphere Reserve funded the project, which has been called Classrooms to Creeks by LSRCD.

"It's important for young people to take a stake in what the environment is like in the future," stated John Whitaker. "Part of that is collecting water quality information. It's a really simple way to gather a lot of information."

After taking the samples, the students conducted some preliminary tests back in the lab at ECI before sending the samples back to Winnipeg for further analysis.

Miles Kopytko noted one of the primary purposes of the project is to set up a long term partnership with schools where students do practical applied work that fits with their curriculum and helps them to better understand the watershed. He added that although the pilot project is first being conducted with ECI, it will be turned into a multi year program which will hopefully involve numerous schools in the conservation district in the future.

"The project will be turned into a multi year program where the students take an active and continued role in understanding the watershed," stated Kopytko. "The project will supply the conservation district and the rural municipality with information on water quality while giving the students hands on experience."

In addition to the ECI project, LSRCD also partnered with the Mr. Taylor's Grade 10 Geography Class at MCI to teach the students about watershed management and the numerous agencies that work together.

After a classroom presentation conducted by Mr. Kopytko, the students toured the Bouchard farm, west of Minnedosa to examine a portion of the Little Saskatchewan River system, and the flora and fauna of the surrounding area.

Dianna McGee, Agro Woodlot Program, was on site to discuss botany and river dynamics, plant identification, bioengineering, and the agro woodlot role. Cal Cuthbert, Ducks Unlimited, discussed flora/fauna in the riparian/shoreline area, species diversity, the importance of wetlands, and the role of Ducks Unlimited. Gerald Forsythe, Manitoba Habitat Heritage Corporation, made a presentation on riparian areas and water quality, the Green Banks program, conservation agreements and landowner partnerships.

"The purpose of the field trip was to get the students involved in the educational process," noted Kopytko. "It's important to get the kids thinking about watershed management and showing how the different groups work together to promote the same goals."

Elgin Hall to retire...

The purpose of the service will be to celebrate Elgin's ministry and to mark and seek God's blessing on the new relationship Elgin will now have with the people of Minnedosa, as he continues in the community as a friend, and as one of the people.

"I have no regrets about what I have done in ministry," noted Elgin. "I would hope that I have put a human face on the church. I also hope that I have made the scripture come alive, and told the story in such a way that it is not just history, but an understanding of God's revelations."

Although Elgin has many plans to keep him busy in his retirement, he will no longer minister in any way, because he feels it would not be fair to his successor, Rev. Shawn Ankenmann, Langley, BC, will begin to serve the Minnedosa congregation on July 1st, 2000.

"I will be done with ministry. I have no regrets in what I have done, and I am going to miss it, but I won't do it anymore. I will miss many things. I'll miss the contacts with families surrounding their rites of passage, and I will also miss the preaching. Whether or not I am any good at it, that is for others to judge, but I love preaching," concluded Elgin.

Is hay your best option?

Forages provide a number of benefits beyond their primary value as livestock feed. Growing hay is often your best option on erosion-prone marginal crop land. Forages also provide nest sites for ducks and other ground-nesting birds. ➤➤➤ That's why Ducks Unlimited is working in the following RMs to help producers establish hay lands:

• Clanwilliam • Rossburn • Park

And northern parts of:

• Harrison • Strathclair • Silver Creek

We can help eligible producers establish hay crops by reimbursing 80% of seed costs to a maximum of $25 per acre. And if you allow us to restore drained wetlands we'll pay 100% of the seed costs.

This program is targeted to key wetland landscapes with late cutting dates

Heritage Village hosts 80 students

Students arrive at the Heritage Village

The students visit the Havelock School, while Heritage Committee Member, Kitson Talbot, points out some of the artifacts

The Minnedosa Heritage Village hosted its biggest tour of the season last week when over 80 visitors from Winnipeg and Neepawa schools came for a history lesson.

Grade 5 students and adult chaperones from three Winnipeg schools, and Hazel M. Kellington of Neepawa, stopped at the Village last week for a brief tour as part of Prairie Journey 2000. The Winnipeg students stopped in Minnedosa as part of a complete bus tour across the prairies. The Neepawa students joined the tour locally for one day.

While in the area, the group also visited a farm to observe sheep shearing, and cattle; toured the Franklin elevator and fertilizer plant; walked along a portion of the Trans Canada Trail; and visited Bill Parrrott's to see the eight sided barn and water ram before heading back to Neepawa for the night.

For the Winnipeg students, Prairie Journey 2000 was not just a lesson in history, but a lesson in the latest technology. Along the way the students are using lap top computers and digital cameras to record the journey and to create and update a web site. Department of Education videographers are also accompanying the students to record the trip and prepare a video to assist teachers in teaching lessons about the Canadian Prairies. The students also hope to make a CD Rom about the journey.

Fun Fest parade report

The Minnedosa Fun Fest Parade is scheduled for July 8th at 11:00 a.m. and will follow the regular route.

Applications were mailed in February to 110 businesses, groups and organizations, including two marching bands, the Western Pipes and Drums and 1 RCHA Pipes and Drums.

"Unfortunately, we have not heard from either organization. We did hope to secure at least one for the Millennium Edition of the Fun Fest Parade," stated Don Farr, parade coordinator. "If any reader has any contacts with either group, please use whatever influence you have on our behalf!"

Farr noted that only 20 positive responses have been received regarding parade entries to date, with a response deadline of May 31st looming.

For those groups who have not received an application form and wish to enter, please contact Don or Sylvia at Minnedosa Credit Union, 867-2781.

Erickson News
by Almie Paulsen

At the time of my writing, it is May 17° and the forecast is for frost, so our bedding plants had to be carried in tonight. Hopefully, the long weekend will turn warmer so people can enjoy the outdoors, etc.

On May 13th Daisy Knight, who is now a resident of a care home in Brandon, marked her 86th birthday. I called her daughter, Madeline Brugger that morning and learned that Daisy would be at her home that afternoon for birthday cake. Her other family members would also be present.

Ethel Neilson had her daughter Karen and son-in-law Gerry Meyer of Carberry visiting her for Mother's Day.

Ivy Carter's visit to granddaughter Robyn Mead was to welcome a new baby sister for Taylor. Took only a few days to spoil Kennedy too.

COPP's safety tip - do not leave a note on your door saying that you are away.

Evelyn Gusdal, Winnipeg, spent a few days last week with Fay Gusdal. She also helped with finalizing plans for the Gusdal family reunion at Ditch Lake in July.

Viola Burken's piano students had their recital at the Lutheran Church on Monday, May 8th.

Erickson seemed to appeal to the thieves who broke into a shed and garage on the southside of town. Various tools, etc. were taken, but were recovered a short time later. It's too bad that now a days one must keep everything locked up.

An interment service for the late Mary Hartrey who passed away last fall at White Rock, BC, will be held at the Waskeda Cemetery on Saturday, May 27th.

George and Diane Hoglund, Bowden, AB, spent a few days with parents, Maurice and Dot Hoglund.

Lawrence and Edna Sjoberg have recently returned from a two and a half week holiday to the west coast where they visited friends and relatives. While on the Island they phoned Pastor Ole and Mary Bruen at Courtney. Pastor Ole is very ill and is unable to swallow food (he had a stroke). He is fed by tubes. Pastor Bruen's day would be brightened if friends would write him a note.

Lawrence and Edna Sjoberg had their daughter Donna and son-in-law Garnet Crawford, Winnipeg, as Mother's Day guests. They also met son David and Diane in Brandon for Mother's Day dinner.

Lorne Boucher is home again after spending 8 days in Minnedosa Hospital.

Lorne and Leona Macedenski have returned home after spending 3 weeks with their daughter Lori and son-in-law Brent Hoar, and granddaughter Lasha at Fort Nelson, BC.

Irene Madill's sister Thelma came from Winnipeg on Thursday and took Irene to Winnipeg where she will receive medical attention.

A new brochure regarding Homecoming is now available at the Municipal Office. Pick up your copy and please disregard the earlier brochure.

Carpenters have been busy with the new washrooms and shower stall at the campground. Other improvements, including camping sites, trees, a new campground sign, are also being added. Hanging flower baskets should be arriving soon to make main street very attractive. The town is working hard to "pretty up" Erickson. Now I'll ask, Have You Improved Your Premises?"

The history committee is still looking for more family histories and organization's histories for Volume II - Forest to Field. Please submit yours before you get hounded. (At least that's what I told one lady.)

Garage Sale Vendors beware

Every year garage sales are held in town and cities across Canada. People often shop for bargains at these sales; however, the bargains could be dangerous.

Safety standards exist under the Hazardous Products Act for certain consumer products, including many children's products.

Everyone holding a garage sale is responsible for ensuring that products, whether new or used, meet all safety standards.

Remember, the next time you are planning to hold a garage sale, THINK SAFETY. You could be held responsible if someone suffers an injury because of a product bought at your garage sale.

The following is a partial list of products that must meet safety standards under the Hazardous Products Act. The hazards identified for these products are meant to draw attention to some of the most common problems. When selling products at a garage sale, it is wise to avoid any item that is not in good condition. Damaged articles should be discarded.

- Baby Gates
- Baby Walkers
- Car Seats
- Children's Sleepwear
- Cribs and Cradles
- Protective Sport Equipment
- Playpens
- Strollers
- Toys/Lawn Darts

The following are some of the most common problems associated with these products:

Baby Gates - Baby gates that have large diamond-shaped openings and a large "V" at the top can no longer be sold in Canada. Children can get caught in these openings and strangle.

Baby Walkers - Baby walkers with wheels should not be sold or used due to the risk of serious injury from falling down stairs, from entanglement in power cords and from increased access to hot surfaces.

Car Seats - Car seats must meet the Canadian Motor Vehicle Safety Standard and carry the compliance label stating the size of the child for which the seat is designed. Detailed instructions and all straps and parts, including the tether strap, must be present. Seats that are cracked or broken must not be sold. Before reselling a used car seat, check with Transport Canada (1-800-333-0371) to find out if the car seat has been the subject of a recall or repair program and have the seat repaired before selling. Do not use a seat older than the manu-facturer's recommended date. It is important to know the history of any second hand seat as it should not be reused if it has ever been involved in an accident.

Children's Sleepwear - Loose garments including nightgowns, bathrobes, baby doll pyjamas and loose pyjamas are especially flammable if made of cotton or cotton blends. These garments should be made of polyester, nylon or polyester/nylon blends to meet the flammability requirements set out in the regulations.

Cribs - All cribs sold in Canada must meet safety requirements set out in regulations by the Federal Government in September 1986. All cribs sold or imported into Canada prior to that date are considered unsafe and dangerous; their sale is illegal and they must be destroyed! Cribs with visible signs of damage, missing parts or missing instructions and warning information must be avoided. Cribs complying with the regulations must have printed on them or affixed to them information that identifies the manufacturer and the date of manufacture. It is also very important that the mattress to be used in the crib is not higher (thicker) than 15 cm (6 in) and that it fits snugly along the four sides of the crib.

Protective Sport Equipment - Protective equipment that is old or that has visible signs of damage should never be used and must be discarded. Hockey helmets and face protectors sold in Canada must meet safety standards set by CSA International. In addition, they should not be used if previously subjected to a major impact, if subjected to intensive use over two consecutive seasons, if older than five years or if showing any signs of damage.

Bicycle and rollerblading helmets are designed to protect the head against a single impact. In addition, because of their light weight, they are relatively fragile. When purchased second-hand, these products are likely not to offer proper head protection and should be avoided. New bicycle and rollerblading helmets certified to meet recognized safety standards are relatively inexpensive and are well worth the investment!

Playpens - Some older playpens may have protruding bolts that can catch on a child's clothing, or may have worn or faulty mechanisms on the folding sides of the playpen. Check Health Canada's website as well as the manufacturer's or call for a list of recalled playpens. If the playpen you are buying has been recalled, be sure the problem has been corrected. Playpen mesh must be small mosquito type. If the mesh has large open holes it won't meet current standards and could be an entanglement hazard. When buying a folding playpen, ensure that all locking mechanisms work and setup instructions are included.

Strollers - Carriages and strollers made before 1985 may not meet current safety standards. The stroller must come with a lap belt, or some safety restraint that is solidly attached to the seat or frame. Ensure the brakes are in working order and the wheels are solidly attached.

Toys/Lawn Darts - If your toys are in poor repair or broken, they are not safe. Toys with sharp edges or points or those with loose eyes or noses are potential hazards. Toys with small parts are not suitable for children under three years of age. It is illegal to sell lawn darts with elongated tips in Canada.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Re-identification of the Canadian cattle herd does nothing more than re-establish the ability we once had to rapidly identify, contain and eliminate disease. Our forefathers had the foresight to support that initiative more than half a century ago and thanks to them we have a remarkably healthy national herd. Thanks to some of our own initiatives as some of the most productive cattlemen in the world with the finest beef produced anywhere, our foreign markets are growing and every second calf that is born in your herd or mine is exported. I want to help make sure that demand for my product stays strong and that I can continue to sell to confident Canadian consumers and satisfied foreign customers.

That is why I have been surprised to read so many negative articles and letters to the editor in our farm press. All kinds of groundless alarms are being raised about the real purpose of this program. Some believe that their liability will be increased. Others believe that the Government wants this information to check up on how many cattle you own, who you sold them to and for what price. Some even think the banks will have access to the database. Some think this is the first step toward supply management. All of these claims are completely false. Nothing in the database will be of any usefulness to anyone other than the Canadian Food Inspection Agency. CCIA and producers who support this program have no other interest than the protection of the health of our national herd.

I am also aware that there are valid concerns about the program. Many cow-calf producers ask why they should bear the cost of the tags as well as the nuisance and work of putting them in the ears of their cattle. Everyone beyond the cow-calf producer is a margin operator and this means that all production costs normally get passed back to the cow-calf producer. Because the CCIA Board recognized those valid concerns we developed a much simpler and more cost effective system than is used today in Europe.

In the end those of us who make our living out of the cow-calf business need to weigh the cost and nuisance of national identification against the cost and risk of being unprepared to react to a disease situation that might threaten our export market access and the level of consumer confidence we enjoy among Canadian Consumers. We can take the chance that lightning won't strike here but livestock producers from the UK, from Denmark, from Japan, Korea, Taiwan might offer different advice from recent and costly experience.

I ask cattle producers to throw their support behind this important project. There are no credible conspiracy theories, there is no invasion of your privacy or right to produce, there are no hidden motives. Our objective is simple and direct-to provide the means necessary to protect the health of the national herd and the assured safety and wholesomeness of the products we are all so proud to produce. We are also protecting our livelihood.

If you would like more information about the Canadian Cattle Identification Program please call the CCIA office at 1-877-909-2333.

Sincerely,
Carl Block

Newdale News

by Olive Waddell

Fourteen members of Newdale Happy Gang met for their summer wind-up on Wednesday, May 10, 2000. Following a delicious smorg at the R & S restaurant a short business meeting was held at Harrison House. There are a number of summer events for seniors and posters are circulated around town. The Happy Gang will have a float for the parade for the millennium celebrations. Guest Ruth Wareham showed a video of their holiday in Texas, January and February. It was interesting, educational, and provoked questions. It was much appreciated.

Recreation was provided in the form of a shuffleboard tournament and card playing in between. Monetary prizes were awarded to two top scorers. 1. Rhiney Kienas and Arthur Kator. 2. Gordon Waddell and Anne Patterson. A time of fellowship over Angel food, ice cream and strawberries was deeply enjoyed and I'm sure all would have technicolor dreams that night. We plan to meet again in early November. Have a good summer.

A clipping from the Seniors paper: "Don't be fooled by this year's warm winter. Wait until at least the Victoria Day long weekend or as late as the second week in June before starting your garden, experts advise. Otherwise you may still risk a killer frost."

Some farmers have their crops seeded, others waiting for a much needed rain and warmth. Rest while you can boys. P.S. an all day rain arrived Thursday, May 11th.

Birthday greetings to all those with upcoming special days. Watch the millennium calendar and given that special person a phone call. Call. He or she will be happy you did.

Health Aid met, Thursday, May 11 at Harrison House with seven members and one guest present. Regular reports were presented and business re: Florence Nightingale Tea and Bake Sale were arranged. October convention discussed, and Hilda Davies to attend as Observer. Pancake - perogie supper set for November. District Auxiliary and local Health Aid meetings set for September. Program article "What is Alzheimer's Disease?" was read by Shirley Pederson. Hostess for meeting was Sandra Peterson, and much appreciated.

May 10th: Mary Barker of Unionville, ON, visited with her sister-in-law Sophie Ellchuk for a couple of days. Newdale Health Aid members attending the Minnedosa Aux. Florence Nightingale Tea and Bake Sale on Saturday, May 13th were: E. Clark, H. Davies, M. Osborne, S. Pederson, P. Tolton, and O. Waddell.

June McPherson, Aux. President, presented five women with 25 year pins for their devoted volunteer service.

A large crowd attended and supported with purchasing generous donations of food for the Tea and Bake Sale. A newly renovated Christian Education Building offered much to the comfort and fellowship of this annual event.

May 14, 2000 was Christian Family Sunday in most United Churches. Rev. Hunter chose the theme "Friendship In the Family", the family being the basic unit of society and the church. "...and of friendship.. In the emotional, mental and spiritual intimacy in families."

Read John 15:13. Jesus called His disciples friends. May our families be our deep friends and companions on life's journey in the 21st century." Our church family can be a sign of hope to the world. Hymns appropriately chosen were: "Part of the Family", "Child of Blessing, Child of Promise", "The King of Love", and "Would you Bless our Homes and Families".

The sacrament of baptism will be offered on Father's Day.

In Newdale for Mother's Day were Stacey Bradley and Donna (Ray) Litke to their respective homes.

Karen Poole of Toronto was visiting Dennis, Denise, and Marika Dewar-Norosky over the May Long Weekend.

Gerry and Eva Watkins of The Pas are visiting with their daughter Cindy, and Shannon and Melanie Dalke for a couple of weeks mid May.

Nancy Petersen from Regina spent the May Long Weekend with Gordon and Sandra Petersen and family.

Fifty -three registered in for Newdale Horticulture noon Luncheon and plant sale in the Community Hall, on Thursday, May 18th. Door prizes were won by Michael Price and Janet Martin. Tara McTavish won 50-50 draw. Everyone commented on the delicious meal and beautiful day.

Newdale UCW News

Newdale UCW met on May 4, 2000, Xisra Lamb presiding and 8 members present. The meeting opened with a poem, "Grateful".

Betty Fossum had the program theme "Jubilee", video "House Upon the Sand," part 2. This video highlights the growing gap between the rich and the poor.

A range of people from an economist to those who have experienced poverty first hand, share their personal reflections in a format that engages and challenges us on issues such as "What is wealth and what could be done about the growing gap"? A discussion and prayer followed.

Regular business was then taken care of.

Friendship: 14 Easter cards and visits, 1 birthday card, 1 sympathy card, 1 thinking of you card, 1 baby congratulations card were sent or delivered.

Church report: June 25th, last regular service until Sept. 3. Baptism will be on Father's Day, or an any regular service.

We plan to observe the United Church 75th Anniversary on June 4.

A thank you for our donation from Prairie Spirit Camp. Thank you to Audrey and Duncan Waddell for the Easter Lily.

Donation to M. & S. Samaritan House are to be sent.

Fellowship and a delicious lunch served by Betty Fossum ended the afternoon.

Cameron District News

by Barbara Stone

Just a reminder to everyone about the Cameron meeting at the home of Roy and Marge McNabb this Tuesday evening.

Alex and Verna Abel spent Mother's Day with Murray and Brenda Abel and Family, and with Clayton and Margaret Wareham and family. Tuesday visitors with Alex and Verna were Harry Dowsett from Minnedosa, and Jim Dowsett from Parkerville, BC.

Deepest sympathy is being extended to Helen Ross and family on the passing of her son, Clayton Murray Ross.

Duncan and Brenda Shorrock spent Mother's Day in Onanole with daughter Candace, and her friend Jeff Chemerika of Erickson.

Congratulations are extended to Duncan and Brenda who celebrated their 30th Wedding Anniversary last week.

Several from the district took in the fantastic Mother's Day supper at the Minnedosa Community Conference Centre.

Don and Doris McNabb returned home from spending two glorious weeks down in Oakville, ON with Grant and Heather Hink and family. While there, they had a visit from Robert, Lauren, and Dana McNabb. Doris and Dana had a day together in Orillia visiting Jack and Jewell (Kellington) Gardener.

George, Anne, Elsie and Dorothy Tomlinson celebrated Mother's Day on the previous Saturday with Scott and Tammy Tomlinson and family.

Several parents, grandparents and friends from the community were treated to a special Mother's Day concert and tea on Friday at Tanner's Crossing School which was performed by the Grade One Class.

Jean McDougall returned home from spending a couple of weeks with her daughter Marilyn and Jim McDonell and Brian and Julia Cummins, and her granddaughter Nicki James, and great granddaughter Leanna James. While Jean was in the city she took part in a surprise 40th birthday for her son-in-law Jim.

Barbara Stone motored with Wayne Reynolds to Dauphin, where they joined with Barb's mother Isabelle Campbell from Swan River, and with Barb's aunt Betty Edwards of Winnipeg. They all visited another aunt of Barb's, Maida Campbell, who is in the Dauphin Hospital with a broken hip. Barb had several friends drop in over the week and over the weekend. Tuesday night visitors with Barb were Marilyn and Jim McDonell of Winnipeg, and Jean McDougall.

It is great to hear that several farmers in the district are nearly done seeding. Now if "Jack Frost" would disappear, we may be able to enjoy spring.

by Kelda Hoglund and Laura Crawley

The votes have been counted and our school's new Student Council has been elected. David McLean was voted in as president, Matt Saler, vice president, David Rae, Treasurer, Amanda Boyd, secretary, Tim Proven and Graeme Farr social chairpersons.

May Long Weekend has come and gone. This means there are only 26 school days left, including exam week.

Grade 12's are getting all of their preparations for Prom and Grad ceremonies. Excitement is growing for them as June 27th is coming closer.

Students who will appear on the 1999/2000 Wall of Fame are Stacey Martin, Katrina Esplin, Brad Powell, KayDee Graham, and Jan Currah for Academics. For Athletics its Stacey Cuthbert, Jami Boyd, John Hutton, and Lindsay Lewis. For School Service is Jacqui Lawson, Darcy Hutton, Jenn Gordon and Sean Perkins.

Minnedosa Social News

Recent visitors with Dorothy Lewis were Mark and Marilyn Irvine of Minnedosa, and Ernie Wilkinson and two daughters, Charlene of Calgary, and Shirley of Yellowknife.

Last Wednesday evening and dinner guests with Dorothy Lewis were Edgar Higgins, and Phyllis Kenward, Ross Abel, Jim and Joyce Alexander and Maurice Hopkins.

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton and Ethel Fortune

The UCW held their May meeting on Monday, May 8th, with 8 members present.

The theme of worship was "home and family". Plans were discussed for the 85th Anniversary of Cardale United Church, in October.

We were reminded of the baking for the Hospital Auxiliary tea on May 10th. Tray favours were made for Hamiota Hospital.

Following this, everyone enjoyed tea, buns, and jam.

The UCW wish to express their appreciation to the community for their generous support of the cancer collection. The sum of $1,125 was realized.

Gary Brothers has been visiting his grandparents, Wes and Gay Peters and with Ken, Lylla, Drew, and Laci, while his parents are in Brazil.

George sez: "The secret of getting ahead - is getting started."

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

Tuesday afternoon, May 16th, the May birthday party was held at the Senior Centre. Lottie Grant was our only birthday celebrant and we were pleased to have her and daughter Shirley Leader with us. Prior to the serving of cake and ice cream, a rousing session of "Who Wants to be a Millionaire" was enjoyed. The questions mainly pertained to the early days of Rapid City. The questions and answers could be found in the "Time to Remember" history book. Edie Evans and Thelma Anderson conducted the excellent contest.

Margaret and John Northam returned Tuesday evening from spending a long weekend at Regina with their daughters Elizabeth and Russell, Carol and Bob, and the four grandchildren. They attended Brenden's 4th birthday party, and for Mother's Day Margaret was treated by having four junior pipers play for her (and the neighbourhood). She was the recipient of a tape and a Mother's Day flower courtesy of the pipers. (A treat for a Scottish lass).

Judy and Larry Downey of Portage la Prairie were Mother's Day guests with Bernice McTavish.

Penny and Ron Buckingham, and son Ian, and friend Dana Thomas of Winnipeg, spent Mother's Day weekend with daughter Joan and Steve Garbutt, Lizann, Robyn and Trevor, and with us, John and Grace Fearnley.

Mother's Day guests with Ann and Hugh Wright were daughter Jean and Harry Kuzi of Headingly, Betty Pringle, Brandon, Bill and Betty Campbell, Minnedosa.

A social evening was held a the Rapid City Legion hall Saturday evening, May 13th, in honour of Lesley Sharpe and Trent Hedley.

Sunday guests with Ivy Cornish were her cousin John Walker from Sidney, BC, and his daughter Wilma Genung of Hamiota, Ivan and Lena Lawrence from Crandall, and Marge Phillips and Evelyn Branston of Forrest.

Kay and Ken Sample returned home Tuesday evening from five days spent with daughter Jennifer and Maynard Opperman and grandson Marcus in Calgary. They took in one of Marcus' hockey games, and this weekend his team will be playing a tournament in Saskatoon. Kay had an enjoyable Mother's Day with her family and Ken.

May 17th another birthday celebration was held at Dacz Restaurant. A scrumptious cake, courtesy of Norma Christie and made by Len De-Schutter was presented to Lorraine Hales. The cake was enjoyed by everyone in the restaurant with coffee.

Monday, May 14th Alice Kemp and Vivian Sharpe accompanied Gerry and Sharon Kemp of Brandon to Donna and Chris Drysdale and family's home of Eddystone. In the evening, Alice, Viv, and Sharon were guests of Donna at a lovely Mother and Daughter banquet held in Ste. Rose du Lac. Tuesday morning they were privileged to attend the dress rehearsal of the musical production "Annie", performed by the Junior High students at Ste. Rose. Alice commented that the musical was very good, that she only wished that it wasn't so far away, and she would take a car load to see the performance. Granddaughter Donna assisted with the students.

Tuesday, May 9th, Doreen Jenner returned home from Saskatchewan after visiting daughters Linda and Diane and their families. While there, Doreen attended the graduation of grandson Steven, Linda and Alan Leslie's youngest son, in Watrous, SK. Doreen said she had a great time.

Mother's Day, Travis and Anita and boys and grandson Daniel Lippett came to spend the day.

Don't forget to waach coming events for the date and time of the Bake Sale and Tea at the Moore Park hall in June.

The 2000 MTS Manitoba Summer Games Promotion is well underway with the Regional Finals being held in Boissevain June 23rd - 25th. The Provincial Finals will be held in Virden, August 9th - 13th. The registration deadline is June 2nd and registration forms can be picked up at the Recreation Office.

The Westman Sport Association (WSA) "Sport Scholarship" is open to all graduating Westman Students who meet funding criteria with one female and one male student athlete being awarded a $400 scholarship. The WSA "Dedication to Sport Award" is open to all grade 10 to 12 Westman Students who meet funding criteria. This award is for students that assist with the team as a trainer, manager, etc. as opposed to a student who participates in a sport. Each school is allowed to nominate a student and the recipient receives a Sport Bag and certificate. WSA is also holding a "Sport Camp Draw" for 9 -18 year olds to receive up to 50% of their sport camp registration paid to a maximum of $200. To enter, youth submit a copy of the camp registration form and receipt for the deposit. Funds will be released to the selected winner upon the completion of the camp and once a receipt for full payment of the registration fee is submitted to the WSA office. The deadline for all the above is June 1, 2000. Registration forms for the Scholarship and Sport Award can be picked up at the Recreation Office.

Basketball Manitoba has compiled a complete listing of every basketball camp taking place this summer throughout Manitoba which is posted on the bulletin board at the Conference Centre. Most camps are in Winnipeg with one in Dauphin and several in Brandon.

Locally, the Recreation Commission spring programs are well underway. Up coming pre-registration programs include T-Ball, Parent Pitch, One Hit Wonders, Inside/Outside, Leaders in Training and Pleasure Craft Operator Card Course. Drop-in opportunities include Aquasize and Boxersize. Also, don't miss the annual SummerActive Softball Challenge game with the MCI All-stars meeting the Minnedosa Celebrities. The Celebrities are out for revenge after the WinterActive beating they received. As well, we are taking registration for the Summer Day camps and swimming lessons.

Pre-registration is required for all programs except the drop-in Boxersize and Aquasize. For more information about these and other activities, call the Recreation Office at 867-2272.

MCI Parent Advisory Council news

The MCI Parent Advisory Council met on May 11th at the MCI Library. The meeting was chaired by Kathy Currah, and 12 members were in attendance.

The minutes of the February and March meetings were reviewed.

Derek Horner reported that the student Council nominations were taking place this week. With speeches on May 16th, and voting to follow a few days later. The chocolate bar sale was a great financial success.

Principal's report

A review of the awards needs to be completed. Many awards are in a dormant state and could possibly be reactivated. There will be a number of staff changes next year. The science curriculum will change for Sr. 1 effective September, 2000. The new Mathematics and English curriculums (already in Sr. 3), will be introduced in Sr. 4. The social studies curriculum is in the process of revision. A master timetable of courses was circulated.

The school plan for 2000-2001 lists 5 main goals: guidance/career preparation, technology, school spirit, school respect/code of conduct, and academic rigour. Each goal is accompanied with action/strategy components.

Sr. 4 exams are June 12 - 16; Sr. 1-3, June 19-23; division exams still need to be scheduled. There has been tremendous response to the division's student assessment policy. Thank you.

The annual general meeting followed the regular meeting. Mr. Whitley, superintendent, discussed four issues with attendees. Entrance renovations are being assessed by engineers. The teaching staff will be reduced by five, division wide. Two term positions for Career Preparation Coordinator have been created and hiring is in progress. These are new positions and will be evaluated next year. The division does not have a policy on maximum class size, nor does any other division (as far as known).

A number of annual reports were received. The woven basket door prize was won by Pam Lewis.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45. See you in September.

Congratulations to...

Ray Sanderson, Minnedosa .....$500.
Maurice and Beryle Miller, R. City $300.
Betty Ann Bertrand and Marj Brideman, R. City. $200.

Minnedosa Legion Branch #138 News

The General Hugh Dyer Branch No.138, Royal Canadian Legion, Minnedosa held its general meeting on May 8, 2000 at the Legion Club rooms, with 23 members in attendance. There were two visitors in attendance - Legion members Wes and Murda Peoples from St. Peters Branch, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia.

President Comrade Mansell called the meeting to Order, and the minutes of the April general meeting and May 3, 2000 executive meeting were read and adopted.

The meeting decided that the Canadian flags are to be flown at the cenotaphe during the summer's celebrations in Town.

The Legion is to send a strongly worded letter to our Member of Parliament, Inky Mark, urging that the desecration of the Canadian flag be legislated a criminal offence.

The Treasurer's Report was distributed, and Comrade Wishart outlined his report to the end of April, 2000, which was adopted.

The following donations were made by the Legion: $50.00 to the Children's Hospital Foundation; $100.00 to the Recreation Committee Canada Day Celebration Fund; and; $200.00 to the Fun Fest Committee to help pay for advertising.

Cleanup and painting of the Legion Club rooms is not quite completed, with work still to be done in the washrooms.

Cash bingos raised $2,115.00 during the past season. Tickets for the Wheel of Fortune draw are printed and can be picked up at the bar.

Comrade Hayward Hopkins will look after the Legion Float for the annual Saturday Fun Fest Parade this year.

Comrade McManus reported on the health of many of the ailing veterans that he had visited.

Sports Chairman Comrade Davidson reported that a team of branch golfers are participating in an inter-club league.

Awards Chairman Comrade Charette reported that applications for 75th Anniversary medals are still coming in. The Legion ordered 50 of the 75th Anniversary lapel pins, which have now arrived and are available for sale at $4.00 each.

Our Branch is forwarding information regarding Minnedosa, Basswood and Clanwilliam cenotaphes to the Organization of Military Museums of Canada, Fort Garry Horse Museum and Archives, of Winnipeg.

An invitation was received to attend the annual Brandon Legions Decoration Day, June 4, 2000. Our colour party plans to attend, and all Legion members are welcome.

The Branch is purchasing 3 aluminum flag poles for our colour party.

A motion was carried to donate $100.00 each to Jana Rae Cassidy and Sarah Mansell to attend Youth Athletic Camp training for track and the Peace Gardens.

The meeting adjourned on motion by Comrade Ingaldson.

TCS Topics

Well it was quite a day this past Thursday at TCS. The track day went off without any problems despite weather forecasts that called for rain. The band concert was also a huge success. Barb and Jacki fooled "Mother Nature" by planning their big spring events on the same day. Students in Grades 5-8 competed in our annual school track meet and the weather was perfect for track. Students and teachers spent the day out on the playground and although there were a few burnt faces, the temperature was just right.

Students earned points for their respective house teams and the winners of each event will now go on to the division track meet providing they have been attending practices regularly. The divisional track meet will be held in Brandon on May 29th. Thanks to Jon and Jacki and all the staff for their hard work in organizing the track day and good luck to those students who will go onto the divisional track meet.

The band concert also went ahead without any difficulties. Students from TCS, MCI, and ECI showed off their musical talents under the direction of Mrs. Barb Dowsett. The grade 6 band started things off with a few numbers and some solo and partner performances. Next the junior high band performed, which also included some solos and partners. Finally, the MCI/ECI band performed. It was wonderful to see the progression from where they began in grade 6 to performing in the senior band. The band parents association made a presentation to Mrs. Dowsett, thanking her for all the time and effort that she puts into the band. Mrs. Dowsett in turn presented the members of the band parents association with a rose thanking them for all the work that they put into various aspects of running the band program such as meetings, fund raising, etc. Barb also thanked the parents who take their turns as volunteers in support of the band. Grade 8 students Rachel Proven and Jill Stone made a presentation to Mr. Hoglund thanking him for all the support he has given to the band and for his role as MC for the past 8 years. It will be the last time we hear any of his corny jokes at a band concert, as he is moving on to become principal at Stonewall.

Sorority Celebrates 50th Anniversary

On April 29th, 2000, Beta Sigma Phi celebrated it's 69th Anniversary, and 50 years in Minnedosa. Beta Sigma Phi holds an annual celebration at the end of April to mark the occasion of the formation of the first chapter in 1931. The first local group started in May 1950 with 11 members, and has grown to include 3 chapters. This year 205 ladies attended the Manitoba celebration.

Lambda, Xi Theta and Preceptor Zeta chapters hosted the day, which began with registration at 11 a.m. Everyone received a beautiful gold pouch containing pins, paper pad, shopping vouchers, a bulb and a Founder's Day charm. D&B catering provided a delicious lunch of soup and salads. Gwen Blake and Karen Parenteau emceed the day.

The afternoon program began with Karen Parenteau welcoming all, but especially 8 of the 11 founding members, one of which had traveled from Vancouver and another from Ontario to attend the event. Linda Bertram led the Founder's Day pledge and a poem, in memory of Mary MacDonald, was recited by Darlene Bright.

Door prizes were awarded throughout the day and Beta Sigma Phi sisters from Portage la Prairie did a skit with a 2000 theme. A light-hearted version of "Golden Girls" retitled "Golden Sisters", was performed, showcasing the talents of Gwen Blake as Dorothy, Renee Brightaup, as Rose, Lorna Horner as Blanche and Bernice Chorneyko played Sophia. The skit was broken up with commercials that highlighted happenings in the decades, starting in the 1950s to the 1980s. These commercials were read by Diane Michaluk (1950s), Nora Taylor, (1960s and 1980s) and Karen Parenteau (1970s). All were dressed in the style of the decade. Regina Philpott, played by Karen Webber, hosted "Who wants to be a millionaire. The winners were a mixed table from Portage la Prairie and Neepawa and were presented with a cheque for 1 million wishes. Shoal Lake sisters gave a presentation to invite everyone to celebrate Founder's Day with them next year.

At the end of the afternoon's entertainment, the visiting chapters were sent on a "Sorority Symbol Search" that took them to various stores around Minnedosa during their free time. When they returned for the evening, each member was given a rosebud as a prize. These rosebuds were handmade by Lisa Chung-Pearson.

The evening started with the introduction of this year's Chapter Presidents. D&B Catering provided a wonderful buffet style supper and were applauded. During dinner, the ladies were treated to harp music played by Anne Germani of Brandon. Thanks went to the bartenders who gave their time freely to serve us. All Founder Members present shared their thoughts, one saying, "Who would have thought this would have been the outcome when we burped this baby."

Bubbles floated about the room as the banner was passed to next year's hosts. The theme for the new year, "A diamond celebration, a future shines", was announced. Thanks and birthday greetings were shared and Minnedosa chapters received a vase from Laureate Epsilon Brandon chapter.

Entertainers Anne Germani, who played and gave a history of the harp, Minnedosa born Patricia Jackson who played the piano, and the Cameron Connection all received standing ovations for their performances.

The raffle draws were made. Gold earings were won by Wendy Yo and a gold bracelet went to Karen Parenteau.

Linda Bertram expressed thanks to all the Minnedosa members who played a part in the organizing and physical preparations for this celebration. From sewing the golden bags, to making the decorations, rehearsing the programs, liasing with caterers and wine merchant, printing invitations and raffle tickets, baking cakes, making table arrangements, ordering flowers and liasing with shop keepers and coucil members for pins and vouchers and attending the many meetings to get everything organized to put on this wonderful day of fun and celebration. It was a great deal of work but well worth the effort.

The closing ritual was performed with each member lighting the hall with candles, which brought Founder's Day to an end for another year with promises to meet next year.

Minnedosa Health Auxiliary Meets

The Minnedosa Health District Auxiliary held their Quarterly meeting in Newdale on May 8, 2000 at 7:30 p.m. Esther Robertson, Community Health Director, was present and expressed appreciation for the Volunteer hours of work and the equipment purchased by the Auxiliary. She also presented a "Wish List" which was for funds to recover four chairs in the X-Ray waiting room, the Hospital waiting room furniture, and forty chairs in the P.C.H. dinning room. We now have a motion on our books to pay for this project.

We have received a letter from the Cancer Society urging all women over 50 years of age to have a mamogram either by attending a mobile clinic or making an appointment at Brandon or Winnipeg.

Theresa Wareham was our guest speaker. She is one of a team of 4 nurses who work with Dr. Rocha in the operating room doing Cataract surgery in Minnedosa. She showed us a video of the actual procedure and explained how the patient is treated from the time they arrive at the hospital until they are ready to go home. She had pictures of the instruments used during the surgery - very small and very expensive.

Committee Reports were received and filed. Plans were made for the Florence Nightingale Tea, which is one of the Auxiliary's main fund raisers.

The Scholarship Committee reported they will be receiving applications for the scholarship for a Grade 12 student entering the Medical field.

The M.H.A.A. Convention will be held in Brandon this fall, anyone interested in attending could get information from a member of the executive.

Frost Damage

The biggest thing we (farmers and I) learned from the May, 1998 frost was don't panic after frost on your newly emerged crops. Fortunately this year we have 10 days more time than we did in 1998. You should wait a minimum of 4 - 7 days before doing an accurate assessment of crop damage. If growing conditions are cool and slow, that time could be 10 days. Remember, if you reseed at the end of May you are already looking at reduced yield potential. So an early thin crop may outyeild a later thicker crop.

Cereals may show frost signs of leaf kinking and color damage but they will grow out of it. Same goes for pulses and most forages. Newly germinated oilseeds are more sensitive but within 7 days you should be able to tell which plants made it and which didn't recover. Harvest date will likely be set back 4 - 7 days but we are in good shape this year for that. Also remember that if your oilseed is just emerging that there may be many more seeds break the ground surface in the few days after the frosts. Call me if you want to discuss yield potential from specific plant counts.

"Scrap Battery Drive"

The Minnedosa Lions Club are conducting another Scrap Battery Drive. The proceeds from these scrap batteries will go towards helping The Millennium Library Expansion Project. The Minnedosa Lions Club have committed $10,000.00 towards this project over the next two years.

You can drop off your scrap batteries at the Mohawk Service Station on Main Street, or we will pick them up.

Hiring summer help - Step by Step

by: Ann Mandziuk, Home Economist

The summer months are creeping near, and hiring extra help during this busy season is a sometimes tedious but necessary task. Here are some steps you can follow to make the hiring process more efficient.

- Step 1: Look For Candidates

You can begin by asking present employees if they know any people qualified for the positions looking for work. Next, approach people in your area if they or people they know are interested. If you still feel you need to attract more applicants, ask for lists from Canada Employment Centres, Manitoba Youth Job Centres and private firms.

- Step 2: Formal Advertising

Radio and local newspaper advertisements are good ways to get the message out in your community that you are looking for help.

- Step 3: Application Forms

Create an application form that can help you assess whether the applicants have the skills you are looking for. A good application form can help you decide whether to meet with the applicant to discuss the job further.

- Step 4: The Interview Standardizing your interview is key.

Determine what qualities you want in employees and develop a list of questions that everyone interviewed can be measured against.

- Step 5: Check References

Candidates can be asked to provide a list of references. With the permission of the candidate, you can also approach people who you think might give you further feedback on them.

- Step 6: Choose Employees

Offer the positions to successful candidates either by phone or in person. It is recommended to notify those interviewed immediately that were not chosen and thank them for their interest. Keep them on file, just in case you need to replace someone.

Your Manitoba Agriculture and Food home economist has further information designed for farm employers that can assist you with hiring and other employer/employee interactions.

Lyme Disease Update

Manitobans are reminded about the possible presence of Lyme disease-bearing ticks in the province. Lyme disease has become an important problem in parts of the United States and can also be acquired in certain parts of Canada. Manitoba Health is working with the Lyme Borreliosis Support Group of Manitoba to promote public awareness and steps to prevent acquiring the illness.

Lyme disease is caused by bacteria transmitted from infected animals by deer ticks, also known as blacklegged ticks, which may be carried on domestic animals such as dogs, cats and horses. Deer ticks are smaller than the more common wood ticks found in Manitoba and do not have white body markings. Both ticks are common in tall grass, along trail margins and in wooded areas. Wood ticks are most common in May, June and July while deer ticks are commonly found in October and November, but can also be seen during the spring months. Over 130 deer ticks have been identified in Manitoba since 1996, and 10 have tested positive for the bacteria that cause Lyme disease. There has been one laboratory-confirmed case of Lyme disease since it became reportable in Manitoba (January 1, 1999) and many clinically-suspected cases have been treated by physicians. Lyme disease should therefore be considered in people with appropriate symptoms.

The symptoms of Lyme disease are similar to those of many other diseases such as arthritis, making it difficult to diagnose. Lyme disease usually starts with "flu-like" symptoms such as headache, stiff neck, fever, muscle aches or fatigue. Infected individuals may also suffer from dizziness, difficulty concentrating or an irregular heartbeat. A ring-like rash may develop days or weeks after the bite. Symptoms usually disappear after several weeks. Some individuals may continue to experience headaches and later develop joint pain and swelling. These symptoms may occur up to two years or longer after the tick bite.

Lyme disease can be successfully treated with antibiotics, particularly in the early stages. Treatment for long-standing disease may require longer antibiotic or other therapy.

Contacts with deer ticks can be avoided using the following measures:

- Keep grass around houses cut short.
- When outside during tick season, avoid sitting on, lying on or travelling through tick habitats such as wooded areas, tall grass or trail margins. Avoid sitting directly on the ground, and stay in the centre of paths.
- Wear light coloured clothing to make it easier to see ticks that may land on you.
- Tuck your shirt into your pants and your pants into your socks to stop a tick's effort to crawl onto your skin.
- Always wear long pants and long-sleeved shirt if you are in tall grass or wooded areas.
- Spray repellents containing DEET onto your clothing. Use with caution on small children.
- Inspect yourself, your children and your pets for ticks as soon as you leave an area where ticks may be found.
- If the tick is attached to your skin, remove it with tweezers. Grasp the tick close to the skin and pull it straight out with steady pressure. Save the tick for testing purposes. Disinfect tweezers and the bite site. Wash your hands with soap and water. Mark the date and location of the bite on the calendar.
- If you develop a rash or other symptoms, see your doctor.

Manitobans finding suspected deer ticks are asked to submit them to Dr. Terry Galloway, Department of Entomology, University of Manitoba, for identification. For more information on Lyme disease or how to submit the ticks, please contact your local public health office (see the municipal and provincial listings in the grey pages at the back of your telephone directory).

Canadian Grain Handling system will satisfy no one

By Calvin Daniels

The federal government has finally released its plans for the Canadian grain handling system. Sadly after years of debate, study, and consultation, the Liberal government has come down with a plan that appears to satisfy no one completely, and most look at the document as seriously flawed.

"This is not farmer-friendly legislation. The railways gain the end of the rate cap, the flexibility to restructure the system and abandon branchlines, they got to keep the $700 million in undistributed productivity gains, and they avoided competition," commented National Farmers Union Transportation Committee Chair Terry Boehm in a release.

The announcement of $175 million over five years to compensate for the increased pressures on Western Canadian rural roads was a good starting point that equates to $35 million per year, stated Ray Hilderman first vice president of the Saskatchewan Canola Growers Association in their release on the subject. Ted Cawkwell, Board member of the SCGA added, with an estimated cost for rebuilding an average 30 to 40 year old grid road of $60 to $80 thousand per mile, "$35 million will only buy about 500 miles of road."

Politically, the document has also drawn heat. "Totally inadequate and frustrating", is how Garry Breitkreuz, MP for Yorkton-Melville and Official Opposition Agriculture Critic, described Wednesday's announcement in a release. "We are still waiting for this government to actually make productive changes to the grain handling system Until this government moves to a commercial and contract driven system, farmers will continue to suffer at the hands of an inefficient government regulated system," he said.

Of course not all groups see the Liberal vision as bad. However, most still see flaws, even when providing guarded optimism. The federal government has provided some welcome freight cost reductions for grain farmers, however it has failed to introduce measures that will lead to the creation of an accountable, market-responsive grain handling and transportation system, said Ted Allen, President of United Grain Growers in a release.

"While the package provides farmers with some short-term relief from excessive freight costs, the package fails to introduce normal and necessary commercial elements," says Allen. "If such changes are not introduced, then any freight savings that farmers stand to gain may be lost through reduced investment in transportation capacity, poorer rail service, the recurrence of system failures, and lost sales opportunities, particularly for non-board grains."

In the end, the document falls well short of the broad support one might have expected for a process that has taken literally decades to complete. To create such a divisive document only goes to indicate the Liberals are out of touch with Western farm needs and have lacked leadership in not having reform completed far sooner.

Birthday Greetings

Friday night 50 years ago in heavy rain would the old Chevy make it - to Minnie's new Maternity Home? On the stroke of mid-night a beautiful black haired, brown eyed boy brought joy to us and his brother. Growing to appreciate nature, family and friends, always caring and sharing with dinners, picnics, music. Gifted abilities bring gifts enjoyed by all, butterflies in stone, stories composed in song, musical instruments revered in wood, folk art for fun. Son, brother, father, friend enjoy the life you live, with happiness this special day, May 19th and always.
Love Mum & Dad. x (C9)

Obituary

Colin Hugh Campbell

Colin Hugh Campbell, beloved husband of Margaret, of Fairview Home, Brandon, passed away peacefully on May 5, 2000 in his 90th year. Colin, the third child of Hugh and Matilda Campbell of Franklin, was born on January 25, 1911. He received his formal schooling in Iroquois and Franklin Schools. He married Margaret McMullen of Prince Albert on November 6, 1937 and took up farming in the Land district. In 1949, they moved to a farm a mile west of Eden. Colin and Margaret farmed here until 1980 when Colin retired, and moved with Margaret, to Erickson. Colin now had the time to enjoy some traveling, card games, reading and yard work. During these years, he was also able to celebrate his 50th and 60th wedding anniversaries. Due to ill health, Colin and Margaret were forced to leave their home in Erickson, in January of 1998, and move to Fairview Home, Brandon, where Margaret still resides. He was predeceased by his parents, Hugh and Matilda Campbell, brother John and sister Jessie Graham. Colin is survived by his wife of 62 years, Margaret, their daughters Doreen (Bill) Trott of Cadurcos area, Leona (Bill) Peters of Onanole, Ida (Ken) Hallatt of Brandon; grandchildren Denise (Wil) Weir, Claire Trott, Eileen Trott, Marilee Peters (Tom Brocklehurst), Jill Peters, (Robert Stewart), Jill Peters, David and Reid Hallatt, great grandchildren Chelsey and Nicole Weir, Olivia Brocklehurst. Obituary

Clayton Murray Ross

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of Clayton Ross on April 29, 2000 in Edmonton, Alberta.

His father, Donald Ross, predeceased him in 1992.

Clayton is survived by his mother, Helen Ross of Minnedosa, Manitoba, and his brothers and sisters - Brian (Ila), Carole (Ken), Lyle "Leo" (Sandra), Lois (Dave), Lucy (Gary) and their families.

Clayton was born September 26, 1964 in Brandon, Manitoba and was raised on the farm at SE 12-16-19 Harrison Municipality until the family moved to Minnedosa in 1978. He continued to attend school in Minnedosa and then Crocus Plains School in Brandon. Clayton especially enjoyed life outdoors on the farm and had a keen interest in drawing in his early years. Together with his sister Lucy, cousins Pat and Ken, niece Marie and nephews Barry and Brad, many happy hours were spent by the Ross gang at family events. Clayton was also an avid reader. He loved music and musical instruments especially the drums. His ability to fix, alter or adapt amplifiers, speakers, and T.V.'s created many interesting sounds. Along with his love of music, his interest in electronics involved him in many different bands, both in Manitoba and Alberta, and more recently to employment in the computer field.

He will be fondly remembered as a happy, lovable son, brother, uncle and friend.

Cremation has taken place. A memorial service was conducted by Kathy Platt from Minnedosa United Church, Wednesday, May 17, 2000 at 2:00 p.m. Interment Fairmount Cemetery. Donations in Clayton's memory may be made to the Heart & Stroke Foundation or to a charity of your choice. Sparrow Funeral Service was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Obituary

Ruby Angeline Nylen

Ruby Angeline Nylen (nee Holm) of Minnedosa, MB passed away suddenly at her residence on May 2, 2000.

Ruby was born on March 28, 1922 at Scandinavia, MB, oldest child of Eugene & Ruth Holm. She received her education at Nedrob School.

On December 30, 1940 she married Cecil Nylen, son of Fred & Marie Nylen. They farmed in the Scandinavia District until 1955 when they moved to Minnedosa. They raised a family of six children.

In 1981 she moved to Town View Manor and in 1992 relocated to Kin House.

Throughout her life, Ruby was very dedicated to her family and friends earning their love and respect. Ruby was a very caring person and was always at her best when she felt needed and was helping others. She enjoyed her children and grandchildren providing them with support, encouragement and reassurance through prayer.

Ruby enjoyed caring and sharing with her family. She remembered every birthday with a specially selected card that conveyed her love for each recipient. Her interests included bowling, baking, reading & studying her Bible daily. She participated in various church activities for many years.

Ruby is survived by her daughter Carol (Al) Suski and grandchildren Scott Campbell, Minnedosa, MB and Nicole Campbell, Calgary, AB. Son Glenn (Dianne) Nylen and grandchildren Kerri of Minnedosa, MB, Mark (Donovan) Nylen - Nemetchuk, Gladstone/Wasagaming. Son Dave (Jacki) Nylen & grandchildren, Donnie & Katrina - Minnedosa, MB. Son Terry (Nancy) Nylen & grandchildren Jennifer of Minnedosa, MB, Derek, Orlando, Florida & Kathleen, Clear Lake, MB. Son Rick (Linda) Nylen & grandchildren Wendy & Matthew - Minnedosa, MB & Chris, Calgary, AB.

Sisters Della Nylen & Linda (Robert) Lane. Brothers Walter (Frances) Holm & Len (Jan) Holm. Brother-in-law - Ken (Joan) Nylen. Sisters-in-law - Lil Holm, Anne Nylen & Stella Nylen. Numerous nieces & nephews.

Ruby was predeceased by son Don, son-in-law Mill Campbell, father of her children Cecil Nylen, Grandson Jason Nylen, brothers Leo Holm, parents Eugene & Ruth Holm.

Funeral service was held Friday, May 5, 2000 at the Minnedosa Community Conference Centre with Rick Gavin, Beaumont from The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints officiating. Doris Anderson (nee Erickson) of Norquay, SK. Ruby's niece was pianist. The eulogy was delivered by Raymond Beaumont, family tribute by Jacki Nylen and grandchildrens tribute by Kerri Nylen.

Interment was at Scandinavia Cemetery. Active Bearers were nephews - Brian Holm, Kelvin Holm, Gerry Holm, Bernie Holm, Ted Nylen & Gord Lane.

If friends so desire, memorial donations may be made to Canadian Diabetes Association or charity of choice.

Sparrow Funeral Service was in care of arrangements. (C7)

Youth Job Centre opens

The official opening of the local Manitoba Youth Job Centre office was held last week in the Yellowhead Regional Employment Skills and Services Office.

Patricia Jackson, MYJC Office Manager, Terry McLenehan, Kinsmen, and Leslie Lounsbury, Regional Coordinator, presided over the ribbon cutting.

The Youth Job Centre is now officially open until the beginning of August, Monday to Friday, 8:30 to 4:30. The office is sponsored by the Department of Education and Training, in partnership with the Minnedosa Kinsmen.

As Office Manager, Patricia works with employers, and students ages 12 to 24, providing a referral service for students to find employment. In addition to finding student individual employment, Patricia is also organizing the Odd Job Squad which can be hired out for yard work, window washing, and the like. The Odd Job Squad will also be holding some special events including Flower Frenzy, where Canada Day bouquets will be sold, a car wash, and a student labour raffle.

The Manitoba Youth Job Centre program has been in existence for 25 years. There are currently 47 offices throughout the province.

McNabb advances to talent search finals

Jodi McNabb, daughter of Clark and Sherrie of Minnedosa, has advanced to the finals of the Dauphin Countryfest Talent Contest.

Jodi, who attends Grade 6 at Tanner's Crossing, was one of five contestants to qualify for the finals after performing at the semi finals in Brandon recently. At the semi finals, Jodi performed karaoke style two songs, Wide Open Spaces, by the Dixie Chicks, and 26 Cents, by the Wilkinsons. Because she advanced to the finals, Jodi won two free passes to Dauphin Countryfest.

Jodi will perform on the Countryfest Main Stage in Dauphin on Thursday, June 29th, in front of a potential audience of 10,000. The first place winner will receive a karaoke machine valued at $800.

ECI Vice Principal Governor General's Medal Winner

Heather Duncan, Vice Principal at Erickson Collegiate, has been notified that she will receive the Governor General's Gold Medal for her Master's of Education at her upcoming Brandon University Convocation.

In addition to the Governor General's Award, Heather will also receive the Brandon University Gold Medal for her work.

The topic of Ms. Duncan's thesis was the Interacting Roles of High School Principals and Teachers as they Implement New Curriculum.

"The awards are a tribute to her dedication as a top notch educator," stated ECI Principal, Matt Rapsky. "The staff and students of ECI are extremely proud of Heather."

In addition to her duties as Vice Principal, Ms. Duncan also teaches university entrance level chemistry and biology.

Onanole News

Weldon Mayor, Calgary, spent a few days with his sister, Harriet Hodges, and visited with relatives in Onanole and Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fink of Winnipeg spent Sunday with their mother, Bea Fink.

Congratulations to Art and Marilyn Cochrane who recently became grandparents.

Phylis and Ramona Hodges returned home on Friday from two week holiday at Leaf Rapids. George came home for a weeks holiday.

Brian Sharpe, area representative, was on hand at the Onanole Post Office on May 15th to honour our Post Mistress, Marg Carey. Marg has provided postal service to the community for 25 years. Brian presented Marg with a 25 year certificate, a silver pin, and wristwatch, on behalf of Canada Post. The community of Onanole is indeed fortunate to have such a dedicated and efficient business woman providing service. Her pleasant, outgoing attitude and willingness to help is an incentive to all her customers. We congratulate Marg and hope she will grace us with her presence for a "few" more years.

Ethanol vehicle challenge

The University of Texas at Austin was recently awarded First Place in the 3rd Ethanol Vehicle Challenge held in Windsor, Ontario. The U of T team was awarded a $6000 prize for their efforts in engineering a vehicle, in this case a 4 x 4 Silverado Pick-up to run on E-85, a mixture of 85% ethanol and 15% gasoline. This fuel is being considered as one alternative to gasoline by auto manufacturers as they race to meet new emission standards being introduced in the next few years.

Currently, ethanol fuel obtained at Mohawk stations contain 10% ethanol and 90% gasoline so it is easily recognizable the impact that a successful E85 fuel would have on the local ethanol industry.

Dillabough kicks off corporate sponsor campaign

Tom Crook, Chris Worley, Merv Dillabough

By Nancy Chemerika

Merv Dillabough, Canadian Tire Brandon, is the first proud corporate sponsor of the back 9 at the Minnedosa Country Club.

Dillabough sponsored hole #10 as a result of the latest initiative of the golf course expansion fundraising committee.

Fundraising committee members, Tom Crook and Chris Worley, are currently approaching a number of local and out of town corporations to sponsor the other eight holes.

Dillabough's $6,000 sponsorship will go directly towards the fundraising committee's goal of $300,000 which will kick start the project.

"We are hoping that the citizens of Minnedosa and Country Club members will continue to support this project and help us reach our goal," stated Worley.

In addition to the corporate sponsorship campaign, the fundraising committee is involved with a number of other projects including the packed auto draw, pay what you pull tickets, and a tournament set for this fall.

Gilleshammer: acting leader of P.C. Party

It was announced late last week that Harold Gilleshammer, 12 year MLA for Minnedosa, has been appointed by former Premier Gary Filmon to take over the roll of leader of the provincial P.C.'s and, as such, Leader of the Opposition, until a meeting of the entire P.C. caucus can be held. That meeting is expected to be held tonight (Monday) at which time, by agreement, a permenant appointment will be made. The appointee will then remain in that position until such time as the leadership convention is held and the person selected takes their seat in the House.

The P.C. leadership race was recently narrowed to one candidate after Darren Praznik decided to opt out. That leaves Stewart Murray as the only candidate with no other candidates expected to come forward. If that remains the case, according to Gilleshammer, "the appointee will remain as Leader until Stewart gains a seat in the Legislature."

Minnedosa Campground hosts successful May Long

By Nancy Chemerika

About 400 people visited the Minnedosa Campground over May Long Weekend, which was up by over 100 from last year.

Lorna Hislop, campground manager, explained that 125 sites were full with some campers setting up in the overflow and on the beach area. The majority of the visitors had made reservations prior to the weekend.

"We had a full house," stated Hislop. "For the most part, it was a very good weekend. The weather cooperated. Everyone seemed pleased with the accommodations. They appreciated the electrical upgrades, and are looking forward to the water hook ups."

Hislop noted that about half of the campers were from the local area, with the remainder coming from throughout the westman area. Even a number of farmers made their way to the campground for the weekend, after finishing their seeding early.

Although the majority of the visitors were well behaved, Hislop added that a number of teens were escorted out of the campground Sunday morning for excessive noise, alcohol and fighting.

"Other than that, Minnedosa was pretty quiet," stated Sgt. Eric Davidson, Yellowhead RCMP Detachment. "I think people are starting to learn - "Don't drink and drive."

Davidson added that a check stop and road watch program, sponsored by MPIC, was held for one day in Carberry, and for two days on #10 Highway north, towards the Park, which also helps to keep impaired driving stats down.

According to Jillian Maguet, Acting Heritage Communications Officer, Riding Mountain National Park was fuller than it has been for the last several long weekends. In Wasagaming Campground, 97% of available sites were full, with 85% having been booked through reservations. The four outlying campgrounds, Moon Lake, Lake Audy, Whirl Pool Lake, and Deep Lake, were either near capacity or at capacity.

Maguet noted that the successful weekend can be attributed to both the favourable weather, and the alcohol ban in effect throughout the Park. The ban has been in effect in Wasagaming Campground for a number of years, and for the first time this year in the outlying campgrounds.

"We extended the ban to the outlying campgrounds because of the favourable response in Wasagaming Campground, and the growing public demand," stated Maguet. "Most visitors and families are looking for a relaxing, peaceful weekend getaway, free from rowdy incidents, and campers. A liquor free campground helps to provide that."

The warden staff patrolled the parks and campgrounds to ensure that the ban was followed. Some campers were ejected as a result of noise and liquor.

"All in all, we had more sites occupied than normal, and less complaints than ever. We work hard to achieve that. It was a really good weekend," concluded Maguet.

Appeals Court allows Tiller to take back Reeve's seat

By Nancy Chemerika

Russell Tiller will again take his seat as Reeve of the R.M. of Clanwilliam after Court of Appeal Judges Twaddle, Husband, and Philip set aside the order declaring his seat vacant.

Mr. Tiller was ordered to vacate his seat last November after Judge Rodney Mykle, Brandon Court of Queens Bench, found that Mr. Tiller had violated section 5 of the Municipal Council Conflict of Interest Act, regarding disclosure during meetings.

On behalf of Mr. Tiller, W.W. Riedel, Q.C., filed an appeal which was heard on May 9, 2000, with Twaddle, Husband and Philip delivering their judgement last Thursday. Although Judge Twaddle did set aside the ruling declaring the Reeve's seat vacant, he also found that a violation of the Conflict of Interest Act should remain in place. He also ordered the municipality to pay the Reeve's costs in both the Court of Appeal and the Court of Queen's Bench.

"I think the ruling was probably fair," stated Mr. Tiller. "I never did think I was in conflict of interest, and I maintain that, otherwise I would have stepped aside."

Tiller added that he plans to sit once again as Reeve of the R.M. of Clanwilliam. When asked how he would feel to once again enter the council chambers as Reeve, Tiller stated, "That was yesterday, today is today, and tomorrow is tomorrow. Surely to goodness there will be some degree of cooperation (with Council)."

Judge Mykle's original ruling resulted after Council passed a resolution in May, 1999 to file for a determination of violation of the Conflict of Interest Act. Concern regarding a conflict of interest arose after a land purchase by the R.M. of Clanwilliam was finalized in April, 1999. At the April 14th meeting, Council agreed to the conditions of purchase for SW 7-18-17, and a portion of SE 12-18-18, on the east shore of Otter Lake, owned by Columbia Realty Corp. The sellers had agreed to sell the land to the municipality with provision that the adjacent quarter, NW 6-18-17, also be sold. Reeve Tiller privately purchased the adjacent quarter.

According to Judge Mykle's original ruling, because Mr. Tiller's and the R.M's land purchases were linked, Tiller should have withdrawn from participation in both the discussion and the vote as it was related to the municipality's purchase.

Judge Twaddle, in his ruling, stated that he was prepared to find that the Reeve, although aware of the facts giving rise to his pecuniary interest, was unaware that he had such an interest in the matter before the R.M. of Clanwilliam council at the time. Therefore, Twaddle found that Tiller was entitled to the benefit of section 22. Section 22 states, "Notwithstanding anything in this Act, where a judge finds that a councillor violated a provision of this Act unknowingly or through inadvertence, the councillor is not disqualified from office, and the judge shall not declare the seat of the councillor vacant, in consequence of the violation."

Lake Rehab. gets lighting project grant

By Nancy Chemerika

The Minnedosa Lake Rehabilitation Committee has received a $5,000 Manitoba Community Service Council grant, to erect 12 light standards along the dam walkway.

The total project cost is estimated at $22,475. Individuals or organizations wishing to make a minimum donation of $300 can chose one of the 12 light standards and have a name plaque installed on it.

Geordie Wade, project chairperson, welcomes those who wish to volunteer their time, and suggests that they call him for further details.

"We want Minnedosa to look like 'little Victoria'," laughed Ken Harris, Lake Rehab. Secretary. "We feel that the project will improve the area for tourists and for the citizens of Minnedosa."

The Lake Rehab. Committee was formed in 1988 to improve the beach and lake area. Upon completing that task, in conjunction with the local Heritage Foundation, have concentrated their efforts in developing the area south of the dam to and including the linear park.

The light standards will be similar to the one pictured above

Lori Stevenson wins Provincial Championship

Lori Stevenson, Minnedosa, became the Bowling Proprietors TSN Pins Game Women's 5 Pin Bowling champion after finishing with a total score of 2670 at Provincial finals held recently in Neepawa. .

As a result of taking the Provincial Women's spot, Stevenson and the next qualifier, Karen Armstrong of Winnipeg, will advance to Toronto for the taping of the TSN Pins Game television series in August.

Stevenson and Tracy Swift represented Minnedosa Bowl at the finals, starting the tournament in fine form with scores of 330 and 315 respectively. The balance of the tournament saw Lori move from 1st to 2nd and than back to 1st in the ninth game, maintaining the lead through the tenth and final game of the tournament. Unfortunately, Swift fell prey to the head pin in later games to finish in the 5th spot.

Stevenson has won 10 Provincial Championships, individually and as part of a team, and has won three individual national titles.

Eye on MCI

by Andrew Michaluk and Cole Riemer

A lot has been happening at MCI this past week. The track team went to Neepawa to participate in the Zone VII track meet. The winners will be advancing to provincials. Band students held a band concert in Erickson last Wednesday. They left on Friday for their annual band trip. This year's destination is Regina. The rugby team had home games on Thursday and Friday. The girls baseball team has a current record of 1 win and 3 losses. They played in Rivers last Thursday. Results were not available at press time. The Senior 4's are making their final preparations for their upcoming grad ceremonies. A rehearsal will be held on May 31st during third period. On Friday, May 19, the Senior 4 French class took the Senior 1 and 2 French students on Eco-Tours in Riding Mountain National Park. It has been announced that Mr. Ingenmey will be the principal at both TCS and MCI next fall. That wraps up this week, always remember that: "ANYTIME IS TRAIN TIME".

Gary Filmon

The appointment of an interim leader was necessitated by the resignation of Gary Filmon received by the party earlier last week. Filmon will bring to an end a 25 year career of public service when he retires this fall. Filmon had been Premier of Manitoba for the past 11 years and had kept Gilleshammer in a portfolio position almost from his first day in office. During Gilleshammer's 11 years as the elected representative for Minnedosa, he had held the portfolio positions of Family Services, Heritage and Culture, Labour and finally, Minister of Finance. Filmon had previously appointed Harold Gilleshammer as Deputy Leader. In our interview with Gilleshammer last Friday, he once again reiterated his previous position that he will not enter the race for leader of the party.

A new perspective

An infinite number of realities suddenly strike at your very heart when a loved one is involved in a vehicular accident and a life is threatened. A phone call in the middle of the night strikes a terror, previously unknown and unexperienced, into your rather somber and sedate life that awakens the worst of parental fears.

Our family received one of those calls last week, and our lives changed in a heartbeat. Without warning we were facing the potential loss of our son - one who we had seen as being healthy and happy just hours before.

He is thankfully alive and doing very well, as one week to the day later I struggle to put into words what our family has experienced over the past seven days. A broken arm, a broken leg, a few scrapes and bruises - those will all heal, but the terror of that moment will live with us forever.

It was our duty a few months ago to notify close friends of ours that their children had been involved in a car accident that resulted in the complete destruction of their vehicle. Their children, too, were safe and we were all thankful, but even being as close as we were to that incident, we remained unaware of just how devastating an experience such as this can be, during the period of time when circumstances and conditions remain unknown. Our family now has more insight into the ultimate tragedy of losing a loved one as for the first 24 hours, the ultimate fate of our son remained in doubt.

We will be eternally thankful for the quick and expert response of our area volunteer rescue crews, the RCMP, the local ambulance and hospital staff and for the skillful and mystical precision of the Brandon Hospital surgical staff. Collectively, those precious people saved our son's life and then put him back together in one solid piece again. The ultimate tragedy was narrowly averted and now the healing process begins.

One of the worst personal moments is when you pick up a newspaper and read about such an incident that involves someone so close. It took us several days before we could put our eyes to print, and then truly digest the magnitude of our experience. As publisher and editor of this newspaper, I will be more careful in the future when this newspaper, as it must do, reports details of other people's misfortunes. We at The Tribune, have always looked at our duty as being one of distributing the facts, partly in order to dispel rumour. Rumour is always worse than truth. Unfortunately, in the case of our son, some of those truths reported in a story printed in at least one of our daily newspapers was not totally factual, and that is truly disturbing.

Our local fire department and rescue crew is about to embark on some fundraising in order to purchase a new tool that will facilitate their job of cutting open vehicles so that they can extricate trapped victims. The piece of equipment is worth about $5,000. They will do whatever they can to raise the money, which will include selling raffle tickets, holding the upcoming Demolition Derby and asking the public for donations. They will combine whatever funds they are able to raise with monies granted them by the local governments in their equipment budget to purchase the tool. Suddenly, however, our family will take a keen interest in their quick success on this particular fundraising project. For those readers who have had someone involved in such an accident, I am sure that you will too.

Picture of the Week ...

Nursery School students travelled to Minnedosa Beach last week to try out the playground equipment. Although their time was limited, the students did gather around for a quick picture before returning to their playtime.

From the Editor's Desk

Can it happen here ... ?
We are all well aware of the growing tragedy taking place in Walkerton, Ontario, where their presumably safe and secure water chlorination system failed resulting in an outbreak of Ecoli bacteria spread through drinking tap water. Can it happen here? Next week, The Tribune will explore this issue, explain the local situation including testing procedures, chlorination back-up systems and the like and try to answer the many questions that we sure you, along with us, are asking.

Clean as a whistle ...
The Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a town-wide clean up for Tuesday, May 30th. (tomorrow evening). If you wish to join in, meet the group at the United Church at 7 p.m. where you will be given a route to follow as well as garbage bags. Everyone in town is welcome to participate in the event which will set the stage for the fast-approaching Homecoming Celebration. By the way, if you have a sporting event to attend to that evening, pick up a bag prior to the event and work the area around the sporting venue.

Guns, ammo, licences ....
Did you know that all gun owners and users must be licenced by January 1, 2001! Did you also know that you will need a valid F.A.C. or Firearms Licence to buy ammunition after January 1st? These and other topics will be covered by representatives from the Chief Firearms Officer Services who will be in town at the Community Hall on Main Street on June 1st and 2nd from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day. Our Area Firearms Officer, Ken Morrison of the Dauphin RCMP Detachment, will be in attendance to answer your questions. Necessary application forms will also be available at the information session and anyone needing assistance in completing the forms will receive such at the meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

So Harold Gilleshammer MLA is disappointed in the recent NDP budget. I am pleased that he has taken the time to express his unhappiness. I contacted the government after the recent budget release through the Minister of Agriculture's office to express my concern regarding the 10 million dollar reduction in the department of highways. I was politely informed that I was correct in noting the reduction, but the budget was simply reduced by the amount that the previous government had increased the highways budget (10 million) during election year 1999. So really the amount was the same as in 1998 and that should be adequate. What a laugh I had over that cute statement. Our roads have deteriorated to a state of being impassible in some areas. I have yet to hear of any announced plan to upgrade the intersection of P.T.H. #10 and P.R. #355 near the new Agricore (White Elephant) Complex. I told Charlie Swanson (retired Agricore President) and Harold Gilleshammer that said intersection was an accident waiting to happen, before the Agricore Elevator was built!

The current NDP government seems to be able to step out and spend millions of dollars in a patchwork fashion, designed as so called remedies, particularly in health care and to some extent in Education. The increase in property tax credits is an insult to this writer. The bureaucrats needed to administrate all these goody goody perks are a needless drain on general revenue. I recently received a fancy glossy budget document in the mail called Manitoba Budget 2000. Not one section (or word) says anything about the Ag Crisis or Economy. Shame, Shame on Mr. Doer and his cronies.

The political games staged between Winnipeg and Ottawa regarding the flood of 1999, and the ongoing Economic Crisis are despicable.

Congratulations Mr. Editor on your recent Editorial (May 15) regarding the economy of Manitoba and Doer's failure to cut taxes.

The recent departure of a born in Manitoba company called "Medi-Chair" to Alberta, mainly because of tax infrastructure is a logical example of the trend that is and will become a serious drain on Manitoba's economy.

The three or four western premiers are in Brandon this week and they will talk as other have done and will they do anything? Stay tuned and thank for asking me to keep writing.

Yours truly,
Lorne Radcliffe

Dear Editor:

Again we look forward to a good parade due to many volunteer hours put in to make it a success.

For some years there has not been a Minnedosa band. This has been noted and missed by many. If they have not been taught to march, they could ride on a truck or float.

I, for one would appreciate hearing and seeing a school band. It would be an opportunity for the students to advertise their home town!

Sincerely,
Evelyn MacDonald

Relay 2000 nearing Erickson

The Town of Erickson and the R.M. of Clanwilliam are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the National Water Relay 2000 on June 22nd.

A multitude of activities have been planned to celebrate the arrival of the Relay, beginning at 2 p.m. The relay will make its way into the community later that afternoon. The activities will also celebrate the official opening of the Erickson/R.M. of Clanwilliam portion of the Rossburn Subdivision portion of the Trans Canada Trail.

At 2:00 p.m., the activities will begin just north of the Viking Ship with a performance by a 35 piece military brass band from Winnipeg. Parkland Country, the Elementary School Band, St. Judes Church Group, the Millennium Minstrels, and the Lutheran Male Chorus, will also be performing. Rolling River First Nation will also have a Tee Pee and display set up, and the Northwest Mounted Police will also have a display on site.

Two carriers have been chosen from Erickson Elementary, Ross Carl Robinson, and Sarah Jean Lavineway, to carry the water for the journey.

Once the water arrives, there will be an official ribbon cutting, and Mayor Wally Yanchycki will sign an official document before the procession continues to the Erickson Rec. Centre. At the Rec. Centre there will be entertainment provided by High Country Band, Troyanda Dancers, Rolling River First Nation Dancers, Shevchenko Dance Ensemble, and Expressive Dance With Crystal, in addition to a toonie luncheon. All of the entertainment is free of charge.

"The Mosaic of entertainment will be a cross cultural showcase of not just our community, but also the surrounding area," stated Mayor Yanchycki. "The trail does not just belong to Erickson. The purpose of this celebration is to mark a once in a life time historic occasion. It will be remembered for many years to come as the Trans Canada Trail will affect local history and economic development. We just happen to be fortunate enough to be on the trail."

Yanchycki noted that a rest area will hopefully be developed in the near future on the Erickson/R.M. of Clanwilliam portion of the trail, which will draw tourists from all over. He also hopes that the trail can be diverted somewhat, bringing it closer to Leda Lake, and a more scenic area, rather than right through town. If the trail is diverted, there would also be direct links to bring visitors into the community.

Before reaching Erickson, Relay 2000 will pass through the communities of Elphinstone and Sandy Lake. The tour will spend the night in Clear Lake, before continuing onto Clanwilliam, Bethany, and Neepawa. Brendan Cook, Clanwilliam, will be an official runner in Relay 2000.

Once the Relay reaches Clanwilliam a ribbon cutting will be followed by refreshments and greetings. The Tour will arrive in Bethany around noon when a ribbon cutting will be followed by a luncheon.

Relay 2000, the longest trail relay in the world, will officially mark the opening of the 16,100 kilometre Trans Canada Trail this year. As the longest recreational trail in the world, the Trans Canada Trail touches all three great oceans bordering Canada: Arctic, Pacific, and Atlantic. The relay began when a bottle of water was drawn from each of these three oceans at Tuktoyuktuk, NWT, Iqualuit, Nunavut, Victoria, B.C. and St. John's, Nfld.

Beginning in February, and continuing on until September, waters from the three oceans will be relayed by over 5,000 official carriers.

On September 9, 2000, in a concluding ceremony, the three ocean waters will be symbolically poured into a newly constructed Trans Canada Trail Fountain in the National Capital Region.

The Senior Citizen says:
"Laugh a little - sing a little as you go your way,
Work a little, play a little - do this every day.
Give a little, take a little - never mind a frown,
Make your smile a welcome thing all around the town.
Laugh a little, love a little - skies are always blue,
Every cloud has a silver lining, but then, it's up to you."

Visitors with Dorothy Ray were Donna Litke (daughter) on May 14th and sister Mary Routledge from Hamiota on May 21st. Wayne and Elaine Bradley from near Oakville spent May 21st weekend with their mother Eileen Bradley.

Myrtle Pirie from Strathclair, Sylvia Lelond from Hamiota and Maureen Lelond from Winnipeg were May 21st visitors with Jean Irwin.

Rev. Bob and Carol Hunter's family, Eileen and Buster are home to Sandy Lake for the summer months.

"A Story About Connectedness" was the theme of Easter V, May 21, 2000 in the United Church. Thoughts were related to John 15:-5 Biblical message about God as the Gardener, Jesus as the Vine, and we as the Branches. Rev. Hunter says "This passage describes the relationship between Jesus and his disciples. Jesus was the life-giving vine from which many branches would spring. The disciples were those branches, extending out from the vine and bearing fruit in the world. A significant part of Jesus' ministry was to prepare his disciples to be those fruitful branches so that they would carry on his ministry after he died....some significant questions for us to consider based on this analogy of the Gardener, Vine and Branches: 'How strong are my family connections? How strong are my church connections? How strong is my faith connection?' If anyone would like a complete copy of the message, from any one of the 20 attending the service you may ask for a copy, and you will receive it. We are looking forward to the 75th Anniversary of Church Union (Methodist, Congregationalist, Presbyterian) in the United Church and all are invited to attend on June 4.

More than just the bacon

Home Economist News
Ann Mandziuk

Often when we think of an agriculture product we think of just the one item we are most familiar with but we need to think beyond that. For almost all of the agriculture products we produce there are hundreds of by-products that we do not even think about.

Hogs for example provide us with more than just the bacon! Meat is the main product that hogs are raised for, but many other parts of the hog are used to improve and maintain our quality of life. These other parts are used to produce by-products. Many different by-products made from hogs are used in industrial products, pharmaceutical products and foods items.

Pharmaceutical By-Products

Pharmaceuticals are the second most important product from the hog after the meat. Hogs are a source of nearly 40 drugs and pharmaceuticals. Hog insulin is used to help treat people who have diabetes. Hog and human insulin closely resemble each other. Hog enzymes are used to treat heart attack patients.

Did you know that hog heart valves are used to replace weakened or injured human heart valves?

Industrial By-Products

Hog by-products are used in the manufacturing of a long list of consumer and industrial products. From pigskin used in leather clothing and furniture to hair being used in brushes, the uses are endless! Hog by-products play an important part in:

- Leather finishes
- Plywood adhesive
- Insecticides
- Protein source in animal feeds
- Lipstick

Fatty acids and glycerol are produced from hog trimmings and bones. Fatty acids and glycerol are used in: chalk, antifreeze, weed killers, crayons, floor waxes and rubber.

Food Products

Don't forget about food products. Gelatin is a product that is extracted from the skin of hogs. The gelatin is then used for thickening in foods such as:

- Cottage cheese
- Marshmallows
- Yogurt
- Gelatin desserts

Did you know that...

- Hog skins are used in treating massive burns and injuries in humans?
- Dried pig's ears are a dog's favourite treat?
- Buttons, bone china and glue also come from hogs?
- Hog hair is used in a variety of brushes?
- Film, drug capsules and crepe paper all have pig by-products in them?

As the old saying goes "you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear" but you sure can make a lot of other things from the rest of that sow!

Agriculture Report

Neil Galbraith
Agriculture Representative

Flea Beetles

Some flea beetle feeding has been seen on volunteer canola. If you didn't use Counter with your canola seed then you should regularly check your canola fields once it has emerged. The blue coating of Vitavax RS that most canola seed is treated with gives limited protection of 7 - 10 days. Realistically, this is only until emergence. Counter gives protection for 2 - 3 weeks after emergence. Flea beetles will not do much feeding unless it is above 20°C and fairly calm winds. If 25% of your canola leaves are defoliated you should do a post emergent control immediately. This is more critical when the canola plant first emerges and has just its cotyledon leaves or small true leaves.

Wireworms

These are more prevalent on last year's unseeded acres. They also like cereals or grass breaking. There is no post emergent control, only a seed treatment but keeping an eye out for them this year may help you next year.

Wheat Midge

Wheat sown in late April and early May will have no or low risk from wheat midge this year. The midge do not come earlier in an early year so early seeding avoids the critical time for damage.

by Almie Paulsen

The first long weekend of the season was beautiful, weather wise and R.M.N.P. was crowded with vacationers. It was great to hear that no tragic incidents were reported.

It's still dry at Erickson. Our garden is very dry. Hope it improves so crops, gardens and bedding plants can start thriving.

May 24th was a big day for two of our Senior Citizens - namely Steve Puhach and Jack Sitko. They share the same birthdays but Steve has 2 years on Jack. How old? I'll never tell! Belated birthday wishes to both of you.

Barry Paulsen competed in the Annual Manitoba Construction Golf Tournament at Pine Ridge and Elmhurst Golf Courses, Winnipeg on May 24th.

Erickson is happy to have the Ken Greaven family living in our district. They purchased the Einar Magnell farm east of town and have built a home on the southern portion near Otter Lake. Welcome Ken, Jackie and family.

Don & Anne Chisholm, Winnipeg, spent the long weekend with Anne's father Bill Prosak and while there planted the garden for her Dad.

Erickson was shocked to learn of the death of Archie McLean on Monday, May 22nd. He suffered a fall outdoors on Sunday, was taken to Minnedosa Hospital by ambulance where it was determined he had not suffered any breaks, but passed away early on Monday. Condolences to his family. Funeral service was held May 25th at Minnedosa United Church.

Christopher Dimmery and a friend who are attending school at Roblin spent the long weekend with his Mother, Dad and relatives.

Tom & Rosie Snyder and family spent the long weekend in Flin Flon visiting Tom's family members.

Lorne Boucher is home after being hospitalized for a week. His daughter Charlene of Morden spent the long weekend with him and Marg.

A bridal shower and social for Amy Mochnacz was held at the Crossroads and Rec. Centre on the weekend. I believe Amy resides at Ft. McMurray.

Visitors with the Marland Furevicks on the long weekend were Phil Temple, Wes and Bev Clarke, Brandon and son Scott and Branda of Winnipeg.

Marvin & Diane Miller have their two children Amanda and Lailand home from Lethbridge where they were continuing their education. Amanda is now employed at Grand Beach.

Jim & Benita Nylen had Tracey home from Oakbank for he weekend. Her friend Tricia accompanied her.

Congratulations to Cindy Nylen who received her B.Sc. from Brandon University at the Convocation exercises at Brandon Centennial Auditorium on Saturday, May 27th. Her parents Reg & Sharon and grand parents Dan & Anne Zatylny attended the happy occasion. Cindy is hoping to continue her studies in the fall.

The Gusdal families were happy to hear that Pastor Delmar Gusdal will be leaving for Wittenberg, Germany shortly and while there has been invited to speak in Castle and Town Lutheran Churches, where Martin Luther preached in. He will return in mid June.

Happy retirement to Lynn Dimmery who will be taking down her working shingle of June 2nd. Lynn has given Erickson Hospital 29 complete years of service. Thank you Lynn for your dedicated service. We wish you happiness in your retirement.

The History Committee are still looking for more histories. Please help them by submitting yours.

Looks like some Erickson streets are going to get a face lift with new pavement.

Have you picked up your brochure for "Homecoming 2000" at the Municipal office?

Visitors at Kay Mayors for Mother's Day were Gerald & Denise Mayor, Grenfell, SK, John & Sharon Mayor, Esterhazy, SK, George Mayor, Fernie, B.C. and Bill, Teenie Lazaruk, and Joe Shwaluk of Shoal Lake, MB. Joe celebrated his 98th birthday and all enjoyed a breakfast brunch at Elkhorn Resort.

Erickson Homecoming 2000

If you see a bright goldenrod brochure - Please pick it up. For you out of town subscribers, please contact someone to mail you one. This is the new updated "Events Schedule" for our Homecoming Week.

Registration will be held each morning during Homecoming week and a family fee will be charged to help defray costs.

Millennium Minstrel practices are in full swing and new members are welcome. Our new place of practice is Erickson Collegiate.

Our order of T-shirts and golf shirts has arrived and another order is being put together. More pins are also on order. The plaques for the Homecoming Lighting & Decorating Contest have arrived and were displayed at the last meeting. Tickets on the Homecoming Quilt are now available. Plans for the Homecoming Supper & Dance are being finalized. Advance tickets will be available soon. (Watch The Tribune for an ad). The Homecoming Committee are extremely appreciative of those organizations, groups, and individuals who are working so diligently in trying to make our Homecoming a success. If there is anyone who is not involved, but would like to be, please contact a committee member or bring your ideas and energy to our next meeting scheduled for early June.

Sandy Lake News

By Deb Maluk

Mother's Day visitors with Mike and Hazel Hnatiuk were Dale and Betty Hnatiuk of Winnipeg. Their long week-end visitors were Ed and Sharon Miko of Kelowna BC.

Olga Prosken and Mary Mandzuk were visited by their children, Harold and Joyce Prosken of Winnipeg over the Mother's Day weekend. Olga and Peter Prosken enjoyed a visit from Robert and Brenda Douglas and their friends Greg and Jay over the long weekend.

Plans are underway for June 22, the day the TransCanada relay passes through town. A variety of individuals from a number of service organizations, as well as staff from the school and the Museum are busy making plans to mark this special event. More information will be made available in the coming weeks.

Everyone is busy with their gardens these day....we've had some pretty chilly evenings, but hopefully Spring will arrive and stick around 'til summer.....the May long weekend was quite busy....lots of folks coming up to get their cabins ready for the season....their return is welcomed by all, particularly the local businesses who benefit from their support and patronage.

Just a reminder.....with the warmer weather, all sort of folks are on the prowl....our local Citizens on Patrol program would appreciate any new or returning volunteers. You can sign up at Tri-L Shell during business hours.

The Ladies Auxillary Quilt Raffle, Tea and Bake Sale was a success. It was a beautiful day, and the turnout was great. Zone Commander Sid Merry and Legion Branch #184 President Tim Maluk assisted by serving at the Tea Table. The ladies all did a great deal of work to contribute to the success of the event. It was quite amazing to see how quickly the Bake Sale table was cleaned up!!!

Tim, Dorothy and Helen Maluk attended the N.A.C.L. Chorale 2000 production of "Something to Sing About" at the Roxy Theatre in Neepawa on Friday evening. Well done Neepawa!!

A large number of friends and neighbors of former Sandy Lake residents and Selrite business partners Leo and Sonya Macsymach, attended the marriage and reception of their second son Brent and his bride Kimberley Johnston in Brandon on Saturday afternoon and evening. Congratulations Brent and Kim!

Mrs. Julia Yakowenko, Grimsby, ON, Helen Scott and daughters Amanda and Brittany, Winnipeg, visited with Mrs. Rose Lewandoski enroute to Edmonton.

Christina Rochelle spent the long weekend in Winnipeg visiting with family. She was taken out for a lovely Mother's Day supper and attended the 50th Anniversary of her niece in Elm Creek, MB. She attended the Anniversary with Sonja and Louie, Bev, Lawrence, and Barry.

Should I Bring My Child to the Funeral?

Just as with adults, children need to express their feelings of grief. To deny your child this emotional outlet is to handicap his natural, maturing development. Children can cope with death better than you may expect.

A child's emotional resilience is truly remarkable and often under-rated. With adequate preparation, a child may attend the funeral and will be all the better for it. But the child must be told what to expect at the funeral. If he or she understands what is happening, there's a better feeling during and after the ceremonies.

Do not force the child to attend, although if the youngster often tends to be highly emotional, keep him home and have him join the family later. Each child may react differently, but if you anticipate any problems, feel free to discuss this with us fully at your convenience.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome.

Onanole News

by Leona Kucher

Brandon and Tyler Horn of Neepawa spent a few days last week with Grandma LaLonde.

Rick and Sharon Kucher and family spent the long weekend at the home of their parents Frank and Leona Kucher.

Win Whitaker attended the meeting of the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Conference held in Portage La Prairie from May 25th to May 28th, as a delegate from Onanole United Church. June Robertson of The Pas, who has a summer residence here, also attended the Conference as a delegate for The Pas.

Congratulations to Arden and Jean Erickson who celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary on May 19th. Their family treated them to supper at Kokanos in Brandon.

Quoted from the Brandon Sun of May 17th: " Carla Eisler of the Canadian Red Cross has a big bouquet to Brianna Sigurdson, a grade 11 student from Neelin High school. Brianna organized a fund-raising event called Branching Out For Mozambique. A group of students climbed and harnessed themselves to trees for a 24 hour period to symbolize African flood victims who were stranded in trees due to flooding. They raised more than $1500.00 to be used towards Red Cross relief efforts in the affected area and Brianna and all concerned deserve that bouquet." Brianna Sigurdson is the daughter of Ardis Sigurdson and the grand daughter of Arden and Jean Erickson of Onanole. Congratulations Brianna.

Joe Hnatuk celebrates 90th birthday

Joe Hnatuk celebrated his 90th birthday recently at the Sandy Lake Drop in Centre. Monday to Saturday Joe regularly meets with his friends at 1:00 p.m. for a daily game of cards at the Centre. Happy Birthday Joe!

JoAnn Ellchuk, Brandon, Sonia and Tom Lutzek, spent Easter with their parents John and Mary Sichewski.

Beavers bite municipal budgets

by Bill Stilwell

Canada's beaver population is higher today than when the first European explorers arrived. Despite more than 300 years of hunting, trapping and shooting, the beaver population continues to rise.

"Today's population estimate is 20 million animals in North America, and it could grow to 60 million," said Reeve Ray Frey, R.M. of Park and Riding Mountain Biosphere Reserve (RMBR) committee member.

The early fur trade opened the west to development. "The beaver is held in high esteem throughout the world," said Frey. Although their image adorns our money, flags and postage stamps, many farmers view the beaver, Canada's national symbol, as a pest.

"It's causing our municipality $20 thousand each year in beaver control, bounty, blowing dams and other costs," said Reeve Dwayne Lawless, R.M. of Rossburn, during a recent beaver management workshop.

"In our municipality we spent $17 thousand cleaning out culverts last year," adds Frey.

The pesky beaver has developed into an expensive problem. "I wouldn't be surprised if that estimate was in the million-dollar range," said Ian McKay, provincial problem wildlife specialist with Manitoba Conservation.

Beavers do as much good as harm. Unfortunately farmers and rural municipalities bare the brunt of the destructive side despite their value to society.

For example, beaver ponds store precipitation allowing gradual release of moisture over time. They reduce current speed in streams preventing water erosion. Ponds act as natural sediment traps, removing silt and pollution. This reduces phosphates and nitrates. Their ponds contribute to streamside habitat increasing biodiversity.

The most obvious problems include flooding that harms hay meadows and croplands. Wet conditions hinder crop seeding and access to fields. Flooding also kills trees and reduces habitat for deciduous wildlife. Plugged culverts weaken and washout roads. Trees cut for food and building dams is a problem, especially when they destroy ornamental or fruit trees.

But, beavers are seldom a problem when their numbers are low and under drought conditions when there aren't enough beavers to provide much-needed water conservation and storage.

For decades the beaver lived a healthy coexistence while their hides were valued by trappers. Low fur prices and the lack of trapping results from an anti trapping lobby by animal rights activists causing overpopulation.

Anti-trapping has forced down the value of beaver pelts from about $100 years ago to less than $20 today. It just doesn't pay for trapper to regulate the population for such low prices.

Manitoba Conservation has an agreement with Manitoba's municipalities to reduce beaver numbers. "We have a beaver program and the municipalities administer it," said Colin McNairnay, a natural resource officer in Neepawa. When there is a specific complaint of beaver damage, municipalities authorize trappers to catch the offending beaver and Manitoba Conservation funds a program. This works as a stopgap measure, but not a long term solution.

While the knee-jerk reaction is to "get rid of the beavers", municipalities with backing and funding from the RMBR want longer term solutions.

Last year Riding Mountain National Park invested $20,000 toward finding solutions for beaver management that protect landowners and reduce the burden on surrounding municipalities. Municipal officials, including Lawless, agree that constantly removing dams is a waste of time and money. "We're going to experiment and lessen the problem," said Lawless.

"We can't outwork them, so we've got to out think them," said Frey. "We can put in devices." Several new methods of limiting problems are available including "pond levellers" and "beaver deceivers"

European & California Ethics making their way into Canada

By Calvin Daniels

If you listen carefully, you can hear the footsteps of European and California ethics inching into Canada and it's going to be Canadian farmers' toes they'll be stepping on.

The Liberal government in Ottawa is bringing in a number of pieces of legislation with enough inherent ambiguity to offer concern for farmers. The new legislation that is supposed to protect endangered wildlife species could certainly effect the way farmers farm their land - all in the name of protecting wildlife.

Legislation to protect animals from cruelty could come back to haunt farmers since it could easily be interpreted that castration is abuse - yet it's a standard operation of today's livestock operations. Now we see a move to limit, or eliminate, pesticides and herbicides for what is deemed ornamental use. As one Ottawa official stated a dandelion in a lawn hurts no one, the chemical to kill it might.

The proposals are outlined in the Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development release "Pesticides: Making the Right Choice." The question in people's minds in Toronto or Montreal quickly becomes if it's not safe on my lawn, is it safe on the wheat that goes to make flour? In each case the Liberals argue the legislation is not intended to change how farmers operate. However, the specifics of legislation is increasingly decided not in Parliament but through interpretation by the courts. Do Canadian farmers feel safe relying on some city judge ruling on an action brought about by an animal rights group on behalf of cattle regarding the cruelty of branding ?

The legislation is a bomb waiting for groups who do not have the best interests of farmers at heart to detonate on the agricultural community. That these pieces of legislation rumble through Parliament without a tightening of wording to protect farmers only goes to show two facts of Canadian life these days.

Firstly, farming no longer holds the attention of Parliamentarians. The litany of issues that have dragged on for years, the indifference to the impact of international trade wars and open-ended legislation simply increase with each Parliamentary session.

Secondly, the arrogance of the ruling Liberals continues to dominate the political landscape. With little Liberal representation in the west and even less concern over whether seats east of Ontario are ever won, the Grits have become a party that seems completely out-of-touch with the realities of farmers. It's a situation which leaves farmers in a precarious position. Their voice isn't being heard in Ottawa - that much is obvious. Repeatedly, the Liberals seem to lack an understanding of the needs of agriculture.

There are many issues facing farmers these days. Sadly too many are being spawned in our Parliament - a place which should create solutions, not add to the burden.

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Taylor Marie Koscielny, the baby daughter of Trent and Karla Koscielny was baptized at Dauphin on Sunday, May 21st.

Grandparents Elmer and Ann Koscielny and family, and great-grandparents Bill and Jean Stewart attended.

Some local friends attended Art Bayes 80th birthday tea at Minnedosa on Sunday, May 21st.

While some also attended the 90th birthday tea for Frank McPhadon which was held in Hamiota on Sunday, May 21st. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to both Art and Frank!

Susan & Jeff Shaw and Jeff's friend Michelle Delveaux spent the long weekend with Harvey & Janice Shaw.

Congratulations to Dawn Wilson who was chosen at the Rolling River festival to compete in the Provincial Grade V piano class in Brandon on Friday, May 19th.

The Sunday School Youth Class completed their winter project and have erected an Easter sign in the church yard. They put up the "Welcome" sign again, that had been damaged in the winter.

Some landscaping has been done around the signs which provides a beautiful finish for the whole project.

Congratulations to Tracy Radcliffe (daughter of Bob and Della Radcliffe) who is now practising her veterinary skills at the Brandon Animal clinic. Tracy graduated from Westman College of Veterinary in 1999.

Sympathy from the community to Dave & Jackie Nylen and family in the passing of his mother.

Lou & Elaine Saler have returned from Rocky Mountain House, AB where they visited with son Randy & Cindy and grandchildren. While there, they attended the grade XII graduation of their grandson Travis. My nephew Terry & Larraine Thomson of Edmonton also visited with us all at Rocky. We also visited a couple of days with my sister Bea & Bob Hunter of Calgary and an overnight with my sister Olive McLenahan of Virden, on the way home.

Willow Grove Hospital Aid

Our May meeting was a luncheon at Chicken Delight with 7 members answering roll call with a donation to the "Truck Stop" and P.C.H. and 41 hours of volunteer work.

Mary Horner & Jane McKinnon worked at the Florence Nightingale Tea. Thanks to you both . Jane McKinnon read a very interesting report of the last quarterly meeting at Newdale.

Sadie Northcott won the May Hostess gift, Alma Peterson to supply the June gift.

Next meeting to be held at Elaine Salers mid June. Roll call will be a piece of fruit.

Lizzie Shorrock adjourned the meeting.

Trail rides can lead to horse illness

It is time to dust off your saddle and horse and participate in the numerous fairs, clinics, and trail rides that summer has to offer. Of course, all of this activity involves mixing of horses from all different areas and farm backgrounds. This is a great opportunity not only to enjoy the great outdoors but also for diseases to spread. At the Minnedosa Veterinary Clinic, we have been hearing concerns from many horse enthusiasts about the spread of a very virulent flu virus in the area. Very young horses and horses with no vaccination history are the hardest hit with some even dying as a result of infection. Those horses who have had flu vaccinations usually have only suffered mild symptoms if any at all.

Flu symptoms involve fever, cough, runny nose, and lethargy. Best treatment is strict rest. An anti-inflammatory such as phenylbutazone may be given. If fever lasts longer than 5 days or the runny nose becomes thick and yellow, then antibiotics are indicated. Like any virus, ultimately it has to run its course.

If you still want to participate in the fairs, clinics, and trail rides, don't fret....there are some measures you can take. The best precaution is to vaccinate your horse. There are 2 different viruses which cause flu in horses: Influenza type A and Rhinopneumonitis. Vaccines are available against both. A four-way shot will cover your horse for flu (influenza), sleeping sickness, and tetanus or you can give the flu (influenza) shot separately. The vaccine for rhinopneumonitis can be purchased separately or in combination with influenza. If your horse has never been vaccinated before, it will require a booster shot 2-4 weeks after the first shot. To ensure maximum protection, it is best to ensure that the horse has received both shots at least 2 weeks after the first shot. To ensure maximum protection, it is best to ensure that the horse has received both shots at least 2 weeks before you participate in the event. Vaccination should not only involve the horse that is going off to the event but also any horses it may have contact with back home.

If you have any questions regarding how to best protect your horse, contact your local veterinary clinic.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

Adele Laferriere returned home Wednesday, 17th from a two day visit with daughter and son-in-law Joyce and Wayne Lewis at Oliver, B.C. She also visited with granddaughters Wanda Laferriere at Prince George and Sherri Lewis at Oliver, B.C. Joyce and Wayne asked to be remember to all friends in town.

Laura Haslen attended a special birthday celebration held Saturday, May 20 at Brandon to honour her daughter Alexe Jones 50th birthday. The surprise party was hosted by Alexe's children Jamie Jones and Patti Gesnarick, and was attended by 42 relatives and friends.

Rapid City and District friends were in attendance at the 80th birthday celebration held Sunday, May 21st in honor of Art Bayes. The pleasant event was held in the lower hall of Minnedosa United Church. It was good to see so many friends from Rapid City turn out - (it made you wonder if there was anyone left in town).

Baseball fans will be pleased that Rapid City's own Lorne Lelley is the new manager of the Brandon Clover Leaf Ball club.

Museum members met at the Reporter building Tuesday evening May 23rd. The new fire escape is going to be more costly than first thought it would be, but it is essential that one be in place before the museum opens for the summer months.

Sincere sympathy is expressed on behalf of all friends to Ray Hammersley and family on the sudden loss of a beloved wife, mother, and grandmother Marg Hammersley. Mrs. Hammersley passed away suddenly May 21st at Brandon Regional Health Centre.

I invite Rapid City subscribers to submit "news items" to me. It would be most welcome and would help to keep this column interesting.

Ducks Unlimited offer assistance in controlling soil salinity

After last year's wet conditions and a relatively dry winter and spring, saline soil patches are popping up across Manitoba especially around cultivated wetlands fringes. Ducks Unlimited Canada (DU) is urging producers to take note of salty patches on their land and to consider seeding these areas to forages.

"The saline soil we're seeing this year is capable of limiting annual crop growth and reducing yields in some fields," said Mike Thiele, DU's agrologist in Minnedosa. He also said it doesn't look like the problem of soil salinity is about to disappear anytime soon. "The water table is high right now but our relatively dry winter and spring have left surface soils dry. Groundwater is being drawn to the surface where it evaporates leaving salts on the soil surface. If left unmanaged, saline patches can expand and increase in severity until nothing can grow."

According to Ian Witherspoon, biologist with DU's Killarney office, producers who drained wetlands or removed vegetation from wetland fringes are seeing salinity creep into their cropland with every passing year. "Wetlands occur where there are depressions in the land. The water table is naturally close to the surface in these areas. Wetland plants and grasslands associated with wetlands act as a salinity barrier by covering the soil, absorbing water and preventing evaporation at the soil surface," Witherspoon said. "It's important to retain natural vegetation around wetlands because when it's removed there's nothing to prevent salts from forming at the soil surface."

A salinity barrier around wetlands can be recreated by planting salt-tolerant forages such as tall and slender wheatgrass. Ducks Unlimited Canada has offered producers assistance with establishing salinity barriers since the mid-1990s. Thiele, Witherspoon and other DU staff in Minnedosa, Killarney and Oak Hammock Marsh near Stonewall provide advice on forage selection, locating seed suppliers and seeding.

Diana and David Hyde, who run a mixed farm northeast of Shoal Lake, sought advice from DU when they decided to seed a saline-tolerant forage mix around sloughs on their land. "There was still grass [around the sloughs] but it was broken too far in," Diana said. "Where water runs from one pothole to another, it was white. Every year we were fertilizing this spot and nothing was growing. Once you get something growing there, it uses up the moisture." The Hydes just finished seeding a larger area to forages this year. Since grain prices are low, they said it's worth it for them to seed more of their marginal land to forage for their cattle. Witherspoon said the Hydes definitely have the right idea.

"If producers don't seed down saline soils around wetlands, the area will most likely remain unproductive and unprofitable," Witherspoon said. "While producers might consider filling in the wetland or draining it as a possible fix, these actions do nothing to prevent the movement of salts to the soil surface and they don't help to control salinity. Planting forages is a sustainable, long-term solution to salinity that helps to retain wetlands on agricultural landscapes."

Ducks Unlimited Canada conserves wetlands and associated habitat for waterfowl, other wildlife and people. Wetlands help to improve water quality and they also help to moderate droughts and floods. For more detailed information on how forages can address soil salinity on your land, contact your local conservation district representative, Manitoba Agricultural representative or the DU office in Minnedosa Killarney, Oak Hammock Marsh.

RCMP Question & Answer

Before answering any questions, there are a couple of things from past columns that should be cleared up. The first one is an omission and has to do with the question about a driver refusing to provide a breath sample for the Alcohol Screening Device. In addition to being charged with refusal and having his/her driver's license suspended, the vehicle (whether owned by the driver or not) will be seized and impounded for 30 days. The registered owner will be responsible for the towing and storage costs.

The second one is an error that must be corrected. The speed limit for tractors was changed in 1999, and is now either 70 km/hr or the lowest maximum rated speed of the tires of the tractor, as indicated on the side walls of the tires, which ever speed is the lesser.

I apologize for any confusion that this may have caused.

Q. There is a blackbird in my backyard that is constantly squawking. It is driving me crazy and scaring away all of the other birds. Can I shoot it with a pellet gun?

A. No. Under the Wildlife Act, no one can "hunt, trap, take, kill, or capture or attempt to trap. Take, kill or capture a wild animal unless the person does so under the authority of a license". A blackbird does fall under the definition of a "wild animal" under the Wildlife Act. So what can you do about those nuisance blackbirds? I would suggest phoning the Animal Control Officer or your local Department of Natural Resources. They should be able to help you out.

Q. I have a little trailer that I use to haul garbage to the dump. Do I have to register it?

A. Yes, you have to register all trailers. The only exception to this rule is if the trailer is owned by a farmer, drawn by a farm tractor, and is used for transporting the produce or property of the owner. The fine for towing an unregistered trailer is $147.00. However, if a vehicle is involved in an accident while towing and unregistered trailer, the vehicle is not considered registered. Therefore, any damages incurred will not be covered by Autopac!

Q. I recently injured my back, and wearing a seatbelt is very uncomfortable. Do I still have to wear it?

A. Yes, you still must wear your seatbelt. Unless you have a certificate signed by a qualified medical practitioner certifying that you are unable to wear the seatbelt for medical reasons, you must wear it. You must also produce the certificate if asked to do so by a peace officer. Speak to your doctor about this.

Q. Is there a law about driving too slowly? Sometimes on highway number 10 south, there will be one vehicle driving 80 km/hr, with 20 vehicles behind him, unable to pass. Isn't there something you can do?

A. Yes, there is a law which says that no person shall drive a motor vehicle at such a slow speed as to impede or block the normal and reasonable flow of traffic, except when it is necessary to do so for safe operation. If you get "stuck" behind an unreasonably slow vehicle (and the determination of "unreasonably" will depend on a number of factors, and is left up to the discretion of the police officer), record the license number of the offending vehicle, as well as the date, the time, and the place of the occurrence. Then make a report to the nearest police agency. The registered owner of the vehicle can be charged.

Q. My elderly mother is hard of hearing and can't see very well. I don't think she should be driving. What can I do?

A. I would suggest that you speak to her doctor about this. He/she can make a recommendation to the Motor Vehicle Branch to have her undergo a medical examination. If she doesn't pass, her license may be revoked or restricted. If her doctor doesn't want to get involved, speak to your local RCMP detachment.

Cadurcis Ladies Host Sing-A-Long

On May 25th the Cadurcis Ladies hosted a sing a long at the Hunterville Church at the Heritage Village in Minnedosa. Vivian Sharpe and Connie Sandstrom provided the music for the hymn singing and also accompanied the Merry Hearts Choir. Mel Taylor MC'd the event. President were: Lizzie Shorrock. Centurian who had sung in the choir and had taught Sunday School in the church. Also Vi Ferguson a long time member of the Merry Hearts Choir and still singing with them.

Among the 60 people in attendance were a group of people from the Personal Care Home. Many people enjoyed the music so much that they suggested we host one, once a month. The afternoon ended with the serving of refreshments.

TCS Topics

We are down to the last month of school and time has flown by. The grade five and six classes had their field trips last week and both were very successful. The grade five class went off to Winnipeg and the grade six's were in Brandon. Mrs. Brunel's grade four class will be going to the vet clinic this Thursday.

Good luck to all of our track students who are off to Brandon today for the divisional track meet. Softball practices have started and the divisional tournament will be held on June 7th at Sandy Lake. Ms. Paulsen is coaching the girls and the boys are coached by Mr. Gordon.

We received a letter from the Magazine Customer Services indicating that the orders will be filled as of July 11th. Provincial President attends Regional Health Auxiliary Meetings Provincial Treasurer Hazel Andrews, Provincial President Joan Madill, Provincial Secretary Gladys Broome.

Manitoba Health Auxiliaries Association (M.H.A.A.) President, Joan Madill, accompanied by Provincial Secretary Gladys Broome, Provincial Treasurer Hazel Andrews and Regional Director West Kay Lubiniecki attended the South Westman #1 Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Elkhorn on April 25th; South Westman #2 Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Treherne on April 26th; Marquette Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Neepawa on April 27th; and Parkland Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Ste. Rose on April 28th.

President Joan Madill, Secretary Gladys Broome, Treasurer Hazel Andrews and Regional Director East Shirley Michaluk attended North Eastman Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Pinawa on May 1st; Winnipeg Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at the Grace Hospital at noon on May 2nd; Interlake Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Teulon at 7p.m. on May 2nd; South Central Eastman #2 Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Steinbach on May 4th; South Central Eastman #1 Health Auxiliaries Regional Meeting at Pilot Mound on May 5th. There is one more Regional Meeting to attend and that is Burntwood Norman Health Auxiliaries at Flin Flon on May 27th.

All meetings were well attended. Each meeting was very educational and the speakers were informative.

President Joan Madill's address at each meeting gave the provincial statistics for 1999 which were: approximately $334,000 was spent on medical equipment, approximately $179,600 on non-medical equipment. We contributed approximately $206,950 to Foundations and approximately $32,600 to Scientific Research $14,000 to scholarships and bursaries and approximately $26,650 for Auxiliary education. She also gave pertinent information on the Constitution and Bylaws, Life Memberships, Photo Contest, Care Award and Newsletters, the Aux Cart and Volunteer Hours.

It was very rewarding to hear of the accomplishments of the Auxilians in their areas. Topics of speakers included: Anxiety Disorders, Diabetes, New Diagnostic Imaging Department at the Grace Hospital, Women and Heart Disease, Volunteering.. The Benefits and the Blessings, Confidentiality within our facilities..Our responsibilities as volunteers, Palliative Care, Volunteering and Changes in the Health Care System, Looking to the Future in the Medicare System, Diversity of items donated...All have an impact on the lives of the patients and residents.

Songbird of the Prairie

by Gerry Oliver

Few birds are identified as strongly with the prairies as the Western Meadowlark. Their melodic call in spring marks a new season and a public notice that a new generation of prairie life has truly begun.

Ernest Thompson Seton recorded in his journal on April 17, 1882 " Three Meadowlarks alighted on the fence today, quite near to me, and one of them delighted me by vociferating his short rich song with a beauty I never before heard". -Ernest Thompson Seton in Manitoba 1882 - 1892, Pemmican Ventures

The bright yellow throat and chest marked with the dark V are the markings familiar to most, but in flight, white, outer tail feathers flash readily. The males and females are similarly marked, however the female is not as bright.

These members of the blackbird family are common in areas with grassed fields, pastures and native prairie. They prefer open grassland and do not nest amongst trees.

The adult male meadowlarks return to the northern prairies in April where they set up breeding territories, two to four weeks before the females return from their wintering grounds in the southern U.S. and Mexico. All across the prairies the sound of the melodious songs ring out. Amongst the males there are constant singing duels. A male may have as many as seven songs in his repertoire from which he attempts to attract a female with an ear for his silver tongue. Physical fighting may also erupt amongst the males.

More than half of male meadowlarks attract at least two females into his territory, sometimes three. Their nests are on the ground amongst tall grasses, often in a hoof print or small hollow. An overarching canopy makes them very difficult to see. Usually four or five eggs are laid.

While the nests are well hidden in the mat of grasses, predators such as skunks, coyotes, foxes, magpies, crows and snakes prey on both the eggs and chicks. Mowing and various farm work is also responsible for the loss of many broods. With the presence of so many predators, fully two-thirds of nests fail. The chicks leave the nest at 10 - 12 days old. The parents continue to feed them on the ground until their flight feathers are developed two weeks later.

The young are fed insects and insect larvae. During the period the young are in the nest, each one may consume up to three thousand grasshopper nymphs and a smattering of weed seeds.

HRDC Big Brother, Big Coverup, Big SINS

The latest revelations about Human Resources Development Canada (HRDC) can only spell more trouble for the department and its battle weary Minster, Jane Stewart.

From the Privacy Commissioner's latest report, we now learn that HRDC has been keeping a "de facto citizen profile containing as many as 2,000 pieces of information about each of more than 30 million Canadians." This startling revelation is contained in the latest report from Commissioner Bruce Phillips.

Phillips notes that "... successive Privacy Commissioners have assured Canadians that there was no single federal government file, or profiles about them. We were wrong - or not right enough for comfort." In other words, when Phillips' predecessors asked Stewart's officials if they were keeping a Big Brother type database, the answer was no, no and no.

But alas, such a database, the Longitudinal Labour Force File (hereafter referred to as Big Canuck), does exist. In other words, our government has been lying to successive Privacy Commissioners for years. Comforting? Hardly.

Big Canuck pulls data from HRDC files and tax records to compile a profile that is supposedly used for social policy planning purposes. But the wealth of information Big Canuck contains is astounding. Your age, marital status, job history, income statistics, current and/or past use of federal entitlement programs, immigration status ... just to name a few are found in Big Canuck.

Opposition MPs and journalists alike are urging Canadians who are curious to see what the government knows about them to flood HRDC with requests.

Should you wish to do so, your request (at no charge) must be in sent in writing to HRDC in Ottawa asking for your record in the Longitudinal Labour Force File.

Of course, Ottawa insists that the data is secure and will never be sold or used for nefarious purposes. But then again, this is the same Ottawa that denied the existence of this database in the first place. Why should we believe them now?

Now the department claims that only $6,500 is actually missing in the billion-dollar boondoggle scandal, or Shovelgate if you prefer.

Minister Stewart recently told a Commons committee that a review of some 17,000 files representing grants and contributions close to $16 billion showed that only $6,500 in overpayments was outstanding. What this report fails to disclose, or more accurately covers up, is the money in question in over a dozen separate police investigations, including three in the Prime Minister's riding. And another $900,000 in expenditures were recorded as adjustments since recipients could not provide receipts for this money. In an attempt to silence criticism of the jobs grants scandal, HRDC has instead invited more questions from an already skeptical taxpaying public. Comforting? Hardly.

Finally, we must return to the Privacy Commissioner's report. While Big Canuck received all the attention, another transgression of the government escaped notice. Mr. Phillip's "expresses disappointment" that the feds have not passed a law governing who may and who may not use the Social Insurance Number (SIN). Even though an all-party committee recommended such action in light of damaging reports from the Auditor General and others about the misuse of and poor management of the SIN, the government dithers.

And guess whose responsible for effective management of SIN numbers?

You're right if you guessed HRDC. Comforting? Hardly.

— Walter Robinson, Federal Director

Victor Vrsnik Provincial Director Canadian Taxpayers Federation - Manitoba http://www.taxpayer.com

Make sure students know how to be safe on the job

Students from around the province will soon be out in full force looking for summer jobs. For many of these young people, landing a job will mean their entry into the workforce. Make sure they have everything they need on their first day, including a good understanding of how to stay safe on the job.

Each job includes special safety precautions, but contact with overhead power lines is dangerous no matter where you work.

If students are working with equipment at a construction site, instruct them to maintain at least three metres or 10 feet of clearance at all times. More clearance is required as the voltage in overhead power lines becomes greater. Encourage all workers to familiarize themselves with the locations of power lines in the work area, and to look up often to remind themselves of the danger.

If students are working on a farm for the season, remind them to lower dump truck boxes, sprayer booms, cultivator wings and grain augers before moving through the yard. Tell them to find a safer route if a power line is in their path. And never lift a line with lumber or a pole. Make safety a priority this season!

The Rec Files

Ken Surovy – Rec Director

The 2000 MTS Manitoba Summer Games promotion is well underway with the Regional Finals being held in Boissevain June 23rd – 25th and the Provincial Finals to be held in Virden, August 9th – 13th. The registration deadline is June 2 and registration forms can be picked up at the Recreation Office.

The Westman Sport Association (WSA) "Sport Scholarship" is open to all graduating Westman students who meet funding criteria with one female and one male student athlete being awarded a $400 scholarship. The WSA "Dedication to Sport Award" is open to all grade 10-12 Westman Students who meet funding criteria. This award is for students that assist with the team as a trainer, manager, etc as opposed to a student who participates in a sport. Each school is allowed to nominate a student and the recipient receives a Sport Bag and certificate. WSA is also holding a "Sport Camp Draw" for 9 - 18 yrs olds to receive up to 50% of their sport camp registration paid to a maximum of $200. To enter, youth submit a copy of the camp registration form and a receipt for the deposit. Funds will be released to the selected winner upon the completion of the camp and once a receipt for full payment of the registration fee is submitted to the WSA office. The deadline for all the above is June 1, 2000. Registration forms for the "Scholarship" and "Sport Award" can be picked up at the Recreation Office.

Basketball Manitoba has compiled a complete listing of every basketball camp taking place this summer throughout Manitoba which is posted on the bulletin board at the Conference Centre. Most camps are in Winnipeg with one in Dauphin and several in Brandon.

Locally, the Recreation Commission spring programs are well underway. Up coming pre-registration programs include T-ball, Parent Pitch, One Hit Wonders, Inside/Outside, Leaders in Training and Pleasure Craft Operator Card Course. Drop-in opportunities include Aquasize and Boxersize. Also, don't miss the annual SummerActive Softball challenge game with the MCI All-stars meeting the Minnedosa Celebrites. The Celebrites are out for revenge after the WinterActive beating they received. As well, we are taking registration for the Summer Day Camps and Swimming lessons.

Pre-registration is required for all programs except the drop-in Boxersize and Aquasize. For more information about these and other activities, call the Recreation Office at 867-2272.

Green Team offers summer jobs to Manitoba Youth

More than 700 summer jobs are available for youth between the ages of 16 and 24 through the province's Rural Green Team program.

The program, worth $1.85 million, includes two components: Hometown Green Team, which provides job opportunities in rural communities, and Conservation Green Team, which offers work in Manitoba's provincial parks.

The Hometown Green Team component is available to municipalities and communities, local tourist operators, conservation districts and non-profit organizations. For the first time this year, the program has been expanded to include tourism-oriented heritage groups.

Approved participants in Hometown Green Team receive cost-shared funding on a 50/50 basis to cover salaries and other support costs for each student hired. In order to qualify, youth must be employed for up to eight weeks between June 12 and Aug. 31. Towns, municipalities and organizations can each hire up to five youth.

The Conservation Green Team component offers youth employment opportunities in provincial parks for general maintenance and other duties, including positions as park interpreters. Employment terms are for three months (May 23 to Aug. 25) and two months (July 4 to Aug. 25).

Interested young people can apply for Hometown Green Team positions by contacting participating towns, municipalities and organizations and for Conservation Green Team jobs by applying at their nearest Conservation office.

The Urban Green Team program provides similar job opportunities for youth in Winnipeg.

Use common sense around power tools

As you gear up for spring clean up, make safety your main concern, especially if the job requires the use of power tools. Safety around power tools involves remaining alert, knowing how your tool will behave when operated and, more than anything else, using common sense.

Here are some safety tips to apply when working with power tools.

- Disconnect a power tool when you're not using it or when making an adjustment, cleaning it or changing blades, bits or attachments. Never leave a power tool running unattended.
- When working with a power tool, use only a heavy-duty, grounded (three-prong) extension cord that is 14 gauge or larger. Connect a tool with a three-prong plug to a grounded, three-hole outlet, preferably an outlet with a ground fault interrupter.
- Never carry a power tool by its cord. Don't pull on the cord to unplug the tool; pull the plug itself. Otherwise, you may break the wires inside the power cord.
- Dress safely. Don't wear loose clothing. Roll your sleeves above the elbows. Wear safety goggles and earplugs that reduce (but don't eliminate) sound.
- Take your time! Shortcuts are a major cause of workshop accidents!

In Memoriam

Olson - In loving memory of Venar Olson, Dear Father, and Grandfather, who passed away June 1st, 1999.

There will always be a heartache
and many a silent tear.
But always precious memories
Of the days when you were here
You never failed to do your best.
Your heart was true and tender
You lived your life for those you loved
And those you loved remember.

Bertha
Peter & Bernice & family
Wallace & Carol & family.
x (C6)

Carlson - In loving memory of our dear Mom, Annie, who passed away May 31, 1989.

May the winds of love blow softly
And whisper to you can hear
Your family will always love you
And wish that you were here
Deep are the memories
Precious they stay
No passing of time
Can take them away
Each of us in our own special way
Remember you with love today.

Forever loved and forever missed by Bob, Marguerite, Esther and Violet. x (C6)

Koroscil - In loving memory of my dear husband, father, great grandfather and Gigi Steve who passed away on May 31, 1999.

A heart of gold stopped beating
Hard working hands at rest
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best
The leaves and flowers may wither
The golden sun may set
But the hearts that love you so dearly
Are the ones who won't forget
As we loved you to we miss you
In our memory you are near Loved, remembered, longed for always Bringing many a silent tear

Forever loved and sadly missed by your loving wife Anne, children and grand children. x (C6)

Many thanks to my friends, relatives, family, The Royal Canadian Legion #138 and the R.M. of Odanah for all the phone calls, visits and gifts during my stay in the Hospital and since I arrived home. Special thanks to all the doctors and staff at the Minnedosa Hospital. Keith Ritchie. x (CD)

Thank you to the Heritage Co-op and the Social Club for hosting the social in honor of my retirement. Thank you to all the speakers who expressed their appreciation for my years of service. Thank you to all the friends, relatives and patrons who may have traveled a long way to share this special evening with me. Many thanks for all the cards, gifts and special attention I received. An evening I'll always remember. Ron Drozda and family. x (CD)

Thank you to everyone who attended my bridal shower at Basswood May 20th. Thanks for all the gifts from those who attended as well as everyone who sent gifts but were unable to attend. Special thanks to the shower committee for hosting the shower, for providing delicious desserts and for their group gift. Also thanks to the Basswood Community for their gift and best wishes. Karen Harrington. x (CD)

I would like to send sincere thank you's to my Children and Grandchildren for planning and working a happy occasion. Also thank you to all my family and friends that attended. I sent $139.00 to the Heart & Stroke. I sure enjoyed seeing you all. Art Bayes. x (CD)

Thank you to friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy with phone calls, flowers, cards and baking brought to the house at the time of the loss of a son and brother. Thank you to Kathy Platt for conducting the memorial service. Our appreciation to the United Church Choir and to Fred Scott and Tom Crook for the music. Thanks to family and friends for providing the lunch following the memorial service. Thank you to Sparrow Funeral Home. Helen Ross & Family. x (CD)

The families of Margaret (Smith) Gray wish to thank all those who expressed their sympathy at the time of Mom's passing. Thank you for all the cards, visits, phone calls, gifts of food, flowers and memorial donations made in Mom's memory. A very special thanks to the staff at the personal care home who gave Mom love and attention during her stay there. Thank you to Rev Falk for his touching service. Thanks to the choir, the organist and the A.C.W. Ladies for the lovely lunch. Thanks also to Sparrow Funeral Service for their help during a difficult time. Tom and Sheila, Bill and Millie, Tom and Ellen, Kay and Families. (CD)

Cards of Thanks

Thanks to my family and our many friends who cared about me through this lovely month of May. That battle with pneumonia was a reminder that as we mature it takes a little longer to recover. I much appreciated the cheery cards, phone calls, fruit baskets, and other goodies. Special thanks to Dr. Bright, Dr. Roche, hospital and medical staff for their many acts of kindness and excellent care. I am now well on the mend and am learning to slow down when my body gives me the message. Thanks so much again. Tom Delgaty. x (CD)

Obituary

Edith Margaret Smith Gray

Margaret Smith Gray passed into the arms of her heavenly father April 17, 2000 at the age of 88 years. Margaret was born on September 6, 1911 and was the last surviving child of the eight children of the late Jack and Annie Leigh (postmasters for many years in Clanwilliam). Margaret married William Garvin Smith in 1929 and they resided on the family farm just outside Clanwilliam. There they raised four children. Sons, Thomas (Sheila) of Clanwilliam, William of Calgary, Garvin (deceased, wife Kay) of Flin Flon, and daughter Ellen (Tom) of Toronto.

Following Bill's death in 1954, Margaret moved to London, Ontario. There she married Milton Gray and helped raise his three children. Lois (Ted) of London, Mary (Willis) of Parkhill, Ont. and son Wally (Elaine) of London.

Margaret returned to Minnedosa in 1975 and took up residence at the Legion Gardens where she lived until moving to the Minnedosa Personal Care Home in 1999. Extremely proud of her families their beloved Nana will be missed by 33 grandchildren, 38 great grandchildren, and 7 great great grandchildren.

Margaret was a great lover of Cribbage and Euchre and was known to win now and then at Bingo.

Margaret was predeceased by husbands William, of Clanwilliam, Milton, of London, Ont., son Garvin, Grandsons Brent and David Smith of Clanwilliam and Granddaughter Sandra Smith of Toronto.

Funeral service was held Friday, May 5, 2000 at St. Mark's Anglican Church. The traditional service was conducted by Rev. Peter Falk. Urn bearer was granddaughter Robin Munro. Cremated, Margaret's ashes were interred in St. John's cemetery.

If friends so desire Memorial donations may be made to the Kidney Foundation of Canada. Sparrow Funeral Services were in care of arrangements.

Elsie Evelyn Burkett

Elsie Burkett passed away peacefully on March 9, 2000 at Ridge Meadows Hospital. She was a daughter born to Charles and Signe Benson. She leaves to cherish her memory, her husband Lawrence, daughter Tannis Anderson, son, Brent Sterland, four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. She is also survived by two sisters, Mabel Lundin and Nina Morrison. Elsie was deceased by her eldest grandson, Scott. A celebration of her life was held on March 13.

Obituary

Paul Nicholas Chastko

In his 95th year, Paul Nicholas Chastko passed away on Saturday, May 20, 2000, at Minnedosa Hospital after a brief illness. He was born at Rackham, Manitoba February 1, 1906, one of twelve children of Manitoba pioneers, Kasmier and Maria Chastko. He attended Jackfish School and Manitoba Agricultural College. Paul was employed at the Cartwright Creamery when he met and married Anastasia (Nettie) Czosnyk on September 7, 1930. He farmed at Ozerna from 1936-1946 and at Strathclair from 1945 until 1972, when he and Nettie retired to Minnedosa.

A devoted husband and family man, Paul, together with Nettie, raised four children whose accomplishments were a source of much pride. A great steward of the land and nature, farming was a way of life for Paul. He also liked to go fishing with his sons when time permitted and remained interested in farming for the remainder of his life. Paul was an active member of the community. The friendships he formed with neighbors both in Minnedosa and Strathclair were long-lasting and fulfilling. He spent many hours talking with them about the community, farming, families and life, and this gave him tremendous enjoyment through the years as he watched the community grow up around him. Even though Paul could remember a time when the community was small, he did not believe that time stood still. When he retired from farming in 1972 and settled in Minnedosa, Paul and Nettie still maintained an active lifestyle. Spare time was filled with reading, and tending to a small garden in his backyard. During the winters, Paul undertook different projects like making hooked rugs - many of which are still proudly displayed in family homes across Western Canada. By his own standards, he learned to become a "competent" cook and baker, though those close to him would say that he didn't give his cooking skills enough credit. Among his specialties, family members eagerly awaited loaves of bread, perogies, and other delights. Above all, Paul was a devoted and faithful member of the St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church where he drew the strength and courage that characterized his daily life.

Paul is survived by his daughter, Betty Lys, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and his sons Kazmer (Jeanne), Sherwood Park, Alberta, Tony (Audrey), Calgary, Alberta and Lloyd (Margaret), Strathclair, Manitoba. He is also survived by eight grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren: Terry (Lenora), Katherine, Alexandra, Emanuel and Kennedy Lys, Calgary, Alberta; Patricia Lys (Ed Dodge), Richmond, B.C.; Bob (Pam), Matthew, Jordan, and Racquel Lys, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan; Larry (Debbie), Pamela, and Christopher Chastko, Bonneyville, Alberta; Linda (Laurens), Brian and Julie Visser, Calgary, Alberta; Paul A. Chastko, Athens, Ohio; Shelly (Dale), and Tyson Nichols, Erickson, Manitoba; Travis Chastko, Brandon, Manitoba; and one brother, Stanley (Anne) Chastko, Brandon, Manitoba.

He was predeceased by his wife Anastasia (Nettie) in 1979, his daughter Julia in 1945, his son-in-law Harry Lys in 1995, and his granddaughter Ann-Marie Chastko in 1999.

Prayers were held at the Sparrow Funeral Chapel, Minnedosa on Monday, May 22, 2000 at 7:30 P.M. Funeral Mass was celebrated at St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church on Tuesday, May 23, 2000 at 10:00 A.M. with Father Chris Soeterbeek officiating. Interment followed at St. Anthony's Church cemetery at Jackfish.

In lieu of flowers, for those who wish, the family would appreciate donations to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Canadian Cancer Society. (C7)

Emil Shellborn

Emil Shellborn passed away suddenly at Calgary Foothills Hospital, April 22, 2000, following a short illness. He was predeceased by his wife, Esther (Eastland), his daughters, May, in infancy, and Frances Johns, his brothers, Roy, Ernest and sister Alice Rick. He will be dearly missed, by his daughters Ruby Wellander, of Creston, B.C. and Doris Powell, and son Daryl of Jaffray, B.C., eleven grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews. Emil was born May 3, 1905 in Clanwilliam, Manitoba. In 1925 he and Esther and baby Frances moved to B.C. where he worked in various lumber mills. He retired in 1969. He enjoyed working around his acreage, cutting wood, driving his tractor and playing Scandinavian music on his accordion. The door was always open to all who called, and times of reminiscing about old times and old friends always brought smiles to young and old alike. An afternoon of remembrance was held in his honour, Saturday, April 29.

Obituary

Archibald (Bill) David McLean

After a brief illness, on May 22, 2000 Archie passed away at the age of 75 at the Minnedosa Regional Hospital. He was born in Edmonton, Alberta on June 28, 1924. Archie was predeceased by parents, Archie and Martha, brothers George and Jimmy, sisters, Aggie, Jessie and Margaret.

Archie spent his early years on a farm near Smith, Alberta. He went to school at Mirror Landing until he obtained his grade 7 standing. However whatever he set his mind to do, whether it was as a mechanic, carpenter, or mink rancher, his lack of formal education didn't affect the competence or quality of his work.

Like many farm boys, in 1939 Archie fibbed about his age and joined the Canadian Army. Because his father was a telegraph operator and Archie helped out, he was able to skip basic training and was an instructor for wireless communication in Dundurn, Sask. However, it wasn't long before he asked to be transferred and took his training for combat in Borden, Ontario." He was a tank commander serving in Britain and Northwest Europe from 1941 to 1946.

Upon returning to Canada at the end of the 2nd World War, he became a telegraph operator and was stationed in Buffalo Narrows, Saskatchewan. He met and married Patricia (Patsy) Pederson on June 15, 1950. Shortly thereafter, he started his own business as a mink rancher.

Pat and Bill had four children: Lillian (Wilf) Strahl, Minnedosa (children: Brian, Brent and Brad); Linda (Hugh) McNeil, Kenora (Richard, Lindy and Leighia); Archie, Winnipeg (Michelle and David); Cheri (Terry) Moffat, Saskatoon (Theron and Nolan) Great grandchildren: Jessica and Dillon (Brian) Rachelle & David (Michelle) Also surviving are Archie's brother, Malcolm (Jenny) McLean and sister Isabel Wagner and numerous nieces and nephews.

In his spare time, Archie loved country music and played the violin and guitar. He gardened all his life and fished and hunted. But his true interest and love was for his children and grandchildren. He was a life time member of the Royal Canadian Legion and of the Benevolent Order of Elks. Archie contributed to many charities and admired the Salvation Army especially for their bravery during the War.

A celebration of his life took place at the Minnedosa United Church at the 11th hour on May 25, 2000 with Pastor Elgin Hall officiating. Interment followed in the Veteran's section at the Minnedosa Cemetery. David McLean was the Urn bearer.

If friends so desire, memorial donations may be made to the Salvation Army or a charity of choice.

Sparrow Funeral Service in care of arrangements.

Practice makes Perfect

Members of the Minnedosa Volunteer Fire Department and the Minnedosa Ambulance Services pooled their efforts at the Fire Hall last Sunday, in an exercise designed to further co-ordinate efforts in saving lives of victims of automobile accidents.

A stuffed dummy played the part of the most severely injured, with other volunteers playing the role of less injured. Rescue crews practiced lifting vehicles off of victims as well as cutting others out of seat belts and removing them from overturned vehicles.

The weather was dismal to say the least, but the personnel on hand worked through the soaking rain for over two hours during the exercise.

E. coli outbreak .. Is our water safe?

The death toll as of this writing now stands at 11 with more in critical condition as an E. coli outbreak in the town's water supply has stricken Walkerton, Ontario, population 5,000.

This past week, two children from Elkhorn were diagnosed with the same disease, this time, uncooked hamburger meat is the suspect.

Each year, between 50 and 150 cases of this type are reported in Manitoba. On a dispersed basis, such does not raise many alarms. However, when an entire town is virtually shut down, its reputation destroyed almost overnight, and its citizenry threatened, The Tribune decided to take a look inside our water system.

Is our water safe?

Lions make initial donation to Library expansion project

Minnedosa Lions Club President Alf Iverson presents Librarian Georgina Johnson with a cheque in the amount of $5,000. The donation is the initial payment of a $10,000 pledge to the project which is expected to be completed next year. The Lions raised the funds through their annual 200 Club Draw. "It's a wonderful commitment from a community organization," stated Georgina, who also indicated that the funds bring the total raised to date for the Library to $99,544, $14,821 of that from service clubs.

Groundwork begins on new Co-op store

Construction has begun on the new Co-op grocery store. Last Thursday saw Moffat Bros. Ltd on site clearing away debris, and beginning initial ground work for the 18,710 sq. ft. store. Both the house and storage shed that had previously occupied the site had been previously removed.

Co-op General Manager Barry McPhail indicated that Man-Shield Construction of Winnipeg has been awarded the contract for the building and Harvey Douglas of the R.M. of Odanah, an employee of Man-Shield, will be the site manager during the project.

McPhail indicated that it is hoped that if all goes well, the store should be open by November 1st. Steel will begin going up within a month.

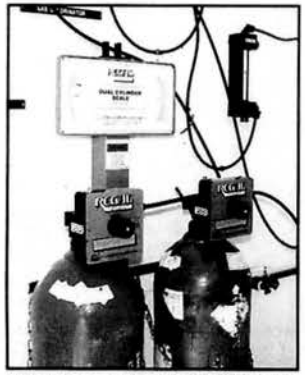
How safe is our water ...

By Bob Mummery

With the recent outbreak of Escherichia Coli, otherwise known as E.coli in the town of Walkerton, Ontario and resulting deaths of five residents and reported illness of over 1,000 others, The Tribune spoke with Town Superintendent Allan Jamieson, the town employee who is ultimately responsible for the safety of the Town of Minnedosa's water supply.

Jamieson indicated that a constant injection of chlorine into the town's water supply keeps a variety of bacterias, including the most severe strains of E.coli in check and that several alarms and back-up systems in place ensure that our water is among the safest to drink.



Basically, town well water is pumped into either of the two water treatment plants located on either side of the Little Saskatchewan River. Chlorine, in the form of bottled liquid under pressure is released as a gas into the water stream as it enters the town water plants. Controls are in place that monitor the amount of Chlorine as it both exits the pressurized bottle and again as it enters the raw water main.

Approximately 55 pounds of liquid chlorine is put into the town's water supply at an approximate cost to the town of about $16 per day. Should there be a fault in the injection system, an alarm trips on the control panel which automatically dials the phone numbers of the town offices as well as the two water works employees and Jamieson. The calls will solicit an immediate response to the water plant where corrective measures will be put into action.

As well, the town's water supply is constantly monitored by a Chlorine Residual Analyzer at both plants and normally registers at at least one part chlorine per million parts of water. In addition, water tests are conducted each day in a separate machine called a Data Logging Spectrophotometer where a water sample is added to a chemical DPD Reagent which turns the water sample a pink color. The machine reads the amount of pink in the water and that figure confirms the automatic analyser readings.

Why chlorine? According to Jamieson, there are at least two other options available to treat water and ensure its safety, those being ultraviolet light and ozone. However neither of these options offer any protection once water leaves the plant. In other words, they will not inhibit any bacteria that already exists in the distribution system. The chlorine content in town water is critical to keeping ecoli and other bacteria from polluting the water supply. Any negligence in maintaining the integrity of the system or its monitoring process can and as far as Walkerton, Ontario is concerned, will result in a catastrophic situation.

Town Superintendent Allan Jamieson readies a water sample for shipment to Winnipeg

Testing for resident bacteria

Every second Monday, town employees take four samples of water and those samples are sent to a laboratory in Winnipeg for testing. One sample is taken from the raw water as it exits the town well and flows into the treatment plant. Another sample is taken of treated water from the plant as it enters the water mains and a third sample is taken from the residential areas chosen at random, one in the north end of town and the other in the south.

According to Allan Jamieson, those samples are taken at 8 a.m. on Monday morning and are shipped off on the 9 a.m. bus to Enviro-Test Laboratories in Winnipeg. Samples are picked up from the bus station in Winnipeg by noon and by 4 p.m. that day, the tests are well underway. Results, if normal, are then faxed back to the town offices where they are reviewed by Jamieson and signed as having been read.

In a situation where a bacteria is found to be present in dangerous amounts, the laboratory officials notify the town and a resample is taken and results confirmed.

In the event that there is a problem, a definite order of notification would be put into action including alerting both the Department of Health and the Department of the Environment, with further notification to the Regional Public Heath Inspector from Brandon who would then begin working with the town to solve the problem.

"In my 18 years with the Town of Minnedosa, we have never had to raise the alarm", stated Jamieson. However, if the system did suffer from a complete failure, Jamieson has one tried and true back-up, and that is pouring Javex into the system. "Javex is five per cent chlorine and 95% water and readily available in town grocery stores. If our system completely broke down, the addition of Javex would give us the same results as we are currently achieving".

Those around us ...

Those residents of the R.M. of Odanah who are connected to town water are protected in two ways. Treated town water is shipped to the Odanah plant where it is again chlorinated and sent on its way to their rural customers. However, those in surrounding R.M.'s who are not connected to treated water and particularly those who are using well water are on their own.

Visitors using the Minnedosa Lake Campgrounds and cabin area on the east side of Minnedosa Lake will benefit this summer from the recently installed water lines providing chlorinated water from the town. Those on the Brandosa side, however, remain unprotected.

Individuals are able to have their water tested by contacting Enviro-Test in Winnipeg at 204-945-3705. The cost of a sample test is $26.75 and should be done on a regular basis. Results will be forwarded back to the owner within 24 hours.

Small residential sized chlorine additive systems are available on the market and are relatively easy to install and maintain.

What to do when camping?

When camping and you are not sure of the safety of the water made available to you, this simple procedure can help. Pour 1/2 teaspoon full of Javex into five gallons of well water and that will result in about 3 ppm of free chlorine, more than enough to ensure safety, provided the water is not overly contaminated.

Experts coming

Anytime that a new 'rural initiative' is announced with great fanfare and flag waving, it always comes down to the same thing. Meetings.

Last week a new federal intiative to benefit rural Canada was announced by The Honourable Andy Mitchell, Secretary of State for Rural Development. He's about to dump $9.3 million into what they call the Canadian Agricultural Rural Communities Initiative (CARCI) which funding will be provided under the Canadian Adaptation and Rural Development (CARD) fund. Enough initials to desecrate any highway overpass.

Anyway, monies are to be doled out for the following initiatives:

Rural coordination organizations; Partnership projects that develop community-based partnerships; Workshops, conferences and seminars; Research related to agricultural rural communities.

Basically, all are roundtable meetings where city bred experts are brought in to coordinate meetings of locals where a variety of ideas are put on the table, discussed, priorized, bookletized and then promptly piled on the heap generated from the last round of round tables conducted a decade or so ago when the idea, at that time, was thought to be revolutionary, cutting-edge and at the forefront of a great growth boom for the rural economy.

What governments (who are all here to help) fail to realize is that the ideas for economic development are already existent in most communities. Us rural folk already know what is needed. But what never seems to be funded are the people to implement those ideas. We don't need more meetings. We need resources to implement ideas that have been prioritized eons ago. Another nine mill down the toilet.

Order of Remembrance

The proposed Order of Remembrance will hopefully be the third and final leg of the Triple Crown that the Royal Canadian Legion has set out as its goal in helping to protect Canada's military history.

The three projects that the Legion undertook involved the two-minute Wave of Silence which took place across the country on November 11th. This year, the Tomb of the Uknown Soldier was finally established and an uknown soldier, the remains of a veteran who died on the battlefields of Vimy Ridge, took his place in the tomb at the National War Memorial in Ottawa this past week.

Next in line is the proposed 'Order of Remembrance'. If the federal government approves of the proposal, the award would honour Canadians who have done something significant towards the preservation of our military history. As of this moment, it has been reported that both the government and the honours directorate of the Governor-General have adopted a "wait-and-see attitude".

Over the past decade, Legion memberships have shrunk by 120,000 members to its present enlistment of 480,000. The trend is expected to continue on its present course. Due to that fact, concerns have become evident within the Legion ranks that steps should be taken now in order to preserve the memory and the history of war, and protect the traditions that have already been put in place. This must be done before the last of the war veterans disappear.

The year 2001 will herald the 75th Anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion. Their anniversary year could not offer governing authorities a better opportunity than now to grant our veterans this wish.

A budding Babe Ruth?

These young T-Ballers are shown lined up for their first at-bat with the group being led by Michael Haywood.

Leaders Ken Surovy and Lori Gwyer are running the camp which includes both boys and girls aged 3 to 5. The focus of the camp is to develop basic skills of catching, hitting and running in a non-competitive environment.

T-ball will continue at Minnedosa Beach each Tuesday evening for the next five weeks.

Phantom Phone?
We had a local lady call us last week to tell us about the fact that she recently found out she had been paying MTS for a rental phone that didn't exist. Not only that, she had been paying for the phone for the past 9 1/2 years! Rental phones are not listed on your phone bill and unless you go into a phone center and ask for an explanation of your bill, you may not realize that you have been paying for something you don't have. In this case, it happened that almost a decade ago, they had exchanged an old rotary dial phone for a touch tone type but the former had not been removed from their account. Unknowingly, they continue to pay, and pay, and pay until just recently when they had a check of their account done. A reimbursement was received from MTS for their oversight, but only for the previous five years and not the full term of the overcharge. In her words of warning, "Please check your phone bills."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
Recently I introduced a Private Members Motion in the House of Commons that calls on the government to amend the Income Tax Act to provide a tax credit of $500 to all emergency service volunteers, such as volunteer firefighters.

Currently a tax-free allowance of $1000 is provided only to those emergency service volunteers who receive honoraria for their services. This current policy discriminates against firefighters in small rural communities. These areas rely on volunteer firefighters in times of emergency and many are being unfairly left out in the cold by this government.

Volunteer fire fighters from coast to coast risk their lives to help their fellow citizens and to protect their communities. All of them should be recognized for their dedication by providing a $500 tax credit.

I hope that the government will support this worthwhile initiative.

Scott Brison, Member of Parliament for Kings-Hants P.C Finance, Treasury Board and Revenue Canada Critic.

Dear Editor:

This letter is written in support of youth in our community. Too often, attention is given to the negative activities with which some youth are involved when there are so many things to make our community proud.

An excellent high school drama production, the graduation class who assisted the Kinettes and Kinsmen with highway clean-up, the many youth from Minnedosa involved with the Strathclair Drama Production, the Minnedosa Skateboard Association who are working diligently to establish a facility, an excellent band concert, the youth who represent our community in the Brandon University Conservatory Chorale, the youth who volunteer their time at Tanner's Crossing as lunch room monitors, youth who represent our community at national and international events, youth who are members of all the sport teams, Candystripers, youth involved with committees who work towards making our community a better place in which to live, are only a few examples of what our Minnedosa youth are doing.

Recognition must also be given to the teachers, mentors and coaches of this community who enable all of these things to happen for our youth.

It is important for us to keep a perspective of the contribution that our youth make to our community. They will continue to need our support.

Sincerely, Colleen Jury

Dear Editor:

Readers of The Tribune's May 15 editorial did not receive a fair picture of Manitoba's tax position, as the editorial was based on three mistaken assumptions.

Number one: It is false to claim that ours is the highest taxed province in Canada. The Opposition made this unsupported claim during debate in the House. However, no matter how you compare Manitoba's personal taxes - taxes paid by a typical family or taxes as a share of the provincial economy - Manitoba ranks in the middle of the pack. This has been recently confirmed by independent sources, including the interprovincial tax comparison published in the Saskatchewan Budget, and by the Canadian Tax Foundation.

Number two: The editorial falsely asserts that Budget 2000 did not cut personal or business taxes. In fact, Manitoba personal income taxes have been reduced by $50 million this year, and they will fall a further $68 million in 2001 and $34 million in 2002. In addition, the Property Tax Credit was increased this year - a savings to Manitobans of $26 million. Finally, small business income taxes are reduced by $6 million this year and will be reduced by a further $6 million in both 2001 and 2002. For a family of four with one income of $40,000, the personal tax reductions will generate a cumulative saving of $1,314 by 2002 from a 1999 base.

Number three: Contrary to your editorial's interpretation of the Globe and Mail's review of provincial economic performance, Manitoba's economy in 2000 is set to recover from a weak year in 1999. The consensus among independent private sector forecasters is that Manitoba's economic growth rate will increase to 2.7% this year, up from 2.2% in 1999, with stronger growth in employment. Indeed, Manitoba's unemployment rate, consistently one of the lowest in Canada, fell to 5.0% in April - the lowest monthly unemployment rate in 20 years.

Budget 2000 fulfilled many of the commitments we made to Manitobans in last year's election. Our budget is balanced. We have improved support for health care. There is new hope for young people as a result of lower tuition and better support for education and training. And we are providing responsible tax relief - including enhanced support for families with children - that maintains Manitoba's status as one of the most affordable provinces in which to raise a family.

Sincerely,
Stan Struthers
MLA, Dauphin-Roblin

Loss of Shilo base termed "unacceptable"

The Manitoba legislative all-party committee on the future of land forces has agreed to go to Ottawa next week to press Manitoba's position with the federal government.

The committee is requesting to meet with federal Foreign Affairs Minister Lloyd Axworthy, senior Manitoba MP, and Minister of National Defence Art Eggleton.

"The committee's overriding concern is the retention of all Canadian soldiers stationed here and the retention of existing levels of economic activity generated by the units based in Manitoba," said Premier Gary Doer.

The committee agrees with the Department of National Defence (DND) that 2PPCLI cannot remain in its current Kapyong Barracks location and that it must be relocated. But the committee also recognizes that consolidation of troops in Western Canada has been occurring in Edmonton, and stands united in rejecting any DND option which would relocate either 1RHCHA or 2PPCLI to Edmonton.

To that end, the committee has agreed to recommend two main options for the future of the bases in Manitoba:

- Brandon-Winnipeg stand-alone option - the committee calls upon the Department of National Defence to make a long-term commitment to maintaining both 1RCHA and the military training capability at CFB Shilo and the 2PPCLI at a relocated site in northwest Winnipeg.

- Amalgamation option - if amalgamation of bases is a precondition of DND's final decision, then the all-party committee clearly recommends that the amalgamation of 2PPCLI take place in Shilo.

"The federal government needs to make a long-term commitment to the future of military units in Manitoba," said Progressive Conservative Party representative on the committee Harold Gilleshammer, MLA for Minnedosa. "The loss of units and the potential loss of Shilo is unacceptable."

"It is vital for the federal government to hear directly from the all-party committee members who are the voice of all Manitobans," said Liberal Party leader Jon Gerrard.

Doer noted that in any future move, like consolidation of forces in Shilo, the federal government needs to take special care regarding family transition, like spousal employment issues. Also, a transition to Shilo must include an overall strategy involving organizations such as the Brandon Economic Development Board.

Doer also noted the level of co-operation and accord among committee members.

Royal Purple cite Skateboard Park as worthy cause

To commemorate the Year 2000, the Elks and Royal Purple Fund for Children (previously called the Purple Cross Fund) made a one time $500 grant available to all Elks and Royal Purple Lodges for Special Year 2000 Projects.

These projects must fit within the existing guidelines of the Elks and Royal Purple Fund for children which are "for the good and welfare of a person prior to attaining their nineteenth birthday, resident in Canada."

Types of projects that would be considered for this grant are playgrounds, camp equipment, hospital equipment and community projects.

Minnedosa Royal Purple Lodge chose to support the newly formed Skateboard Association which involved several young people.

Recreation Director Ken Surovy wrote up an excellent proposal in regards to a Skateboard Park and this proposal along with the grant application was then sent to the National Charities Committee. The Lodge is very pleased to present this cheque for $500 to the members of the Skateboard Association and wish them every success with their project.

"This is another example of community support for our Lodge coming back to help support our young people in the community", stated Lyle Smith.

The donation brings the total raised for the project to $3,500.

June proclaimed Seniors & Elders Month

Diane McGifford, minister responsible for seniors, has proclaimed June as Seniors' and Elders' Month in Manitoba to celebrate the many accomplishments of older people in our province.

"Many of our seniors and elders provide excellent role models for the young people of Manitoba, and we set aside the month of June to recognize this," said McGifford. "Our whole province benefits from the guidance, knowledge and support of our older generation and the many services they provide."

To celebrate the designation of June as Seniors' and Elders' Month, events are planned at seniors facilities and community centres across the province.

"I look forward to meeting with seniors and elders at some of the many events planned," stated the minister. "And I invite all Manitobans to join me throughout the month in honouring the contributions of our older generation."

Minnedosa Lions to host CNIB golf tournament

Alf Iverson, President of the Minnedosa Lions Club, has announced that the local service organization will be the host club in the Town & Country Golf Series. The series involves a golf tournament with proceeds going to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, a major benefactor of Lions Clubs across Canada.

"The income generated from this tournament will remain in Minnedosa to ensure service provision is maintained to the 31 individuals who currently receive services from CNIB," stated Iverson. "Two of these local recipients of CNIB services are children and presently there is no other source of funding from the community of Minnedosa," he added.

Sponsorship from Scotiabank and Van Waters & Rogers has been secured for the tournament and major sponsorship from three corporations in the Ag Industry is pending.

"The commitment from these supporters is substantial, as ten tournaments are hosted in Manitoba with five in Western Manitoba," stated Iverson.

The purpose of hosting a tournament in Minnedosa is twofold. The primary intention is to support blind and visually imparied residents of this community to realize their greatest challenge - functioning independently in a sighted world. The other purpose is to generate income for the local golf club.

To aid in the fundraising effort, the local Lions Club is working closely with the CNIB to provide all administrative support as well as soliciting hole sponsors and donations from the local community.

The tournament will be held at the Minnedosa Golf Club on Friday, June 23rd.

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

Time does fly. Seems like yesterday that I wrote last week's column. The weather has been so windy and cold that gardeners haven't planted many of their bedding plants. Jack Frost did pay visits to our area for a few nights.

Dan & Diane Byers have their daughter and there grandsons from Rocky Mount, North Caroline visiting them at Ditch Lake.

Congratulations to Jeffrey Uhl and Jeanne Meaney who were married at Westminster United Church, Winnipeg on Saturday, June 3rd. A number of relatives and friends of Erickson were in attendance for the happy occasion.

Marland and Cathy Turevick were in Winnipeg the last two weekends to attend two of Cathy's cousins weddings.

A speedy recovery is extended to Stella Nylen who underwent surgery in Minnedosa Hospital on May 30th.

The Erickson Retreads held a luncheon meeting at Leona & Dave Smiths cottage at Otter Lake on June 1st.

The Federated Women's Institute (from all provinces) are meeting this week in Brandon. Erickson W.I. members are very involved being on committees for advertising, hostessing, sales, speakers, etc. About seven members will be attending the convention.

Another reminder - is your History handed in for "Forest to Field Volume 2"?

COPP's (Citizens on Patrol Program) would like to remind town residents that during Homecoming Week there will be a contest for an overall general appearance of yards using the red, yellow and blue colors. There will also be prizes for window and store front appearances. There will be 3 prizes for residential and 3 for commercial. The judges will be from out of town and they will remain anonymous. The awards will be made at the Homecoming dance.

Carol Basler, Morden spent 2 days with her mother Jennie Rumak.

Congratulations to Sally Hammell who graduated from University of Manitoba with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. Sally is working in Winnipeg for the summer.

Florence Swincoski is home after visiting her daughters Wendy and Melanie in Alberta.

Paul Woloshen who was a patient in Erickson Hospital is now a resident of Sandy Lake Care Home.

Homecoming 2000 is fast approaching. Plans are almost complete for the Rural Former schools reunions, but so far I've heard nothing of Erickson School (except Marlenne's Graduating Class). Let's not disappoint former students of Erickson by not having a big get together.

Letter to the Editor ...

Dear Editor:

Just over a year ago on May 24, 1999 you printed a letter of mine where I commented on R.M. of Clanwilliam Council meetings of April 14, May 12 and May 17, 1999.

Can you give us some space in your paper to comment further on events over the past year culminating in your May 29, 2000 issue headlining "Appeals Court Allows Tiller to take back Reeve's seat."

Last May 12, 1999 defeated reeve candidate John Whitaker led a delegation including two other defeated councillors from October 1998 election, asking R.M. of Clanwilliam Council to declare Reeve Russell Tiller in a conflict of interest under Section 14 of "The Municipal Council Conflict of Interest Act." As I pointed out in my letter last year John Whitaker had no case under Section 14 re: gravel and other land purchases because "private sales" are always available to the general public if anyone is interested enough to ask the seller.

The previous Council had set aside $40,000 in a reserve fund for the purchase of S.W. 7-18-17 for its gravel reserves. A special bonus to the R.M. came about from the additional portion of S.E. 12-18-18 (a half mile of beachfront property along Otter Lake) which could possibly be worth $500,000.00. Total cost to R.M. for both properties was $32,000.00. This was a win-win situation for the R.M. until John Whitaker's delegation.

At the next Special Council meeting of May 17, 1999 the Council refused to discuss or meet with the many ratepayers who attended that meeting. The Council passed a motion asking "for a determination of a violation of the Municipal Council Conflict of Interest Act regarding a matter respecting Russell Tiller."

When questioned after the meeting on May 17 all Councillors and the C.A.O. said that this is NOT saying Tiller is guilty; this motion is NOT under section 19 of the Act.

But Judges and Courts do NOT deal with a "what if" situation.

Thus the C.A.O. Colleen Synchyshyn filed an affidavit to the Court under Section 19 of the Act without obtaining any new motion from Council.

Judge Mykle of Court of Queens Bench in Brandon in November 1999 found our Reeve in conflict with Section 5 of the Act even though he had given full disclosure of all the facts re: land purchase to the Council on April 14, 1999 he did not withdraw from the meeting. He declared the Reeve's seat vacant. No costs were awarded so both parties paid their own.

With Reeve Tiller down and out our novice Councillors Patsy Kowalick, Jim Nylen and Leo Woywada then decided, over the objections of Councillor Victor Baraniuk, to in effect, "kick the man in the pit of his stomach when he was down for the count." They asked their lawyer Mr. Sims to go back to Judge Mykle's courtroom and have Tiller pay R.M.'s legal costs. In December, in court, they received a lecture and some fatherly advice BUT no costs. That cost R.M. around $1,700.00 in legal fees. Now with the Court of Appeal awarding all costs to be paid by R.M. to Tiller that little fiasco will cost us taxpayers an extra $3,000.00.

The R.M. of Clanwilliam budget for 1999 for legal costs was $1,000.00. By December 31st, 1999 they had spent $5,948.81. In the new budget for year 2000 they set up $6,000.00 for legal fees and will probably be over budget by 600% as in 1999.

The Court of Appeal Judges Twaddle, Husband and Philip heard Tiller's appeal on May 9, 2000 and in their decision announced May 24, 2000 re-instated Russell Tiller as Reeve of R.M. of Clanwilliam and also ruled that R.M. pay all of Tiller's legal costs.

All of the legal bills for the Court of Appeal and the Court costs are not in yet but we believe the R.M.'s and Tiller's legal costs alone will be close to $20,000.00.

What a waste of R.M. of Clanwilliam taxpayers monies and for what??

Had our neophytes on Council listened at all to the ratepayers on May 17, 1999 instead of refusing to meet or hear from them, they could have asked John Whitaker and his other defeated Councillors to apply under Section 20 (1) for a "declaration that the "councillor" (reeve) had violated a provision of the Act" and R.M. would have had no costs.

As chairman of the "Friends of Russell Tiller Committee" we were able to raise all the funds necessary to pay all of Tiller's legal costs to date.

We challenge John Whitaker and his group, who instigated this whole sad affair, to raise the necessary funds now to cover the R.M. of Clanwilliam's costs today.

Yours truly, Rudy Usick

On May 27, Melissa Lewandoski, daughter of Richard and Bonita, graduatedfrom the Faculty of Science at Brandon University with a Degree in Geology.

Melissa plans to remain in the area for the summer, then head west to seek her fortune in the oil industry (black gold...texas tea...). Way to go Melissa!!

On May 27, Jeffrey Osadec, son of Lawrence and Barb, graduated from the Bachelor of General Studies at the University of Brandon. Jeff will have a busy summer working at the Y in Brandon, then heading west to teach hockey skills to the next "Gretzkys." Jeff plans to return to BU in the Fall to pursue his Degree in Education.

The lone Honoree at the Drop-In Centre's May Birthday Bash was Centre Vice-President Walter Gregorash. Happy Birthday Walter.

Nellie Prokopchuk of Brandon has been spending time at her "home away from home" in Sandy Lake. Visiting her this week were her brother and sister-in-law from Yorkton SK.

Over the past weeks, the School and the Personal Care Home have teamed up in a valuable "bridge across the generations" program. Students from Grades 7 and 8 have been visiting the Home on a weekly basis, and have spent time chatting with the Residents and working on various projects.

The last day of the program was May 30, and the Students and Residents participated in the "Memory Walk", which is a fund raising project of the Alzheimers Society.

A graveside funeral service was held for Mike Hopoluk on Saturday June 3rd at Onanole Cemetery. Mike was a former employee at Riding Mountain National Park prior to his retirement.

The Gray Owl golf tournament is fast approaching. Watch for advertisements in the papers. This is the tournament at the Clear Lake Golf Course that lets us know that summer is definitely here.

Congratulations to Onanole Fas Gas on their grand opening on the Long weekend.

Ideal Esso is coming along very well with their renovations and are nearly finished with the building. It's going to look very up-to-date when they are finished.

Newdale News

by Olive Waddell

"I had been teaching my three-year old daughter, Caitlin, the Lord's Prayer. For several evenings at bedtime, she would repeat after me the lines from the prayer. Finally, she decided to go solo. I listened with pride as she carefully enunciated each word, right up to the end of the prayer. 'Lead us not into temptation,' she prayed, 'but deliver us from e-mail. Amen'. (contributed by Carol Hunter)

Gordon and Edith Waddell, Duncan, Audrey, Jared and Aynsley Waddell, Jean and Tara Wight, attended the wedding of Julie Waddell, daughter of Douglas and Connie Waddell to Darren Smith on May 20, 2000 in Washington, D.C.

John Waddell spent from May 18-23, with son Eddie and wife Bonnie at their cabin resort on the Lake of the Woods.

Twenty-four attended the Sunday, May 28th service in Newdale United Church Duncan Waddell conducted the opening worship and Rev. Hunter in his conversation theme to three young boys (Cody, Chris, & Ryan) read of the doubting Thomas and how he believed what he saw of Jesus after the resurrection and Thomas was accepted as a true disciple and follower. Sermon theme was "When Joy Breaks Through" based on the Gospel of John 15:9-17 Jesus offers us joy "A part of joy is laughter. God laughs for us and with us. Joy can be volcanic, extravagant, explosive and lavish or joy can be quiet, nurturing, strong and supportive. It can come out of struggle and conflict. Joy is not necessary with out pain. Much deep joy comes out of pain...." said Rev. Hunter..."there is deep joy-a kind of spiritual joy that happens when God breaks through the crust of our lives."

ATTENTION FARMERS: Important AIDA News

The AIDA Administration has developed a new, optional schedule which will more accurately value Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) grains. If you experienced a decline in your production of CWB grains in 1999, this new schedule may benefit you in the calculation of your 1999 AIDA claim.

A revised price list has also been developed so that lower grades of commodities can be valued more accurately, and is available from the AIDA Administration.

Half of the proceeds will go to the Library Expansion and half will go to MCCC. Plan to support this event. Also, please feel invited to assist the Committee in any way(s) you can as there are many jobs,large or small, that you could help with and it would be much appreciated. Call Rick Everett if you are interested in helping out. Thanks!

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

An important part of school is the play and activity that children partake in before the "first bell" and of course recesses and noon hours. On the morning of Friday, June 02, 2000, children of the Erickson Elementary School found that their playground was vandalized the night before when someone poured and smeared "motor (?) oil" on the playground equipment.

My granddaughter is in grade 1. She looks forward to Fridays because of show and tell and becuase it's the last day of the school week! That morning, she packed her article for show and tell, in addition she wore a souvenir t-shirt from a concert she had attended the night before. As they do every school morning, the children play. Unfortunately, she was one of the first on the playground equipment. Needless to say, her t-shirt was ruined and a complete change of clothes had to be brought in for her.

In conversation with her last week, she mentioned that one day in school, they (the children) found what they thought to be human feces on the playground equipment. I had thought that perhaps she was exaggerating, but now I'm wondering?

I'm hurt for her that her special t-shirt was ruined, but health and safety is foremost. Will the school division be made aware of this incident? This incident will be forwarded to our school trustee, but I fear to think what will happen next ...

Sincerely, Bonnie L. Mckay, Erickson

Newdale News

Olive Waddell motored to Portage La Prairie on Saturday, May 27 to visit with former acquaintances of McKenzie United Church, and to take in a part of the afternoon session of the United Church Conference held in the Arena. At least 500 were in attendance.

This is the year (June) that the United Church celebrates its 75th Anniversary. On June 10, 1925, three churches, the Methodist, the Congregationalist, and the Presbyterian Church, united to form one church to be known as the United Church of Canada. Each of the churches brought gifts to the Union to make a strong basis of union in agreement with all concerned. In Newdale on June 4th, a special service will be held followed by a noon lunch.

A capacity crowd filled the Strathclair Theatre on Wednesday, May 31, 2000 for the Strathclair/Shoal Lake Spring Band Concert. Much credit goes to Heather DeBoer of Hamiota who has spent the past school year directing these young people, Grades 7 to 12. There were 14 students from Newdale playing a variety of instruments. The Grade 12 graduates will be greatly missed from the 2001 Band. Congratulations to all!

The Newdale W.I. sponsored a 55-Alive Drivers Refresher Course in the Newdale Curling Rink on May 29th and 31st. The course was instructed by Donna Brown of Birtle and dealt with basic traffic rules and also with problems people may develop as they become older. The twenty one adults taking the course came from Basswood, Cardale and Newdale.

Newdale Raven's Glen Women's Institute

Members of Newdale Raven's Glen W.I. met at Harrison House at 7:30. President, Phyllis Tolton, led in reading The Mary Stewart Collect in unison. Nellie Mason had the opening thought "Chicken Soup for Golden Souls" a humerous daily prayer. Roll call was answered by 12 members and 5 visitors telling something about Iceland. Minutes and Treasurers report were read and accepted.

Thank you was received from Barbara Strinwandt for our donation to F.W.I.C. 2000 to go towards expenses.

Reports: Friendship 2 birthday 1 get well. 4 H rally is in June.

Education Committee: Jean Wight The Shrinking Earth.

Business: Good Will collections - 185 boxes and articles sent, thanks to support from the community.

55+ Driving Course 19 registered for May 29 & 31. There was a motion that we would not have a June meeting or outing. We will sponsor a rabies clinic in October.

Closing - Nellie Mason. "It takes both rain & sunshine to make a rainbow."

The guest speaker was Diane Harrrington who gave a very interesting talk on Iceland. Her great grandparents had emigrated in 1897 & she had recently visited and showed pictures of the country. Dairy farming, sheep raising and fishing are main industries. Volcano erupted in 1973 and lasted 5 months. Country is very rugged with steep, narrow roads over mountains.

Lynne Tolton and Xisra Lamb served a delicious Iceland lunch of Vinaterta & fruit and a time of fellowship was enjoyed.

Paddles up, and ready to Kayak

by Kim Taylor

The Minnedosa Kayak Club is up and running for it's third successful season! This year in conjunction with The Manitoba Paddling Association, The Minnedosa Kayak club has new and exciting programs for people of all ages. The programs consist of water safety, boat maintenance, and finally how to kayak or canoe. The programs are designed to teach individuals the necessary skills to enjoy the fun sport of kayaking or canoeing. The Minnedosa Club consists of members who are competitive and those that are kayaking for the enjoyment of the sport. This year Team Manitoba Coach, Jerome Sermak, along with athletes from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta will be in a training camp here in Minnedosa and also competing in Prairie Divisionals on our beautiful lake. Our club has three main goals for it's members: The first goal is to stay in shape, the second is to have fun, and the third goal is to encourage all other members to do their best. For the kids there are various levels to complete and certificates after each level. Kayaking is a fun and relaxing sport. The purpose of The Minnedosa Kayaking Club is to allow for people in our community and the surrounding area to get out on our wonderful lake, and meet new people from all over Canada. I had never kayaked before or even been near a kayak, and now it is a special interest I have and I want to continue working on my skills. But mainly for myself kayaking is an enjoyable way to get back into shape after the long university months. The kids really enjoy being out at the lake all summer and there were even a few adults (won't mention any names), who got their paddles wet. The programs offered for children will be throughout the week during the summer months and for adults the programs will be run in the evenings.

A Mother's Day gift from the LSCRD

by Kirstie Falkevitch

A few weeks ago children in grade four were given a coupon redeemable for one four foot apple tree, either a Goodland or a Norkent apple, which was to be passed on to their moms on Mother's Day. The kids had worked very diligently on various projects to earn the coupon. The schools involved were Tanner's Crossing, Erickson Elementary, Rapid City, Rivers Elementary, Oak River, and the Oak River Colony School. This mother's day campaign was part of a tree conservation campaign that the district and the schools developed.

The Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District and the Manitoba Hydro Forest Enhancement Program supplied the apple trees, which were individually wrapped and available for pick-up on a certain day of the week in each town. With each tree, the new owner was given a tree owner's manual published by Environment Canada. The public's response to this effort was very positive, so things are looking good for a second campaign on Mother's Day 2001. Some of the trees from this year that were left over were sold to mothers that wanted another tree or to members of the community who didn't have children in grade 4. The money taken in from sales was used to pay for the trees and some money will be used to fund future conservation district projects, which will benefit the community.

The LSRCD would like to thank the principals and teachers at all of the schools for their cooperation and support, and congratulations to the kids who made mother's day extra special this year with a gift that will live for a long time.

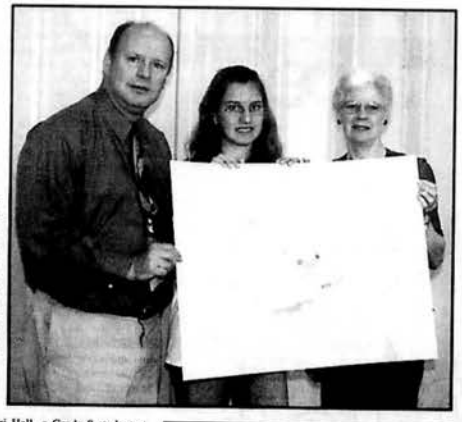
U.C.T. Regional Safety Poster Winner



Ken Hoglund, Principal of Tanner's Crossing School and Donna Shorrock, Chairperson of the U.C.T. Safety Committee congratulate Grade 7 student Vanessa Krutkewich who placed 1st in the Middle Level in the local UCT Safety Poster contest and has placed 3rd in her level at the regional competition. Last year, Vanessa placed first in all levels of competition, local, regional and international with her safety poster. Kerri Hall, a Grade 8 student at the time also placed 1st at the local and regional levels and 2nd at the international level.

Thanks for your participation, girls, and you are to be commended once again for your fine work.

Sympathy is extended to Jane & Rixon McKinnon and family in the recent passing of their uncle Nelson Walker. Sympathy is also extended to other relatives. A number attended the funeral service at Neepawa Baptist Church on May 30th.

A number attended the bridal shower in honor of Megan Horner on May 29th.

Several people also attended the bridal shower for Shannon Fontana in Rapid City on the same day.

Manitoba Youth Job Centre

by Patricia Jackson

I would like to let everyone know what has been going on at the Youth Job Centre. It has been a very busy first month. I am still busy taking job orders and student registrations and I encourage everyone to take advantage of the services that the centre provides. If you have any type of job that needs doing, whether it is office work, lawn care, baby-sitting, or anything, there is a student who would love to work for you. If you are a student looking for a summer job or would like to join the Odd Job Squad, come down to the centre and register.

Plans are now underway for Hire-a-Student week which takes place July 1-8. Our first activity will be the Canada Day Flower Frenzy with the assistance of Minnedosa Flower and Gift. We will also be having a Car Wash, Hot dog sale, Student Labour Raffle, and a Strawberry Pick.

I would also like to remind you that The Manitoba Youth Job Centre is open 8:30-4:30 and is located at 133 Main Street South in the Yellowhead Employment Services Building. You can call me, Patricia, the office manager at 867-3846.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

Cecil and Doreen Spearin from Calabash North Carolina recently spent a week-end with brother and sister-in-law Doug and Margery Spearin. It was a long drive but so good to see one an other.

Ernie and Shirley Miller of Bowden, AB visited with Art and Gladys Simpson last weekend. Together they attended the 50th Anniversary Reunion of their graduation from Brandon College, which was a three-day event held at the University. Also in attendance were Nancy Stephenson and Margaret Irwin (Small) of Hamiota.

Rev. Boyd Drake and Marion Waldon attended the annual meeting of Manitoba and North Western Ontario Conference of the United Church of Canada held at Portage la Prairie May 25-28th. Other Drake family news is that son Garry is home from the University of Saskatoon. Congratulations are in order to their daughter Sharon who won the 100 meter, 200 meter and 400 meter race in the High School Track and Field Zone Championships held at Neepawa. Recent guests have been Mrs. Drake's mother, Mrs. Noreen Lang, her sister and brother-in-law Deanna and Doug Baxendale, from Thunder Bay, ON.

Olive Walker has recently returned from spending a week with her daughter Cynthia in Toronto. She found the weather on the cool side.

All friends were sorry to learn that Nelson Walker had passed away at Hamiota, Saturday, May 27th. Nelson's life was spent farming in the Rapid City district, until he and Margaret retired to Neepawa. Sincere sympathy is extended to Ruth and Larry and their daughter who reside at Ottawa, and all other relatives and friends.

Monday guests with Kay and Ken Sample were their daughter and granddaughter Lesley and Kristy Weisshaar of Winnipeg.

Vicky and son Joey Isliefson from Wichita Kansas visited on the weekend with her family, mother Janet and Jim Fearnley, sisters Elizabeth and April, grandma Laura Haslen and granparents Nellie and Joe Kinsley at Neepawa.

Rapid City Wildlife Fish Ladder Report 2000. The trap was installed on April 4, 2000. The totals for 2000 are: 1130 Sauger, 55 Pike, 1 Rock Bass. There were no Pickeral seen in the trap this year. The trap was removed on Wednesday, May 31st.

Sunday, May 28th Ed and Margaret Hinsburg enjoyed watching their grandsons Stephen and Marcus participate in Kiwanis Club Soap Box Derby in Brandon. Harry Peters loaned them an umbrella which they appreciated very much. In the evening Ed and Margaret and son Herb enjoyed a delicious supper with their family Sophia and Bruce, and children Cassander and Eddie at Neepawa.

Senior Service of Rivers, Rapid City District Inc. held a "Volunteer Appreciation Tea" Wednesday, May 31st at the Valleyview Senior Centre. A pleasant afternoon was planned for the guests. Everyone was welcomed by Rev. Ernest Shelvey and George and Katie Kroeger entertained with just the right kind of music - the kind we all love. Mayor Timer Hyndman brought greetings from the town, and stated "volunteers are the back bone of any town". Rev Shelvey drew two door prize tickets the lucky winners were Ruth Phillips, Rapid City and Georgina Bollman, Rivers, each received a gift certificate courtesy of The Tempo Place Emporium. Lunch and social visiting was enjoyed. Compliments to Mavis, Olive, Edie and Susan for a nice afternoon.

A bridal shower honouring Shannon Fontana was held Sunday, May 28th at Valleyview Senior Centre prior to a June wedding. The guest of honour, her mother Lorna Hodgins and the groom to be's mother Doreen Bayes were presented with twinkling lights, gold tapers, black and gold balloons and gold stars. The shower was arranged by the wedding attendants Rhonda Eisner, Cathy Coulter, Christina Metelski and Stacey Cooke. The groom's niece Krystal Bayes attended the guest book. Rhonda introduced the head table guests. Shannon fittingly thanked everyone for attending, the girls who had arranged her shower, and for the many beautiful gifts. Special guests were Granny Audrey Hodgins and Granny Jeanne Fontana. The many friends and relatives who were in attendance enjoyed the delicious dessert lunch and social visiting.

Marquette R.H.A. Board Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Marquette Regional Health Authority met in regular session on May 24 with 14 members in attendance.

Mr. Helga Bryant, VP of Acute Care and Diagnostics Services, and Val Karton, Communications Officer for Brandon RHA were on hand to present an informational session on the redevelopment project at the Brandon Regional Health Centre.

A delegation from The Russell Inn presented a proposal to purchase property located at the Russell Hospital. Staff were directed to prepare a preliminary report for Board consideration at the next Regular Meeting in June, workload permitting.

The Board approved the Strategic Plan of the 2001/2002 Health Plan for submission to Manitoba Health. Staff were authorized to proceed with the selection process to engage an architect for the Neepawa Personal Care Home capital project and to submit a recommendation to the Board. Mr. Ken Hermiston was re-elected to the position of Vice-Chair for a period of one year. As well, the Board as a whole was appointed to the Finance Committee with Glen Crawley appointed as Chair. Don Yanick accepted appointment to the Executive Committee as a member at large. The issue of compensation for Board members was raised at the Council of Chairs provincial meeting. The Chairman was directed to advise the Council that the Marquette Regional Health Authority Board does not support an increase in Board stipends. The Board approved the transfer of the side lane located west of the Hamiota Health Centre to the Town of Hamiota for the sum of one dollar.

Monitoring Reports for Financial Condition, Access to Services, Compensation and Benefits, and Chairperson's Role were reviewed and approved. Discussion resulting from the CEO Report included the physician coverage in Erickson and Carberry; template document for independent physician contract; issue of EMS personnel and employment/volunteer status; and update on the tri-regional urology surgery proposal.

Reports were received from the Chairman on the Council of Chair's meeting held May 11th, and from Terry Drebit on the Brandon RHA meeting held May 16th. Staff reported on the outcome of the meeting held with Manitoba Health on May 9th to address the RHA under funding. Minutes of the Executive Committee meeting held May 23rd were reviewed and the Board directed the CEO to include clinical competency issues in the development of proposal/options to balance the MRHA budget.

T.C.S. Topics

Congratulations to all of the track students who participated in the divisional track meet held in Brandon last Monday.

Collectively our school came in first place with the help from one student from MCI. Students were well behaved and represented our school well. Four students from our school set records in their age category and events. Those were Thomas Birch for the 100 meters, Thiaya Brazeau in the 1500 meters, Stephanie Richards in the shot put and Patrick Woodcock in the discus.

Thanks to all the coaches who spent time practicing at noon hour and to those who went to the track and help run events.

Mrs. Stone and the resource department would like to thank Margo Dunphy and the local UCT for the generous support given to children with special needs. We were so pleased to receive a cheque in the amount of $500 from the proceeds of their bingo night. This money will be used to purchase reading material, math activities and manipulation and computer software. Our school and community are indeed fortunate to have an organization like the UCT. Thank You.

Final touches are being put in place for the spring musical Gone With The Breeze, which hits the stage tomorrow night. Admission is $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children. We look forward to a capacity crowd out for this big drama production.

Our junior high softball teams have been busy preparing for their tournament this coming Wednesday in Sandy Lake. Mr. Gordon coaches the boys and Ms. Paulsen and Ms. Robinson coach the girls. Good luck to both teams on Wednesday.

We will be welcoming grade four students from Forrest on Friday. Mrs. Brunel's grade four class will be their host, returning the hospitality that was shown to them when they went to Forrest a few weeks ago. Welcome to TCS Forrest grade fours. Our grade two classes will be off to Austin on Friday for a field trip back in time. This trip fits right in with their current topic on study, which is Pioneers. Mrs. Lawsen and Mrs. Tegg have a busy day planned the students are looking forward to the trip back in time.

Thank you goes out to the following people: Barb and Alan Dalrymple, Country Farm Greenhouses for their donation of 20 dozen flowers. To Mr. Gordon and Mr. Hackewich for building the new flower boxes at the front of the school and to Mrs. Maxine Woodcock from the Kindergarten class for sewing book bags for their chairs.

Congratulations goes out to grade seven student Vanessa Krutkewich for once again finishing first in the local UCT poster contest. This is the second year in a row that Vanessa has won this contest. Her poster also placed third at the regional level. Way to go Vanessa.

AG Report

Neil Galbraith
Agriculture Representative
Manitoba Agriculture and Food

Cattle and Water Quality

For several years wildlife organizations have been working with farmers to fence cattle out of rivers. At the same time there have been programs to encourage producers to fence their livestock out of dugouts or other surface water supplies.

The main reason for this has been water quality for fish in rivers or to prevent dugouts filling with dirt. Now there is a five year study that shows cattle perform up to 20% better when they drink clean water.

Cattle drinking from a dugout spend significantly less time grazing than those cattle offered clean water. A second finding was clean water was more palatable therefore cattle drank more of it than manure contaminated dugout water. These two factors, more time grazing and more water consumption from clean water would lead to the up to 20% better weight gains. Finally, it can be shown that fencing off livestock water supplies is good for the cattle owner as well as for wildlife.

Manitoba One Time Payment

Most producers recognize this as the 100 million payment or maximum $11,000 payment. The name of it is Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Payment (CMAP). If you were in NISA in 1998 and crop insurance in 1999, you were to automatically get a cheque in the mail.

However some producers' NISA account information was not forwarded to CMAP. So if you have not received any cheque or letter in the mail about CMAP by now, contact our office for an application. Its an easy one page form but you will need a copy of your income tax for the years you want to provide sales information for. The deadline for this program is the end of June.

Herbicide Timing

This is a reminder that the majority of crop yield loss from weed competition occurs up to the third leaf stage of your crop. It is better to spray during this time period than wait for more weeds to emerge. The later emerging weeds will have a much lower affect on yield. But the earlier emerging weeds have a higher affect on yield and should be controlled by the 2 - 3 leaf stage of your crop.

This rule of thumb varies somewhat with the competitive ability of the weeds vs. crop but is a good guideline to go by.

Notice

NOTICE TO MTS SUBSCRIBERS

On May 1, 2000, MTS Communications Inc. (MTS) filed applications with the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) for approval of a $3.00 local residential rate increase as well as various increases to business rates effective July 1, 2000.

These requested increases are to recover income tax expense to be incurred this year. A detailed schedule of the various business and residential increases proposed by MTS, as well as the justification for the increases, are provided in information which accompanied the tariff applications filed with the CRTC. To receive a copy by fax, e-mail or by mail, please call MTS at (204) 941-4896. The tariff applications and accompanying information are also available for public inspection during normal business hours at MTS head office, 4th Floor, 333 Main Street, in Winnipeg, Tel: (204) 941-4896, or at the offices of the CRTC in Winnipeg, at Room 1810, 275 Portage Avenue, Toll-free: 1 877 249-2782. The information is also available on the CRTC web site at the following internet address: http://www.crtc.gc.ca/ENG/publib/2000/R6/611/M3-01.htm.

As a result of the proposed $3.00 local residential rate increase, the basic local residential monthly rate will range from $18.45 for those customers residing in the most remote areas of Manitoba to $22.02 per month for the majority of MTS customers.

If you have a comment that you feel the CRTC should take into account in reviewing these applications, you can write directly to the CRTC by June 16, 2000 to:

Ms. Ursula Menke
Secretary General
Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission
Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0N2
Fax: (819) 953-0795

Your letter should clearly state your views and include any relevant information that may be useful in explaining or supporting those views. A copy of your letter should also be sent to:

Mr. Roy Brocklehurst
Director, Regulatory Affairs
Manitoba Telecom Services Inc.
PO Box 6666, Rm MP 19C
333 Main Street
Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 3V6
Fax: (204) 775-2560

for additional information on the tariff applications or the proper procedure for filing comments, please contact MTS or the CRTC at the above addresses or by telephone.

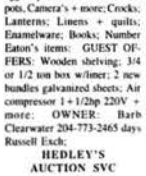
In Memoriam



Shewchuk - In loving memory of Marvin who passed away June 5th, 1999.

We often think of days gone by,
When we were all together;
A shadow o'er our lives has cast,
Our loved one's gone forever.

Loving wife Ethel and all the family. x (C6)

Bold - In loving memory of my Dad, David Bold, who passed away June 6, 1976.

How often I wish that you were here.
No need for words except to say
You are loved and missed every day.

Lovingly remembered by daughter Lorna.

Classified Ads Deadline
Thursdays at 5:00 p.m.

In Memoriam

Hutton - In loving memory of Edith May Hutton who passed away June 8, 1999.

In tears we saw you sinking
We watched you fade away,
You suffered much in silence
You fought so hard to stay.
You faced your task with courage
Your spirit did not bend
But still you kept on fighting
Until the very end
God saw you getting tired
When a cure was not to be
So he put his arms around
You and whispered come with me
So when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully, free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.

Sadly missed by Blake and Heather, family and friends. x (C6)

Abel - In loving memory of Phyllis Irene - Beloved wife, mother, grandmother and great grandmother who passed away June 7 of 1999.

Silent memories keep
You near, and drifts
To scenes long passed.
The secret tears still Flow, as it broke our Hearts to lose you.
No one knows the sorrow
We share, when the Family meets and you
Are not there.
It hurts as much today
As it did one year ago.
Part of us went with you
The day God called
You home.

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by husband Ross and family, Alice, Will, Ron & Janet and their families. x (C6)

Cards of Thanks

Dear Friends: A thank you to everyone for cards, gifts and flowers I received for my 93rd birthday. A special thanks to Elsie, Audrey, Donna and Pam for the delicious luncheon they held for our family at the fair grounds when Lloyd was home. The big birthday cake Arnold and Bridget brought to the care home was much appreciated. Another thank you to the Merry Hearts Choir for the dinner that was prepared at the TVM in my honor. God bless you all, always. Vi Ferguson. x (CD)

Sincere thanks to Doctors, Nurses and Hospital Staff in Minnedosa, Brandon and St. Boniface hospitals for excellent care. Special thanks to my family for all their love and support, also relatives, friends and neighbors for their visits, phone calls, cards, letters, flowers, fruit, treats and food brought to my home before and after surgery. Thanks also to Rev. Drake for his meaningful visits. To all, your kindness is greatly appreciated. Jean Macdonald. x (CD)

We would like to thank everyone for their phone calls, cards and food sent to our house during the loss of our Mother, Tennie Gregorash. Your caring and concern was greatly appreciated. John Gregorash and family. x (CD)

Obituary

Mervin Gerald Kozak

Mervin Gerald Kozak passed away peacefully on Friday, May 26th, 2000 in Red Deer General Hospital, following a short illness. He was 44 years old.

Mervin was born on February 13th, 1956 in Tisdale, Sask. He was the first born son of Alex and Amy Kozak.

Mervin started school in Prairie River, Sask. and completed his high school in Hudson Bay, Sask. During his teen years he worked in his father's service station in Hudson Bay.

The family moved to Minnedosa in 1976 where they had purchased the Minnedosa Inn. Mervin worked in the hotel for his dad for several years. It was during this time that Mervin met Pat English. They were married in 1981, and resided in Red Deer, Alta. Mervin was employed by Acton Auto for 20 years.

Mervin enjoyed fishing, golfing and attending musical concerts. The highlight of his life was the day he earned his private pilot's license. He also coached a hockey team in Red Deer.

Mervin was predeceased by his father Alex in 1988. He leaves to mourn his passing his mother Amy, and brother Wayne - also his best friend - his dog Bailey, and many aunts, uncles and cousins.

His funeral was held Thursday, June 1, 2000 at Minnedosa United Church with Elgin Hall officiating. Burial took place in Minnedosa Cemetery. Pall bearers were Ron Kozak, Rick Kozak, Terry Kozak, Scott Douglas, Brian Sauer and Darcy James. Sparrow Funeral Services were in care of arrangements. (C7)

M.P. honours unsung war hero

Canadian Alliance MP Inky Mark today joined hundreds who ventured to the recently-renamed Lieutenant Colonel William Barker VC airfield in Dauphin, Manitoba to pay tribute to one of Canada's greatest war heroes. After months of planning at the local level, the National Historic Sites and Monuments Board unveiled a plaque of Lt. Col. William Barker VC in Dauphin.

"At the beginning of the millennium one of Canada's great air aces of the First World War is finally receiving the recognition he earned when he soared over the skies of France and Italy. Lt. Col. William Barker is Canada's most decorated war hero. This forgotten, Canadian hero shot down 50 enemy aircraft during the war. This is a long time coming and truly a proud and historic day," Mark stated.

Barker's efforts earned him the Victoria Cross, the DSO, the Military Cross, French and Italian military honours and six gallantry awards from King George V. Last November Mark presented a portrait of Barker standing beside his famous Sopwith Camel airplane to the French Ambassador in Ottawa. Other replicas of the 3ft. by 2 ft. portrait are already on display in the National War Museum and the National Aviation Museum in Ottawa.

Born near Dauphin, Manitoba, Barker joined the Canadian Expeditionary Force in 1914, later transferring to the British Royal Flying Corps. He earned a reputation as the pre-eminent fighter pilot on the Italian front.

On March 16th, Mark rose in the House of Commons to pay tribute to Barker, on the 70th anniversary of his death. He died test-flying an airplane near the Ottawa Airport in 1930. His funeral was the largest ever in Toronto's history, with more than 50 thousand spectators and a cortege of more than two thousand soldiers in uniform.

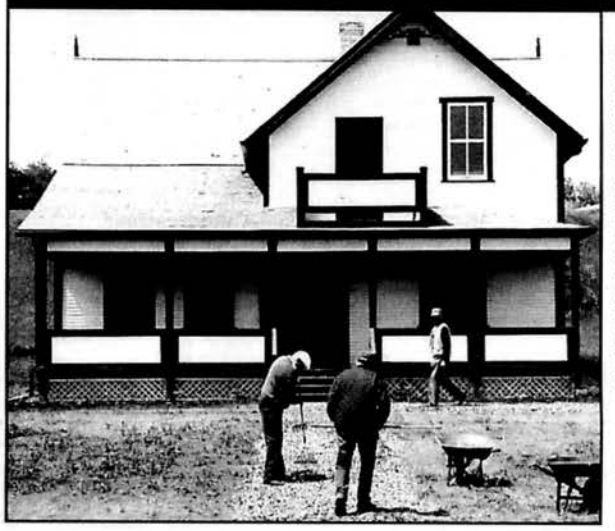
Cadurcis House



Judging by the number of people who have offered to move into Cadurcis House at the Heritage Village, public appreciation for the work done by the volunteers on restoring the century old home is overwhelmingly apparent.

At left, Doug Longstaff, Charlie Kingdon and Jim Kingdon perform the finishing touches to the pathway leading up to the oversized front porch of "Cadurcis House". These volunteers along with several others have been working diligently for the past two years to prepare the former Basswood area home for it's grand opening which is set to take place on Tuesday, July 4th as part of the Celebration 2000 events.

Erickson Emergency services to shut down due to conflict of schedules

By Scott Martin

The Erickson District Health Centre will be forced to close their Emergency Department temporarily, later on this month. The unforseen closure will be due to a shortage in Physicians, and will be in effect over a two week period. With no physician on duty, Marquette Regional Health Authority has no choice but to close the unit.

Normally, Erickson hospital has two physicians, but both will be absent around the same time. A search by both physicians failed to find a Locum able to cover for them. A search was then carried out by Marquette Regional Health Authority, whereby they contacted Locum Tenuns, a Manitoba Health Authority organized program, which lists all registered Locums willing to travel. They also contacted Locums not on the programme, but failed to find anybody available to cover during week days. They did however, succeed in finding physicians to cover both of the weekend shifts involved.

Marquette Regional Health Authority spokesperson Patty Chegwin explained, "we have used Locums at the hospital before, and without any problems. Although it's normally just to cover the odd day or weekend, vacations, that type of thing". Chegwin also stated, "the two physicians usually cover for each other, it's unfortunate that on this occasion they're away at the same time". She also added, "this is an isolated case".

The Emergency department at Erickson hospital will close, Monday, June 19th, at 8:00 am and re-open on Friday, June 23rd, at 6:00 pm. It will then close on Monday, June 26th, at 8:00 a.m., and won't re-open until Saturday, July 1st, at 8:00 am.

Council to forward funds to Library

Under a motion made by Councillor Graham, council has agreed to support the Library Expansion Committee application for infrastructure funding for their proposed expansion. Mayor Drebit and Councillor Nylen were recently in attendance at an Infrastructure Grants meeting, which included both federal and provincial officials and according to Mayor Drebit's report to council, "Infrastructure funding may well be applicable for Libraries". It had been previously reported by the federal government that only basic infrastructure projects such as roads, water and sewer would qualify under the upcoming five year program.

In a related matter, council also voted in favour of forwarding the town's committed share of $50,000 for the expansion project. The Library will bank the funds and collect the interest during the intervening period of time, before fundraising is complete and construction begins.

'Cadurcis House' - A monument to dedicated volunteers

The soon to be named "Cadurcis House" located at The Minnedosa Heritage Village, is thought to have been built around the turn of the century. The house sat on a farm, in the district of Cadurcis located approximately 10 miles West of Minnedosa. In 1917 the Dickie family moved into the house, and stayed for 27 years. The family then moved to Minnedosa, and the Thierry family moved into the house. The Thierrys owned the house for 36 years, and are actually the last people to occupy the home, when they moved to Minnedosa in 1980.

For almost the last two years the house has sat in the Heritage Village, and since its arrival volunteers from the Heritage Museum have set about its restoration, with up to 14 people working at the site at one time. One such volunteer is Margaret Kingdon, who up until the age of eleven lived in the house. "It's good to be back in the house again" stated Margaret, also adding, "it's nice to see it being restored".

One of the first jobs to be done was the balcony and veranda, which had to be almost totally replaced. The window and door frames were then repaired, and the glazing was done, as a lot of them had seen better days. Surprisingly, no more than eight boards were replaced on the siding, which had obviously stood up very well to the test of time and climate. After being cleaned and prepared, two coats of paint were applied to the exterior of the house, before the roof was re-shingled, and the eavestroughing put in place.

The interior of the house didn't escape the attention of the volunteers either. The ground floor joists were in such bad condition, that nearly all of them had to be replaced. Some drywall and patching, has taken place in every room in the house, before the painting of the interior could begin.

As the restoration nears its completion, everything is on schedule for the planned opening in early July. Things will start on Sunday July 2nd, with an afternoon service, at 2pm, at Hunterville Church. This will be immediately followed by refreshments, and an opportunity to look around the Village. On Tuesday July 4th, also at 2pm the grand opening and ribbon cutting will officially open the house.

911 Service to come under scrutiny of council

There was a discussion at the council meeting regarding 911 service and delays incurred from the time calls for service were made, and the time emergency srevices are notified. The potential confusion resulting from information regarding rural locations being lost or misunderstood by 911 operators is a very real problem.

Councillor Graham will continue to look into the matter and report back to council once more information is gathered.

Mayor Drebit opened the discussion at council table regarding a revamping of the Community Development Corporation and its three resident committees, that of Education, Tourism and Economic Development. Mayor Drebit indicated that as Chairman of the CDC, the concept had failed to materialize and partly as a result, economic develpment has taken a back seat to other town priorities.

"I am prepared to personally head-up a new economic development committee", he stated. As well, Mayor Drebit has called for an Annual General Meeting of the CDC to be held no later than the end of September.

Questions were raised at the council table regarding the Parks Board tendering policy with regards to local vendors being included on tenders. Councillor Willis, who is also Chairman of the Parks Board, indicated that local vendors were used "whenever possible." The remarks stemmed from a recent decision by the Parks Board to purchase a riding lawnmower from a dealer located in another community but they had not entertained a quotation from a local dealer. The purchase was valued at between $10,000 and $15,000. Willis added that the Parks Board, "had received a tender locally but it wasn't the piece of equipment we were looking for." Councillor Graham then requested that a "definitive tender policy" might be established by the Parks Board. Mayor Drebit then directed Parks Board Chairman Willis to come back to council with a "definitive tender policy", and then promptly nominated Councillor Graham to the vacant seat on the Parks Board. Council passed the nomination unanimously.

The seat on the Parks Board was vacated by Mayor Drebit on the grounds that as he was now the proprietor of the concession based at the Pavilion would be inappropriate for him to be on the Parks Board.

A discussion on the present and future status of the Minnedosa Landfill Site was held, and it was revealed that in preparation for an upcoming meeting with the R.M. of Saskatchewan, that a cost study of operating the landfill site was being prepared. As well, in light of the fact that the present provincial burning policy has resulted in the site being filled up at a faster rate than originally planned, council would soon have to address the question of a new landfill site being developed.

The resignation of Lois Phillips as enumerator was accepted with regret by town council. Mrs. Phillips has held the position since 1987 when she replaced the retiring Hazel Vellam. The vacated position will be advertised by the town.

A proposal by Mohawk Ethanol for the subdivision of a 7 acre parcel to be sold to Agricore was passed.

A petition received from residents along the east side of Minnedosa Lake was referred to the District Planning Commission for review.

Chicken Delight was the low bidder and thus awarded the tender to serve two meals to an expected 120 people who will be attending the upcoming AMM District Meetings to be held in Minnedosa on June 22nd.

In Committee Reports, Councillor Graham, in charge of Protective Services, indicated that the Fire Department is presently specking out a new fire engine. He indicated that there are ample funds in the reserve for the purchase which is expected to take place early in the new year.

The town will write a letter to the Little Saskatchewan River Conservation District inquiring about their plans for office space when the present agreement expires. The District Office is located in Oak River, a community that is not in the watershed.

Minnedosa Credit Union Limited Student Loans

Although high school graduation is an exciting time in a young adult's life, the future holds many uncertainties for graduates. If you are planning on going on to some sort of post-secondary education in the fall but you're not sure if you are able to finance it, the Minnedosa Credit Union Limited may be able to help you! We offer our own student loan program. These loans are available to a maximum of $2,500.00 per year (per family) to a maximum of $10,000.00. The rate is fixed for one year at the current prime rate, renewable every year. No principal payments are required while you are in school but the interest must be paid up to date at the end of each year and can come from the receipts of the next year's disbursement. The maximum amortization period for repayment is 5 years and will start after completion of school. All we require from you is confirmation of enrolment from the school and your parent's co-signature or guarantee.

With the high costs of education these days we can help take the pressure off the student and parents by setting up a Minnedosa Credit Union Limited student loan for you!! See Terry, Bjarni, Lori, Harvey or Rhonda for more details!!

STUDENT ACCOUNTS!

The Minnedosa Credit Union Ltd. offers a special student account for people attending university, college or another form of post secondary education on a full time basis. This account has no service charges. That means no charge for cheques, withdrawals or ATM transactions. If you are enrolled in school full time just let one of our staff know and we will change your existing account to a "Student Account".

TV Reality

So this is our version of "Survival". Two couples marooned in the bush somewhere north of Winnipeg, where they will be forced to eek out an existence armed with the tools that only our pioneering forefathers would consider as 'everything needed for survival'.

If they make a go of it for a year, each couple stands to collect $100,000.

At first, a tent will provide all the protection needed until they can collect themselves enough to construct a cabin capable of keeping out the fierce winter storms. Living off the land, they are armed with a musket or two, some black powder and shot, some seed, a few farm animals and ... what is this ... a backup stores crammed with food, water and a telephone? This just doesn't seem right. But that's not quite the end. They will also come armed with $500 and a period catalogue with appropriate prices for those luxuries that may, from time to time, be deemed necessary.

While the actual location is being kept a secret, with their ability to enter a local community on occasion as well as at least two family visits during the year, the location probably won't remain a mystery for too long.

I suppose all of this will be an interesting exercise for those four people involved as well as making for interesting television for the rest of us at some future point in time, but I can't help but think about the actual pioneers who didn't have any lifelines left once they arrived at Tanner's Crossing. I think about Angus Grant who regularly walked the 80 miles to Portage for supplies or to register land titles. I think about that poor lady who arrived in the knee-deep mud of a spring Minnedosa Main Street with eight children in tow only to find that her husband, who had arrived earlier to claim a homestead, had suddenly died.

Somehow this exercise just doesn't have the taste of what it really must have been like in these parts back in eighteen and seventy-nine.

Speculation for the Nation

Well, it was fun to speculate, even just for a few hours, especially if you happened to be a British Columbia resident. The rumours circulated freely throughout the Canadian media that Microsoft Chairman Bill Gates was so unhappy with the break-up of his company by the U.S. federal government that he might actually be considering moving his entire operation to British Columbia.

Heady stuff for the Canadian technological community as well as for B.C. politicians.

It didn't take long, however, for reality to set in. Some quick calculations by a few astute journalists soon proved that the average Microsoft employee, transferring his residence as well as his income to Canada would result in paying almost twice the income tax that they have become so used to in the U.S.. That, in a nutshell, was the end of that dream.

Not that Bill Gates had probably ever considered the possibility anyway. Looking at it just from the corporate side, the taxes that would be beset on his company coffers would be astronomical, no doubt, and to such an extent that any move involving the 160 kilometres or so to the north would prove to be a multi-billion dollar boondoggle. Sort of 'cutting off the nose to spite the face'.

Suffice it to say that our Finance Minister Paul Martin was cognizant of the goings on in the press over the issue. Only a few days later he released the statement that Canadians had only seen the beginning of his government's resolve to cut taxes, and that we should just wait for next year to see how deep he and his cronies were willing to go to even up the playing field between us and them.

It's all timing, however. If the feds do proceed with a fall election, we will most certainly see and hear a lot of promises. If the election comes after next winter's 2001 budget, it may well be a different story.

Picture of the Week ...

The play is the thing ....

Gone With the Breeze was a big hit with those who attended the Tanner's Crossing School play put on by students last Tuesday evening.

Directors of the play were Mrs. Emerson-Proven, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. McLenehan, Ms. Dalton and Ms. Furman.

From the Editor's Desk

Congratulations!
Congrats go out to Heather Emerson-Proven of Tanner's Crossing School who has been nominated for the Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba Elementary School Classroom Teacher Award. The nominations were announced by His Honour, the Honourable Peter M. Liba, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba. In all, 29 elementary teachers were nominated and one will be chosen to receive the award.

Open House!
The Canadian Forces Base Shilo will host its annual Armed Forces Day Open House on Saturday, July 1st. A simulated infantry attack complete with pyrotechnics will be the feature of the event as well as the German Army demonstrating the quick engine change on their Leopard 2 main battle tank. The Royal Canadian Artillery Band will also be performing. The Open House concludes by 4 p.m. so you will have ample time to get back to Minnedosa and pick out your favorite spot for the July 1st fireworks display set for the lake.

Schedule being finalized!
The Homecoming Committee has finalized the schedule for the upcoming reunion and The Tribune will be producing a booklet including all events that will be handed out to all registrants. We have several class reunion schedules to go into the book, but if you have recently set yours and the Homecoming Committee is not aware of it, call The Tribune office at 867-3816 no later than Wednesday morning for inclusion in the booklet.

Tickets everywhere!
Yes, ye olde Trib press has been running overtime of late printing raffle tickets on just about everything, but there is one we'd like to tell you about that Diane Harrington of the Minnedosa Hospital and PCH Social Committee has unveiled. It's their raffle/fundraiser for Multiple Sclerosis and Cystic Fibrosis. Tickets are $10 and will be available throughout the community with the draw set for November.

Already!
No sooner planted than dug up! The Horticultural Club spent last Monday planting flowers all along Main Street only to find by Wednesday that several had been torn up. How could a bed of flowers be so offensive to someone?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

RE: Letter to the Editor by Rudy Usick

This is in reply to the letter to the Editor of Rudy Usick published in the Minnedosa Tribune on June 5, 2000, which we feel requires a reply.

The fact of the matter is that both the Court of Queen's Bench, Mr. Justice Mykle, and the Court of Appeal, Justices Huband, Philp and Twaddle, found that Russell Tiller was in a conflict of interest when he participated in and voted on the R.M. of Clanwilliam decision to purchase the SW 1/4 7-18-17, WPM, at the same time that he himself was purchasing the NW 1/4 6-18-17, WPM, from the same person, one purchase being conditional on the other.

While Mr. Justice Mykle held that not only was Russell Tiller in a conflict of interest, and that he forfeit his seat on Council as a result, the Court of Appeal determined that, on the evidence presented to the Court, Russell Tiller acted inadvertently, not knowing what he was doing was wrong, even though he had been Reeve of the R.M. of Clanwilliam sine 1983.

The other aspect of this case is the fact that the Court of Appeal ordered that the R.M. of Clanwilliam, in fact the ratepayers, pay Russell Tiller's court costs. They do not represent a complete indemnity of Russell Tiller's legal bill in defending his actions. While Mr. Tiller's legal costs may very well total $20,000.00 as reported by Rudy Usick, the actual contribution to Russell Tiller's legal costs that the R.M. of Clanwilliam will have to pay, as ordered by the Court of Appeal, are around $3,300.00. This is a far cry from the $20,000.00 alleged by Rudy Usick. For the record, the R.M. of Clanwilliam has paid its lawyer around $7,000.00 total.

In closing, two levels of Court found Russell Tiller acted improperly and declared him to be in a conflict of interest. Council was entitled to put the question of whether there was a conflict before the Courts for a determination. Council acted entirely properly in doing what it did. It would have been very simple for Russell Tiller to have declared himself in a conflict at the meeting, and withdraw from the meeting, which would have saved the R.M. of Clanwilliam, Council and the ratepayers all the grief and costs incurred.

Yours truly,
Patty Kowalick, Leo Woywada, Jim Nylen, John Whitaker, Norval Lee, Melvin Wetteland.

Dear Editor:

Within 3 weeks from now, Minnedosa is going to be a "Show Case" to outsiders and visitors.

Is anything being done to make our lovely town, a lasting memory. Or is our town going to fade in the minds of those visitors.

I hope not, but what's being done to improve Minnedosa, like what happened to the Canvas back Duck? Why not locate the duck near the fish ladder, on the other side of the little bridge, near where the ducks nest.

Minnedosa is a very beautiful town, why not show visitors, that, we who live here, take pride, and show that we are a growing town with a bright future. Not like some other towns that are in "The Ghost Towns of Manitoba".

I know we have a lot of committees to improve our town, but all of us in Minnedosa should work together to make our town a great place to live in, to retire to and visitors remember as that.

Lovely little town in the valley where people who live here take pride and are proud of "Beautiful Minnedosa".

Angela and Walter Smith, Minnedosa, MB

Provincial program bringing med students to rural hospitals

First year University of Manitoba med student Jason Unger chose Minnedosa Hospital, applied and was successful in getting the posting he wanted. Reports program maybe in jeopardy

Jason Unger, a 26 year old medical student from the University of Manitoba, is a recent resident of this community as he embarks on a ten week training program at Minnedosa Hospital. The program is designed to encourage physicians to practice rurally after graduation. Jason, however, is no stranger to the rural area as he grew up on a farm at Haywood, Manitoba, near Carman.

Room and Board and a small salary are included with the program which allows the medical student to get involved as much as possible with patients, but involves no diagnosis.

Jason is one of six students who are participating in the program in rural areas of southern Manitoba, with a similar program in place in the northern area. Once he applied and was interviewed, he listed his priority as Minnedosa and was accepted. While here, he will serve under the tutilage of Dr. Bright, but is also involved with the other doctors at the hospital. He works a regular shift but is also on call to attend with local doctors.

Jason has completed a 3 year degree with a science major and just recently completed his first year of undergraduate medical studies. According to Jason, three more years of University remain before graduation and then a two to eight year residency is required before he can practice.

"At this point I haven't set my sights on a particular field of medicine", he stated, "but by the third year I will have made my choice."

Jason has enjoyed the community and states that the people are very friendly and noted that he has found the residents of the area quite happy to be here.

"Rural medicine is a great opportunity for physicians," he stated, "because of the variety. In the urban center, most doctors are constricted to specialties".

The provincial government sponsored program has been in place for ten years now, "but", stated Jason, "there has been some indication that the government doesn't think the program is working. I feel that the program hasn't been running long enough to show its true value." He added, "It is an important program because the shortage of doctors in rural areas is a serious problem."

Jason stated that his present class consists of 73 medical students with only about ten to fifteen of those expressing an interest in practicing medicine in rural areas.

His point couldn't have been better verified as an article on the front page of this edition details the problems experience by the Town of Erickson as a result of too few doctors being available for rural medicine. In Erickson's case, the town will be left without emergency medical services for a period of two weeks because of the inability of the Marquette Regional Health Authority to find a replacement doctor.

Close to $1000 raised in RCMP Golf Tourney

Ron Ludwig of the Minnedosa RCMP Detachment presents 'Drive the Green' fundraising Chairman Frank Taylor with $500 for the golf course expansion project. Ludwig indicated that another $485 was raised through the 'Hole-in-One' contest held for the MS Society.

Exchange student reports back to Rotary

Exchange student Marla Ewashko and Rotary Club President Bob Manns

By Scott Martin

Minnedosa Collegiate student Marla Ewashko, has just returned from a four day "Adventures in Citizenship" trip to Ottawa, PQ. sponsored by The Minnedosa Rotary Club. Marla stayed in Ottawa, with a host family, which she described as, "awesome, a really nice family to stay with".

Marla's first day was spent at Carlton University, where she toured, and attended lectures, on "the values of being Canadian". On day two, Marla, along with the other 219 youngsters from around Canada, were treated to a bus tour around the City of Ottawa and Hall, PQ. They visited a Museum and a local Theatre, where they were shown an educational film, about Art. The day was finished off with a dinner and dance at The Lodge, in Hall.

The RCMP Training Academy, was the first stopping point for day three. Here, Marla saw the training of SWAT Teams, Bomb Disposal Teams and The Mounties. Her non-stop trip then visited Parliament Hill, where Marla sat in The Houses of Parliament, whilst The Speaker described the day to day happenings of Parliamentary meetings. They also got to meet The Governor General, Adrienne Clarkson for discussion, and a photo session. Marla also attended Citizenship Court, and witnessed around 15 foreign immigrants receive their Canadian Citizenship.

At West Block, Parliament Hill, Marla met and was photographed with one of her local MPs Inky Mark, of Dauphin-Swan River. She returned to have supper with her host family, and some local Rotarians, and finished off the trip, with a chance to relax and unwind, by partying the remainder of the night away with everybody else on the trip, at the Much Music Dance, where there were big screens playing pop music videos.

Mementoes that returned home with Marla, include the photo she had taken of her alongside Mr Mark, a certificate awarded to her from the RCMP, after her visit there, and Celebrate Canadian Citizenship 2000 certificate, after finishing her trip. She also has an address book crammed with the names and address' of everyone on the trip, and may keep in touch with a few.

When asked what she learned, and what thoughts she has brought back with her from Ottawa, Marla stated, that she was, "proud to be Canadian", adding "it was a very worthwhile trip, and I enjoyed it very much".

Manitoba Youth Job Centre

By Patricia Jackson

Hello again! I'd just like to let you all in on what's going on at the Manitoba Youth Job Centre in Minnedosa. We have just begun our first Odd Job Squad event with help from Minnedosa Flower and Gift, the Canada Day Flower Frenzy. Orders for a Canada Day bouquet must be place before June 16th, so call me, Patricia at 867-3846. We also have a number of other events planned for the summer.

Do you need another pair of hands? There are many responsible, hard-working students who are excited about working for you. They are willing to mow grass, clean your house, babysit, trim your trees, dig your flowerbeds, or anything you can think of. If you are a student who has not yet registered, it is never too late. I look forward to seeing everyone, students and employers, at the Manitoba Youth Job Centre, 133 Main Street South in the Yellowhead Employment Services building.

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

It's June 7th and it has been a beautiful summer day. Just right for golfing, and finishing gardening.

In one month (July 7th) it will be "Homecoming" time. It will be great having friends return. Committees doing all the planning and work, need a big "Thank you" for all the effort and time they have given. Now the rest of us have to do our part to make it a success.

Dr. Khandelwal's home is a very busy and happy place with their company from India. Visiting are Indu's mother Tara Devi, son Sunil's wife Shashi and Sunil's daughter Avni Khandelwal. Welcome to Erickson and Minnedosa. As the Texans would say "y" all come back, real soon."

David & Jean Koroscil of Saskatoon spent June 3rd weekend with their mothers Anne Koroscil and Anna Wark. They also were busy putting in the garden at the Wark farm.

Welcome back to Erickson, Irving and Janet Vince. They have bought the Joan McInnes house on Queen Elizabeth Street. I believe they lived in Alberta until recently.

Michael Wikdahl and friend Shelley of Mission, B.C. spent part of the weekend visiting Grandma Ida Wickdahl and Earl & Val Wickdahl.

Ivy Carter spent June 3rd weekend in Winnipeg with son Garry and family. Lloyd and Ivy Carter attended the funeral of Eleanor (Tootsie) Hoglander McIntyre in Brandon on June 6th.

Darren & Debbie Holmberg and family attended Debbie's brother Tim Robins wedding at Rossburn on June 3rd.

Cecil Sundmark flew to Vancouver to visit his daughter Lynn and her husband.

Viola Burkett attended her grandson Richard Lochhead's confirmation service in Winipeg on June 4th and also Dana Burketts musical recital. Her daughter Dr. Elva from Delaware also attended and spent a few days with her mother and other family members and attended a friends wedding.

COPP'S safety tip this week is...do not put your name on a door or gate as burglars can call ahead to find out if you are in.

Sorry to report that Harry Tiller of Brandon is seriously ill in Brandon Hospital. His brother Robert of Creston, B.C. and sister Mabel Brewer of The Pas and other family members have been visiting him.

Congratulations to two of our young local golfers who competed in the Optomist World Junior Golf Tournament at Shilo Country Club. Troy Hengen played with the 16 and under and made a fine showing and Rhonda Beatty competed in 18 and under girls competition and won second place. Congratulations.

Marland & Cathy Furwick and Lloyd and Ivy Carter attended the Bluegrass Festival at Shady Oaks, McGregor over the weekend. Lloyd and his family members participated in the event.

The Erickson Recreation Centre is in need of new flooring for the upper level of the building, and so to raise some of the funds a Walk-a-thon was held the evening of June 7th. Twelve walkers, 5 bikers and some participants with pledge cards were involved and approximately $850.00 was raised. After the walk, a weiner roast was enjoyed at the local park. A poker derby was also held with Sandra Syslak winning 1st prize. Verna Seguin 2nd and Samantha Hodges 3rd prize.

Tyler Glen went on the air as morning man on the 1st of June, 2000 on Brandon's newest FM station. STAR FM 94.7. Tyler, the son of Victor & Lana Bachewich is program director also at the station. He is happy to be back in Brandon and broadcasting to the surrounding communities including many friends in Erickson. Tyler started his career in Brandon at CKLQ AM in 1991 and broadcasted from Wainwright, Alberta, Prince Albert, Sask and Regina, Sask before returning to STAR FM in Brandon. Welcome back Tyler Glen and best of luck! Another Erickson gentleman, Colin Lougheed is also employed at the station in the creative writing department.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Never in the history of the R.M. of Clanwilliam has there been such a waste of public money, which could have been eliminated if discussion would have taken place.

There are a number of people I would like to thank, especially my wife Kay and my family for there support through this whole ordeal. And a special thanks to the friends of Russell Tiller Committee, Rudy Usick, Orval Berg, Venton Beatty, and Vic Baranick and to all the people for the phone calls and letters of support, it meant a lot to me, and I thank you so much.

This community has had major disasters over the years such as house fires, accidents and sickness and the community has responded to these events in a loving and kind way, and that's what life is all about. We are here to help each other, and it has showed now through this whole ordeal and I'm sure there will be times again when the community will respond in the same loving and kind way.

Our roots are deep in this community and this whole feasco is not going to change that. So once again I want to thank you for all your support and lets face the future in cooperation and respect for each other.

Respectfully submitted,
Russell Tiller, Reeve of R.M. of Clanwilliam

Erickson Legion News

by Teri Syslak

June 6, 2000 meeting was opened by Com. Pres. Vic Bachwich. The Colour party was preformed by Ladies Auxiliary. A thank you was given by 12 year old Nick Ewasiuk. A presentation was given by Rebecca Gray on Pre School Literacy Program.

There were 14 members present. All reports were read and approved. A colour party is required for June 22, 2000 Trans Canada Trail relay. Legion will be open July 14 from 1-5 p.m. for the Homecoming 2000. A new Nunavut flag was placed in the hall.

Honours and rewards banquet set for September. Motion on the floor to give a donation of $50.00 to Erickson High School Rodeo. Discussion on the Cornell and Shilo base attending home coming in July. The Legion will march to the airport to welcome Cornell.

Legion members give Com. Syslak permission to look for a different bingo machine and install a board of donation. Maurice Godin got the go ahead with a Golf Tournament. Meeting adjourned and no meetings July and August and lunch was enjoyed.

Erickson Homecoming 2000

Twenty-five days and counting until the celebrations begin. There are up dated brochures available now. They are gold in colour. Posters with details of daily events will be up around town soon. Also information will be available at registration.

Sign-up sheets for sports events will be at the municipal office prior to homecoming week and also at registration.

There will be no pre-registration. It will take place at the Recreation Centre every morning during Homecoming. Please register as early as you can that week and pay your fee, pick up your name tag, and check out the information to be found there. You will also be able to see who has arrived and purchase souveniers there.

The quilt has been completed. Congratulations and thanks to the ladies who put this together in record time. It will be displayed soon and tickets on it are now available. During homecoming it will be at the Rec. Centre for viewing.

Have you got your red, blue & gold flowers in your garden and your lights up for the decorating contest?

Watch for ads in this paper for the Homecoming supper and dance. Lets have a great 2000 party.

Newdale News

by Olive Waddell

Darrell, Julie Bradley and family Kim and Chris and friend Steve from Winnipeg visited at the Leonard and Ida Bradley home on Saturday, May 27th.

Visiting Blanche English on May 20 were Etta English from Hamiota and her guests Leona and Roy Neubriar from Irwin, Alberta.

Alvin Cournoyer from Drinkwater, SK, visited Jackie and Les Pedersen May 26-May 29.

A better than usual crowd attended the 75th Anniversary of the Church on Sunday, June 4th in Newdale United Church, and we are thankful for blooming lilacs and iris'. Children and teachers of the Sunday School presented recognition certificates and bibles by their teachers. Rev. Hunter chose the theme "This United Church of Ours" relating to the book "The Painted Trunk and Other Stories" illustrating the union of three churches: Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregationalist into the United Church of Canada, they being shown on the United Church Crest. All gathered in the lower church hall for a special luncheon served by the U.C.W. and Rev. Hunter cut the cake. Gordon Waddell related a brief history of our local Church and Ann Patterson spoke of the George H. Pattison's connection. The gathering had a fun time of singing "The Urge To Grow" composed by Dorothy Logan. All enjoyed a time of fellowship over sandwiches, cake and ice cream topped with strawberries. Scrapbooks and pictures were on display, as well as "The Painted Trunk and Other Stories" by Alyson Huntly and "Fire and Grace" by Jim Taylor, two books especially dedicated for this Anniversary Year and available for interesting reading from our Church Library.

The Hymn "2000 Years" written by Colin Peterson was given first choice amongst many and may be used from Voices United #483 tune:

Jackie, Les and Rudy Pedersen spent most of the first week of June at Pense, SK.

The regular meeting of the Horticultural Society met on Monday, June 5th at Harrison House with seven members in attendance. Plans for the summer months were discussed - Float for the parade, planting the various flower beds, flower and plant sale and a miscellaneous sale. Several offered to weed the flower beds as required throughout the summer.

Congratulations to the Matheson's of Hamiota and the Murrays' of Newdale on the birth of their granddaughter, infant child born to Duncan and Sharla Murray on June 1st, 2000.

Edna Newman of Wetaskawin, AB, is visiting with her parents Neil and Hilda Davies, and relatives for two weeks.

Eric Welbourne of Brooks, AB, was visiting his brother Brian and other relatives in the area on Tuesday, June 6th.

Paul and Valerie Simpson from Nottinghamshire, England were visiting their daughter Jenine Roger and Kristi for a few weeks in early June.

A Celebration was held at the Holy Family Ukrainian Catholic Church in Winnipeg in honor of the 60th Anniversary of the Ordination into the Priesthood of Reverend Father Mitrat John Kristalovich. He has served at Holy Family for 39 years. Attending this special event were Eugene Kristal, Sylvester and Elsie Kristalovich, Mary Millenchuk and Tom and Lil Kelunick.

Second Exhibition of the Season in Wasagaming

June 16th is the opening date for the second exhibition in the galleries of the Wasagaming Community Arts Centre in Wasagaming (Riding Mountain National Park).

The work of local artists Libby Weir will be on display in the Joyce Smedegaard Gallery (Gallery 1). Titled Winter Threshold, the works use abstract landscape images to communicate ideas of life, death and existence.

In Gallery II, Winnipeg artist Glenn Hayes presents a collection of work in the acrylic medium. He utilizes the power of nostalgic subject matter to create an intensely emotional viewing experience.

Both exhibitions run from June 16th through July 12th.

855 register for Homecoming

Well, we are up to 855 registered "Homecomers" for Homecoming 2000 and the most recent registrants are as follows: Norma Jack-Baschuk, Bev Parker, Ray & Cheryl Orr and Marjorie Dewar of Winnipeg, Brenda(Ingaldson) Whitby-Calgary, Don Chalmers-Lloydminister, SK, Connor Whyte-Thunder Bay,ON, Bill & Val Atkinson-Abbotsford, BC, Ruth(MacKay)& Cliff Hodges-Erickson, Norma(Ross) & Clark Kenway- Encino,CA, Wendell & Christine Watchorn, Jo-Anne Douglas and Rod Dillabough and Dorothy Holmstrom from Brandon and Marilyn(Alex) Gunnlaugson, Minnedosa. Also, we wish to correct a registration noted in the last issue. Blake & Judy(Searle)Menzies are registered for Homecoming and are looking forward to seeing many old friends back home!

The Homecoming Committee is getting very excited with Homecoming 2000 soon upon us! The Chamber of Commerce has got some great activities planned for July 4th- Western Day. From 12:00 - 4:00 at Tanner's Park, a variety of activities are being planned, largely for children. Cowboy Chow, being sponsored by Youth for Christ, begins the activities followed by games and activities, Anders the Magician, and rides for kids! It will surely be lots of "fun" for one and also plan to bring your family to enjoy the afternoon's activities!

Plan to make the Homecoming 2000 School Open House Tea and Reunion on July 3rd at MCI an event that you don't wish to miss! Starting at 3:00 with a short Opening Ceremony, this reunion will feature unguided tours of the two schools as well as some food and refreshments and rooms set aside for various decades to get-together to renew acquaintances! Memorabilia will be on display. Hope to see you there as staff and students will be coming back home hoping to visit with one another and remember old times!

Tuesday, July 4th in the afternoon, there will be some Western Entertainment at MCCC beginning at 3:00. Cloggers and Square Dancers will be showing everyone how their styles of dancing work together with The Fantasy Fiddlers performing some Old Time Music as only they can, so make plans to enjoy this entertainment.

Five days of school are left and everything is very hectic. Last week student council signed their duties off to the new members who are taking over. The final preparations for student council are well under way.

On Thursday, June 8th the senior 1 students hosted a farewell BBQ for the graduating senior 4 students. The senior 1 students cooked hot dogs that the senior 4 graciously accepted.

The M.C.I. rugby team won the provincials 15-13 against stonewall for the second year. The turn out for the game was incredible. The fan support was appreciated by students of M.C.I.

The year's end brings joy, but it also brings final exams. Study hard! Tip for the summer: Don't leave can drinks unattended, you might swallow a bee.

Minnedosa Fish Ladder count

By Scott Martin

The Fish Ladder which was constructed in only three weeks back in the Spring of this year, has already proved to have been a great success. The "Fish Way" which is located at the East end of the Dam, has yielded a "better than expected count of fish," stated Tom Instance, a member of the Little Saskatchewan Wildlife Association. He added that "this was in spite of the fact that there were lower than average water levels." The low levels caused a need for some minor adjustments to the ladder, for it to be able to work effectively, but Instance indicated that, "the end results were, beyond expectations."

A total of 134 fish were caught, in a specially constructed trap on the inlet to Minnedosa Lake. The fish were counted, identified, and then released during a one month period. This exercise was carried out daily, by volunteers of the Little River Fish and Game Association. In all 28 Northern Pike, and 106 Suckers, used their new route. Amazingly a total of 81 fish however, chose the same day to make their journey.

Martin Erickson of Manitoba Fisheries, indicated in an earlier Tribune interview, that it will take a few years of operation before the Fish Way is used to its full potential by spawning fish. "That has certainly been our experience with the ladders at Rapid City and Birtle," Martin added, "so we expect to see increases in overall numbers of fish using the ladder over the coming years."

The water levels at the Lake were lower than expected, and one main reason is due to a low run off from Riding Mountain National Park, caused by a lack of snow. Last year saw 6.6 centimetres of water equivalent snow averaged across 12 Snow Monitoring Stations, in the Clear Lake basin area. At the same time this year, the levels of water equivalent snow were measured at one centimetre, a drop off of approximately 85 percent.

The Public Utilities Board — Notice of Public Hearing and Pre-Hearing Conference

Applicant: The Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation

APPLICANT: The Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation (the Corporation) has applied to The Public Utilities Board (the Board) for approval of the Corporation's 2001 rate basers and premiums charged for compulsory driver and vehicle insurance. The application is being filed pursuant to the Crown Corporations Public Review and Accountability Act and The Public Utilities Board Act.

RATE IMPACT:
The Corporation is requesting approval for basic Autopac rates effective March 1, 2001 incorporating the changes which are described below and which would have the following impact, for each major vehicle use category:

Major Use	Number of Vehicles	Increase/ Decrease
Private Passenger	396,573	-5.4%
Commercial	33,603	1.8%
Public	7,571	-4.7%
Motorcycles	6,815	9.2%
Trailers	83,285	-0.8%
Off-Road	20,270	-9.9%
OVERALL	748,117	-4.8%

The overall impact of rate adjustments on the total vehicle population will be as follows:

- 508,087, or 67.9% of vehicles will receive a rate decrease. Most decreases will be less than $50.
- 202, or .03% of vehicles will receive no change in rate;
- 140,461, or 18.8% of vehicles will receive a rate increase of up to $20;
- 62,873, or 8.4% of vehicles will receive an increase between $20 and $50;
- 29,429, or 3.9% of vehicles will receive an increase between $50 and $100; and,
- 7,065, or 1% of vehicles will receive an increase greater than $100.

The actual change in an individual's premium will vary depending on the owner's claim experience, driving record, insurance use, territory and vehicle rate group. The cumulative effect of these variations on individual rates will all fall within the dollar amounts described above.

No changes are proposed to fleet rebates and surcharges, existing time payment fees or existing service and transaction fees.

PARTICULARS OF THE APPLICATION:
The following rate adjustments are proposed for policies issued between March 1, 2001 and February 28, 2002:

- Experience-based rate increases and decreases to individual classes ranging between +15% and -15%, resulting in no overall change in vehicle premium revenue;
- Classification offset changes ranging between -1.6% and +28.2% to achieve revenue neutrality from the changes to vehicle rate groups.
- The Corporation is applying for a one-time 5% surplus dividend to reduce the amount that would otherwise be payable, according to the applied-for rates. The effect of the surplus dividend is included in the rate adjustments by class, which appear above.

New Insurance Use for Courier Cars
The Corporation has established a new insurance use for courier vehicles, Common Carrier Passenger Vehicles (Local) to bring the insurance use for these passenger vehicles into line with light trucks and is applying for rates that are 5% higher than the all purpose passenger vehicle use in all territories.

Seasonal Rating for Motorcycles
Premiums will be adjusted from an annual basis to a seasonal basis, appropriate to the actual use of most motorcycles.

Adoption of Motorcycle Vehicle Type Differentials
The Corporation has established different categories for motorcycles, based on type of motorcycle and is applying for rates per category as follows:

Touring	90% of the average motorcycle rate
Sport Bikes	120% of the average motorcycle rate
Motorscooters	70% of the average motorcycle rate
All others*	100% of the average motorcycle rate

*Includes Custom, Dual Purpose and Others

Permits and Certificate Fees
The Corporation proposes that decreases to fees for permits and certificates be limited to the one-time surplus dividend.

Driver's License Premiums
Demerit point additional premiums (Charge 1) increase $50 for each level, with the new levels ranging from $200 to $999, depending on the number of demerit points.

Accident surcharges (Charge 2) increase as follows:
1st at-fault accident increases to $200, from $150
2nd at-fault accident increases to $400, from $300
3rd at-fault accident increases to $800, from $600
4th and subsequent at-fault accident increases to $1200, from $900

CLASSIFICATION CHANGES, AS ESTABLISHED BY THE CORPORATION:

Changes to Vehicle Merit Rate Discounts
Vehicle owners who are 6 or more years claim free and have an at-fault accident will no longer lose the vehicle merit discount but will instead pay the first accident surcharge. The first accident surcharge will also continue to apply to non-owners.

For full particulars, interested parties should examine the Corporation's application, testimony and supporting materials at the Corporation's offices, or at the Board's office.

Five days notice required

Wheelchair access is available

Interested parties who wish to obtain copies of the application should contact:

Manitoba Public Insurance
Attention: Rick Sloan
6th Floor, 234 Donald Street
Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 4A4
Telephone: 985-7058 (collect calls accepted)

RATE VARIATION:
Rates for services by The Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation shall be reviewed by The Public Utilities Board under The Public Utilities Board Act and no change in rates for services shall be made and no new rates for services shall be introduced without the approval of The Public Utilities Board. Rates for services means in the case of The Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation, rate bases and premiums charged for compulsory driver and vehicle insurance provided by that Corporation. Upon any application to it, the Board may make an Order granting the whole or part only of the application or may grant such further or other relief in addition to or in substitution for that applied for, as fully and in all respects as if the application had been for such partial, further or other relief.

HEARING:
The Board will hold a public hearing on the Corporation's application at the Public Utilities Board Hearing Room, 4th Floor, 330 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, MB, commencing at 9:00 a.m., October 2, 2000.

RURAL MEETINGS:
Based on the public's response to this notice and other notices, it is prepared to convene meetings in Brandon or such other locations as are warranted by the response. People who intend to appear are to write the Board's Secretary confirming the location where they wish to appear. Notice of intention should be mailed to the Board by August 11, 2000.

Confirmation of these meetings will appear in future notices. Interested parties may also contact the Board office for details.

PROCEDURE:
The Board's Draft Rules of Practice and Procedure will apply to the conduct of the General Rate Hearing. Copies of this document are available upon request to the Board by writing to the Secretary or by calling 948-2638 (Winnipeg).

PRE-HEARING CONFERENCE:
All persons, firms or corporations wishing to intervene in respect of this application and to participate in the examination of witnesses, to provide evidence or to make submission and final arguments are required to attend, or send a representative to, a Pre-Hearing Conference (PHC), to be convened by the Board in its Hearing Room, 4th Floor, 330 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, Manitoba on Monday, June 26, 2000 at 10:00 a.m.

The objectives of the PHC are:

I) to identify the intervenors, their reasons for intervention and to avoid duplication of content;

II) to establish status of certain applicant intervenors; and

III) to establish a timetable for the orderly exchange of evidence and information.

Persons wishing to address this PHC in French are required to notify the Board's Secretary as soon as possible. Persons wishing to address the public hearing in French are required to notify the Board's Secretary prior to September 18, 2000 and if possible at the PHC.

PARTICIPATION:
For the purpose of this hearing, intervenors shall be persons, firms or corporations wishing to participate in the examination of witnesses, or to provide evidence, or to make submissions and final argument. Intervenors are requested to notify the Board of their intention to do so by applying to the Secretary of the Board immediately.

Copies of such notices should also be sent to the Corporation's Counsel:

Kevin M. McCulloch
Vice President, Corporate Legal
General Counsel and Corporate Secretary
Manitoba Public Insurance
912 - 234 Donald Street
Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 4A4
Telephone: 985-7383

Those parties wishing to submit a brief or to express comments to the Board, but who do not wish to participate in the entire proceeding, are known as presenters. They should advise the Secretary of the Board of their intention to appear at the public hearing by no later than September 18, 2000.

INTERVENORS COSTS:
Intervenors may be entitled to financial assistance. Board Order No. 163/87 dated November 12, 1987 provides for the procedure for an award of costs to intervenors and Board's guidelines for an award of costs. Parties who may wish to make an application for costs should review this Order and obtain a copy of it from the Secretary.

DATED this 1st day of June, 2000.

U9's place 2nd at UCT Cup

The Minnedosa Credit Union U9 co-ed soccer team had a very successful trip to last weekend's UCT Cup, finishing in second place out of ten teams in their age category. After battling to a 0-0 tie with the Brandon Fire Fighters, the team shut out Rivers 3-0 to finish first in their pool. In the semi-finals they played to a hard fought victory over Zenith Paving 3-1. In the Championship game they fell to defeat 3-1 to Astoria Pizza. Congratulations to the players for all of their hard work and sportsmanship displayed throughout the weekend. The team is coached by Peter Harrison and Bill Martin and includes: James Kingdon, Tyler Jury, Geordan Bardsley, Thomas Harrison, Marseu Gordon, Sosefo Gordon, Sean Smith, Andrew Johnson, Braydon Zariwny, Mitchell Cooper, Stephen Roche, Christopher Cardy, Reno Fleury, Lesley Martin, and Alexe Bell. Currently their record is 6-2-2.

Erickson Legion Auxiliary #143

by Elaine Butler

The regular monthly meeting was held on June 6th in the Legion Hall with 12 members present. President Katherine Pollon presided. All reports were read and accepted.

Our correspondence was a thank you letter from The Society for Manitobans With Disabilities and further information regarding the Legion Athletic Camp at the Peace Gardens.

It was reported that the Homecoming Quilt is completed and our thanks go to Dorothy Syslak for creating our block, and also to both she and Pearl Yakiwchuk for helping with the quilting.

Following our meeting we joined the branch for lunch and comradeship.

Minnedosa "COPPS" on summer patrols

The arrival of summer has prompted an increase in the amount of activity on our street during the night as more people are "out and about". Minnedosa COPPS continue to patrol our town, and to show appreciation for the good work being done by these patrollers, a Volunteer Appreciation Night is being held. On Monday, June 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ukrainian Hall, the COPPS executive is hosting an evening to show the Copps patrollers how much they are appreciated. Members of the Chamber of Commerce, Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation, the R.C.M.P., and the Minnedosa Cottage Association, to show their appreciation to the COPPS patrollers, have all contributed great items that will be used for door prizes and draws during the evening. It is hoped all present and former patrollers will attend. Minnedosa COPPS also invites new members to join, so that we can continue to keep Minnedosa a safe place to live. New members are welcome to attend the Appreciation Night to register and become members of this worthwhile community organization.

Clanwilliam History Book Project

Sufficient interest has been expressed in putting together a local history book for this district. As some of you may know, an unpublished book was done in 1983 in conjunction with Minnedosa's Centennial. This makes the job much simpler since a lot of the basic research has already been done. Our proposed book would basically be a reprint of the 1983 work plus updates where necessary and the inclusion of local family histories which were not part of the original work.

The timeline on this book would be to have it finished and printed for some date in mid-2003. This would roughly coincide with the Centennial of the village.

This will have to be a community project to make it viable. Therefore, it is recommended that everyone who is interested in participating give it some thought and take the time to examine one of the two copies of the existing book which are available at the Minnedosa Library and the Clanwilliam Store.

A public meeting will be held in the Clanwilliam Hall on Tuesday, June 13, 2000 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the book and prepare the groundwork.

All interested parties are welcome to attend.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnely

Brian Paul from Medicine Hat, AB was home on the weekend visiting with his parents Ernie and Ruth Paul, and sister Diana and Glen Dyck and son Ty. It was good to see him at the street sale on Saturday.

Len and Dawn Borley from Summerland, BC have been visiting for the past two weeks with family and friends at Rapid City, Rivers, Brandon, Winnipegosis and Saskatchewan.

Bev LeBlanc was home on the weekend visiting with her mother Lottie Grant, sister Shirley Leader and family and other relatives and friends. Bev and her husband Terry LeBlanc are leaving Poplar Point to make their home at Evansburg (near Edmonton).

Sophia recently visited at Roblin with her niece Florence Lukey and other family members.

Joyce and Cliff Grahan from Camrose, AB have spent ten days visiting with sister Laverne Jeremic, nephew Brad, niece Brenda and Lyndon Bournon and family and sisters and their families in Brandon.

Adele Laferriere enjoyed an overnight visit with her sister-in-law Winnie Duvenaud of Sperling. Winnie had accompanied her granddaughter to Brandon and took the opportunity for a quick visit with Adele.

On the weekend of May 26-29 Marie & Elwood Fawcett motored to Strathmore, Alberta for the graduations of daughter Joy who received her Certification as Hotel/Restaurant Manager, and granddaughter Angela who received her grade 12 diploma.

The Chamber sponsored street sale last Saturday was a very successful event and the weather ideal.

Sympathy to Lee Miller of Rivers who was bereaved of her son-in-law Alfred Smith of Cross Lake.

Ada Hamnett spent the past week visiting in Winnipeg with her sister and brother-in-law, Mae and Wallace Andeson. While in the city Mae and Wallace celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary - they also belong to a Seniors Club called "Wandering Wheels" and Ada enjoyed a weekend camping with them. She returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Anderson who stayed for a few days visit.

Many freinds from our area were in attendance at a celebration held to honor Don McFaddin on his 80th birthday, Saturday, June 3rd in the lower hall of Minnedosa United Church. It was lovely to see Don's children and their children, and also so good to meet and greet old friends on a happy occasion.

Kevin and Sandy Holmes returned Wednesday, June 7th from a three week church mission held in Toronto. Shawnee and Dustin stayed with their grandparents Dick and Gladys Fast, and attended school.

During the past five weeks that Jean McCollum has been hospitalized at Minnedosa her family have visited her regularly, and with Murray. Granddaughter Beth and great granddaughter Jasmine are presently staying with Uncle Murray, Ken from Pinawa and Mel of Winnipeg will be home on the weekend. Jean is progressing steadily.

SUMMER 2000

SIX GREAT CAMPS!

WEEK # 1 JULY 10-14
COMPUTERS & SPORTS
Computers are the wave of the future and this camp gives students a chance to learn about how computers can become an integral part of life. No matter the skill level, the camp will provide opportunities for those who have experience and for those who don't. Drop off will be at the Division Office and pick up will be at the beach.

WEEK #2 JULY 17-21
SPORTS GALORE & OLYMPICS
What better way to celebrate 2000 Olympic Summer Games then by spending the week exploring the different sports, culture, art, and history of the different countries of the world. Pick up and drop off will be at the beach.

WEEK # 3 JULY 24-28
MAD SCIENTISTS & SPORTS
A big hit last summer with all participants, the Mad Scientist camp returns promising to be bigger and better this summer. Kids will have the opportunity to learn about everyday applications of science and develop an interest in science technology through experiments with the help of our instructor. Students can be dropped off and picked up at M.C.I.

WEEK #4 JULY 31 - AUGUST 4
OUTDOOR ADVENTURES & SPORTS
Outdoors and fresh air is what the students can expect from this camp. Students are given a chance to explore and discover Minnedosa's surrounding environment. Nature hikes, visits to the trout pond, scavenger hunt, and a one day field trip to Clear Lake are a part of this exciting week. Drop off and pick up will be at the beach.
SIX GREAT CAMPS !!!

AG Report

Neil Galbraith
Agriculture Representative

Feeder School

An evening and next day session on cattle feeding and management, animal health and hands on work occurs next week in Virden. There is a registration fee. For more information contact the Ag office.

Also, next week there is a tour of two farms using the "twice over" grazing system for native grass. This popular grazing method from North Dakota and Montana ,will be explained, why it works and how to do it.

AIDA Update

There is an updated price list that includes prices for lower grades of some commodities and for some new commodities. The 1-888-343-1064 number can give you the new price list. You can provide your own prices if you have a receipt in your name dated within 30 days before or after the fiscal year start or end and submit the receipt with your AIDA application. If a commodity is not listed on the AIDA price list, use a fair market value based on your own farm records, invoices or sales receipts. A reminder that if you received an unseeded acreage payment in 1999 you are required to do a 1999 AIDA because half of the unseeded acre payment was an advance of AIDA funds. Calculation worksheets are available from the toll free number to calculate your estimated AIDA claim for 1999.

There will be Confirmation Notices for 1999 AIDA to help explain how an AIDA claim was calculated. It will summarize payment calculations including claim and reference years margins used in the calculation. Remember, the deadline for submitting your 1999 AIDA is the end of July.

Herb Conference

There is a 3 day herb conference the third week of July in Saskatoon. The agenda looks very comprehensive having sessions divided into production, marketing/business, processing and general. There are dozens of presentations, workshops and panels on a variety of herb topics as well as a trade show. Speakers from all over the world will be attending. Following the 3 day conference is an optional 2 day fair at Outlook, Sask. featuring field tours, demonstrations, etc. on culinary, medicinal and aromatics. We have the registration booklet at the Ag office.

T.C.S. Topics

The directors, cast members and the choir did a wonderful job of putting on the play Gone With The Breeze this past Tuesday night. Congratulations to all those people who were involved. Thanks to all the family members and community members who were in attendance. They were treated to a great show.

The students presented Mrs. Emerson-Proven, Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. McLenehan, Ms. Dalton and Ms. Furman flowers and thanked them for all the work they had done in planning the show.

Cast members were Nathan Crook, Breanne Proven, Patrick O'Brien, Jordan Nelson, Stephanie Jury, Brandi Pollon, Ryan Bukarz, Stephanie Leitner, Lyndsey Marshall, Trevor Crook, Katie Doerksen, Dana Bailey, Whitney Glasgow, Elisha McLean, Sairene Boyd, Molly Harrison, Stephanie Gogal, Brittany McDonald, Ashley Cook, Lynsi Farough, Jill Stone, Angie Wedgewood, Jennifer Thielk, Rachel Proven, David Comrie, William Kingdon, Riley Cuthbert, Kaila Johnson, Dominique Brown, Michelle McGinnis, Rachel Usick, Jodi McNabb, Travis Fehr, Shane Fehr, and Amy Usick. All grade four and five students were members of the choir.

Congratulations to our boy's and girl's softball team who competed at the divisional tournament on Wednesday. The girl's won the consolation final and one boy's team lost in the final game. All players played well and thanks goes out to the coaches, Mr. Harvey, Mr. Gordon, Ms. Paulsen, and Ms. Robinson. This is a busy week at Tanner's. Our grade eight classes are holding their banquets for Home Ec. this week.

The grade one classes are going on their farm visits. Ms. Furman's class goes on Tuesday and Mrs. McKenzie's class will be going on Thursday. Also on Thursday the grade 4's go to Spruce Woods and the Kindergartens go to RMNP. On Friday the other Kindergarten class goes to RMNP and the grade 5 class goes to Souris. Thank you in advance to all the parent chaperones. We could not do these types of trips without you.

There will be no more hot dog sales for the remainder of the year. All the mothers will have to make lunches on Thursday for the rest of the year. The band thanks you for your support on hot dog day.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ROAD CLOSING R.M. OF PARK

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the Council of the R.M. of Park has given 1st reading to By-law No. 1172-98, being a By-law to close a portion of Public Road Plan 2023 (Morgan Road) in the Hamlet of Onanole (as shown on the following sketch), and such closed portion to be transferred to the adjacent registered owner of the residual parcel of SE 24-19-19 WPM. The portion to be closed is a result of the new design and alignment of the newly created Victor Avenue unto P.T.H. No. 10.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the Council of the R.M. of Park will sit to hear any person wishing to make representation on the proposed By-law, at a hearing to be held by Council on July 10th, 2000 at 1:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the R.M. of Park at Onanole, Manitoba.

The By-law along with supporting documentation may be inspected at the Municipal Office during regular business hours.

In Memoriam

Rumak - In memory of my husband, father, grandfather, Michael Rumak who passed away June 13, 1983.

The Angels sang "Amazing Grace",
God came down and touched his face.
Then He whispered soft and low,
"Come with Me, it's time to go."
God in heaven, hear our prayer,
Guard him with tender care.
Be a Good Shepherd don't leave him alone.
Love him as we loved him,
When he was at home

Forever loved and sadly missed wife Jennie, daughter Caroline and Grandchildren Donelda &
Kerwin. x (C6)

Phillips - Treasured memories of Harry 1982 and Doreen 1998.

Our thoughts are always with you.
Your place no one can fill.
In life we loved you dearly.
In death we love you still.
We know you walk beside us.
And when life is through,
We pray that God will take our hand,
And lead us straight to you.

Sadly missed & Lovingly remembered by Daughter Joyce, Husband Andy, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren. x (C6)

In Memoriam

Krupa, Dennis - In loving memory of my husband, who passed away June 14, 1997.

The face I loved is missing.
The voice I loved is silent.
A place is vacant at my table.
And my house is very still.
I miss the daily conversations,
At which we always had lots to say.
It broke my heart to lose you,
But you did not go alone.
So many times I needed you,
So many times I have cried.
If I could have a lifetime wish,
It would be for you to be here with me today.
Memories are treasures nobody can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal.
But life goes on and love will remain.
We both were a good team,
And in God's own time we will meet again.

So deeply missed and loved by wife Olga. (C6)

Cards of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone who attended my 80th Birthday Tea on Saturday, June 3rd. Thanks for kind wishes, cards, and especially the generous donations which will be sent to St. Boniface Hospital Research. Special thanks to my family for arranging the day, and for the lovely smorg supper at the Curling Complex. Sincerely, Don McFaddin. x (CD)

Many thanks to Hedley's Auction and staff, Ladies who served the refreshments, Co-op and True Value stores for the boxes, and to all those who came to make the auction of the Ralph Zachary Estate successful. Gary, Lucille, Glen, Carmen Zachary. x (CD)

Many thanks to all those who helped me celebrate my 65th birthday. The number got so large in such a hurry. A $95.00 cheque has been sent to M.S. Research. Sincerely, Nancy Taylor. x (CD)

I would like to take this opportunity to extend a special thank you to all my relatives and friends who attended my 80th birthday party and made it such a special day. Thank you for the gifts, flowers, and the loony donations for the Covenant Heights Bible Camp. $92.00 was given. Sincerely, Hildegarde Summers. x (CD)

My sincere thanks to Dr Bright, Nursing and Hospital Staff at Minnedosa Hospital for their excellent care during my recent illness. Special thanks to my family, friends and neighbors for their visits, cards, phone calls and gifts. To everyone, your kindness is greatly appreciated. Gertie Madill. x (CD)

We would like to thank everyone who attended Curtis's Baby Shower and for all the lovely gifts he received. Thanks to Tricia and Shari for putting it on for him. Also thanks to the people who stopped by and dropped off a gift. Thank you very much. Cory, Carla, Colin and Curtis Stevenson. x (CD)

Classified Ads Deadline Thursdays at 5 p.m.

Cards of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to Dr. Onyshko and nurse Jane for the safe arrival of our daughter and sister Ashley. Also to the rest of the staff at the Minnedosa & District Hospital who helped make our stay short and sweet! To Dr. Roche - I'm sorry you missed the "Finale", but am thankful for all of your care and concern before and after Ashley was born. To Grandma & Grandpa Robinson for taking such good care of Chad & Logan and to my wonderful husband Perry and sister Kelly for your never ending support and love. Thanks again everyone. Kim & Ashley Robinson. x (CD)

The Gilchrist family would like to express our sincere thanks to all who extended their condolences with flowers, cards, visits and food. A special thank you to the staff at Minnedosa Collegiate for their support and also those in attendance. Your kindness has helped us at this difficult time. Lyle, Julie, Garrett and Jonathan. x (CD)

Obituary

Anna Gertrude (Harland) Quissy

Gertie passed away May 7, 2000, following a brief illness, at the Gateby Intermediate Care Home in Vernon, B.C. where she had lived for the past year.

Gertie was born July 3, 1907 in the Rookhurst District and attended school at Rookhurst, Moore Park and Minnedosa. She moved to Toronto in 1942 where she worked in the John Inglis War Plant; she for Cruden's Custom Made Lampshades until her marriage to Richard Quissy on 1954. In 1973 they retired to Kelowna, B.C.

Gertie was predeceased by her parents Bert and Agnes Harland; 2 brothers, George and Ronald; and 2 sisters, May Beddome and Gladys Rush.

Following cremation Gertie was buried near her husband in Kelowna.

If friends so desire donations may be made to a charity of your choice (C7)

Clifford Cameron McAree

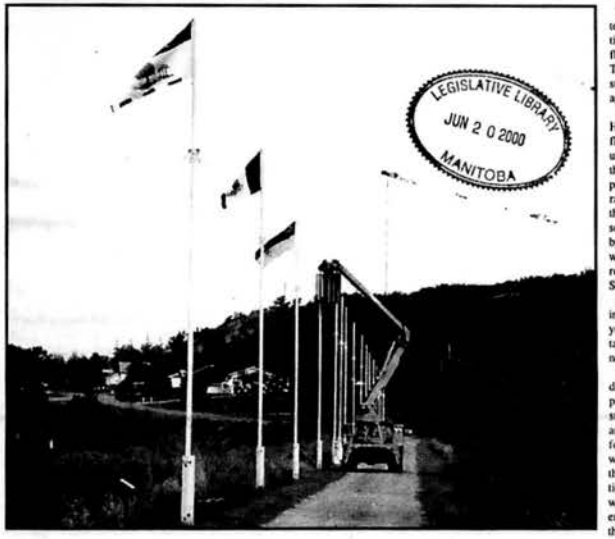
Flags go up along dam



The flags of the provinces, territories and several nations were placed atop the flagpoles along the dam last Thursday. Skoglund Construction did the job once again this year.

Parks Board member Ken Harris indicated that the flags have not been put up until now so as to conserve the flags. The flags being put up May long weekend rarely last the season due to the severity of winds at the south end of the lake and by waiting the two or three weeks insures the flags will remain intact through the September long weekend.

Once again, anyone wishing to donate flags for the year 2001 are asked to contact Ken Harris to make the necessary arrangements.

Ornamental light standards are due to be put in place along the dam this summer, to provide evening and early morning lighting for the large number of walkers who use the dam on their daily trips. In addition, a stone and iron gate will be installed at the west end of the dam to replace the present structure.

M.P. Mark shocked at Gun Control decision

MP Inky Mark says last week's Supreme Court of Canada ruling on gun control is disappointing, but not surprising. Mark was reacting to the ruling which upheld the constitutionality of the bill.

"You don't bite the hand that feeds you, and that's exactly what happens when the Prime Minister appoints Supreme Court Justices. The resentment won't go away. The facts are this legislation punishes and taxes law-abiding citizens, while doing nothing to fix the problem of getting tough on people who use guns in the commission of a crime," Mark said.

Mark also criticized the fact the registry costs are now reaching a billion dollars, money which could be better spent on priorities like health care.

T.C.S. teacher receives award

Heather Emerson-Proven chosen as 'Top Teacher'

Lieutenant Governor Peter M. Liba and Heather Emerson-Proven at Government House awards ceremony.

By Scott Martin

Elementary School Classroom teacher Heather Emerson-Proven, who teaches at Tanner's Crossing School in Minnedosa, has been rewarded for her long time efforts by being awarded, "The 2000 Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba Elementary School Classroom Teacher Award". The award recognizes exceptional achievement of an individual who has demonstrated excellence in elementary school classroom teaching in Manitoba.

Ms. Emerson-Proven was presented with the award at a two hour long ceremony, which took place at Government House in Winnipeg. Speaking at the ceremony, the Honourable Peter M. Liba, C.M, Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, commended Ms. Emerson-Proven for her "outstanding dedication and commitment to the promotion of teaching excellence".

Ms. Emerson-Proven has been an elementary school-teacher for over 25 years, and the nomination noted that she has greatly contributed to the promotion of teaching excellence in the classroom. Both parents and students alike respect and admire Ms. Emerson-Proven, and there were many positive comments about her dedication and stimulating relationship with her students.

"As the Honourable Peter Liba asked for, "the envelope please", thoughts of anxiety started to build up" explained Ms. Emerson-Proven, "when they announced me as the winner, I just felt overwhelmed, and humble. There were 29 other teachers nominated for the award, and all were just as equally qualified and deserving of it".

Clanwilliam park to honour famous pioneer

In addition to his regular duties of driving the local milk truck, Clanwilliam resident Tom Dowsett, shown at left with dog 'Amos', has been keeping busy lately helping to put together a day of celebration for his community as they get set to participate in the grand opening of the Trans Canada Trail to be held in Clanwilliam at 10 a.m. Friday, June 23rd and again at noon that same day in Bethany.

Part of the planned ceremony will include Water Carriers passing through both communities on that day with an official book signing involving Reeve Skatch to take place. The Clanwilliam ceremony will also involve a guest speaker and some entertainment as well as refreshments including a cake donated by Canada Post. The Bethany ceremony has been similarly planned and will include a lunch. A Legion and RCMP colorguard will also be present.

Everyone is welcome to attend the scheduled events with a similar event taking place in Erickson on Thursday.

Pat Burns Siding

Clanwilliam's most famous former resident, Pat Burns, will finally be honoured in his home community with the naming of a park in his honour. The pioneer began his career as a cattle baron in the Clanwilliam area and is most famous for being the founder of Burns Meats, based out of Calgary.

The turn of the last century saw Burns take on his most famous cattle drive to the Yukon, an attempt to feed the thousands of miners who had assembled to take part in our nations most famous gold rush. Burns managed to move 85 head of cattle to the Yukon via boat and cattle drive, finally slaughtering the herd on the banks of the Lewes River before floating the carcasses down stream by raft to Dawson where miners paid $40,000 for the beef.

In 1928, Pat Burns sold his stake in the meat packing business for a reported $15 million.

Pat Burns Siding (Park) will be officially dedicated during the Trail opening ceremony next Friday. It is presently under construction and is located on land adjacent to the former rail line. It has been donated by the Railway Siding Trail Association who are in affiliation with the Trans Canada Trail.

Included in the park will be a picnic area with six camping sites, a horse corrall as well as a children's play area and, according to Tom Dowsett, hopefully a display set up by Duck's Unlimited outlining their various programs and projects in the area. "Eventually," stated Tom, "a giant mural on the privately owned elevator near the site would be nice, too."

Masons donate to Health Centre

Infusion pump will be purchased

Eminent Knight 1982; Cliff Hartmier, Presiding Preceptor; Diana Gilleshammer; Hap Reid, Very Eminent Knight 1983; Jane Peterson, Head Nurse; Hugh Ross, Preceptor 1980; and Judy McFadden, Education Co-ordinator.

A generous donation of $2,250 was made to Minnedosa Hospital last week, by members of the Brandon Preceptory no. 74.

At a presentation which took place at Minnedosa hospital, Esther Robertson, Community Health Director said, "a big thank you goes to all Brandon Preceptory no.74 members".

Head Nurse at the hospital, Jane Peterson explained, "the money will be used to purchase a new Infusion Pump for the hospital", and added "the pump is used to issue medications and fluids, even the new finer medications, to specialized sites".

Rt. Eminent Knight Bob Allen, of no.74 Preceptory stated, "we must thank all of the hospital staff, but especially Esther for all her help in setting things up, and with the arrangements for the presentation".

The presentation was also attended by Diana Gilleshammer who was present on behalf of her husband, Harold Gilleshammer, MLA for Minnedosa, who was away on a prior engagement.

Duck grounded as Horticulture Society searches for location

The Minnedosa Horticultural Society are hopefully in the process of overcoming their final stumbling block towards completing "Community Project 2000," the Canvas Back Duck Statue. Their main worry is that it will not be completed in time for the Minnedosa Homecoming 2000, which will be a setback, as the optimal completion date is June 30th. They are however, hoping to have at least been given the go-ahead by then.

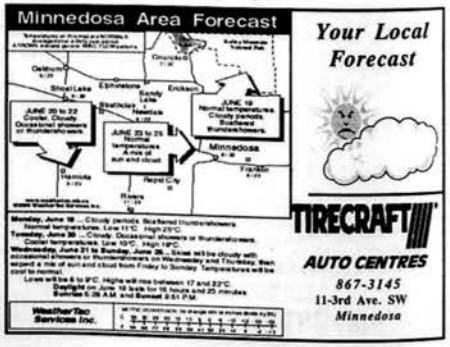
The Minnedosa Horticultural Society have been working on the project since the early part of 1998, and have certainly had some problems since then. In May of this year Evelyn Delgaty, Secretary-Treasurer of Community Project 2000, was informed by the Town of Minnedosa that a building permit was required. The permit was completed and returned the following day. Mrs Delgaty was then informed that an engineer would have to oversee the project in it's entirety, including the pouring of the concrete pilings, which by this time had already been poured by a reputable local firm, at a site which had been carefully selected by Horticultural Society members. They were then informed, by the Town Administrator, that if this project was to go ahead on Town property, their Liability Insurance would be nul and void.

At a subsequent meeting of the Horticultural Society, the proposed site was then moved to R.M. of Odanah land at a site located just north west of Uncle Tom's Restaurant, on Highway 16.

The Canvas Back Duck, which has a wingspan of 16 feet, will be mounted approximately 16 feet high, and has been modelled in flight. It has been classed as Signage by the Highway Traffic Board. The application from Minnedosa Horticultural Society was sent to Winnipeg, but within a week Horticultural Society members were informed that as an "off premises sign", there were certain criteria the Duck would have to pass. One such criteria was that an off premises sign couldn't be less than 200 metres from a major intersection. Their plans were again foiled.

The proposed site has now moved again to the Truck Stop, North West of town, near the junction of highways 10 and 16A. It could still be as long as six weeks before Minnedosa Horticultural Society members hear if the project has been passed for the Truck Stop, and until they do the Duck stays put.

The Duck has cost over $17,000, which has all been raised through a combination of local donations, fundraisers and grants. It is presently sitting on a flat deck, awaiting the all clear before it can make the journey from the home of sculptor Ralph Berg, of Cabri, Sask. Mr Burg has never had to deal with a Building Permit, or engineers for any of the previous statues he has created and erected throughout Western Canada.



Make your steps count for Memory Walk 2000

All across Manitoba personal care facilities, seniors organizations, schools and communities are coordinating "Memory Walks", events which celebrate memories, while encouraging participants to collect pledges for their footsteps. Funds raised enable the Alzheimer Society to provide education and services to families affected by this disease while supporting the search for a cure.

Minnedosa is one of many communities in Manitoba hosting a walk. The participation and support of rural communities not only raises funds for Alzheimer Manitoba, it also promotes awareness and provides educational opportunities for seniors, their families, and local professionals and residents.

Over 80 Memory Walks are planned throughout the province of Manitoba as communities take steps to raise money for Alzheimer Disease and stop one of the largest health dilemmas ever encountered.

By the year 2031, it is estimated that over 3/4 million Canadians will have Alzheimer Disease or related dementias. Within Manitoba, 15,000 people are affected by the disease with 500 new cases being diagnosed each year.

Alzheimer Manitoba, along with hundreds of hard-working volunteers, provide many important programs and services for individuals with the disease and their families. The society is involved in facilitating support groups, runs a toll-free Helpline, provides family and professional education and has created school education programs. Alzheimer Manitoba also runs a Home Activity Program, provides books and information to community libraries, supports research initiatives and has a Web Site for public access.

All funds raised within Westman stay in the region to further programs, services and educational efforts. Help to continue the important work of Alzheimer Manitoba by supporting your local Memory Walk. Make your steps count and call for a pledge form today!!

MCHL donate to Golf Course

Above, Tom Instance of the Minnedosa Commercial Hockey League presents a cheque in the amount of $1000 to "Drive the Green" fundraising chairman Frank Taylor. The funds were raised during the Spring Commercial Hockey League hockey tournament. Sixteen teams entered the tournament with the Big Valley Bulls winning the 35 and Under category and the Minnedosa Moons taking the 35 and Over.

Teaching Award

In a thank you speech made at the ceremony, Ms. Emerson-Proven stated, "truthfully, it's the kids that come into school everyday with problems, and the odds that some of them are up against, that inspire me to carry on the way I have since I started teaching".

Ms. Emerson-Proven started her teaching career with two years in Erickson, but it is Minnedosa's Tanner's Crossing school that has been her home for the last 25 years, while she has taught children from kindergarten to 6th grade.

Minnedosa Boys Pee Wee Baseball

History Removed

A 2000 year old Egyptian mummy shows up in a private museum in Atlanta, Georgia. It, along with other ancient artifacts have been purchased for a reported $2 million U.S. from a private collector in Canada. The artifacts had been on display at a private museum at Niagara Falls since their removal from Egypt in 1860.

Tucked away in the British Museum are countless artifacts pillaged from ancient Greece, Rome, Egypt and countless other countries including the Elgin Marbles, a critical architectural element chiseled from the Parthenon in Athens.

Perhaps the world's most famous statue, Venus De Milo, was literally stolen by the French 175 years ago from the island of Milos. It still rests in France but officials in Milos want her back where she belongs.

German amateur archaeologist Heinrich Schliemann discovered and excavated the ancient ruins of Troy in the 1870's. His discoveries which included golden jewelry and weapons were taken back to Germany and thence removed to Russia in 1945. Turkey wants them back.

The tale of history 'removed' goes back several hundred years and includes almost every major and micro museum in the world. Even Minnedosa.

Tucked away in our humble museum we have a small collection of pre-Columbian artifacts brought back from forays to South America in the late 1800's and early 1900's. While this minute collection does not represent anything on a globally important scale, when you consider that in all probablity artifacts of a similar nature grace tens of thousands of museums and private collections around the world, the profound volume of lost history begins to reveal itself.

We are also the victims of such activity. For years, small collections of Indian artifacts picked up off local fields have slowly been scattered across North America and the world. One of the largest and probably most important of these collections rests in the British Columbia Okanagan region where it will some day be split into smaller collections and diversified farther afield. Attempts to repatriate this collection have been spurned, but hopefully one day a realization will set in that this little bit of history just doesn't belong in a closet a thousand miles away from where it originated.

Countries, regions and communities are beginning to demand that previously removed artifacts now be returned to their roots.

Museums that hold these 'removed' artifacts claim that had they not been removed, relocated and preserved, the artifacts may not exist at all at this point in time.

As for the British Museum, it intends to hold the Elgin Marbles, even though a major renovation and preservation project is ongoing at the Parthenon. Even more profound, that same British Museum insists on retaining a piece of the beard of the Sphinx, even while Egyptian officials insist that the missing piece is essential to the statue's well-being.

Will the return of these important artifacts to their rightful place ever come abour? In many cases, true provenance has been lost and therefore return is rendered impossible. However, in the case of Egyptian mummies, the Elgin Marbles and the artifacts of ancient Troy, there can be no doubt.

Picture of the Week ...

A TRICKLE...

Braving the elements, are: Evelyn Kowalick, and Yvonne Scott. Also on hand to help out was Irene MacDonald.

Due to the miserable weather conditions experienced, the first week of the Minnedosa Farmer's Market, it suffered a drop in numbers of both buyers and sellers.

Evelyn Kowalick and Yvonne Scott both noted the drop, Yvonne stated, "it can only be put down to the wind and rain". She added, "there hasn't been the big rush as soon as we arrived, as in previous years, and instead of a constant flow of customers, it has been a trickle. I would say we're 75 percent down on first day sales, compared with last year".

Both ladies had been preparing for the market since the early part of the week. Evelyn had been baking since Tuesday, making everything from bread and buns to tarts and cookies. Yvonne had spent three days preparing her jams and jellies, and along with Evelyn, hopes to have some vegetables ready for sale within two or three weeks.

As soon as the vegetables are ready, there can be up to a dozen tables offering a wide and varied range of produce. The market will run for another 12 weeks every Friday, from 4pm to 6pm, in the Legion Club Room parking lot.

Golf report.
Winners of the Senior Men's Open held June 9th were: Championship Flight - John Worley with a 78, 1st Flight - Mac Davidson with a 92 and 2nd Flight - Alex Reid with a 102.

In the Men's Spring Open held June 11th, Championship Flight winner was Troy Sambrook with a 71; 1st Flight - Chris McLaughlin with an 83; 2nd Flight - Hayward Morgan with an 87; 3rd Flight - Moe Brunel with 93 and 4th Flight - Dave Johnston with a 98.

Well used ...
While some of those old Lyric Theatre seats now housed in the Clanwilliam Curling Rink did look slightly familiar, Ye Olde Editor, unlike others still resident in this old town, would never admit to having used them for anything other than viewing The Three Stooges or becoming spellbound watching the adventures of Sgt. Preston of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Besides, my Mom never let me go up into the balcony.

Homecoming.
The finalized Homecoming schedule will be published in next weeks issue of The Tribune. As well, a pocket schedule of events will be handed out to all who register during the first two days of Homecoming. If you have scheduled a class reunion or have an event that did not make it into the upcoming advertisement or the schedule booklet, call The Tribune no later than Wednesday of this week and we will try to publish your event in this column.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am writing in regards to the teaching award Heather Emerson-Proven received on June 9th. Having been the one to nominate her, I felt that I needed a way to show my admiration and sincere thanks for excellence in the teaching profession. It would have been wonderful if the entire staff could have been nominated as Ms. Emerson-Proven's dedication and hard work reflects on the entire work ethic of the staff at Tanner's Crossing. Having had the privilege of being a part of her class for seven years, it was natural that I chose her for the nomination. This by no means is meant to diminish the importance and quality of work the entire staff at Tanner's, which includes the teachers, E.A.'s, cleaning staff, volunteers, etc provide on a daily basis. Ms. Emerson-Proven can be proud to say that by being chosen for this award that she represents the entire staff, and the high quality Tanner's Crossing excels at. We just have to look at the extra things such as the musical, track and field, Christmas concerts, etc to see how much time, effort and dedication staff members provide to keep these programs alive and thriving from year to year. In conclusion I'd like to say show proud I am that Ms. Emerson-Proven received this award. She truly represents the entire school and the award belongs to you all. Whenever you're in Tanner's Crossing, feel free to shake a hand, pat a shoulder and say thanks for a job well done, no matter what title the job description is.

Dear Editor:

RE: Letter to the Editor, June 12, 2000, by Patty Kowalick, Leo Woywada, Jim Nylen, John Whitaker, Norval Lee and Melvin Wetteland.

We, the "Friends of Russell Tiller Committee" executive, wish to comment on three of the issues raised in their letter.

We expected a reply from any one or all three defeated candidates; John Whitaker, Norval Lee and Melvin Whetteland particularly when we challenged them to pay the R.M. of Clanwilliam legal bills as we were paying all of Tillers costs.

But why are Councillors Patty Kowalick, Jim Nylen and Leo Woywada cosigning the letter at the end of this sad affair? That ill considered naivety has certainly raised eyebrows in our R.M.

1) Letter to the Editor: "The Court of Appeal determined that...Russell Tiller...acted inadvertently, not knowing what he was doing was wrong, even though he had been Reeve of the R.M. of Clanwilliam since 1983".

Note: This statement or any three parts of it are nowhere to be found in the Court of Appeal's ruling. One cannot rewrite history to suit oneself.

2) Letter to the Editor: "It would have been very simple for Russell Tiller to have declared himself in a conflict at the meeting, and withdraw from the meeting...which would have saved the R.M....all the grief and costs incurred".

Court of Appeal ruling page 4, (par.11) "Not one of the four councillors present at the meeting nor the administrator suggested that the reeve was required to comply with the requirements of s.5 of the Municipal Council Conflict of Interest Act.

Also page 8, par. 22 (IV): "despite the disclosure, no one at the meeting saw the reeve's interest as being a pecuniary one in the matter being considered".

The Appeal Court Judges rightly assigned blame to all parties. BUT, in fact, they list (page 8) five main "uncontradicted" pieces of evidence to support the reeve's credibility.

3) Letter to the Editor: "Council was entitled to put the question of whether there was a conflict before the courts for a determination. Council acted entirely properly in doing what we did."

Our reply: By council's own admission, the cost to the ratepayers will be at least $10,300.00. There must be more productive ways to spend $10,300.00 than on litigation over a matter in which the vote of council was unanimous.

And what about our Reeve? After spending 21 years on Council with the last 17 years as Reeve and re-elected to serve till 2002, this is the "Thank you" he gets from 3 new Councillors (and a legal bill for $9,901.80 to clear his name).

The issue of a conflict of interest did not arise until John Whitaker and his delegation raised it at the council meeting of May 12, 1999 at which time defeated reeve candidate John Whitaker asked Reeve Tiller to resign.

From the very outset, the R.M. of Clanwilliam had absolutely nothing to gain by council's pursuance of this matter. This entire episode appears to be nothing more than an irresponsible exercise in political opportunism, an attempt to circumvent the wishes of the electorate as expressed by the result of the last election for the position of Reeve, and all at the ratepayer's expense!

On June 13, 2000 we presented a brief to our Reeve and Council listing several positive elements we can build on from this experience. We hope that councillors return to doing what they were elected to do (that is, to provide responsible, competent and stable government to the residents of the R.M. of Clanwilliam), and that all parties accept, respect and abide by the decision of the electorate and the Court of Appeal.

Yours truly,

Rudy Usick, Chairman, Orville Berg, Secretary, Venton Beatty, Treasurer.

P.S. Anyone wishing a copy of the 9 page Court of Appeal's ruling or our Brief to Council on June 13, 2000 may obtain same for free by contacting one of the above members of the executive.

Clanwilliam Curling Rink undergoing renovations

Volunteers are shown hard at work as they perform renovations to the Clanwilliam Curling Rink last week. The rink, constructed in 1973, and still referred by some as the 'new' rink, is once again undergoing renovations with new lighting taking front stage. The Curling Club held fundraisers during the winter and along with individual donations of money, labour and materials, and 'no government grants', the work has been progressing smoothly. In the photo above, the volunteers are reducing the width of the side walkways to make way for a center walkway soon to be installed on the two-sheet ice surface. The Clanwilliam Curling Club began operation in 1914 and according to one of the volunteers, is the hub of winter activity for the area with an outdoor skating rink being featured each winter. By the way, if you happen to recognize the seating in the viewing area, you may recall them being in the former Minnedosa Lyric Theatre.

RCMP in need of 120 new recruits

An RCMP Recruitment Overdrive is in effect, as 120 new officers are required for Western Canada. At the present rate of successful applicants, it's expected that the drive will last until December 1st 2000.

This doesn't mean that the Province of Manitoba is understaffed, or that the full quota of 120 new officers will stay in Manitoba. There are a number of vacancies anticipated in the near future, due partly to retirements. Some 60 new officers are to be allotted to Manitoba, the remaining 60 are expected to be spread throughout Western Canada, mainly Saskatchewan, Alberta, and in particular British Columbia.

Cindy Rattray, of RCMP's Recruiting Office said, "enquiries to the office are up 100 percent, from 25 to 30 calls a day to around 60 at the present time".

Around three people a week are being sent to Regina, Sask., which is the home of the RCMP Depot for Training, since it re-opened after an eight month closure.

"Before starting their training, applicants must sign a contract, agreeing to be posted anywhere in Canada on completing their training", stated Rattray.

Graduates of a provincially licenced police training institute could qualify for lateral entry, as could officers currently serving with a recognised police service.

Further information on applying can be obtained by telephoning the Manitoba recruitment office at 1-204-983-5787.

Golf Course Expansion Project raises $50,000 in six weeks

The Minnedosa Golf Course Expansion Fundraising Campaign Committee held their first informative meeting, at Minnedosa Country Club on Tuesday June 13th. The evening started with Dan Johnson, of the expansion committee speaking about the current situation. A total of $50,000 has been raised so far towards the target of $300,000. The $1,000,000 project, can not get underway until the target is met.

Dan stated that, "there is an active approach being taken by committee members involved in arranging corporate sponsorship, and three out of the nine new holes have been sold already. The plan for the back nine holes is in concept only, nothing has been finalized yet".

There are two different fundraising raffles currently in operation, being a "Pay what you Pull", and the "Packed Auto Raffle", which will coincide with Homecoming celebrations, and give people returning to town for the celebrations the opportunity to donate.

Volunteers will also be raising money on July 2nd, by running the bar at the Minnedosa Arena, and for their efforts, the expansion committee will earn a percentage of every drink sold. Also on July 2nd, volunteers will be running a Homecoming Information Booth. There is also the possibility of a 50/50 draw at the Homecoming Dance on July 4th, with proceeds going to the Golf Course.

There are incentives for Charitable donations with the Early Bird Raffle. Each $100 donation received before July 9th, 2000, receives a ballot for the chance to win one of five One Year Single Adult Memberships, valid for the first full year of play on the 18 holes. Donors will also receive a 2-for-1 Green Fee Coupon for every $100 donated. This coupon entitles the bearer and one other to golf for one green fee, and are only valid for non-members.

A par 3 golf tournament is to be held some time in September, and a 2001 Calender draw is being organized for next year. Everybody who buys a calender will get a chance a day, 365 chances of winning cash, throughout the entire year.

Bruce McNabb explained that, "two different grants have been applied for, being the Community Places and the Canadian Royal Partnership", although Bruce did comment on the fact that, "grants for Golf Courses can be hard to get".

Chris Worley stated, "people like to golf at Minnedosa. The course is user-friendly with large responsive greens, lots of sand; it is aesthetically pleasing. A few days ago I played Grand Pines, a course designed by Architect Dave Grant of Grant Golf. He is the Architect we have contracted to design the expansion. It was an excellent course, and the type of thing that we are looking for here at Minnedosa, to go along nicely with the existing nine".

Jeff MacDonald, head of the construction committee added, "The course has been designed using the natural topography and drainage of the existing land".

Instead of money donations, local Municipalities are donating 50 hours of machinery use, once the project is in progress.

Committee Chairperson Frank Taylor brought the meeting to a close by saying, "there are plenty of volunteers needed, especially over Homecoming. Even if you can only spare an hour, we still need your help". Adding, "I really believe that an 18 Hole Golf Course will be good for the town, and great for the whole Community".

Erickson & District News

by Almie Paulsen

Correction from last week's news. Sorry I wrote Robert Wickdahl and Mabel Brewer were Harry Tiller's brother and sister instead of brother-in-law and sister-in-law who visited Harry in Brandon Hospital.

Bob & Anne Marie Kingdon have returned from a 10 day visit with daughter Nancy & family at Whitecourt, AB. While there they attended the Grade XII graduation of their grandson Aaron Anderson.

Bryan & Joan Kingdon, of Gillam visited Bob & Anne Marie Kingdon recently. They also brought the Kingdons great grandson Kole Stockham of Brandon with them.

Glad to report that Lillian Woichison, Eva Anderson and Mary Lee are all back home after spending time in Minnedosa Hospital.

The Grey Owl Golf Tournament at Clear Lake ran into rain problems and therefore an 18 hole Tournament was held. Erickson had 4 competitors - Jim McMunn, Harold Stitt, Ron Stitt and Barry Paulsen.

Harry & Almie Paulsen accompanied Henry & Betty Wikdahl to Dauphin on Tuesday where the Manitoba Senior Games were being played. Henry & Betty won 5 games but then lost the next two which eliminated them from winning a medal. Henry Wall will be competing Thursday in the Golf category. There were 1200 seniors participating in the 2000 games this year. The opening parade was very interesting and the evening program superb.

Congratulations to Cathy Turwick for her wonderful showing at the Neepawa Fair last weekend. Cathy has been a busy lady as she prepared 47 entries. She received the special award for most prizes in Handiwork (sewing, knitting, crafts, etc.) I know she had 23 red 1st prize ribbons and many other prizes in second and third placing.

The Trans Canada Trail Relay arrives in Erickson June 22nd at approximately 4:30 p.m. The relay leaves the following morning at 8:30 a.m. after a pancake breakfast at Heathers. Our very hard working committee has put together a fun filled afternoon and evening. Lt. Governor and Mrs. Peter Liba will be our special guests and will join Mayor Yanchycki in the ribbon cutting ceremony. The festivities begin at 2:00 p.m. just north of the Viking Ship and end up at the Rec. Centre for a toonie luncheon and more entertainment. Bring your lawn chair. Plan on being a part on this once in a lifetime historical event.

Welcome to Don and Dorothy Jacks who recently bought a home on 3rd St. S.W. Don and Dorothy have summered many years on Clear Lake's North Shore so are not total strangers to our town. Your neighbors welcome you.

Erickson Wildlife held their summer fish derby at Jackfish on June 11th. It was a very cold and windy day and only 6 fish were caught. Seniors 1st for Pike was Edna Podruski, seniors 1st for Walleye was John Braschuk Sr., junior 1st for Pike was Kristan Kologinski, juniors 1st for Walleye was Ryan Kologinski.

COPP'S safetip this week is ... have your post office hold your mail and cancel newspaper deliveries, if you are going to be away for a few days or so.

Emil & Elvera Shellborn had Richard Murray from Bangkok, Thailand as a guest recently. Mr. Murray will be remembered as the Editor of Erickson News" in the 70's. He now owns 5 book stores in Thailand.

Congratulations to Erickson's Grade XII Graduates who will be celebrating at their graduation on June 23rd.

Mary Lee has her daughter Myrna Sundberg, of B.C. staying with her for a few weeks.

The Maurice Hoglands had their eldest daughter Irene Dunn of Grande Prairie as a guest recently.

Erickson has finally received sufficient rain.

Scott & Becky Gray and family are visiting Scotts parents in Trenton, On and they'll also visit Becky's sister Angela in Toronto.

Welcome to Erickson, Doreen Carter. She now resides on 2nd St. S.W. in the house formerly owned by Ernie Jacobson.

Remember June 22nd as stated in this news. Show what little Erickson can do for this one time event. History Committee are still accepting histories.

Pilot survey slated for Erickson

Erickson will be the scene of a pilot survey which will try to determine the workplace training needs of rural Manitoba. Similar surveys are being carried out in Carberry, Boissevain, and Rivers.

Consultants will be asking both employers and employees about training programs currently in place and which training programs would be the most helpful in the future. They will be talking to people from both the town and the surrounding municipality.

As more and more businesses require greater and greater technological input, the needs of employers and employees alike are going well beyond what would have been thought sufficient only ten years ago.

More and more, emphasis is being placed on training in the workplace, rather than a return to full-time schooling. The methods of setting up the workplace training are not settled yet by any means. The survey hopes to get ideas about what training is needed and how best to deliver it.

Funding for the program comes from the National Literacy Secretariat. The project is under the direction of an advisory board with representation from the Keystone Agricultural Producers, the Manitoba Chamber of Commerce, the Westman Economic Development Association, the Manitoba Women's Institute and Workplace Education Manitoba.

The survey will take about half an hour to complete, and all survey answers will be treated as confidential. The resulting report and recommendations will be shared with the participating communities.

The hope is to develop training solutions within local communities to serve local needs, both for basic skills and for the advanced skills becoming necessary in today's workplace. If you wish to become involved in the survey, whether as an employer or as an employee, please contact Sally or Carl Cunningham at 824-2322.

At an Erickson Homecoming meeting in March of this year, Carole Bergeson volunteered her help in making a Homecoming 2000 quilt, which is to be raffled off during Homecoming events. With the help of Marge Gregorash, local businesses were approached, along with other local organizations and Churches, in search of financial help. Pal Roehl sewed a total of 80 quilt pieces, each measuring eight inches square.

On June 2nd, a quilting Bee was formed by Marge, which took place in the basement of The Sacred Heart Church. With a total of three days sewing, on June 9th the quilt was finished.

Thanks go out to Joyce Robinson, Kay Mayor, Ethel Neilson, and Jennie Rumak, who all made donations towards the quilt.

The quilters were: Carole Bergeson, Marge Gregorash, Pearl Yakiwchuk, Mary Zatylny, Nellie Waywada, Joyce Robinson, Dorothy Syslak, Marg Eden, Dee Dee Wenger, Helen Bialas, Rose Krushelnishy, and Kay Kipeechuk.

Visiting Jack and Xisra Lamb are Denis and Edith Taylor from Melbourne, Australia second week in June.

Fraser and Lil Waddell returned home after ten months in Wetaskawin, AB. Before leaving they attended the graduation of their granddaughter, Jeanette, daughter of Ruth and Terry Johnson.

Don and Gertrude Soltys have moved into town mid June to the former Warren Rose and recently Shelley Degenhart home. Shelley Degenhart - Zahaiko and girls have moved to the Zahaiko farm home.

Eddy and Bonnie Waddell and her mother, Mrs. Lamont from Edmonton visited John Waddell on June 13 enroute to the Lake of the Woods.

Eileen Bradley visited her Aunt Dora Bradley in Brandon Hospital, on Tuesday, June 13.

"The Spirit Danced" was the theme for Pentecost Sunday, June 11th, based on Scripture in Acts 2 and versus from John 15 & 16 - a most appropriate date with June 10th being the date of the 75th Anniversary of the United Church of Canada. Rev. Hunter told of his experience at Naramata and E.C.G. Centre in Calgary. He says "I believe that our church, like other churches is a spirit-filled church. I would encourage us, as a Church that is hesitant sometimes to tell our story, to be bold and share and proclaim our experiences of God's Spirit in our lives, and that God will be with us in this new century and millennium, to provide leadership and guidance and support for our society and world." Some accompanying singing was "Spirit of the Living God", "Spirit of Life", "Spirit of Gentleness". If anyone would like a copy of the service message, please let me know and I would get a copy of it to you. (cc)

Daily Thoughts: To win and keep goodwill for the Church is everybody's business. A successful preacher, like the salesman must have a satisfied customer.

Onanole School News

The past two weeks have been eventful for Onthole School staff and students. The small schools Sports Day saw our school host Sandy Lake and Oak River schools. Everyone had a fun time participating in the events. We also hosted the Green Kids with Erickson, and Sandy Lake students in attendance. The students participated in two categories: Kindergarten to Grade 3, and Grade 4 to Grade 6.

Our principal, Mr. Wesley will be leaving our school for a position as Principal of Rivers Collegiate. Mrs. Workman will also be leaving us to take up teaching at Erickson Collegiate Junior High. We wish them every success in their new positions.

We are finalizing plans for our Awards Evening to be held June 27. Students will receive various certificates and awards including: Honor Roll, Male and Female Athletes of the Year, Certificates of Excellence, and the Teachers' Award. A video highlighting events of the year will be shown during the event. Graduating students will also be recognized and honoured.

Skateboard Park to go ahead

MSA, the Minnedosa Skateboarders Association held a committee meeting last week, June 15th at the Recreation Centre. The meeting was attended by Rec. Director Ken Surovy, Youth Coordinator Lori Gwyer, Jason Treloar Chairperson, Mark Thompson Secretary, Dustin Kerschtien Treasurer, and by a hardcore of around 12 other board members, including some parents. The meeting had a celebration atmosphere, as the committee had recently discovered that land has been allocated to them for the sole purpose of building a long awaited Skateboard Park. The land offered to them is to the rear of Minnedosa Collegiate Institute, and in years gone by was used to park the school buses, before they were relocated to a new site.

The Committee have been planning to build Skateboard Park for approximately four years, and now their hopes look to be realized. Some parents are now able to show their support for the youths by joining the board, and plan to become actively involved in fundraising. Fundraising that has since September of last year, raised close to $4,000, towards the estimated $20,000 required. A donation of $1,000 was given by local retired garage owner, Len Collen. Len stated, "I have four kids of my own, and when they were growing up they were treated very well around this town, this is my way of repaying that". Len added, "I've spoken to some of the skateboarders and they're really good kids".

There are plans for further fundraising, committee members are to run the concession at the Rec. Centre for the Monster Bingo on July 9th, and an application has gone out to Westman Sports Association Bingo, in Winnipeg, for which they require 12 adult volunteers. The committee also hope to contact organizers of Classic Rock and Shakin' the Lake, to enquire about a cleanup campaign, once both concerts are finished.

There are also Grant Applications on the way out to Community Places, Community Services Council, Body Break and several others. Some grants offer, if successful, to help fund the ramps and equipment, and others will help fund the pouring of concrete slab.

The committee will seek three contractors to give estimates for the pouring of the slab, and one local contractor has agreed to give two estimates. One, to do the job themselves, and a second using the help of some of the Committee members, to help them keep the cost down.

All committee members agree, that the site is ideal for more than one reason. Firstly, the site is centrally located in Minnedosa, secondly the site has an asphalt base underneath the top layer of grass, so there's possibly less settling needed for the new concrete slab. Thirdly, the site has a very slight natural slope to it, so water will drain away and not pool.

The land has been given to MSA for their use, by Rolling River School Division. The MSA took a presentation to a School Board meeting, asking for help in their search for land. From then on Assistant Superintendent Jim Hardy, worked alongside Ken Surovy and other committee members, to find a site which was mutually agreeable. Colleen Jury of Rolling River School Division said, "the school division is as a whole very supportive of the skateboarders".

Youth Coordinator, Lori Gwyer will be taking over as guide and adviser for MSA, from Ken Surovy during the summer months.

Construction set to begin at Brandon Regional Health Centre

Brandon Regional Health Centre is about to undergo major redevelopment. Since its opening in 1961, Brandon Regional Health Centre (formerly Brandon General Hospital) has had very little alteration to physical space or technology. Due to the changing trends in the way health care is being provided today, and the age of the facility, alterations and additions to the existing hospital are necessary.

Phase 1 of this redevelopment project - the new Energy Centre - is complete, and has been up and running since November 1999. Phase 2 Stage 1 of the project will see an addition to the existing hospital that will be built in visitor parking lot on the north side of the building. Phase 2 Stage 2 will consist of renovations to the existing bed tower (General Centre and Assiniboine Centre), and inpatient areas (medical, surgical, critical care, pediatric, rehabilitation, chronic care etc.)

Phase 2 Stage 1 will include the addition of 6 new operating theatres, plus one procedure room. Central Sterile Reprocessing will be relocated to directly below the surgical suite in the new building to allow for efficient movement of carts and supplies. The Emergency Department will be expanded. Obstetrical Care will move to a 'labour delivery recovery postpartum concept', and a new Neonatal Intensive Care unit will be included.

Ambulatory Care Programs will be expanded and will take up a large portion of the main level of the facility.

The Pharmacy Department will be expanded as well to allow for technological advances in automated delivery of medications throughout the facility. A new Renal Centre and Learning Resource Centre will be added as well.

Westman Central Laundry will also need to be redeveloped to accommodate the future expansion of the Diagnostic Imaging department.

Site preparation work to prepare for construction at the Brandon Regional Health Centre will begin this summer, and includes sewage line re-direction and the creation of an interim entrance to the Health Centre on the south side of the building. Parking lot C, located in the south-east corner of the hospital complex, will be upgraded to accommodate public parking during the construction period. The houses between Victoria Avenue and McTavish Avenue, east of Dennis Street, will be removed to accommodate a new visitor parking lot, where an abundance of convenient parking will be available for patients and visitors once construction is complete.

Construction documents for the project are expected to be completed by September, with the tender release taking place in November. The tender will be awarded in January, with construction to begin in early 2001. Occupancy will occur in a phased fashion between the summer of 2003 and the summer of 2004.

Helga Bryant, VP of Acute Care & Diagnostic Services indicated to The Tribune that the entire project budget is set at $52 million with $3 million of that being raised locally and an additional $1 million to be raised locally for equipment purchase. Regional R.M.'s and communities were asked, on a volunteer basis, to contribute to the project with some opting to help financially and others not.

20 Years of Heroes

The Minnedosa Centurion Track and Field team attended the Manitoba Special Olympics 20th Anniversary Summer Sports Festival, June 9-10, in Winnipeg, MB. Right from the opening ceremonies to the closing ceremonies the organizers showed us a good time.

Clubs from all over Manitoba and some even from Saskatchewan were marshaled in proudly displaying their banners behind the annual Law Enforement Torch Run. The officers ran, rollerbladed, biked and walked in support of Special Olympics, what a touching moment.

Even though the weather conditions didn't cooperate with us, we still went ahead with the events and utilized the Max Bell Center (what a great facility). Saturday our athletes competed and gave it their best. Altogether they came home with 11 medals. Orville Cooley, Bronze (1500m and Running Long Jump) and Silver (400m); Sheila Febril, Gold (Running Long Jump), Silver (Standing Long Jump), Bronze (50m); Donna Anderson, Gold (Shot Put), Silver (Running Long Jump); Linda Bailey, Gold (Running Long Jump), Silver (200m and Shot Put). Congratulations on such a great effort! Missing were Robert Erickson and Ron Riley.

In the evening we were treated to a Banquet at the Convention Center - Wow! Followed by the great meal was the dance. If you want to see fun this was the place to be, the smiles were from ear to ear, a lot of happy faces.

"Twenty years ago, Manitoba embraced a new challenge - the establishment of Manitoba Special Olympics. Because of the energy of the volunteers and the hard work of the staff of Manitoba Special Olympics, our goal of offering our athletes an opportunity to exercise to their potential and experience sportsmanship is being achieved. It is the enthusiasm of our athletes that makes this program a winner." Ted Irvine (Founding Director, MSO).

If you are interested in becoming a coach or volunteering some time next season (starting September until June) please feel free to call me, Barb Hanishewski at 867-2715.

Partnership for Health

What do you think of when you think of the word partnership? Do you think of a marriage or a dance? Do you think of pulling together to achieve a common goal? Or does the word "partnership" imply "more work on my plate"?

All of these thoughts could represent partnerships - both effective and ineffective. Most of us could relate to the "more work on my plate" thought.

However, a true partnership occurs when two or more people or groups with similar goals agree to SHARE the work, risk and the benefits of the effort.

Today, the health of our communities rely on partnerships. Our health is dependent on many things including opportunities for employment and education, a secure income, good air to breathe and good food to eat, to name just a few. No one group or person can address these issues in isolation. Partnering can provide an effective and practical approach to building on our wonderful community assets. But strong viable partnerships don't just happen. They need to be developed and maintained. They need to have support and community involvement. They need to have ways of knowing who is doing what and how it will be done.

But how can an effective partnership be built? How do you bring those different players to the table? How do you prevent all of the work landing on one participant's desk? These are some of the topics that will be addressed at an upcoming event at Brandon University: It's Everybody's Business: Working Together for Health and Well Being. Held between August 21 and 24th, this workshop based institute will bring together community members interested in improving the health of their community. Participants will learn how to bring organizations together and how to plan once the diverse groups are at the table. For more information on the Summer Institute, check out the website at www.brandonu.ca/organizations/CHI.

Another excellent source of information on how to develop partnerships can be found on the Human Resources Development Canada website at http://www.hrdc-drhc.gc.ca/common/partners/partner.shtml. This resource provides information about what community-based partnerships are and offers suggestions about how to be effective in them. Check out the tool kit provided with this resource if you are thinking of starting a community partnership any time soon.

Partnering for the health of our communities is not an option, but rather the only way to grow and move forward. A quote from Leonard Nimoy (Dr. Spock) sums it up, "The miracle is this....The more we share, the more we have."

Homecoming 2000

Well, it's getting closer to Homecoming (July 2-5) and a few more people have registered including: Lisa(Johnston) Nolan, Lois Schilling and Norman G. Sims, all of Winnipeg, Harvey & Carlew(Renneberg) Ritchie-Dauphin, Edie Evans-Rapid City, Bruce & Susan Dagg-Onanole, Roy, Marjorie, Barry, Martin & Terry McNabb, Marilyn Hoffman and Cal & Marilyn(Hayhurst) Frost, all of Minnedosa. We would like to mention that people will be able to register on Sun. July 2nd at the Arena from 10:00-2:00 as well as at M.C.I. Mon. July 3rd from 2:00-4:00 during the Homecoming 2000 Open House Tea and Reunion. Also, those who have pre-registered should come to these two places at the times indicated in order to pick up name tags and Homecoming Pamphlets which will be provided to all registered Homecomers.

Homecoming 2000 pins, key-chains, spoons and shirts are available and can be purchased at The Dollar Store as well as being on sale at Homecoming Registrations July 2&3rd. These souvenirs will be in limited supply so get yours early! We will take orders for shirts once the supply runs out if there is an interest. There are a variety of colors and styles.

The Ethnic Festival planned for Sun. July 2nd at the Arena will showcase some good music, dance, food and refreshments. Several food booths will be there as well as bar refreshments from 2:00-5:00. Music and dance will feature a pair of Scottish Pipers, The Rolling River Pow Wow Group, Oakburn Ukrainian Teren Dancers and Celtic Dancing by Crystal Scott Dancers. Make plans to come and enjoy!

The Homecoming 2000 Open House Tea and Reunion at M.C.I. Mon. July 3rd will begin at 2:00 with a short Official Opening and Cake Cutting Ceremony in the Gym followed by time to reacquaint yourself with former classmates and teachers. "Good Old School Days!!!"

If you have an interest in helping out with any of the activities planned, give Marc Chisholm or Rick Everett a call. Assisting with registering people, helping with set up at the Arena and Hall or tear down later, working a bar, etc. would be greatly appreciated!

Hazelwood News

End Of An Era

Edna Missionary Group, formerly known as Edna W.A. was disbanded June 12, 2000 at their final meeting, held at Margaret Ervin's. The organization was founded to support Holy Trinity Edna Church, built in 1900 on NE 16-14-17. Last service held in the church was August 17, 1961. In 1969 the W.A. erected and dedicated a cairn to mark the site.

Six members in attendance at this final meeting were Adaline Scott, acting president, Margaret Erven, treas. Martha Foxton, sec. Marie Wonsul, Doreen Jenner and Dorothy Nelson. One associate member, Myrtle Beddome, also attended.

It was decided that hymn books, minute books and all materials be donated to the furnishings of Caducris Heritage House. Money on hand was voted to the R.M. of Odanah's reserve fund to provide perpetual care to the cairn site, and to the Heritage House for it's care of the archive materials. The last time two quilts made by the group were sold to members attending.

Tasty lunch was served and a social time enjoyed among friends and their spouses.

Get well wishes extended to Erling Wark who is a patient in local hospital - hope his stay is a short one.

Visitors with Martha Foxton were Jon Steen and his daughter Thuva, 9, from Sweeden. They have been staying at the Ceder farm house.

Basswood News

Recent visitors with Brad & Sue Ross and family were Sue's parents Conn & Diana Derkson of Westbank, B.C.

Sympathy of the district is extended to the relatives of Frank Bell who passed away May 12th at the Minnedosa Hospital.

Congratulations to the students who performed in the school play "Gone with the Breeze" and those who sang in the choir. All who attended were treated to a fine evening.

Cindy Murray visited with her parents Norris & Joyce Murray at Nanamio, B.C. and her uncle and aunt, Ralph & Pearl Skairn at White Rock, B.C.

Roberta Galbraith & Lauren, along with several others returned recently from Haiti. They were accompanied back by 8 children who have been adopted by Canadian parents.

Fred & Marg Ericson of Summerland, B.C. spent a few days with Marion Ogibowski & Ray. On the weekend Marion accompanied the Ericsons and Andrea Freisen of Minnedosa to Fargo, N.D. were they visited the Greg Fullerton family.

Moore Park News

by Carmin Grasby

June 5th Moore Park held their Annual Bake Sale & Tea. It was called Names & Faces From the Past to the Present, because of the picture project we have been working on for the last year and a half, trying to bring back all the names and faces from the past to put on our Walls of Fame. Also on display were four paintings by local artists - Linda (Jenner) Leslie, Martha Anderson, Shirley Bolleman and Cheryl Anderson. About 75 friendly faces turned out for the tea. After everyone made their purchases from the grand variety of baking, they all enjoyed a lovely lunch of Angel Cake and fruit topping and tea. Vonda Cranswick had guessing games plus a 50-50 draw. Doreen Jenner sat at the guest book. We want to thank everyone for their generous contributions to the bake table and in all their help to make the evening such a success. Don't forget the Open House near the end of June. Come and view the pictures, visit, have coffee & cake. Watch coming events for date and time.

Saturday, June 10th, Mel & I went into Brandon to grandson Jordans 4th birthday party, hotdogs, hamburgers, birthday cake, presents, pictures. What more could a little boy ask for. Also four little friends came to join in the fun. On our way home, we picked up granddaughter Christina to come and spend a few days with us. She is now 1 year old.

Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

Harold (Timer) Hyndman accompanied by Cecil Bayes, Charlie Christie, John Fearnley and Ken Sample attended the Rivers Legion Veterans Banquet and entertainment Thursday evening June 8th.

Art and Shirley Peters spent a few days this past week camping and golfing at Birtle, and also visited with sister Eileen Wilson at Shoal Lake Personal Care Home.

Bev Sauve from Bombertown, Ont. is home to visit with her mother, Annie Rollins, other relatives and friends.

Congratulations and many good wishes to Mary Smith (Mrs. William) of Brandon from long time friends of Oakleigh and Rapid City, on the occasion of your 90th birthday June 22nd.

Belated congratulations and many good wishes to a well known couple, Gordon and Myrtle Shanks of Rivers and formerly Pettapiece who observed their 64th wedding anniversary June 10th.

Carlyn Wayman of Washington, DC arrived June 3rd to visit with her mother Mary Nielsen, family and friends. Carlyn earlier spent time visiting with relatives and friends at Vancouver and Calgary.

Steve Wilson of Winnipeg visited on Monday, June 12th with Dot Greer. Steve was en route to visit with friends at Kenton. 100 year old Dot telephoned this news item in to me!

Doris Esplin and daughter Shelly Meakin recently returned home from an enjoyable 16 day tour of Europe, returning to England they were joined by daughter and sister Karen Sanderson of Fox Creek, AB. They spent a week in London and a week in Yorkshire where some ancestors lived. Hopefully more news later.

Joe and Laverne Sworyk have recently had two groups of people from England stop and inquire if they could tour their yard. Both groups were very impressed, and they compared their yard to a "English Garden". One couple have bought land at Belmont, and asked to take pictures of Laverne and Joe's place to take back to England. To quote Laverne - "it's a very nice compliment."

Weekend guests with Rev. Boyd and Kathy Drake, Garry and Sharon were Boyd's sister Lori Bastin and girls Charity and Hope from Regina, SK.

Sincere sympathy is expressed to Margaret and Bob Greig, Bella and Jack Belcher and Laurence and Arlene Bell and their families on the loss of their brother Frank Bell.

Allan and Lois Westwood returned from Haiti June 5th where they went to bring home their adopted daughters. Katti is five and Amanda is almost three. Very best wishes to all the Westwood family.

Congratulations to Sharon Drake, daughter of Rev. Boyd and Kathy Drake on her splendid showing in Winnipeg. We are all impressed and proud of Sharon, who won two prestigious races during the McDonald's Manitoba High Schools Athletic Association track and field championships at the Pan Am Stadium. The two races were the 100-metre in a time of 12.94 seconds, and the 400-metre in 62.29 seconds. Update! Sharon was chosen "Athlete of the Week".

Weekend visitors at the home of Bob and Bette Hyndman were Bob and Laura Hume. The Humes are from Whitewood, Sask.

On Friday, June 9th, members of the Rapid City Volunteer Fire Department and their spouses gathered at the home of Don & Loretta Waldon for a Pot Luck Barbecue. A presentation of an engraved clock was made to Valerie Irving by Fire Chief, Morley Cornish, for her years of service to the Fire Department. We wish Valerie and her husband Jim and boys, Jimmy and Billie well in their future move to Beausejour where Valerie has accepted a position with the Town Administration Office.

Cadurcis News

by Doreen Trott

On June 7th the Caducris Community Club hosted its annual Grandmother's Meeting. Entertainment was provided by the Merry Hearts Choir from Minnedosa. An enjoyable afternoon ended with a delicious dessert lunch.

A number from the district attended a bridal shower in honor of Suzanne Neufeld on the afternoon of June 11.

Malcolm & Shirley Rose attended Neepawa Fair on June 10. The 75th Anniversary of the establishment of the United Church of Canada was celebrated at Caducris on June 11. A service at 3 o'clock was followed by a picnic. The United Church of Canada was formed in 1925 when the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches joined.

Dennis Jackson of Winnipeg spent the weekend with his parents Glen & Loreen Jackson.

Darren, Gaylene, Greg, Julia & Jennifer Weibe of Gilbert Plains and Glen, Nancy, Sarah, Ben and Jonathan Birnie of Birtle visited with their mother, Donna MacDonald and attended the Caducris' 75th Anniversary picnic and service.

The Trott families celebrated an early Father's Day with Wil, Denise, Chelsey and Nicole Weir of Glenboro.

Sympathy from Caducris is extended to Margaret & Bob Greig and Bella & Jack Belcher and their families on the passing of brother and uncle, Frank Bell of Basswood.

Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Program (CMAP)
$100 Million for Manitoba Farmers
June 30th is the deadline to apply for The Canada-Manitoba Adjustment Program (CMAP) or to return your declaration form for this program.
CMAP was developed to help producers adjust to the elimination of transportation subsidies.
This program is available to producers who were actively farming and produced grain, oilseed and special crops in 1999.
A worksheet and a declaration form were mailed to farmers with NISA information, but who did not have an MCIC contract in 1999.
Applications Available
If you have not participated in NISA, or are a new farmer in 1999, you will not have received an initial payment or a worksheet. But, you may still be eligible for this program. Please contact your local Agricultural Representative or Crop Insurance Office for a CMAP application form.

Questions & Answers

Q. What is Neighborhood Watch, and how can I join?

A. Neighborhood Watch is a program aimed at reducing crime in the community. It involves getting to know one's neighbors, and working together to look out for one another's interests. Neighborhood Watch combats crime before it starts. It provides a means of reducing the opportunity for crime to occur. Citizens are taught how to make their homes less inviting as a target for thieves, how to mark their belongings through Operation Identification, and how to be alert to suspicious activity in their neighborhoods. Especially this time of year, when families are away on holidays, the Neighborhood Watch program will provide a sense of security for individuals or families who leave their homes for any length of time. The program will also help to co-ordinate the efforts of the police and the community in tracking down criminals. Strong community involvement is encouraged because neighbor unity can deter crime. Neighbors joined together do help correct situations that threaten their peace and safety. If you want more information about Neighborhood Watch, or are interested in participating, please contact the Minnedosa RCMP at 867-2916, and we will put you in touch with the Block Captain for your area.

Q. When the railway crossing lights are flashing, but there isn't a train, do you still have to stop?

A. Yes. Whenever the red railway lights are flashing, a motorist must stop. If the lights continue flashing, a vehicle must not proceed unless a peace officer or flagman directs the motorist to do so, and the driver can proceed safely. When the train is stopped or not in close proximity to the crossing, the driver may proceed to cross the railway crossing if he can do so in safety. The fine for failing to stop at a railway crossing, or for proceeding when the train is moving or in close proximity, is $147.00.

Q. There are kids continually cutting through my yard. I wouldn't mind so much, except that they are stepping on my flowers. I am afraid to say anything in case they get angry and damage my property. What can I do?

A. A very good question. I, too, have had problems with pedestrians walking over my property. The way I handled it was by politely explaining to the violators that I did not like them walking on my property. I told them that with all of the foot traffic I was worried that something might get damaged. Everyone that I spoke to understood. It wasn't long before the word got around, and the problem was solved. In your case, if you do not feel comfortable speaking to the children, perhaps you, or someone you know, could speak to their parents. I would approach the situation in a polite, non-threatening way. Merely explain to them that they are damaging your flowers, and ask them not to cross your property. If you do not know the children, or you would prefer someone else to speak to them, you could contact your Neighborhood Watch Captain or the Minnedosa RCMP. If the problem persists, the violators could be charged under the Petty Trespass Act - $37.00 fine - or under the Criminal Code for Trespass at Night.

Q. I own some property in the country. I store tools and some antiques in one of my buildings. Several of my neighbors have been broken into over the years, and I am worried that I am next. What can I do to safe guard my property?

A. My first advice to you is to move everything of value out of the buildings and store them elsewhere. To begin with, deserted farm yards are the most vulnerable of properties for break and enters. Secondly, tools and antiques are very "hot commodities" for thieves. They are generally easy to sell and difficult to identify. Finally, break-ins in remote farm areas are very difficult to solve. Neighbors are usually few and far between, making witnesses scarce. So what do you do if you cannot re-locate your property? Make your buildings difficult to enter. Board up windows. Secure doors with bolt locks or high quality padlocks. Chain up any equipment that can't be locked up. If there is electricity on site, install motion detector lights. You may even want to consider an alarm system. In addition to recording serial numbers, mark all of your property. Engrave your driver's license number on the items. Mark you property with a very distinctive, visible marking. For example, paint your name or a flourescent pink stripe on your tools. It will make the tools easily identifiable, and far less "attractive" to thieves. Finally, get to know your neighbors, and let them get to know you. You may even consider organizing a Rural Crime Watch Program.

Eye of MCI

by Stephanie Johnson & Shirley Caraway

This time next week our anticipated prom night, grad ceremonies, banquet and party will just be beginning.

MCI's first graduation of the new millennium. History in the making. The past week was spent finalizing plans for the upcoming event.

Graduates, also put their artistic talents to good work and painted their version of their Y2K Grad on the wall just opposite of Mr. Choy's room. If you are in the school be sure to drop by for a spectacular view of the masterpiece. Don't forget to look up though, our artists took it upon themselves to initial the ceiling. Further leaving their mark on our cherished MCI.

A great big bouquet and congrats goes out to a very worthy member of our graduating class, Brad Hall. It seems we have a mechanical master in our midst. Brad chalked up 4th in Automotive at Skills Canada. That's 4th in this big country of ours. Way to go Brad!

Until next week when we are going to become former students of MCI, our motto during our four short years here has been....Go Hard or Go Home!!

Lori Gwyer – Youth Coordinator

Hi, my name is Lori Gwyer and I am the Youth Coordinator this summer. Summer is two days away and along with it comes fun and exciting activities such as youth bowling, rollerblading, softball games, movie nights, mini golf, bonfires, and maybe even the waterslides! If any young people have activity ideas, please feel free to call me with your suggestions at the Recreation office. Keep your eyes pealed around town for posters and flyers on Summer 2000 programs.

Canada Day is coming quickly as well. The Canada Day Committee has been busy over the last few months finalizing the event details. The Canada Day agenda includes children's games, face painting, pony rides, CPR Kiddie Train, silent auction, the bubble man, the magic of Anders, Senior's sing-a-long, Minnawa Cloggers, live entertainment by the Celtic band "ARDRI", the wiener roast on the beach and last but not least the fireworks. Canada Day donation boxes are in local businesses so please drop your donation, big or small, in the box to support this community celebration.

Wendy Nylen is busy planning this year's day camps as well as the children's games, and face painting for Canada Day. Fun Fest week brings the Kiddie Parade which will once again feature the fantastic bike-decorating contest. As well, Fun Fest marks the tradition of our annual Softball tournament for those ages 16 and up. Get your team entered today for a fun day of competition.

This Thursday, June 22nd, everyone is invited to the Relay 2000, the opening of the Trans Canada Trail. The relay will pass through Clanwilliam at approximately 10:30am and through Bethany at noon. Erickson is hosting an opening ceremonies with activities beginning at 2:00 pm on the grounds off Railway Avenue, just north of the Viking Ship.

The Minnedosa Skateboard Association is still thrilled that the Rolling River School Division Board #39 has agreed to let them use space on Minnedosa Collegiate property to build a skateboard park. These youth, with the help of their parents, are in overdrive to get their park built as soon as possible. Along with corporate sponsorship and grants, fundraising is a big part of making this skateboard park materialize. The newest fundraising initiative, "buy a square foot" of the skatepark is up and rolling. Each square foot will sell for $20.00 and individuals will have their name engraved on a plaque that will be erected at the park. More information on this fundraiser will be out in the community in the next week or so! Also, any individual, group, business or corporation can drop off their donations at the Recreation Office to support the building of the park. The Minnedosa Skateboard Association would like to extend its gratitude to the community and all those who have supported them.

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

Cardale U.C.W. had their annual June meeting by going for lunch as a group to Peppe's restaurant in Hamiota. Three members who have moved from Cardale - Margaret McCormick, Mary Boldwin and Ethel Armstrong were honored and presented with a begonia plant in a basket.

After lunch eleven of us went to visit the Ukridge Gallery, south of Arrow River and owned by Maureen Schwanke. Here we enjoyed seeing Maureen's work and some of other local artists. After this our afternoon ended with coffee and dessert.

Sympathy is extended to Eveline Fortune and family on the death of her sister, Jane (Nairne) Chernecki on June 3rd. Jane is a former resident of Cardale - living here with her family from 1942-47. She had been living in Kelowna, B.C. recently.

Joyce & Gordon Espey visited with daughter Judy and Charlie Hall in Winnipeg - Sunday & Monday, June 11th & 12th.

Congratulations to Alycia Fortune, daughter of Rae and Andrea Fortune, on winning the 800 and 1500 meter races at the division track and field for middle years at Shoal Lake on Monday, June 5th. Good work, Alycia!

Gay and Wes Peters visited Barb and Dave Hicks and family at Boissevain last week. While there, they attended the 4-H Rally.

Frances and Wendy Radcliffe attended a shower in Souris on Sunday, June 11th in honor of France's niece Twyla Philp.

Congratulations to Dustin Stewart, son of Cam and Vivian Stewart. He won a silver medal for the long jump and a bronze for the 100 meter race at the Provincial Track and Field meet on Friday, June 7th in Winnipeg.

Congratulations to Graeme Shaw who was inducted into the Manitoba Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum. Graeme and Mildred spent the weekend in Morden where the 4th Induction Dinner was held on Saturday, June 10th. They met their family, Harvey and Janice Shaw, Jeff, Susan and Brad. Joy Wilson and daughter Deana and Dawn. Kay and Ray Haggarty and sons Matt and Kevin. Russell Shaw and son Andrew from Houston Texas. Ross Shaw and daughter Kassandra of Moosomin Sask. They all attended the dinner and enjoyed the weekend together.

George sez: It has been said - many times the best way to save face - is to keep the lower half shut!

In Memoriam

Maluk - In loving memory of Eugene, June 1920 - 1995. Five years have passed - yet,

Loved ones go,
and yet they stay,
To walk beside us day by day,
Unseen, unheard, but always near,
So loved, so missed, so very dear.

The Maluk Family. x (C6)

Obituary

Viola Dyer

Viola Elizabeth Dyer died peacefully at the Minnedosa Personal Care Home on Friday, June 9, 2000 at the age of 92.

Vi was born on January 9, 1908 to John and Sarah Livingstone, one of eight children. She attended school in Alonsa and Minnedosa, and graduated from Brandon General Hospital as a Registered Nurse. Vi nursed at the Lady Minto Hospital, the Minnedosa Hospital, and later worked for a number of years at the Minnedosa Medical Group. Vi also did "special" nursing with many people who remember her quiet attention to their care, often through long nights. Viola was a member of the Royal Purple for many years. With her sister, Agnes, she was one of the charter members in 1951. Vi was also an Honoured Royal Lady, a faithful and active member, and received her life membership from the Lodge in 1978.

Viola married Maurice William (Bill) Dyer on April 25, 1934. Vi and Bill farmed for many years across from Minnedosa Lake, a beautiful spot where they maintained a lovely garden and lawns. They retired to town in the early 1980's. With the assistance of Home Care and through the organizational skill and caring of Mary and Ernie Wilkinson, Vi was able to remain in her home until 1998. She loved her little house, and was grateful to all who assisted her in maintaining her independence through those years.

Viola will be remembered by family and friends as a kind and loving person, stoic yet unfailingly cheerful. Vi loved music, and could be heard down the hall of the Personal Care Home humming or singing a tune, and keeping time to the music on sing song and dance days on Fridays.

Viola was predeceased by her husband Bill, son Ron, her brothers Henry, Bill and Allan Livingstone, and sisters, Margaret Livingstone, Dorothy Anderson, and Agnes Hutton. She is survived and will be greatly missed by her daughter, Susan and son-in-law, Bob Murphy of Nanaimo, B.C.; daughter-in-law, Helen Dyer of Brandon; granddaughter, Vicki, her husband Brian, and great-grandson, Levi Bakken of Regina; granddaughter Lisa Dyer of Knoxville, Tennessee; her sister, May Latimer of Minnedosa, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral service was held on June 13, 2000 at 1:30 p.m. in the Sparrow Funeral Chapel, with long time friend and neighbour, Reverend Tom Delgaty officiating. A service was also conducted by the Ladies of the Royal Purple. Pall bearers were nephews John Livingstone, Barry Anderson, David Anderson, great nephew Roy Bailey, and long time friends, Harry Jackson and Ernie Wilkinson. Interment took place at Minnedosa Cemetery.

If family or friends desire, memorial donations may be made to the Town of Minnedosa Library Fund or the Minnedosa and District Health Foundation - Personal Care Home Activity Program.

Summer Tours

There are many tour dates set already. I can't give dates in my newscolumb but contact the Ag. office for more details. Here is some information on several tours the last week of June.

The Manitoba/North Dakota Zero Till Farmers Association tour is to the Dakota Lakes Research Farm in Pierre, South Dakota. This research farm is fairly renowned for its research in zero till. Dwayne Beck is the manager of this research farm and he has spoken several times at the annual winter zero till workshops. He focuses the research on crop rotation, sanitation and competition.

The same day is the Brandon Ag Canada beef day. Tour stops will look at finishing yearling steers on alfalfa and meadow brome, nutrient cycling and maintenance fertilizer on pastures, grazing tolerance of alfalfa and carbon storage on pastures. You need to pre-register with Ag Canada.

The following day also has two events. PFRA has organized a dugout maintenance demonstration. This occurs near Brandon and includes dugout maintenance and aeration, coagulation treatments, water testing and evaluating the results.

Also near Brandon is the direct seeding and spraying event. The latest seeding and spraying equipment will be demonstrated including a presentation on nozzle technology.

Row Packing Pressure

A recently completed 3 year study looked at various rates of row packing pressure and their effect on zero till crop establishment. Wheat, canola and peas were established on 3 different soil types – heavy clay, clay loam and sandy loam. Packing pressures of 0, 74, 124, 174 and 224 pounds per wheel were tested. Results showed that 74 lbs/wheel improved crop establishment but increasing it from 74 to 224 made little difference in establishment. Overpacking was only a problem when the soil was wet. Even in one dry spring there was sufficient packing pressure with 74 lbs given the moisture present in a zero till seed bed.

Bacteria In My Food. . .I'll Pass Thanks!

Bacteria are everywhere! Most bacteria that cause foodborne illnesses are odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Symptoms from exposure to these bacteria can surface immediately or weeks later. Some of the most common symptoms are headaches, fever, nausea, and diarrhea.

The best way to fight against foodborne illnesses is through preventative methods. Here are a few food safety tips that will keep these culprits from making your kitchen into a breeding ground.

Temperature Control

· Never leave food out of the refrigerator for more than two hours. Bacterial growth is slow below 4°C and is killed above 60°C.

· Thawing foods on the counter should be avoided. Instead, allow more time to thaw in the refrigerator or in cold water that is changed every half an hour. If you must use the microwave to defrost, cook food immediately afterward.

· Roasts and poultry should be cooked at temperatures of 150°C or more. Temperatures are best determined with a meat thermometer placed in the thickest part of the meat. Don't use color to determine if meat is ready because colors vary.

· Leftovers should be cooled quickly. Divide large portions into smaller ones for faster cooling and place in an ice bath if necessary to drop temperatures below 4°C.

Cross-Contamination Control

· Wash your hands every time you are about to handle food and in between handling raw meats and other foods. Wash clothing that comes in contact with food everyday and keep your hand-drying towels away from your dish-drying towels.

· Plastic cutting boards are better than wooden ones when working with meats. Plastic is less porous and therefore it is more difficult for bacteria to hide.

· Cutting boards, counters, blenders, and meat grinders should all be sanitized with a mixture of 5 millilitres bleach to 1 litre of water between using raw meats and other foods. This mixture can be kept in a labeled spray bottle for easy access.

· Never put cooked meat back on a plate where raw meat was carried. Raw meat should be stored so that its drippings will not contact cooked meat.

For more information on safe food handling, contact your Manitoba Agriculture and Food Home Economist for a copy of CHILL OUT or check out this new food safety website at www.foodsafety.gov/~fsg/fsgfaq.html.

Cattle now clean up after themselves

by Bill Stilwell

With swath grazing, cattle feed themselves, spread their own manure and it might even save you money in the bargain. What more could cattle producers ask for?

Cattle production is increasing in southwestern Manitoba, but producers must reduce winter feeding costs to remain competitive. Winter grazing may help.

"I'd recommend it," said Mike Usick, one of ten producers taking part in a winter grazing experiment. "I think it's a great idea." Usick sowed 20 acres of barley as part of the project. He used a movable high tensile electric fence to regulate the cattle's access to his swaths.

"The cattle liked it," he said. "There's nothing left really and they picked up pretty much all the straw."

The South Park Soil Conservation Association received funding through the Covering New Ground Program (CNG) to look at ways of extending the grazing season. They hope this will lead to lower winter feed costs on cow/calf beef farms. CNG is a Manitoba Agriculture and Food program that provides funding and technical assistance to carry out sustainable agriculture projects.

Producers are shifting away from annual production in favour of planting more forage crops and increasing beef production. Winter feed costs are the singls largest expense of any cow/calf producer. To remain competitive, lowering feed costs is essential.

Ten producers took part in the experiment, according to Neil Galbraith, a Minnedosa ag rep. One tried annual rye grass, five grew corn and four swath grazed on cereal crops.

Glen Crawley, a Clanwilliam area cattle producer was one of the five corn growers. Although his daily feeding costs were not as low as needed, he says part of the blame goes to the weather and poor growing conditions limiting production. A rainy spring delayed seeding. An early maturing variety might make it pay because corn offers higher energy once the cobs fill out.

His standing corn was divided into 25 paddocks using electric fencing and the cattle were rotated through. His cattle continue to graze as they finish off the crop late in the season.

"I'd try it again," Crawley said. "A few guys have tried swath grazing over the past few years, but grazing on corn is brand new," said Galbraith. "But, the annual rye grass didn't do well."

However, it had been sown into a soddy field situation. A few other produces in the area who tried annual ryegrass outside the CNG program were quite pleased with the grazing days they received from it.

The alternative to winter grazing is feeding dry bales starting in October when the pasture runs out. "With a dry lot situation, lots of manure builds up," he notes.

CNG gave producers the incentive to try winter grazing. The experience gained and lessons learned help producers along the path to lower winter feeding costs.

"I'm not sure I'm saving that much, but I know there is value in it," said Usick. "There's value in manure they put on the field while feeding. I don't have to move that manure and there is a value in being able to chase the cows out on a winter day."

Royal Purple

The Royal Purple held their Seniors Tea on June 6th, which was well attended. Mrs. Switzer and Mrs. Lizzie Shorrock were both presented with a corsage, both ladies were over 100 years old.

Winner of afghan donated by Rose Tyefisher was Gladys Attwood.

Winner of door prize - fruit basket was Freda Thompson.

Donations have been given to PULSE, Skateboard Assoc., and Canada Day Celebrations.

A wind up "Pot Luck" supper will be held at the end of June. Happy Holidays.

Homecoming takes centre stage

With close to 900 people pre-registered for the Homecoming slated to begin this Sunday, its success is already pretty much assured.

"After three years of preparation", stated Homecoming Chairman Rick Everett, "everything is ready for what we hope is a very successful event". Everett added, "There is lots of excitement and anticipation leading up to this celebration and the entire committee hopes for a safe, fun-filled and well attended Homecoming".

Over the past three years, hundreds of hours of time, effort and energy have been invested in the event by the committee who are named above.

"I would like to offer thanks to the Town of Minnedosa who contributed $7,000 to assist in the financing of the project over the past three years," stated Everett. He indicated that the budget for the event is approximately $10,000 with each registrant paying a fee of $5.00 to help offset costs. "Donations and silver collections at some events will replace admission fees", stated Everett, "and for the most part, money raised from Homecoming 2000 will be presented to the Minnedosa Regional Library expansion project."

Everett indicated that expenses to host the event include advertising, facilities rentals, mailouts, brochures, entertainers, etc.

"Many hours have been spent checking names and addresses, compiling mailing lists and updating data bases with names and addresses, preparing, stuffing and mailing two major information mailouts and preparing a variety of informational articles for The Tribune. In addition, dozens of meetings with a variety of groups and individuals in the community, the 2000 New Year's dance and many other related activities have kept the committee committed and busy preparing for the event." added Everett.

Besides the Town's financial commitment for Homecoming events, Council has also allocated funds to bring the Redcoats of the Northwest to the Heritage Village from Monday through Wednesday; an has allocated funds for marching pipe bands for the Fun Fest Parade.

"I would just like to conclude by thanking the Credit Union and The Tribune for all the contributions made," stated Everett. "As well, thanks to the Railroaders Centennial Committee for their work organizing the Railroaders Day schedule and lastly, thanks to the many individuals and community groups, too numerous to list, who have worked so hard helping to make Homecoming 2000 a success."

Oh Deer!

Manitoba Public Insurance Corporation reports that three successive mild winters has allowed a population boom to occur in deer and moose populations resulting in a major increase in wildlife collisions with motor vehicles. Last year, claims for such incidents topped $14 million.

Since 1998, wildlife collision claims have climbed by 3,000 incidents, which now total 13,000 over the past two years.

Brandon/Westman is the worst region for collisions with 3,600 reported in 1999.

Shakin The Lake

10,000 estimated to attend

Expect an influx of people over the next three days as 'Shakin The Lake' is set to debut at the Classic Rock Site this Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The bands are for more of the younger generation than those booked for the annual Classic Rock Weekend with headliners such as Wide Mouth Mason, Mathew Good Band, Headstones and One Trick Pony expected to draw an estimated 10,000 fans.

Shakin The Lake organizer Morris Levandoski indicated that the band selection is expected to draw fans in the age range of 20 to 30 years old for the event which is the first of its kind to be held in this area.

Classic Rock Weekend is set to go as well for its fifth straight year on August 3rd.

Cattle now clean up after themselves

by Bill Stilwell

With swath grazing, cattle feed themselves, spread their own manure and it might even save you money in the bargain. What more could cattle producers ask for?

Cattle production is increasing in southwestern Manitoba, but producers must reduce winter feeding costs to remain competitive. Winter grazing may help.

"I'd recommend it," said Mike Usick, one of ten producers taking part in a winter grazing experiment. "I think it's a great idea." Usick sowed 20 acres of barley as part of the project. He used a movable high tensile electric fence to regulate the cattle's access to his swaths.

"The cattle liked it," he said. "There's nothing left really and they picked up pretty much all the straw."

The South Park Soil Conservation Association received funding through the Covering New Ground Program (CNG) to look at ways of extending the grazing season. They hope this will lead to lower winter feed costs on cow/calf beef farms. CNG is a Manitoba Agriculture and Food program that provides funding and technical assistance to carry out sustainable agriculture projects.

Producers are shifting away from annual production in favour of planting more forage crops and increasing beef production. Winter feed costs are the singls largest expense of any cow/calf producer. To remain competitive, lowering feed costs is essential.

Ten producers took part in the experiment, according to Neil Galbraith, a Minnedosa ag rep. One tried annual rye grass, five grew corn and four swath grazed on cereal crops.

Glen Crawley, a Clanwilliam area cattle producer was one of the five corn growers. Although his daily feeding costs were not as low as needed, he says part of the blame goes to the weather and poor growing conditions limiting production. A rainy spring delayed seeding. An early maturing variety might make it pay because corn offers higher energy once the cobs fill out.

His standing corn was divided into 25 paddocks using electric fencing and the cattle were rotated through. His cattle continue to graze as they finish off the crop late in the season.

"I'd try it again," Crawley said. "A few guys have tried swath grazing over the past few years, but grazing on corn is brand new," said Galbraith. "But, the annual rye grass didn't do well."

However, it had been sown into a soddy field situation. A few other produces in the area who tried annual ryegrass outside the CNG program were quite pleased with the grazing days they received from it.

The alternative to winter grazing is feeding dry bales starting in October when the pasture runs out. "With a dry lot situation, lots of manure builds up," he notes.

CNG gave producers the incentive to try winter grazing. The experience gained and lessons learned help producers along the path to lower winter feeding costs.

"I'm not sure I'm saving that much, but I know there is value in it," said Usick. "There's value in manure they put on the field while feeding. I don't have to move that manure and there is a value in being able to chase the cows out on a winter day."

Royal Purple

The Royal Purple held their Seniors Tea on June 6th, which was well attended. Mrs. Switzer and Mrs. Lizzie Shorrock were both presented with a corsage, both ladies were over 100 years old.

Winner of afghan donated by Rose Tyefisher was Gladys Attwood.

Winner of door prize - fruit basket was Freda Thompson.

Donations have been given to PULSE, Skateboard Assoc., and Canada Day Celebrations.

A wind up "Pot Luck" supper will be held at the end of June. Happy Holidays.

Town will fund 2 pipe bands for parade

Town Council held their regular meeting last Tuesday, June 22nd with Deputy Mayor Mark Blais presiding in the Chair due to the absence of Mayor Drebit.

Council heard a delegation consisting of Fun Fest Parade Chairman Don Farr who requested special funding to cover the costs of two pipe bands. Citing that due to the Homecoming and related celebrations planned for this summer, that the special circumstance warranted the appearance of at least two bands. Council approved the expense, expected to be approximately $1,000, for the two Winnipeg based pipe bands.

A request from the Fun Fest Committee to close part of Main Street on Friday, July 7th was approved. The closure will allow the committee to host the Garden Tractor Races as part of the Fun Fest activities.

A motion introduced by Councillor Murray Trott and seconded by Councillor Rick Everett was approved for a grant of $5,000 from the town's Special Projects Fund for construction of the Skateboard Park. The cement structure will be placed in an area adjacent to the schools and has been approved by the RRSD board. Earlier this spring, another grant from the fund in the amount of $6,000 was granted to the Kinsmen Club to help with a playground project. The special fund came from funds received from the annual VLT grant.

A request was received from the Elks for funding for a washroom to be placed near the Elks Playground at the beach. Council tabled the request until the 2001 budget planning sessions when discussions of all park washroom needs will take place.

The Provincial Green Team has awarded funding to the town for one youth employee for this summer. A youth will be hired through the Youth Job Centre.

A request was received from Ranald McLean regarding permission for the Minnedosa Golf Club to clear scrub from the area immediately east of the present golf cart sheds. Town fill was requested as well as permission to use the land for planned construction of additional sheds in the future. The Golf Club was granted permission to proceed.

A motion was carried allowing the town to proceed with the survey and other environment work on the land presently being acquired for the golf course expansion.

Councillor Willis reported that the provincial fisheries branch has stocked the trout ponds with 500 eight inch trout. He indicated that since the province has done the stocking this year, that normal provincial fishing regulations will apply to any fishing done at the ponds.

The Minnedosa Rowing Centre was granted permission to install and maintain docks at their launch area on Minnedosa Lake. A licence will be granted once all conditions are met regarding liability.

Council will hold their next meeting on July 11th.

150 attend local AMM meeting

A full slate of 150 delegates attended the Association of Manitoba Municipalities district meeting held at the Minnedosa Community and Convention Centre last Thursday. Delegates in attendance were Reeves, Mayors and councillors from the towns and Rural Municipalities in the district. Resolutions are invited at the meeting from participants and if the district resolutions are carried, form part of the agenda of the Annual General Meeting of the AMM, which will be held in November of this year. If a resolution is successful at the AGM, then it becomes policy of the AMM in their role as advocate and lobby with the provincial and federal governments.

Several resolutions were put forth at the district meeting, including the first resolution made by the Town of Minnedosa whereas it be resolved that the AMM set up a task force to study the affects of amalgamation of municipalities and present a report of its findings to the membership.

In speaking to the motion, Mayor Drebit stated that amalgamation is one of the biggest issues that will face R.M.'s in the coming decade. He listed potential benefits such as efficiencies of scale, partnerships that spurn economic development and better and larger strategic lobby groups to bring economic development to rural communities.

Drebit indicated that the motion would ask for a study to be conducted to investigate the benefits of such a proposal and stated that such amalgamation was a priority of the Town of Minnedosa. "We feel that amalgamation is inevitable and that it is important to take destiny into our own hands," stated Drebit. "A study such as this would facilitate the process". He added, "Manitoba and Saskatchewan are the only two provinces left that haven't undergone amalgamation of municipal governments. I would rather see us as pro-active rather than reactive as the case in Saskatchewan".

The Province of Saskatchewan recently announced amalgamation of rural municipalities that would bring the number of municipal governments from the current 1200 to just 140. Because of the drastic reduction with little or no input from the participating municipal governments, there is now a major fight taking place over the issue.

"Amalgamation can be very positive for towns and municipalities," stated Mayor Drebit. "I have talked to people in Minister Friesen's department (Intergovernmental Affairs) and they seem to favour the idea and have indicated to me that they are happy this is on the AMM agenda."

Mayor Terry Drebit gives the opening address at the AMM District Meetings hosted by the town.

Concluded Drebit, "Basically amalgamation is around the corner for Manitoba. With this study, at least when it happens, we will all be working from the same document."

The motion was presented to the meeting and moved by Terry Drebit and seconded by Councillor Mark Blais. The motion was carried and will therefore be placed on the agenda at the AGM.

The town presented one other motion, moved by Councillor Murray Graham which asked that the province alternate Rural Forum between Winnipeg and Brandon rather than continuing to hold it each year in Brandon. Graham stated that such a move would open the largest market area in this province to rural products and services instead of "continually selling our own products to ourselves". That motion, seconded by Mayor Drebit, was passed.

Other motions on the agenda included government regulations dealing with capital projects, farm equipment manufacturer amalgamations, changes to the Noxious Weeds Act, reinstatement of the GRIP Program, public presentation of school division budgets, reducing education taxes on agricultural land, changes in regulations governing bear baiting, penned hunting and making health services more equitable as well as making Strychnine allowable for rodent control.

Agricore elevator officially opens

The Official Grand Opening of the new Agricore grain elevator in Minnedosa drew a large crowd. An estimated 500 people braved the driving wind and rain to attend the opening that took place at the elevator last Tuesday, June 20th.

Doug Stow presenting plaque to Craig Holmes

Things ran very smoothly with Master of Ceremonies for the day, Barry McNabb, who also chairs the Agricore Advisory Committee for this area. The first speaker to address the damp but enthusiastic crowd was Minnedosa Mayor Terry Drebit, who on behalf of the Town of Minnedosa, took the opportunity to congratulate Agricore on completing the elevator and wished them the best of luck for the future.

MLA Harold Gilleshammer offered his congratulations to Agricore's company, board and staff members. Gilleshammer stated, "It is with mixed feelings that I speak to you here today. In only a few days we will be opening the Trans Canada Trail 2000 locations locally, on trails where the rail lines have been pulled up, and the old elevators have been pulled down. But here we can see the great results of new buildings".

CPRail Accounts Manager for the Grain Division Larry Appleyard emphasised the fact that this was "the second Agricore elevator opened on CPR tracks recently, and this shows the type of capital investments that are being made". Mr Appleyard presented Grain Operations Manager, Craig Holmes with a painting of the new elevator.

Canadian Grain Commission's Assistant Chief Commissioner Doug Stow added, "It's a pleasure to be here at the opening of such a tremendous facility. It's a tribute to grain producers". He then presented a plaque, to Manager Craig Holmes.

Art Thiessen, area 2 representative for Canadian Wheat Board said that "A great elevator with such a large grain capacity such as this needs great staff. Here, you have an excellent group of staff, they're a committed work team which is nothing less than the grain producers deserve".

Hugh Drake, the Director for Region 9 brought greetings on behalf of his region. Drake stated, "Craig Holmes and his staff are well known in the area and are one of the best staff groups 'around. The farmers would consider them second to none".

Larry Hyshka, Grain Territory Manager then formally introduced Craig Holmes to the visitors. Craig in turn introduced the staff group for the plant.

Agricore CEO Gord Cummings stated, "... the more we invest in concrete and steel, the more important people become."

Agricore President Neil Silver said, 'It is always exciting to open new elevators. With so many changes happening in our business, this new facility will be a great advantage to farmers".

Charlie Swanson the past President of Agricore took the stand and, announced this new elevator "officially open". Mr Swanson then stood at the base of the grain legs and proceeded to cut the official ribbon.

The first official delivery of grain was driven in to the plant by Scott Ferguson on a horse drawn wagon, the same way it was transported decades ago. Scott was followed in by an Agricore double semi trailer which pulled over the grate and offloaded more grain. The truck driven by Terry Sandulak, has a load capacity of 1,800 bushels and even this much grain can be completely unloaded in around five minutes.

The ceremony was followed by lunch and guided tours of the high throughput facility.

The new elevator is one of the highest throughput elevators in the area. It has 12,000 tonnes of storage capacity, with two driveways, each equipped with a 120 foot long platform scale. Trucks are kept moving by three 15,000 bushels per hour receiving legs. Two 15,000 bushels per hour load-out legs, make room for delivery quicker, by getting grain out faster. The plant can load 56 cars - half a train, in a single eight hour shift.

Husky Oil to Energy

The corporate giant has roared once again. Husky Oil, owner and operator of Minnedosa's Mohawk Ethanol plant, has shifted position and Canada's oil industry has moved over to accomodate.

This past week, Husky and majority owner Li Ka-shing announced a take over of Renaissance Energy Ltd. of Calgary. The deal is expected to be worth about $2.5 billion. As an aside to the deal, the new company which is to be called Husky Energy will become public with shares trading over the TSE within a few months. This move brings Husky to the equities trading floor of the TSE about two years earlier than had previously been expected.

What does all this mean for our local plant? Probably not much. It has been rumoured for some time that Husky has the intent to one day off-load the plant to private investors or another company and buy back the ethanol production for use in its Mohawk gasoline. Whether this latest development speeds up that process or cancels it altogether is unknown at this time.

The move, however, would elevate Husky Oil's position in Canada's oil industry, putting it into fifth place behind Imperial Oil, Petro-Canada, Canadian Ultramar and PanCanadian Petroleum. Husky Oil sales were reported to be about $2.8 billion last year and if the deal goes through, the added properties involved in the Renaissance take-over would increase that figure to a range of around the $3.7 billion mark.

Husky currently runs almost 600 gasoline stations, under both the Husky and Mohawk brands. The majority of those stations are in western Canada.

Boneheads making their mark

With the late or almost non-existant spring experienced in these parts, the usual crop of bonehead vandals that commonly arrive with the dandelions has come a little later than normal. But, they have arrived, nonetheless.

This past week saw garbage from a variety of Main Street businesses spread over the streets as well as the odd smashed store window and some pathetic individuals have even taken up Satan as their master and have begun to spray paint his monicker on churches and other buildings in the area. In another, and potentially dangerous event, we saw the Bison Enclosure fence cut last weekend. We suppose that this was to allow the bison an escape route. Bison, of course, are quite content to stay where they are as long as food is plenty and water is available. Thankfully, in this case, they chose to stay where they were intended to reside and passed on the opportunity for the open plains.

This is not to make light of this latest occurence. A dark colored bison straying onto the Beach Road at night would be an almost invisible obstacle to a passing vehicle. Both the bison and the occupants of any vehicle in collision with each other would certainly suffer serious injury or worse.

As usual, few of the vandals will be caught or punished. At best, they finally grow up and move on to other pursuits. Unfortunately, another crop is always ready to replace the former and we, along with those in all other communities, must deal with the problem over and over again.

The discussion took place at Council to offer a reward in the Bison fence case. The idea, unfortunately, received little attention.

Picture of the Week ...

The parade for some meant loading four heavy horses, pounds of leather harness and a show wagon into trailers for an early morning road trip to Brandon.

That wasn't all, lots of planning and even more hard work led up to the day. For several evenings prior to the parade, the group spent hours washing down and grooming all of the horses. Because of the wet weather, the horses' feet were heavily caked in mud and they had to have extra attention, with each hoof measuring approximately eight inches across having to be washed individually by hand.

Then the manes of each horse had to be combed, pulled and then rolled. Josie also spent a great amount of time washing and polishing the brass trimmed harnesses, to keep them in good repair and to help the entire team turn out looking very smart.

The team will be attending the local parades in the area, with their Town of Minnedosa emblazoned show wagon. You will be able to see them at the Minnedosa Fun Fest Parade on Saturday July 8th. The show wagon and horses are owned by Wes Ferguson of Minnedosa.

From the Editor's Desk

Our last train ride?
Plan on taking the Railroader's up on their offer of a free train ride from Main Street to Largs Siding during Railroader's Day. With the trouble the group had in obtaining cabooses for the event, this will probably be the last time they can make the offer.

Photo Opportunity!
Look for the CPR Officials Car 'Van Horne' to be parked near the station during Railroader's Day.

Let the bands play on ...
Don Farr tells us that both pipe bands booked for the Fun Fest Parade will be playing in Tanner's Park after lunch on Parade day. Don't miss it. If it is raining ... and why would it do that this year ... they will put on an impromptu performance at the Community Hall. The bands are the Lord Selkirk Boy Scout Pipe Band and the St. Andrew's Society of Winnipeg Pipe Band. The Fun Fest Parade will follow the usual route and begin at 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, July 8th.

In the news again ...
As if you weren't expecting any more news out of the venerable owner of Husky and thusly Mohawk, it was announced that Li Ka-shing will be knighted by Queen Elizabeth. Mr. Li has funded exchange programs in cancer research, humanities and social sciences for Britain's Cambridge University and was awarded the KBE for those services as well as his services to British industry. It is estimated that Mr. Li has donated in excess of $700 million to various charities throughout the world.

Thanks.
We take this opportunity to extend our thanks to the members of the Homecoming and Celebrations Committee. These hardworking individuals have been busy for the past three years putting this event together. Make sure you attend as many events as possible and show your support for their tremendous efforts. As well, thanks to the Railroader's Centennial Committee for sponsoring a day of events that will surely be popular.

Busy ...
With 'Shakin The Lake', Canada Day, Homecoming and Fun Fest all within 8 days, be careful, enjoy yourselves and may attendance and participation be strong at all events.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the Minnedosa Skateboard Association! Thanks to Ken Surovey, MCI, and other supportive groups and individuals, they finally have a place to skate. Count me in when you need adult volunteers.

Now, if only we could give our youth a drop-in-centre: some place for teens, run by teens, so they wouldn't have to gather on street corners and dark parks. Sometimes adults forget that 'hanging out' is an important socialization period for youth, and yet there's really no place for the under 18 group to do this. Maybe I'm wrong, but to my knowledge there's no café that caters to youth, and we no longer have a theatre. Must they go to Brandon or Neepawa?

Sincerely,
R. Wheeler

Dear Editor:

Fifty years ago, Camp Wannakumbac was little more than a dream in the hearts and minds of a handful of people. But through a grass-roots co-operative effort and a lot of hard work, we built a Camp that we can all be proud of.

This summer as we celebrate Wannakumbac's 50th anniversary, we will also be launching a major fundraising campaign to help us build a better Camp. Our goal is to create a lasting legacy of our first half century which will help take Wannakumbac into the next century and beyond.

Our Camp has given a lot to us and this province over the past five decades and we think it is time to reinvest and renew Wannakumbac. We are looking at a variety of projects designed to revitalize and enhance our facilities. Our first goal will be to build a new shower facility which will more than double our capacity, a need identified by both our campers and those groups who rent out the facility year round. We hope to consult and work with the community of Wannakumbac as we move forward on other projects that will help us build a better Camp.

As part of our fundraising program, you can ensure your name will forever be part of Wannakumbac through the Legacy Wall we will be erecting at the Camp. The Legacy Wall will mark the 50th anniversary by noting everyone who made a donation to the fund. If you donate $50 or more, your name will be recognized under the contributor level. If you give $100 or more, you'll be listed under the Friend of Camp category. Donations of $250 or more will be recognized as Sustaining Members. Anyone who contributes more than $500 will have their name under the Patron category. And anyone donating more than $1,000 will be listed as a Benefactor.

The fundraising program will take place over a three-year period, so you can spread your donations over that time frame if it makes it easier to give. For instance, for as little as $33 a year, you or your family could become a Friend of Camp. All donations are tax creditable.

It doesn't seem that long ago that I joined with others to build the pavilion that has been enjoyed by tens of thousands of campers over the years. And today, I am amazed at what we were able to do and the legacy we have created and enjoyed.

I am proud to ask you and your family to donate to Wannakumbac's Legacy Fund. I hope you are proud to give.

Yours in Camp,
Charlie Kingdon
Chairman of the Wannakumbac 50th Anniversary Legacy Fund

Dear Editor:

"Save Those Labels"

Since 1991 the Heinz Company has sponsored the "Heinz Labels For Life Baby Food Redemption Program". The Heinz Company will donate 10 cents for every label from any Heinz Baby Food Product such as cereals, juices, fruit & vegetables. The monies raised are directed towards The Children's Hospital Foundation of Manitoba, Pediatric Medical Research Program, plus the purchasing of hospital equipment that is not covered by Government funding.

Those labels add up. Since the program's inception, a grand total of $122,00.00 has been raised.

Minnedosa District Health Auxiliary decided to join in this worthy venture by placing boxes in several downtown locations where your whole labels complete with code bar can be dropped off. Boxes will be placed at Heritage Co-op, Minnedosa Public Health, Minnedosa Medical Group and Burgess Quality Foods. Your labels can make a difference.

Sincerely,
Minnedosa District Health Auxiliary

Vandals strike again

One charged in St. Alphonsus attack

By Scott Martin

Sometime last Tuesday night, June 20th Minnedosa's St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church was hit by paint spraying vandals. The words "Satan loves all of us" were spray painted on the east wall of the building. Father Yolando Gamallo, of St. Alphonsus told the Tribune, "We only have questions. Why is this sort of thing happening in Minnedosa, and why are Churches in particular being targeted". Father Gamallo added, "Our congregation, and local people alike have been disturbed by this incident".

This latest incident of desecration follows a similar incident last year, when The United Church had similar blasphemy spray painted on its walls. The perpetrators of that incident were never identified. In addition, the Ukrainian Church was also vandalized last month.

The vandals also struck elsewhere in town last Tuesday night. Tanners Crossing School and Valley Royal Travel were both sprayed with graffiti. Also on the same night garbage was tossed around at the rear of Blazers and Lee's Restaurant causing a lot of mess.

These incidents come only a few nights after tools were stolen from a truck in town, and the west fence of the Bison Park was cut wide open. These incidents happened during the night of Friday June 17th, and could have easily caused a very serious situation if these animals had wandered onto the highway, especially at night when there's less visibility.

RCMP Constable Ron Ludwig stated that one arrest has been made in relation to the paint sprayed on the St. Alphonsus Church. The vandal charged is a minor and cannot be identified. The other incidents are still under investigation by the RCMP.

Town and Rec. Commission ink Hall agreement

The Town of Minnedosa and the Minnedosa and District Recreation Commission have signed a Letter of Agreement detailing the division of responsibilities in managing the Community Convention Centre. The Letter of Agreement was approved by council at their meeting last week and has since been signed and is now in force.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Recreation Commission will be responsible to appoint the Recreation Director as Manager of the M.C.C.C.; must submit a M.C.C.C. provisional budget to the town by January 31st of each year for approval and submit an annual report with the provisional budget. As well, the Rec. Commission must be prepared to complete the current capital projects for the hall which include a facility sign, post and chain around the front entrance sidewalk, equipment and supply storage and portable risers. As well, the Commission must work with the Town to develop a fund development plan for future capital projects as well as maintain the present bingo and review current staffing with the Minnedosa Minor Arena Association.

On the Town's side, the Town agrees to support the Rec. Commission in it's efforts to manage the facility; maintain the current level of insurance on the M.C.C.C.; to work with the Rec. Commission to develop a funding plan for future capital projects and to accept all responsibility for any future operating deficits incurred by the Hall.

It was reported to Council by Murray Trott that the hall had run in the black in its first three years of operation and that with sales up again this year, no deficit was anticipated.

The agreement is for a one year period and is set to be re-evaluated by December of each subsequent year.

COPP's hold member appreciation night

By Scott Martin

Minnedosa's Citizens On Patrol Program COPPs, held a member appreciation night on Monday, June 19th at the Ukranian Hall. The event was organized by Albert Parsons, Shannon Wedgewood and Charlie Kingdon. The meeting was attended by committee members Barrett Nelson; President, Harvey Wedgewood; Chairperson, Lyle Gilchrist; Treasurer, along with approximately 25 dedicated members.

Sargent Bruce Kineshanko, of the Yellowhead Detachment expressed his appreciation for the patrols, he said, "People know you're out there patrolling the streets, with your help crime figures for the town are down. We appreciate you all very much and we hope the program continues".

Sargent Kineshankoalso also brought with him certificates for the founding executive, which consisted of Lyle Gilchrist, Wilf Strahl, Max Kingdon and Gerald Sparrow, only Lyle Gilchrist was present.

Pat Graham spoke on behalf of the Minnedosa Chamber of Commerce, and said, "firstly on behalf of the chamber and local businesses I would like to thank COPPs for all their hard work, it would be nice to see more chamber members joining COPPs. You have maybe the busy time of year approaching now, and with the influx of people comes the influx of crime".

COPPs President Barrett Nelson expressed his concerns, "We all work hard to keep the members that we do have, but we do however seem to have lost some". Nelson added, "Membership is down from around 120 last year, to 50 at the present time, this obviously means less patrols. Coinciding with this is a slight rise in the crime figures during the same period".

Harvey Wedgewood stated, "the turn out was about as we expected, although it would have been nice to see more".

COPPs would like to thank everybody who donated door prizes, and thank the Cottage Owners for making such a wonderful cake.

The next COPPs meeting will be September 18th, at the Ukranian Hall, all, especially new members are welcome.

C.U. donates to Camp Wannakumbac

Minnedosa Credit Union recently donated $1,000 to the Camp Wannakumbac Legacy Fund. Charlie Kingdon, seen here receiving the cheque from Don Farr, is the Chair of the 50th Anniversary Legacy Fund. He stated, " This summer we celebrate Camp Wannakumbac's 50th Anniversary and we have launched this major fundraising effort to help build a better camp. The first goal is a new well and shower facility which will be started this fall." Don stated "Minnedosa Credit Union is a proud supporter of this effort. Each summer we sponsor two kids to attend a week long camp and Manitoba's Credit Unions are a major sponsor of Camp Wannakumbac."

Congratulations to Mrs. Emerson-Proven, who was awarded the Teacher Of The Year Award by the Governor General of Manitoba. We are all very proud of you and appreciate all the hard work that you do at our school as we are of all the teachers at TCS.

Thank you to all the parents who were able to attend our volunteer tea last Friday. Your help is always appreciated and this was just a fraction of payback.

The junior high awards ceremony was held on Tuesday and awards were given out as follows: Athletic awards Stewart Boyd, Brad Lewis and Stephanie Richards. Band Student of the year went to Stephanie Leitner, Most improved student was Melissa Macksymchuk, Home Ec. student of the year went to Jena Menard, Industrial Arts Student of the year went to Keith Horner, Art Student of the year went to Emma Hall and Kevin Hislop, and the Student of the Year wem to Rachel Proven.

Congratulations to all the students who worked hard to get their names on the honor roll. The student council made presentations to Mr. Hoglund, Miss Paulsen and Mrs. Kingdon as all three are leaving the school.

Our grade two classes had a good Pioneer Day on Friday as they went back in time to when children went to a one-room schoolhouse. They all dressed for the part and were acting the part. Students did not say a peep in fear of having to spend the day sitting in the corner. They also plan to go on a hayride, eat Pioneer food and are putting on Pioneers plays for the grade one classes.

K to 6 reports will be sent home on the June 28th and junior high reports can be pick up between 9-12 and 1-3 on June 30th.

A thank you lunch was served to all our bus drivers for their hard work over the past year.

Trans Canada Trail opens at Erickson

History was made in Erickson last Thursday June 22nd, when the Trans Canada Trail 2000 Relay came to town. The relay arrived in Erickson at around 4:30 pm, and stayed overnight.

This day came after months of preparation, and several hundred local people turned out to enjoy a half day of pomp and ceremony. The celebrations got off to a flying start with the Air Command Band, who performed for the crowd for half an hour, while the rain did its best to dampen their enthusiasm. The Parkland Country Band, fronted by Erickson Mayor Wally Yanchycki, kept the feet tapping between performers with their fiddle music. The Elementary School-Esprit Choir, St. Judes Church group, Brett Smith and Patrick Sullivan from Riding Mountain National Park, Lutheran Male Chorus and the Millennium Minstrels all performed during the intermittent rain showers.

Minnedosa Mayor Terry Drebit, who was scheduled to speak later at the ceremony made an early appearance due to the AMM meeting being held in Minnedosa. Mayor Drebit said, "Wally Yanchycki and I go back a long way. We haven't always agreed on everything, but together we are managing to bring our two communities closer together, which is what we have to do if we are to compete against the bigger cities like Brandon and Winnipeg".

The weather had been overcast for most of the day, and that was the way it had looked set to stay, until the Honourable Peter Liba,

A crowd estimated at 500 people attended the Trans Canada Trail opening held in Erickson.

Guy Boudreau oversees Wally Yanchycki signing the Record Book

Ross Robinson and Sara-Jean Lavineway exchange the waters.

Lieutenant Governer of Manitoba arrived, within seconds of exiting his vehicle the sun started to blaze, and that was the way it stayed for the rest of the day.

The relay arrived after stopping off on route at Elphinstone and Sandy Lake, at around 4:30 pm, and was officially welcomed by Mayor Yanchycki. The water was carried in by ten year old Ross Robinson, of Erickson who had been eagerly awaiting his place in history. Also on this leg of the relay were nine year old Matthew Saganski from Elphinstone, Wayne Lewandoski, Edith Parsons from Minnedosa and Louis Maluk. Leading the procession towards the stage was Sandy Lake Piper, Chris Milne followed by Corporal Paul Saganski of the Yellowhead Detachment and Viking Clare Larson of Erickson.

Speakers at the ceremony included the Honourable Peter Liba; MLA, Len Derkach; Reeve for the RM of Clanwilliam, Russell Tiller; Reg Atkinson, the Mayor for the City of Brandon and Guy Boudreau who is Community Animator for Trans Canada Trail.

The ribbon cutting to officially open this section of the trail was carried out by the Honourable Peter Liba, and served as the signal for Greg Steele, "D Troop" of the Shoal Lake Police and Pioneer Museum to fire his black powder loaded, 1860 authentic Mountain Howitzer canon.

A parade of all involved in this leg of the relay, and led by the Erickson branch of the Royal Canadian Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary Branch # 143 went along Main Street to the Community Centre where festivities continued into the night.

After the overnight stay the water relay left Erickson en route for Clanwilliam in the capable care of nine year old Sara-Jean Lavineway of Erickson. Sara-Jean was accompanied on the trip by Charlie Kingdon of Minnedosa, Brendon Cook of Clanwilliam, Bill Anderson, Patricia Thompson and Jody Miles.

It arrived in Clanwilliam at around 10 am, and was met by approximately 170 people, who were kept entertained by Steve and Ian Smith and a grade 6 musical trio from Tanners Crossing School. MLA Harold Gilleshammer spoke along with Brian Skatch, Reeve for the RM of Minto and Keith Syslak Councilor.

The relay is travelling across Canada, opening sections of the longest uninterrupted public trail in the world, measuring approximately 16,000 kilometres. The trail will link the three Oceans of Canada. That completion process involves a relay carrying waters from the Arctic and Pacific along the trail, eventually arriving in Hull, PQ. on September 9th.

Erickson News

by Almie Paulsen

I am writing this at 8:00 a.m. (Thursday) The day of the Trans-Canada Trail ceremony in Erickson. Forecast says rain, but at this moment the sun is shining. Hopefully it will continue all day so the plans for the day won't be interrupted.

The Local Flying Club held a very successful Fly-In Breakfast on June 18th.

Harry & Almie Paulsen were in Winnipeg and Morris last Friday and Saturday. They visited with Dr. Nancy Sirett (Dr. Morley was at their cottage north of Kenora trying to get rid of the thousands of worms), visited Almie's sister and brother-in-law who are in a care home and attended a 80th Birthday Party for Almie's friend at Morris.

A Bridal Shower for Jeneen Moran (bride-elect of Lanny McInnes) was held at the Erickson Crossroads on Sunday afternoon.

Welcome to the Isaac sisters - Agnes, Marie and Tina. They have purchased the house on Railway Avenue, formerly owned by the late Mike and Jessie Moroz. They come to us from the Grey Owl Estates at Onanole.

Our competitors in Manitoba Senior Games at Dauphin did not capture any medals in Shuffling or Golf. The Wikdahls were undefeated the first day, won first game next day, but then lost the last 2 games. Henry Wall reported a poor golf game. Hopefully Henry Wall and his Bowling Team representing Manitoba will do better at Moose Jaw Competition on the weekend.

Best wishes to George Curry who suffered a broken leg in a farm accident on June 18th. The accident will probably keep him out of commission for 6 weeks. Now you can do those things (like letter writing) that you've been post-poning.

A reminder that COPP (Citizens on Patrol) are sponsoring the yard decorating contest. They residential winners will be chosen by the overall appearance of yards from the street taking into consideration the colors of red, gold & blue. The commercial winners will be chosen as to window and store front appearance. The date of judging will be the same day on the street dance by anonymous judges. The winners will be recognized at the Homecoming Dance.

Michael and Linda McLaughlin have purchased the Bob Sanderson home and have taken up residence recently. Hope you'll have a very happy home.

Erickson Lions Club held their installation of new executive at Lakewood Hills Golf Course in Onanole of June 15, 2000. After an afternoon of golfing a delicious steak supper was served. Lion Jim McMunn, Lion Brian Lougheed, Lion Rob Halliday received 10 year membership Chevrons. 100% attendance awards were awarded to Lion Brian Lougheed, Lion Ron Wilmot, Lion Kelly Carlson, Lion Larry Squance, and Lion Harry Paulsen. The newly elected executive is as follows: President - Lion Tom Mochnacz, Secretary - Lion Brian Lougheed, Treasurer - Lion Brad Ross, First Vice President - Lion Norval Lee, Second Vice President - Lion Ray Frey. 1 year directors - Lion Barry Paulsen, Lion Chris Pugh, 2 year directors - Lion Allan Hall, Lion Henning Pedersen, Tail Twister - Lion Jim Nylen, Lion Tamer - Lion Jim Ziegler, Past President - Lion Larry Squance. Lion Zone Chairman Paster Mendru from Sandy Lake and Lion President Lloyd Hucuzak of the Sandy Lake Club also attended.

Ken & Karen Manary were pleasantly surprised June 13th by an unexpected visit from Mr. & Mrs. Bernard & Elaine Binns from New Zealand (former owners). They also paid a visit to Willard Harrison.

Congratulations to the Town of Erickson for placing first in the Traveler's Day Parade in Brandon on June 17th. Councillor Vic Waddell drove the town truck and Mayor Wally Yanchycki fiddled away on his violin, accompanied by an electronic drum. Streets were filled to capacity along the entire route as sightseers clapped and danced to the music. Last year this same entry won 2nd prize and added $200.00 to the town budget.

Happy Holidays to all students of Erickson Schools. Have a safe and fulfilling holiday.

Congratulations and best wishes to Kenneth Tiller and Lisa Gregorash who were married at Bethel Church on Saturday, June 24th.

Colleen Town who was employed at the Municipal Office is now working at the Credit Union. Best wishes Colleen.

Viola Burkett's Retirement Party at the E.C.I. on June 17th was reported to be extra special. As I was out of town, I missed the Party so do not have many details. Happy retirement Viola. Nancy Chemerika will be filling the vacancy.

The Main Street in Erickson has been prettied up with hanging flower baskets. Let's do our part in making Erickson a more attractive place. There's still time to paint, cut grass up and demolish before Homecoming.

The Gusdal Relatives in and around Erickson are busy finalizing plans for the Gusdal Family Reunion July 7-9th at present 199 guests have registered for the big event which will be held at Ditch Lake. Six relatives will be attending from Norway. History has been traced back to many years, but it's Mathias Gusdal and his wives Marta and Petra that many residents of Erickson will remember.

The whole community is busy preparing for Homecoming. Many volunteers are needed for events such as parade meals, dance, displays.

Ethel Neilson had her grandson Ted Rogers and his wife Amy and their young son Dylan of U.S.A. and Ethel's daughter Rhona of Winnipeg visiting her last weekend.

Happy Canada Day to everyone, Aren't we lucky to be able to call Canada our home?

Last Thursday, June 15th, the Cheery Chirpers, (seniors) had a get-together at the home of Stan and Clara Kucher. 26 of them arrived @ 1:30, had lunch, played cards and dominos, and then later in the day when the sun came out, they had a wiener roast and cake and ice-cream. Everyone enjoyed themselves. On June 22nd, 23 of the seniors went for a short walk and then went to the Club House, at the golf course for lunch. Again everyone enjoyed a lovely meal and good fellowship.

Congratulations

Newdale News

Congratulations to grandparents Keith and Janet Martin, to great grandparents Bill and Betty Zahaiko, on the birth of a second grandson, Noah, son of Craig and Tobi Geekie, on June 14, 2000.

Several ladies with help from a couple of men, were on hand Friday, June 16th to plant the remaining flower beds around town and it is hoped all the flower beds will be in bloom in a months' time. Warm weather is needed for home garden growth as well. Children are looking forward to holidays and youth to graduation. All are wished success and happiness in the school year ahead.

Father's Day service was observed in the United Church June 18th, 2000. Wendell Wight assisted Rev. Hunter with the Scripture readings. The message "Equal Time For Fathers" and equally interested for mothers and grandparents. Near the close of the message a poem of thought and inspiring was quoted by Rev. Hunter and is of value to all parents and worth passing on to all our readers: "There are little eyes upon you and they're watching night and day; There are little ears that quickly take in every word you say; There are hands all eager to do every thing you do; And a little boy who's dreaming of the day he'll be like you; You're the little fellows' idol, you're the wisest of the wise; In his little mind about you no suspicions ever rise; There's a wide-eyed little fellow who believes you're always right; And his ears are always open, and he watches day and night; You are setting an example every day in all you do; For the little boy who's waiting to grow up to be like you."

Visitors to the service were Dennis and Edith Taylor of Australia and Beryl Bumstead of Winnipeg, visiting with Jack and Xisra Lamb.

Visiting Rhiney and Doreen Kienas for Father's Day were son Rick and daughter Sarah from Shoal Lake and daughter Peggy and girls from Minnedosa.

Isabel Howard returned from a two week visit with her father, Jim Elliot in BC. While there she attended the graduation of her son, Graeme, from grade 12.

Sid and Eva Merry returned home to Newdale, Sunday, June 18th, having attended the Royal Canadian Legion's Dominion Convention held in Halifax where 2500 delegates from across Canada enjoyed the reunion with friends and acquaintances.

Get well wishes to those who have been in hospital and now recuperating at home. A healthy summer is wished for all!

One Sunday in a mid-west city, a young child was "acting up" during the morning worship hour. The parents did their best to maintain some sense of order in the pew but were losing the battle. Finally, the father picked the little fellow up and walked sternly up the aisle on his way out. Just before reaching the safety of the foyer, the little one called loudly to the congregation, "Pray for me! Pray for me!" (Contributed by Carol Hunter).

Marie Stapleton and Michael Lee of Winnipeg visited Blanche English on June 18th.

Home for a few weeks is David Norsky from Calgary to help his father with demolition of the old garage and to visit with his mother.

Monday, June 19th, seven members of the Newdale Horticulture Society and Rudy Pedersen had noon lunch in Minnedosa. After lunch we walked the Heritage Trail in Minnedosa - the buffalo were very shy, saw one through the bush. At 3 o'clock we were met by four others from Newdale at the Healing Garden Nursery located in the Big Valley, north of Minnedosa. Our tour guide took us on a tour of her green houses, and garden, explaining the medicinal and culinary herbs and edible flowers, heritage vegetables and house plants. She told of the many good uses of herbs and gave tips on growing these plants; very good information and interesting. To top the day off we went for ice cream. An enjoyable day for all. Rapid City News

by Grace Fearnley

Congratulations and best wishes to Shannon and Darcy Bayes who were married Saturday, June 17th in a lovely out door wedding ceremony. A reception and dance followed at the Rapid City Legion Hall.

Michelle Kolesar and friend Steve Gropp of Abbotsford, BC visited this past week with Michelle's parents Willie and Vera and brothers Reese and Shayne. They also enjoyed visiting with many other relatives and friends in the area.

Ossie Launder spent Father's Day with his daughter and son-in-law Linda and Larry Harp and the grandchildren at Neepawa.

Home to spend Father's Day weekend with Edith and Don Rice were; Ken and Pam Ferguson, Medicine Hat, AB, Jim and Sandra and girls from Headingly, Donald and Donna and boys of Basswood, and Brenda and Butch Hales and son Will, Rapid City.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch #49 presented Honorary Life Memberships from the Auxiliary to the following members at their regular June 14th meeting.

Lily Anderson, Anne Christie, Florence Eckberg, Grace Fearnley, Margaret Greig, Laura Haslen, Sophia Hyndman, Lee Miller, Eunice Muir, Kay Sample and Freda Stanick.

Yool and Sheila Sharp arrived Wednesday, June 21st from Calgary to spend time at their summer home, and to visit with Bonnie and the grandchildren, and their many friends.

Ann and Hugh Wright were guests of a Father's Day supper held at the DACZ Restaurant in the Queen's Hotel, Sunday, June 18th. Those attending were: Bill and Betty Campbell, Minnedosa, Angie Campbell, Winnipeg, Carol Montgomery, Brandon, Betty Pringle, Brandon and Bill Schudoemat from Souris. To quote Hugh "A good time was had by all."

Congratulations to Ken and Kay Sample on the arrival of their new grandson, Kenneth Ross. The proud parents are Joe and Chloe Sample of Vancouver, BC.

Henry and Lorraine Hales returned home Friday, June 16, from a weeks visiting with family and friends in the Morris and Winnipeg area.

Joanie Garbutt and children Lizann, Robyn and Trevor were visitors for Father's Day weekend with parents Ron and Penny Buckingham. While in the city they attended a couple of "Gold Eyes" ball games.

The Valleyview Seniors honored the June and July birthday celebrants Tuesday, June 20th with an excellent attendance for the occasion (reported to be about 45). The commitee arranged to have Mrs. Margaret Senkbeil from Kemnay show lovely slides from a visit to the British Isles flowers, gardens, and stately castles. She also showed beautiful pictures of her own garden. The June birthday people were: Louis Saler, Larry Shaw, Ken Sample and Gladys Simpson. Those having July birthdays were: Bill Bridgeman, Ken Bridgeman, John Fearnley, Mary Nielsen, Kay Sample and Mary Turton. Everyone enjoyed angel food cake and ice cream. The centre is taking a recess for the next couple of months.

Sadly I close this column with sincere and heart felt condolences to Ivy Cornish's family. Ivy passed away Monday, June 19th, at Riverdale hospital. Ivy was a life area resident, Oakleigh and Wallace districts, and for many years Rapid City. I've known Ivy most of my life - she was unique, no one else quite like her, and she will be sorely missed. To her children Wynn, Dorne and Lorraine, Ernest and Bernadette and their families, sister Eva Shelvey and sister-in-law Rena Cornish and families - sympathy!

Moore Park News

Thursday, June 15th, Mel's sister Gwen Gray of Brandon came out to visit until Friday, June 16th when we took her home. We brought daughter Barbara and friend Daniel Primrose out to stay until Sunday, June 18th when we took them home to Brandon. Sons Aaron and Travis took Mel fishing for Father's Day.

We are working hard at getting the Moore Park Hall ready for the Open House in the last week of June. Watch coming events for date and time. We are busy baking and decorating cakes for all the friends of Moore Park to enjoy with coffee, visiting and looking at pictures. Hope to see lots of you there.

On Friday, June 16th at Brandon Summer Fair, the Nifty Needles held a quilt show at the Keystone Center. Doreen Jenner sat at the registration desk. This was the first quilt show they had held in years. There were about 30 quilts on display.

Doreen Jenner and myself planted the spruce tree at the school Cairn. The tree was donated by the Whitemud Watershed Assc. Now lets hope someone doesn't light the school grounds on fire like they do every other year or so. If they do we can say bye-bye to the tree.

Cadurcis News

On June 17th Jim & Nancy Greer and family attended the 25th wedding anniversary celebration at Trinity United Church in Brandon in honor of Ken & Irene Phillips.

Maria Stapleton and Mike Lea of Winnipeg spent the weekend with Malcolm & Shirley Rose.

Ray & Doreen Kingdon have returned from a western Canada tour. They visited with Dean & Lorrenne Speed and family in Kamloops, BC and Richard & Brenda Speed and Janet in Airdrie, AB. They were able to attend Janet's high school graduation. Ray & Doreen then proceeded eastward to Outlook, SK where they visited with Marten & Averill Wright and family.

Gordon & Valerie Thompson and boys hosted a Thompson family gathering on June 18th. Those present were Marcel & Audrey Gousseau and family of Oak Bluff, Earl & Freda Thompson of Minnedosa and Brian & Lois Hudon and family of Cadurcis.

Father's Day weekend visitors with Glen, Loreen & Patricia Jackson are Dennis & Susan Jackson of Winnipeg.

Rob & Wendy Belcher of Calgary attended the funeral of the late Frank Bell and visited with Doug & Karen Northam and other relatives.

Ray & Doreen Kingdon attended the graduation of their granddaughter Alanna Shackelford from Assiniboine Community College on June 10th.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Ivy Cornish of Rapid City.

A number from the district attended the Grand Opening of Agricore facility in Minnedosa on June 20th.

Willowgrove News

10 members and one visitor attended the Health Aid meeting held at the home of Elaine Saler. Roll call was answered with a piece of fruit and won by Alma Peterson. 22 hours of volunteering was reported.

Mary Horner reported she had sent one "get well" card during the month. The Travelling Towel is coming your way, be generous, with each patch sewn on you get another chance for a raffle win.

We are planning on our annual picnic at the beach this summer - watch for the announcement at a later date. We will also raffle our grocery hamper that day - and everyone will be welcome. Inquire from any of the members - if you are interested. Roll call for September will be Garden Produce and take the form of a dinner meeting. Elaine Saler will supply the hostess gift.

Ethel Moroz, our visitor, was the lucky raffle winner, supplied by Alma Peterson. Lizzie Shorrock adjourned the meeting and Elaine Saler served lunch and social time followed.

Kevin Saler of Winnipeg is spending his holidays in town with his parents Tony & Linda Saler.

Lou and Elaine Saler were guests at the Bayes - Fontana wedding at Rapid City on Saturday.

Carrying On A Tradition
Perry A. Bulbuck
Funeral Director
Braendle-Bruce Funeral Service

Should The Casket Be Opened Or Closed?
This question can only be answered by the family, never by the funeral director.
There are several options available to the family. The casket can be opened during the hours of visitation and closed during the final rites or it can remain open during the final rites. It can also remain closed at all times.
The customs of the family's faith and the influence of the clergy may help determine what is to be done.
Modern psychologists tell us that viewing the deceased helps the family accept the fact of death, especially when it may have been sudden or unexpected. If, however, the appearance of the deceased cannot be made acceptable, viewing may not be beneficial.
The family's own wishes of the desired procedure will always be the guideline for the funeral director at our firm. We respect the family's wishes on all particulars of the funeral service, as we try our very best to provide a truly personal and meaningful service.

Ye Olde Trib ...

40 Years Ago, 1960—
Teachers from every part of Manitoba are to receive instruction in basic survival problems posed by the threat of nuclear attack. The instruction will be given by Provincial Civil Defense Authorities.

Hon. Stewart McLean, Minister of Education, has announced that building plans have been approved for the construction of 1,144 classrooms in 77 new high schools to be built throughout the province.

When the entries were counted for the Rapid City and District Agricultural Fair it was found that the total was 1,002, heavy entries in all classes.

50 Years Ago, 1950—
Mrs. Herb Lario, at Arcola Sask. put her finger on the map of Manitoba and it came to rest on the name Minnedosa. Herb subscribed to the Tribune, liked what he saw. Came to Minnedosa, got a job here and phoned his wife saying, "Sell the house and come to a good town. Don't forget the kids."

Rededication service was held in St. John's, Bethany, Anglican Memorial Church. The building was rededicated by Rt. Rev. Ivor Norris D.D. Anglican Lord Bishop of Brandon. Nine weeks after it had been gutted with fire.

Preliminary work on the construction of the new P.F.R.A. dam here is well under way. Costs will amount to about $90,000.

Erickson: Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stitt, who were married this week.

60 Years Ago, 1940—
Crops in Minnedosa give promise of a good yield, aided by more than an inch and a half of rain in the past week.

Word was received that Flt. Lt. E.H. Evans, of the 110th (AC) Squadron RCAF has been promoted to the rank of Squadron Leader.

70 Years Ago, 1930—
The congregation of the United Church will tender it's pastor Rev. Harry Dodd and Mrs. Dodd a farewell social tonight.

Midsummer Clearance - 77 days only - At the Cash Store - Men's overalls $1.80; boy's khaki long pants 60c; men's work shirts 95c, men's serge suits $27.95, men's tweed suits $12.95; brooms 4-string 35c.

Basswood: The Bank of Commerce will soon be completed. Fixtures arrived and are now being installed.

Main Street school promotion - Grade 1 to 2 Nora Stone, Martha Hutton, Effie McClean, Grace Eakins, Reggie Sanderson. Grade 3 to 4 Jean Wilson, Delora Cummins, Archie Grassie, Janet Watson, Leonard Collen, Mabel Lee, Harold Graham. Grade 4 to 5, Leslie Buck, Bernard Peacy, Beverley Taylor, Francis Malloy, Marjorie Halpenny. Grade 7 to 8, Lawrence Irvin, Sybil Wright, Percy Beddome, Mervin Orr, Grade 8 to 9, Heman Black, Effie McDonald, Billy Dyer.

90 Years Ago, 1910—
Those living on Minnedosa Avenue these days are having the life tormented out of them by two boys, one with a cornet and one with an old tin pail.

A gentleman was heard to remark the other day that he believed the comet had affected the brains of the Tribune Staff. Well, we don't know, but we are willing to bet that it will take a more powerful glass to find his brains than it did to find the comet.

100 Years Ago, 1900—
Clanwilliam: While I was out driving, my horses came to a mound and I had to turn back two miles. The mound was liberal and the horses were conservative, perhaps that accounts for their obstinacy.

E.B. Fisher returned from attending Law Examinations at Winnipeg last Saturday. He was successful in passing the first intermediate.

A few grasshoppers have jumped on the trains coming from Ontario. They are emigrating. They have jumped off in Manitoba.

110 Years Ago, 1890—
The agricultural association is advertising for tenders for an exhibition building to be erected on it's grounds. The building is to be 32x80 feet.

The road in front of Tanner's should be attended to before some one has a serious accident. Last evening Dr. Sherwin was driving into town when some sheep ran in front of his horses, so that one horse was crowded over the bank. The doctor managed to prevent the animals from going to the bottom, another person may not be as fortunate and the town may have to pay for a broken neck.

Homecoming 2000

Well, this will be the last update leading up to Homecoming 2000 and I would like to thank The Minnedosa Tribune for allowing this space so generously over the last two years.

The last Homecomers to have pre-registered are Donald and David Taylor, Audrey Johnston and David, Dianne and Kate Sjoberg, all of Winnipeg, Bill Gray-Burnaby, BC, Bruce Cook-Salmon Arm, BC, Jim & Susan(Bannerman) McMillan-Brandon and Ron & Betty Yeger and Chris & Edna Harrison of Minnedosa. This brings a total of 887 pre-registered Homecomers.

Please remember to come to Registration at the Arena, using the east door , on July 2nd from 10:00-2:00 or to M.C.I. July 3rd from 2:00-4:00 to receive the Homecoming 2000 Schedule of Events Booklet and your name tags. As well, people can register in person if you haven't already registered and help out with your registration fee so that the expense of Homecoming 2000 will be covered and perhaps some money will be generated for the Library Expansion Project.

Many events are planned for July 2-5th and it is our hope that all will go well, weather and otherwise! As well, if you are interested in helping out at any of the events that are happening, please let Marc Chisholm or Rick Everett know of your interest and we will be sure to include you in what is happening and put you to work! Thanks for all the encouragement and support you have shown over the last couple of years.

The east door of the Arena will be used throughout the week.

Jackfish Reunion

by Deb Maluk

The Jackfish School Reunion meeting was held at the Fire Hall on June 15. Reunion registration will begin on Friday August 4 and continue on Saturday with viewing of pictures, school days reminiscing, and stories. On Saturday a church service will be held at Ozerna St. Nicholas Church at 2:00 p.m. and Jackfish St. Anthony's at 4:00 p.m. followed by a catered supper at Jackfish Hall and a dance at 9:00 p.m. On Sunday, a Pancake breakfast will be served by the Sandy Lake Lion's Club at Jackfish Hall. A dedication and ribbon cutting will be held at the Cairn at 2:00p.m.

Eddy and Ida Andreychuk spent 10 days visiting with Mark, Jane and Saige Andreychuk in Cochrane AB. They attended the world's largest oil and gas show, and viewed a special tubing drilling rig that was designed by Mark - this rig is the first of it's kind for the oil and gas industry. Mark is the President and CEO of Canciol Integrated Services Inc. Other family attending were Mary and Frank Biluk from Kelowna BC, Glenda Fowlie and Daryl House of Sherwood Park AB and Frank and Tina Andreychuk and family of Calgary AB.

To Newdale Readers:

If anyone is wishing to submit news during the month of July, please deliver same to the Minnedosa Tribune Office.

Phyllis Tolton and Shirley Pederson attended the Federated Women's Institute of Canada Triennial Convention at the Centennial Auditorium in Brandon, MB from June 6-10. They worked at registration at various times, enjoyed a tour of parts of Manitoba, listened to panel discussions, heard speakers and enjoyed local talent. They also drove some Prince Edward Island ladies to the Peace Gardens to see, among other things, the W.I. picnic book. This convention is held every three years in a different province; Manitoba last hosted it in 1970.

Visitors with Shirley and Gerald Pederson on June 19th were Fern and Russell Dzaman from Highland Ranch, Colorado and Hollis Stewart of Isabella, MB. Russell, Fern and Shirley graduated from teacher training together in 1952.

Cardale News

by Myrtle Crighton & Ethel Fortune

On Friday, June 6th the Regional Hit, Run and Throw event was held in Neepawa. The eleven athletes from this area were - Drew Peters, Blair Fortune, Laci Peters, Candice Kuculym, Ryan Shaw, Brendan Reid, Gerald Kuculym, John Lawrence, Alyssa Sheppard, Cale Shaw and Ben Henry.

Advancing to the Provincial Finals at Canwest Global Park in Winnipeg on August 5th are - Mosquito Girls - Laci Peters, Rookie Boys - John Lawrence - 2nd, Pre-Rookie Boys - Ben Henry - 2nd, and Cale Shaw 1st. Good luck to all!

Congratulations to Kelly-Dawn Bothe who was named Female Athlete of the year for Selkirk College. Kelly-Dawn is the daughter of Kelly and Lorna (Shaw) Bothe and the granddaughter of Larry and Bev Shaw.

Get well wishes are extended to Patti McTavish who had surgery in Winnipeg on Thursday, June 15th and is now recouperating at the home of her mother - Ethel Fortune.

Sympathy is extended to the Biccum and McCormick families on the passing of Margaret (Biccum) McCormick in Sidney, BC on Monday, June 19th.

A grave side funeral service was held on Friday, June 23rd.

Everyone is praying for good weather for the Cardale Annual Sports Day. But the way the weather has been lately, "it's doubtful" in fact it would probably be a small miracle!

Manitoba Youth Job Centre

by Patricia Jackson

Well, now that school is almost out, the Manitoba Youth Job Centre is a very busy place. Students are very excited to be working for you. Don't forget that they are willing to do almost any chore you might have for them such as mowing, cleaning, or baby-sitting. Or if you would like to hire a student for the whole summer, there are some students who are looking for part-time or full-time employment. If you are a student, remember that it is never to late to register here to find some work or join the Odd Job Squad.

At the moment, there are a few members of the Odd Job Squad out selling their student labour raffle tickets. If you win, you will receive three hours free labour so watch for these eager students. Also if you are interested in ordering strawberries, the Odd Job Squad will be doing a strawberry pick the second week of July. You can place your orders by phoning me, Patricia at 867-3846.

1927 - Minnedosa celebrates Jubilee

From the files of The Minnedosa Tribune, July 1st, 1927

The program arranged for Friday last was carried out in town in spite of the cloudy and showery weather before a large gathering of spectators from far and wide.

The interest taken in the day's proceedings was a reminder of the old time gatherings when everyone came to Minnedosa on July 1st.

At 10 a.m. some 1,200 children, representing Minnedosa and most of the schools in Minto and Odanah, paraded at the south school, headed by the Elk's band, proceeded down Main Street to the fair grounds. The route was tastefully decorated by the residents and committee in charge of that part of the arrangements.

At the fair grounds, under the chairmanship of Mayor Clark, addresses were delivered by Brig.-Gen. Dyer and Mr. W.C. Hartley, and cups were then presented by the mayor and reeves to the winners of the departmental essay competitions in their respective territories.

After singing patriotic songs the mornings proceedings closed with the formal coronation of the jubilee queen (Miss Daisy Walker) by Mr. Samuel Butterworth. The queen was attended by four princesses (Misses Mary Mann, Tessie Donlon, Christine McDonald and Freda Hanson), all most gorgeously attired, and two little flower girls presented beautiful bouquets of peonies to the royal party, who then made a tour of the Lady Minto hospital, bringing cheer to the inmates, who otherwise would have been deprived of a glimpse of this levy of beauty.

At 2 p.m. the jubilee parade took the same route, and was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd, including some hundred pioneers of the period before 1883, who were entertained to lunch at the Tremont Hotel, and accommodated in the balconies as the parade passed.

The procession was headed by a decorated car containing the mayor and reeve of Odanah and Minto, showing the dates 1867 to 1927, then followed by the Indian tepee, travois, prairie schooner, Red River cart, cow boys, covered wagon, and CPR float, driving the last spike. The queen's float, drawn by six white horses with postilions, followed next. This was a work of art and contained the queen on her throne and her princesses in attendance. She was accompanied by a military escort drawn from the 12th Manitoba dragoons, and a detachment of boy scouts and cubs. Then followed the decorated floats representing businesses and public utilities; particularly noticeable among which were the post office float and four horses with the globe of the world. The Valley Lumber Co., "Save the forest and burn coal"; the Lyric, "The Better 'Ole," and numerous others, all showing ingenuity and taste. The four horse teams followed, and the parade was brought up by numerous decorated cars, bicycles, dog teams and other vehicles. The prize winners were as follows: Floats, 1st prize, post office; 2nd prize, CPR, Cars, 1st prize, P.S. Hancock; 2nd prize A.R. Dingwall. Four-horse teams, 1st prize, Iverson Bros; 2nd prize, A. McNabb.

The Elks' band supplied the music at the saluting point where the pioneers were assembled and afterwards at the fair ground.

The queen read the following address to the pioneers as the parade halted at the Tremont hotel:

To the Pioneers of Minnedosa District:

As we celebrate today the diamond jubilee of the confederation of our beloved dominion, we honour in memory the stalwart fathers of confederation. Their names are inscribed fast on Canada's roll of honour. But today, also, our thoughts wing homeward to the courageous men and women who made it possible for us to assemble at this, one of the beauty spots of the great west, then called Tanner's Crossing, but later so happily named by you, "Minnedosa".

We cannot too highly laud, we can not too long remember, the work of our pioneers. In 1871, when Manitoba, herself, entered confederation, the Selkirk settlers, already sixty years established, had won against great odds. With undying faith they struggled against every hardship that the pioneer must face, and their success turned all eyes to this western land of promise. Their triumphs you have repeated in this district. You faced a land of dim trails, unbroken, difficult, yet—finding it a land of promise~ you cheerfully faced loneliness, want and sickness, and overcoming every obstacle, developed for us this fertile district, making of it a home for a prosperous and happy community. You laid the foundations well and firmly, and to you we owe the comforts we enjoy today, comforts that contrast so sharply with the hardships you faced.

We think today of the many stories of peril and hardship that you and your contemporaries have related to us. We try to imagine your journey by ox wagon from Winnipeg, blazing a trail through bush and swamp; we see you divide at Tanner's Crossing to found the settlements of Cameron and Clanwilliam. Perhaps you had some prophetic vision of the wealth of golden grain that those lonely slopes were soon to yield; of the quiet homes that were to be. These are your gifts to us, land whose grain is world renowned, whose homes are the envy of less fortunate lands. Our hearts are very full of gratitude. We shall not forget.

As you consider the growth of industry and wealth, and of all that makes for happiness in this community, you must needs be full of pride in your handiwork. You must be delighted today, to see a thousand happy children assembled to honour the traditions you so firmly planted many years ago. We want you to know that, as we parade past you today, we wish for you all many years of happiness and of prosperity to enjoy the fruits of your labor and your sacrifice.

On the arrival of the procession at the fair ground, Mayor Clark read the message from the dominion parliament and from the governor-general; after which the queen declared the formal proceedings closed and the afternoon was thenceforth devoted to sports and races.

The day was brought to a close by a bonfire and display of fireworks, followed by a most successful dance, at which a record attendance of over 300 people assembled.

The following pioneers were present: Helen May Dyer, Hugh Marshall Dyer; R.J. Spratt, 1882; Francis Rose 1879; R.T. Butchart, 1882; R.T.C. Sharpe, 1883; Edward Delmage; J.H. Trans Canada Trail opened at Clanwilliam and Bethany

The waters of the Arctic and Pacific Ocean are carried into Bethany by Bill Anderson from their last port of call, Clanwilliam. Bill is being led to the stage by Sandy Lake Piper, Chris Milne; RCMP Constable Stephane Gagne dressed in the Red Surge and by the men of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch no.138. Chris Milne led each team as they covered the last few hundred metres of each leg, since the relay left Rossburn three days previously.

The exchange of the waters; Bill Anderson hands the waters to Shirley Malyska, who was to carry them first during the leg to Neepawa. Shirley is pictured here shaking the hand of Bill while she is flanked by daughter Jody and grand-daughter Adrienne, farthest left.

Bethany has its place in the history books. Friday June 23rd, at midday the Trans Canada Trail 2000 Relay came to town carrying waters from the Arctic and Pacific Oceans, and in doing so the relay team opened up the Clanwilliam to Bethany section of the trail. Around 100 people from the surrounding areas were on hand to witness this momentous occasion, and the weather did its best to help the day go well.

The waters were carried onto the Bethany stage by Bill Anderson. He was led by Piper Chris Milne who had walked with the relay teams for his third and final day, RCMP Constable Stephane Gagne dressed in "The Red Surge" who is normally stationed at Minnedosa and by the men of the Minnedosa Branch #138 Royal Canadian Legion.

Pictured above is Brian Skatch, Reeve of the RM of Minto accompanied by relay 2000 Community Animator Guy Boudeau as he signs the "records book" during the opening of the Bethany section of the Trans Canada Trail. When the relay reaches Hull, PQ, the book will be given to Prime Minister, Jean Chretien.

On their arrival Rod Lewandoski led the crowd in singing "Oh Canada", before Harold Gilleshammer, MLA spoke.

Gilleshammer said, "The main body of this group have now been walking the trail for 59 days. I think it is great what these people are doing. People from around the world are going to use this trail to walk through Manitoba".

Brian Skatch, Reeve for the RM of Minto spoke of, "such a great and wonderful thing. Each section of this trail will be run and maintained by local communities".

Ross Burnside, Councilor for the RM of Minto said, "On behalf of Bethany and the surrounding areas, a huge thank you to everyone who has come here today. We hope that the weather continues to cooperate for those who are still to carry the waters and walk the trail".

Bill Anderson exchanged the waters with Shirley Malyska, who was to carry them first, before handing them over to her daughter Jody Miles. Jody in turn handed the waters over to her daughter Adrienne Lesslie-Toogood. The waters were then carried in turn by Patricia Thompson, Lorne Rogers, Don Shorrock, Jim Clark, Danelle Adams, Adam Nicholson and finally to Geraldine Gebba who carried them on to Neepawa.

Jim Clark of Minnedosa stated, "I wanted to be involved here on this most memorable day because I am a keen walker. Hopefully the trail will be a great success".

Relay 2000 Community Animator Guy Boudreau said, "This is a great showcase for Manitoba". Boudreau added, "We are hoping towns on the edge of this trail will want to spur a trail to join this one. Once they have done so the towns can get funding for the upkeep and maintenance of the trail from the Manitoba Recreation Trails Association".

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

What is this vendetta against John Whitaker? Do we smell fear in the air - from who or what is anybody's guess? We have known John for over twenty years. He is well educated and articulate, but mostly he is honest and fair minded. He is a good friend and neighbor and was a good councillor. Yes, Rudy, he narrowly lost the election and was no doubt disappointed, but he lost honestly. He and or his pals never sat in the coffee shops spreading lies and inuendo. No, he went out and talked to people.

We must not forget that this was a democratic right of the council to challenge what they thought was wrong. The cost that Rudy is ranting about is the price we all pay for a democracy where individual citizens have the right to question those in authority who may be abusing their powers. Thank God we have this system and individuals like John Whitaker and others who are not afraid to stand up for what is right and expose wrong doing.

We must also remember that the court found Russell guilty. He is not innocent!! The court deemed he could keep his job as Reeve. Now that he is back we hope he will be able to work in a fair and honest manner with the "neophyt" council. Treat them as equals.

Sincerely:
Georgina Cutter

Kinsmen donate to golf course expansion

Kinsmen Club member Terry McLennahan presents 'Drive The Green' fundraising Chairman Frank Taylor with a cheque in the amount of $1000. McLennahan indicated that the funds would possibly increase but is dependent on the success of future fundraising projects. These funds were raised during Kinsmen events held during the 1999 Fun Festival.

Franklin man injured in accident

By Scott Martin

One man was hospitalized last Friday morning, after a motor vehicle accident in Franklin. The accident occurred at approximately 7:45am, when a vehicle driven by James Underwood of Franklin approached Main Street and failed to yield at an uncontrolled intersection. A vehicle being driven south along Main Street by Harvey Fleger was forced to swerve to the right to avoid hitting Underwood's vehicle and left the road striking a hydro pole. RCMP and an ambulance attended the scene and Mr Fleger was taken to hospital, although his injuries are not thought to be life threatening. Underwood has been charged with failing to yield to the right at an uncontrolled intersection.

Sorority donates to Rangers

In the photo above, Margie Willis, Treasurer of the Lambda Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi presents to Pam Lewis and Jean Jackson of the Mern District Rangers a cheque for $100.00 from the proceeds of Ladies Nite Out fundraiser.

In Memoriam

Donanski - In loving memory of parents.
Dad - August 22, 1984
Mom - June 22, 1994

Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from our loved ones gone.
No one knows the depths of our deep regret,
But we remember, when others forget.

Always missed by daughter Marion and son-in-law Tony. x (C6)

Cards of Thanks

Thank you, to our children, family and friends, also to everyone who sent their congratulations and best wishes on the occasion of our 35 wedding anniversary. Thank you for the gifts and flowers. It was a very enjoyable evening and nice to see everyone. Ed & Leonie Bilcowski. x (CD)

Thank you to all our family, friends and neighbors for the wonderful surprise 25th Anniversary party. We are overwhelmed by everyone's efforts that made it such a memorable evening for us. The cards, gifts and best wishes are all much appreciated. A very special thanks to our children for their secret preparations, to mom for the lovely cakes, to the four planners and their secret meeting (you know who you are!), to Uncle Ernie and his words of wisdom, to Pat for the decorations and to all who provided food. A special thank you to the Cameron Connection for their patio performance "in the chill of the night" that really made the evening special for us and was enjoyed by everyone. Hope you managed to get warmed up! You all helped to make our 25th celebration one to kick off the next 25 years! Deep thanks and appreciation to everyone for making memories we'll treasure forever. Leonard and Cathy Wark. x (CD)

The relatives of Frank Bell wish to express their thanks to the many friends and neighbors of Frank's who helped support him and us during his illness and through our recent loss. Special thanks to Dr. Roche and the Minnedosa Hospital staff for their superb care during Frank's stay. Appreciation is extended to Rev. Tom Delgaty for the prayers in the hospital and for officiating the funeral service. Thanks also to "Cameron Connection" who performed a song in the service to make it extra special and to Neil Bell, piper, of Victoria, B.C. Thanks to the pall bearers and the Basswood W.I. ladies for providing the lunch at Basswood Hall. Sincere appreciation to all who expressed their sympathy with flowers and cards or sent a donation to the Cancer Society. Thank you all. The Bell families; the Greig family; and the Belcher family. (CD)

Bell - We wish to express sincere thanks for the many cards, food brought to the house, flowers and phone calls during Frank's illness. A special thanks to Dr. Roche and home care coordinator Evelyn Neufeld for their professionalism, care, and compassion shown to us during this difficult time. Our gratitude also to the caring nurses and staff at the hospital. Lawrence, Arlene and family. x (CD)

Obituary

Helen Hilda Andrusiak (nee Shindruk)

Helen Hilda Andrusiak (nee Shindruk), age 77 years, of Dauphin, formerly of Sandy Lake, died from heart failure following an operation to remove lung cancer.

Her joyful zest for life will be remembered by her son, Earl and his wife Elizabeth of Edmonton; grandchildren: Owen, who is the Airport Manager in North Bay, Ont., and Vincent who attends the University of Lethbridge. Also left to grieve are Helen's sister, Phyllis Wozny of Armstrong, B.C.; brother Willie and wife Mable Shindruk of Stonewall and their families. Helen also leaves several in-laws, mainly in Winnipeg, who have also been very supportive throughout the years.

Helen was predeceased by her husband John; parents: Mike and Polly Shindruk and brother Lawrence.

Helen spent 52 years on the farms near Elphinstone, where she was born, raised and schooled. For 22 years she then lived in Sandy Lake, working at the Personal Care Home and briefly running the Rainbow Café. In 1997, she retired to Dauphin. Winters for over a decade were spent in Waikiki, Hawaii.

In addition to Helen's relatives, she will be sadly missed by friends that came to know her through her active life which included: handcrafting, curling and attending social charitable causes.

The funeral service was held at the Holy Ghost Ukrainian Catholic Church, Sandy Lake on Tuesday, June 20, 2000 at 10:00 a.m. with interment following in the parish cemetery. Prayers were said at the church Monday, June 19, 2000 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. George Malik officiated.

Rae's Funeral Service of Shoal Lake were in care of arrangements.

"O happy hours we once enjoyed.
How sweet their memory still."

Obituary

Irene Rebecca Cook (Nee Carter)

Irene Rebecca Cook, daughter of Thomas and Isabella Carter, passed away peacefully at Oakview Extendicare in Winnipeg on Friday, June 16, 2000.

Irene will be deeply missed by her four children Betty Harrison (Don), Jack (Joan), Ronald (Cindy) all of Calgary and Gordon (Janet) of Winnipeg; her grandchildren, sister-in-law Muriel Carter and many nephews and nieces. She was predeceased by Lou, her loving husband of 49 years, her brothers Bill Carter and Sid Carter, her sisters Eva Dagg, Bertha Richards and Dorothy Burton.

Irene was born on October 6, 1922, the youngest of six children and grew up on a farm near Bethany, Manitoba. After completion of High School, Irene moved to Winnipeg where she furthered her education and worked for Remington Rand. During this time she met Lou who was serving with the R.C.A.F. They were married in November, 1943 and were posted various locations across the country. In the next 30 years Lou's job with the Royal Bank took them to a number of rural Manitoba communities including Erickson, Rivers, Newdale, Roblin, Russell and Beausejour. In 1973, Irene and Lou settled in Winnipeg where they spent their retirement years.

Irene was a devoted mother to her children and she had a special place in her heart for her five grandchildren, Colin, Byron, Samantha, Graham and Lana. Irene loved dancing, Big Band music and playing the piano. Besides being an avid baseball fan, she also enjoyed curling, golf and bowling as well as playing bridge and other card games.

The family extends their appreciation to Dr. Maharaj and the wonderful staff at Oakview, Extendicare for their loving care and support. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Irene's memory to the Salvation Army of Winnipeg, 55 Donald St., R3C 1L8.

A memorial service was held Tuesday, June 20, 2000 from Chapel Lawn Funeral Home, 4000 Portage Ave. with Reverend Colin Peterson presiding. Interment followed in the Chapel Lawn Memorial Gardens.

Arrangements in care of Chapel Lawn Funeral Home Cemetery and Crematorium, 885-9715. (C7)

Obituary

Francis (Frank) William Bell

On June 12, 2000 at the age of 72 years, Frank lost the battle with cancer while at the Minnedosa Regional Health Centre. During the last year in his own quiet way, he endured the pain and fought to the end. Born 23, September, 1920 in the Fairmount District, he was predeceased by his parents Donald and Agnes (Jury) Bell. He is survived by his siblings: Margaret (Mrs. Robert Greig) - Rapid City; Islay Bell - Brandon; Lawrence (Arlene) Bell - Rapid City; Neil (Mary) Bell - Dauphin and Bella (Jack) Belcher - Rapid City.

Frank attended the Basswood Consolidated School. However he was required to leave school before completing the seventh grade to work full time at his parents farm. His father was unable to work as the result of the after effects of the 1918 influenza epidemic.

Upon the death of his father in 1941, Frank assumed the main responsibility of working the farm to provide a stable home for his mother and younger siblings. Major hail storms were received on the farm in three out of five years in the early forties. In spite of this set back, Frank carried on with the encouragement of his mother.

Farming was his life and his passion. He carried out a balanced cereal crops, special crops and livestock operation. He initially built up a good "grade" herd of Herefords and then in the seventies switched to Maine Anjou, one of the exotic breeds. He imported a purebred heifer from France as part of his foundation stock.

Other successful activities included joining the "Basswood Save the Soil" group to practice good soil management. He was one of the early successful innovators of "Zero Till" or minimum till farming in the Minnedosa district.

Although he never married he loved children and children related well to him. Over the years he supported at least four needy children through the "World Vision" organization.

He enjoyed playing baseball and other reports but with his full attention to farming this occupied the bulk of his time.

Funeral Services took place on June 16, 2000 in the Sparrow Funeral Chapel in Minnedosa. Officiating at the service was Rev. Tom Delgaty, organist Eleanor Taylor. The "Cameron Connection" quartet sang "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled" (John Ch. 14 vs 1-3) which was most fitting and added greatly to the service. At the end of the chapel service, nephew Neil Bell of Victoria, B.C. played "Going Home" and played "Amazing Grace" on the bag pipes at the interment at Fairmount Cemetery. A reception for all in attendance was held at Basswood Community Hall with the "Basswood Women's Institute Ladies" ably providing lunch. (C7)

Obituary

Robert Chatburn, CD

Retired RAF and RCAF 1968. Passed away suddenly at the Smiths Falls Hospital on Thursday, June 22, 2000, age 79 years. Beloved husband of the late Joan Chatburn. Loving father of Harold (Sharon) Chatburn; Suzanne (Jack) Wright and Dawn (David) Gordon. Loving grandfather of Shelley (Scott), Dean (Kari), Andrea, Crsler (Bill), Kimberlee (Stacy), Jon, Robin (Dave) and Tabetha. Cherished great grandfather of Gabe, Liam, Carley, Erica, Hailey and Jacob.

A memorial service will be held at the Lannin Funeral Home Chapel, Smiths Falls on Wednesday, July 5, 2000 at 1:30 p.m. Interment of ashes will be held at Erickson Cemetery, Erickson, Manitoba at a later date. A very heart felt thank you to the doctors and nursing staff of the Smiths Falls Hospital. In memory of Robert, donations to the Smiths Falls District Hospital would be appreciated. (C7)

Rec Report

Lori Gwyer –
Youth Coordinator

Summer is now officially here and plans for camp are rolling around the Rec Office. Camps provide youth with opportunities to socialize, development skills, be creative, make new friends and have lots of fun.

This year we've planned six cool camps. Returning by popular demand is Computer camp, where campers will learn new skills, play games and surf the net. Another high in demand camp is the Mad Scientist camp. During this week we'll explore the mysteries of science by doing awesome experiments. Golf camp is also making its reappearance and with some training at our local golf course, hopefully we'll all shave some strokes off our game. If you're worried about not getting to play any cool sports, worry no longer. Throughout every week of our camps, we set aside half of each day to play all sorts of sports. However, if you're exclusively interested in sports we have the camp for you – Sports Galore and Olympics! Not only will we be celebrating the 2000 Sydney Olympics, but we will also be getting introduced to many different, extraordinary sports. If you're the outdoorsy type or if you like to travel, Outdoor Adventures and Sports camp will peak your interests. Included in this week are outdoor survival tips and a field trip to Clear Lake! New to our line-up is Dinosaur Dig where we'll dig our way back to prehistoric times! Not only will we be learning about our dinosaur friends, but we will also be unearthing them!

As well as the day camps, we are running a Mini Soccer Camp for all those kids who love this game. Skills will be developed, games will be played and professional instruction will be supplied.

Attention all preschool parents! This summer also has something to offer our younger children. All three to five-year-olds are welcome to join our Preschool Playhouse weeks. Your kids will be doing crafts, playing games, having story hour, taking walks, and having all the fun they can handle!

Remember to be safe this summer by wearing hats, sun glasses and applying sun screen regularly.

Erickson Flying Club celebrates 25th

By Scott Martin

The Erickson Flying Club held their 25th annual "Fly In Breakfast" on Sunday June 18th. The event also marked the 25th Anniversary of the club. The breakfast was very well supported with around 80 people in attendance, along with approximately 15 planes which had been flown in from various locations such as Dauphin, Swan River, Brandon and Winnipeg. Others who attended the breakfast had travelled from as far away as Edmonton, AB. and Vernon, BC.

The official part of the breakfast started with the presentation by club President Ron Wilmot, of a memorial plaque to Margaret and Shayla Kennedy the widow and daughter of long time Club President Milton (Milt) Kennedy, who served from November 1988 until his death in March of this year.

Speakers at the breakfast included Walter Wilmot who was the club President in 1975, Joe Lankawich the 1975 Mayor of Erickson, Russell Tiller who was, in 1975 and still is, the Reeve of the RM of Clanwilliam, current Mayor Wally Yanchycki, and Inky Mark MP for Dauphin-Swan River, joining the other pilots who had flown in to Erickson for the breakfast.

The idea for an Airport at Erickson was originally conceived in April of 1973, by a group of young men, some pilots and others who were interested in learning to fly. Around 50 people formed an Airport Commission, which was needed at the time to be eligible for possible grants. In 1974 the local Chamber of Commerce bought the necessary land, and a Provincial Government grant enabled the installation of a 2800 foot long grass airstrip, along with a clubhouse which was given to the club by the Scandinavian Community Club. That same building still serves as the clubhouse to date.

The growth and interest continued, and in 1975 the official flying club was formed. Fuel facilities and an access road were added to what is now known as "Nelson Field", named after the Nelson family who had previously owned the land.

The first club airplane, a Cherokee 140, was bought in 1976, and flying instruction began. Since then a total of 19 members, both men and women, have earned their wings at the club.

With the help of a Transport Canada grant in 1984, the runway was rebuilt with an asphalt surface, and lights were installed along the runway, taxiway, and apron.

In 1987 a Cessna 152 was purchased for rental to club members, but unfortunately this plane met with an untimely demise when it crashed in the Fairgrounds while trying to land on runway 09. Luckily nobody was injured, although the plane was a total writeoff.

An ARCOL, 'Air Radio Control Of Lights' system was installed at the airport in 1994, which enables the airport lights and beacon to be illuminated from the air by an approaching plane via their radio transmitter.

In 1990, the Erickson Flying Club purchased another Piper Cherokee 140, and with the installation of a new engine in 1997, and a new radio in 1998 the club now has a highly reliable plane.

WELCOME HOMECOMERS

Minnedosa Homecoming and Celebration 2000 got off to a solid start on Sunday afternoon with over 1200 people registering on the first day.

National Champions

By Scott Martin

Three Minnedosa bowlers returned from Moose Jaw, Sask. last week as Canadian National five pin bowling champions. Henry Wall, Don Jones and Bill Campbell beat off the other five teams that had made it to the national +55 finals in a round robin format, which saw them play each team twice.

The three each won a gold medal plaque, and they received a national championship winners banner which was presented to Dave and Cathy Mansell, proprietors of Minnedosa Bowl where it will be hung on display. With one point for a win and a half point for a tie, there was a maximum of ten points to be won during the tournament. Team Manitoba as they were known, were facing teams from Alberta, Northern Ontario, Southern Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. They scored a total of seven and a half points to win the championship out right.

They did however start the weekend tournament slowly with a loss and a tie, but the team rallied and lifted their game to finish the weekend with top honours.

Their route to the finals started just after the new year, as it did for all of the 20,000 competitors who started out with hopes of becoming national champions. They won the in house championships at Minnedosa Bowl, that qualified them for the zone championships held in Carman, which they won. Their victory in the zones earned them a place in the provincials which took place in Winnipeg, and it was their victory there that earned them a shot at the national championship.
